NO CLUE REPORTED TO RECENT ROBBERY

Police Have Said Nothing as to Hold-up

The thief who relieved a visitor to the city from Toronto of his gold watch, chain and locket a few nights ago on Aylmer street has not yet been caught. The police have nothing to say regarding the matter, but from another source it is learned that the culprit has not yet been found. Several young men who had seen the Toronto man before the hold-up, have been examined, but they gave satisfactory accounts of their actions and easily cleared themselves. It is hoped that the offender will be caught, and the police, who work steadily without saying anything, may spring a surprise in a few days.

Site For New Building Purchased To-day---New Building to be Erected at Once at Cost of $8,000---Considerable Work Already Done

Examiner Special.

Brantford, Aug. 8.—To-day a site for the new central building for the Canadian Machine Telephone Company in this city was purchased. The new building will be located on Queen street and will cost in the neighbourhood of $8,000.

An official of the company stated to-day that the local system would be in operation by the end of the year. Considerable work has already been done on the outside construction of the system, and it is understood that work will be commenced at once on the erection of the building and the installation of the inside equipment will, of course, be proceeded with at once, upon the completion of the building.

GAVE PURSE OF GOLD AND EXPRESSED THEIR CONFIDENCE

Picton, Aug. 7.—The congregation of the First Methodist Church last evening presented their pastor, Rev. J. J. Rae, with a purse of over $1,000 to show their esteem and appreciation of his services for the past three years. Because of unpleasant circumstances arising at this year's Bay of Quinte Conference, Mr. Rae requested to be left without a station this year. His Picton people still have every confidence in him.

The Apple Yield In This County Reported Good

DISLIKES NEW WORKS ACT

Apple buyers are paying their annual visit to this section, buying the orchards of Peterborough County. The farmers in this county have not paid as much attention to the cultivation of apple orchards in the past, as to grain growing, and the result is that there are not as many large orchards in this county as in some of those bordering on Lake Ontario, where apple culture forms one of the staple departments of farming.

Councillor Coulter, of Colborne and one of the largest apple buyers in that district was in the city yesterday, and stated to the Examiner that he had bought several thousand barrels of apples in this county, pay- $1.00 on the trees for them. This is considered a good price, when it is remembered that he takes all the apples, fall and winter, except harvest apples at that figure.

The crop this year, in this county, he believes, will be a fair one, and in the southern portions of the province along Lake Ontario, one of the best crops in the history of this generation is expected.

The new Fruit Marks Act is not altogether satisfactory to Mr. Coulter. He believes that it sets too high a standard to be maintained in every case, and the result of the efforts of the buyer to comply with the law, that apples which formerly would be bought are now left on the tree or on the ground. He admitted, however, that it would raise the quality and consequently the reputation of Canadian apples on the British market. A higher price, however, he thought would have to be paid in England, in order to make shipping under the new regulations profitable.

In addition to sending them to England Mr. Coulter sells to one firm in Paris, France.

Accusation That Cabmen Charge Excessive Fees

IS THE LAW BROKEN?

Are the cabmen of Peterborough exacting more than the scheduled fees from persons patronizing them, and who do not know the fees authorized by the Police Commissioners?

A gentleman to-day reported an occurrence to the Examiner which seems to bear out this assumption. He was at the G.T.R. station a few days ago and noticed a lady arranging with a cabman for the transportation of herself and a trunk to a certain part of the city. He heard the cabman ask the lady 50 cents for fare, and, believing that the was asking more than the statutory fare, remonstrated with him on behalf of the lady, who, however, was a stranger to him. The cabman became waxing, and tried to point out that he was charging only what he had a right. The gentleman, however, was satisfied that the lady was being asked to pay just double what she should, and in the end the cabman agreed go take her and the trunk for the 25 cents.

When the gentleman reached his office he called up the police station and reported the occurrence, and learned from that source that he was quite correct, that the fee allowed by the bylaw, adopted by the Police Commissioners allowed but 25 cents for transportation to the particular part of the city to which the lady was going.

It is also stated that the cabmen are not obeying the law in another respect. It provides that in each cab there shall be a tariff of charges posted, in order that those using the vehicles may see exactly what they will have to pay, and the cabmen will not be able to charge the unsuspecting person more than the legal fee.

Some Militia Changes Indicated in Last List of Orders Published

In the last list of Militia Orders published, there are some notices of local interest, among them being the following:

Cavalry, 3rd "Prince of Wales' Canadian Dragoons," Major G. Hall is transferred to the Corps Reserve, with rank of captain.

45th Victoria Regiment — To be captain, Lt. M. A. Germain, vice Capt J. McN. McCrae, transferred to the reserve. To be provisional lieutenant, Sergt. William James Thorn. To be provisional lieutenant, (supernumerary) Sergt. Bruce Holmes Hopkins.

THE SCHOOL GRANT RECEIVED

County Treasurer is in Receipt of Sum From Government

Mr. E. M. Elliott, county clerk and treasurer, has received the annual grant from the Government for the county schools in the county. He has not, as yet, given any of this money to the treasurers of any of the schools, as the inspectors have not handed in the lists of the sums which the different schools are entitled to. It will probably be a couple of months before the money will be received by the section treasurers.

This year the county schools will receive in almost every case an increased grant and with the general prosperity in the country the school buildings and equipments should be made better, and th eteachers engaged should be as efficient as necessary for the common schools and at least should have a Normal School training.

BACK TO THE LAND

Mr. Kier Hardie, of Great Britain, in speaking before the Canadian Club, Toronto, pronounced against British emigration to Canada, not that Canada was not a good country, but because there were millions of acres in the Old Country available for occupation. He would prefer that the people would emigrate from the cities to the country, than come to Canada. There's the rub. They won't come from the cities. Human nature is the same everywhere. In this country, where there are areas of the best land in the world of imperial expanse, there are tens of thousands who cannot escape the lure of the streets. They would rather gather a precarious livelihood, wage an existence of semi-starvation, pick rags, ransack gutters for scraps of food, and live a life aimless, except for the partial satisfaction of an ever-present hunger, than assert their manhood and go back to the land. Here, with the same energy and ingenuity they employ to starve in the cities, they might be gorged with the fruit fo the earth and be self-respecting and respected subjects, a benefit, instead of a burden to the state. But they prefer to stagnate. It takes a great deal of diplomacy and a big bribe to induce a servant girl to take service in the suburbs or in the country where she can't come into daily contact with her young man and have him admire her new ribbon or hat. She is willing to sacrifice material benefit for flirtation. So with the no're-do-well city dweller. He prefers chronic starvation with the comparatively stirring conditions of city life, to the peace and plenty of the country. Still, there are some who wish to break away, and to these, Canada presents the best conditions. Mr. Keir Hardie, naturally, would prefer seeing the people of the Old Country cities go back to the land there. But, while there is plenty of land, it is the toil, hard to get, and the price is high. In Canada, there are millions of times more acres; it is free; it is easy to get—it may be had for the taking. If a man will give his manhood, his industry to Canada, Canada will give him a farm. Mr. Kier Hardie's domestic immigration idea is an Utopian; Canada's is a reality.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS

The level railway crossing has a gruesome record of accident, death and maiming to its credit. There were 20,000 railway accidents in the United States in the first three months of the present year, a large proportion of which are to be charged to the deadly level crossing. In Toronto, the city is struggling with the problem of how to do away with, or minimize, the danger existent in the met of railway tracks on its waterfront, on the same level as the streets. An elevated viaduct is proposed, and this seems the only way of preventing railways contributing to the population of the cemeteries and emergency hospitals. They do things better in the Old Country, where the level crossing is the exception, its place being taken by the subway viaduct or the overhead viaduct. In fact, all railway business is better conducted there, from the courtesy of officials to the condition of the roadbed and rails. From Liverpool to London and back, the 200-mile journey is made through a country as thickly occupied as a Canadian suburb, at the rate of 60 miles an hour, and, even at this dizzy speed, an accident is as rare as a new comet. This condition is provided by proper construction of roadbed and track, especially in relation to highway crossings and in careful train service. It is not probable that trains rush along, manned by overworked train crews, who fall asleep at their posts from sheer exhaustion. Why can we not, in this country, manage things differently—do things right? Much valuable life could be saved, much suffering avoided, and, in the end, the railways would financially profit.

When the sun glares hot—when the dust is thick—when your throat gets so parched it is painful—and you haven't any appetite for anything—THAT'S just the time you'll find nothing so thirst-killing, so body bracing, so invigorating as

EDITORIAL NOTES

The total revenue of the Department of the Interior (except school lands,) these are simply administered by the deaprtment, and revenue from school lands is not taken into account, for the year 1895-96, after the Conservative party had been in power 18 years, was $203,715. The total revenue of the Department of the Interior (except school lands) for the twelve months ending 30th June, 1907 after ten years of Liberal rule, was $2,137,786. These figures are unrevised as all the returns are not yet made. The revenue for the ten months ending 30th April, '07, was $1,77,786, and for the following two months, May and June, it has been estimated at $ 0,000. This means that the revenue of the Department of the Interior is greater now every month than it was every year in Conservative times.

The people of Carman, Manitoba, recently celebrated the slaughter of two thousand hawks, crows, etc., killed, presumably, on account of their depredations upon fowl and chicken yards. This is, in a certain sense, killing the goose that lays the golden eggs; for the vermin, like field mice, snakes, etc., killed by hawks, and the scavenging done by the crows, may represent the end of a nuisance much greater than that aimed to be removed. If our bird life met wholesale destruction, insect and other pests left free to work unhindered, would soon work our starvation.

The modern British battleship is awful in its power of destruction. The battleship Dreadnought, off Spithead, on Monday, scored what may reasonably be claimed the world's record for accuracy and speed of firing. While she was steaming 12 knots an hour, with, by the way, the King and Queen on board, there were fired within two and a half minutes, twelve rounds from two of the twelve inch guns, at a target 25,000 distant. Eleven hits were made, of which nine were bullseyes, and the shot that was counted as a miss smashed the base of the target. That a gunner, or gunners, with a rapidly changing point of aim, should thus hit a target fifteen miles distant, is something that passes comprehension, and staggers credulity. In actual sea warfare, the Dreadnought could pound the life out of a hostile craft before the latter could get into range.

Great Britain is a lusty old bulldog yet with no sign of commercial decrepitude. The returns of the British Board of Trade for the half-year ended June 30th last, give unmistakable evidence of commercial prosperity. For the six months, the total imports amounted to £328,365,000, as against £300,549,553 for the corresponding period of last year, then the record year, while the total exports for the first half of this year showed the enormous increase of £32,854,327, the totals being £257,866,729, against £225,012,398. The immense increase in the importation of raw material forms the chief feature of these latest returns, amounting to £131,960,654, as compared with £105,237,607 in 1906—an increase of close on £27,000,000. Multiply these figures by five to bring theem to dollars, and one will have a better idea of the immensity of the sums of money they represent.

CANADA'S MINING INDUSTRY

The total value of the output of Canadian mines in 1905 was, in round figures, sixty-nine and a half million dollars. Of this, thirty-seven and a half millions was in metallic and thirty-two millions in non-metallic products. The increase over the previous year was nine and a half million dollars.

In individual items, coal came first with a valuation of seventeen and a half millions; gold second with fourteen and a half millions, nickel and copper equal with seven and a half each, brick fourth with nearly four millions, and silver fifth with an output valued at three and a half million dollars.

In nickel there was an increase of three and one-third million dollars over the previous year; in copper of two millions; in silver of one and one-half; in lead of one million, and in pig iron (made from Canadian ore) of only $24,000. In the output of gold there was a decline of nearly $2,000,000.

For the year now current the prospects are, owing to the wonderful activity at Cobalt, that the largest increase in product will be in silver. Eventually, and that not in the far distant future, iron will take the lead both in mining and manufacturing industries. Electrical development is bound to give a tremendous impetus to the iron interest, particularly in this Province; and this impetus will be greatly added to if the coal find in James Bay is as important as believed, and it is found possible, by the extension of the Temiskaming line, to place this coal alongside our northern iron mines with a reasonable length of haul.

The three important factors in the marvellous progress now being made by Canada are dairy and bacon production of Ontario, expansion in wheat-growing in the West, and the phenomenal development of our mining industry.—Weekly Sun.

A SOURIS MAN VISITING HERE

Mr. Bruce Rickey Home on Visit and to Recuperate From Effects of an Accident

Mr. Bruce Rickey of Souris, Man., is in the city on a visit to his home, and to recuperate from the effects of an accident which he sustained about two months ago while playing baseball. Mr. Rickey was practising with the baseball team, when he had the misfortune to break his ankle, and has been laid up ever since. He is able now to get around with the use of a cane, and expects soon to be in a position to discard that.

Souris seems to agree with him, since he has taken on about 35 pounds of flesh since he went there less than two years ago. He is, as may be imagined, in love with the West, and expects to return as soon as he is able to do so. He is in close touch with sporting affairs in that town, which is one of the most progressive and enterprising in the West. It will be remembered that last year he came east with the Souris lacrosse team when they came to lift the Minto Cup from the Shamrocks. They failed in that effort, but demonstrated that the people of the West are good sports.

While not a very large place, Souris is busy and is growing steadily, and appears to have a good future ahead of it.

SOFT, GLOSSY HAIR

It Can Only Be Had Where There Is No Dandruff

Any man or woman, who wants soft glossy hair, must be free from dandruff, which causes falling hair. Since it has become known that dandruff is a germ disease the old hair preparations that were mostly scalp irritants have been abandoned, and the public, barbers and doctors, included, have taken to using Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. E. Dodds, Dickinson, N. D., says: "Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp from dandruff and prevents the hair falling out, but it promotes a new growth. Herpicide keeps my hair very glossy."

PLAIN TALK FROM THE DOCTOR

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder troubles, stated that to the following prescription is due a great deal of his success:

One ounce fluid extract dandelion;
One ounce compound salatone;

Mix and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, drinking plenty of water.

This mixture will, he says, positively cure any diseases arising from weak, clogged or inactive kidneys, and will assist these organs to cleanse the blood of the poisonous waste matter and acids, which if allowed to remain, cause lumbago, lame back, rheumatism and sciatica, and at the same time will restore the kidneys to healthy normal action. The ingredients, which are purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can be procured from any good druggist and mixed at home at very little cost.

This advice will undoubtedly be much appreciated by many readers.

Evelyn Thaw's Schoolmate Guest At Chemong Park

AN INTERESTING BUDGET

Examiner Special.

Chemong Park, Aug. 6. — Miss Verna Tolley, a clever little Pittsburg lady, a graduate of the same dancing school as Evelyn Nesbitt, and a former school-mate of Mrs. Thaw, is a guest at the hotel, and in the social functions held among the residents of the park, has delighted them with her singing and graceful dancing.

Last night a pleasant evening was spent by a number of the young people to bid farewell to some of the most popular of the summer residents who were leaving for home to-day, among them Misses Eva and Lottie Brown of Port Hope, who are returning home, prior to going to Atlantic City, and Mrs. Felix Hamburger and family of New York. The original intention was to have taken a drive to Lakefield, but the 'bus sent was too small to accommodate the number who wished to participate in the outing, and it was decided to remain at home and hold a bon-fire instead. The party consisting of the Port Hope and New York visitors this morning went to Peterborough, where they intended to take a trip over the lift lock.

On Saturday night a delightful little dance was held at the hotel. It was participated in by a large number of young people and was thoroughly enjoyed. The music was supplied by Mrs. Alguire of Montreal and Mr. Whittaker of Toronto.

A number of the young persons staying at the park went to the city to-day, among them being Miss Annie Brooks, Miss Irene Munro and Mr. Gordon Cumming.

The largest fish of the season was caught this morning in the lake by Mr. Brown. It was a splendid lunge and weighed 16 pounds.

A young gentleman from Peterborough came to the park last night, and his stay was somewhat more prolonged than he had intended. He started out to call on a young lady friend, but when he reached the scene of the bon-fire the attractions proved so strong for him that he fell a willing victim to the charms of the young ladies, and forget to proceed to his intended destination.

Summer Tourists This Year Apparently Have Sweet Teeth

Great Increase in Volume of Chocolates Sold at Summer Resorts at Stony Lake.

SUMMER HOME NEWS

Special Staff Correspondent.

Stony Lake, Aug. 7.—It is a peculiar fact known only to a few that there has been more candy of the chocolate variety sold this season than in any other of the set since the Kawartha Lakes bounded into prominence. From inquiry at the stores at Juniper Island and McCracken's Landing it has been learned that such is the case, but the cause remains a mystery. Whether it be that the youths have suddenly become more attentive to the maidens or the husbands more considerate towards their wives, it has not yet been divulged. It may be that the catchy advertisements that meet the gaze of the masculine population at every landing are responsible for the increase of sales of the dainty candy. It seems impossible that any can resist the tempting signs, If you want to make someone particularly happy, buy her a box of —— chocolates. There is an average of 67 smiles in every pound," or the one that reads, "Remember that your wife likes chocolates as well as you do cigars." However true these suppositions may be, the fact remains that the chocolates are disappearing at a rapid rate.

The steamer Otonabee carrying about 200 excursionists under the colours of the Ladies' Aid of the Mark street Methodist Church went around the lake yesterday and called at the various points of importance on the voyage.

Miss Annie Sisson of the Conservatory of Music, came up to the lakes yesterday.

Ald. Wilson went around the lake yesterday.

A number of young Peterborough gentlemen staying at the Victoria House have been enjoying the past few days cruising on the gasoline launch "Idaho." The party include Messrs. Jack Fraser, Bruce Gillespie, Charlie Cavanagh, Ernest Wilson, Willis Garrow, Keith Loch, and "Jake" Moore. On Tuesday the captain lost his bearings and ran on a rock in front of Headlands but was rescued from peril by the supply boat "Bobs."

On Tuesday afternoon a meeting of the ladies of the Cottagers' Association was held at the Juniper Island pavilion to consider the question of reception to guests from the Chemong Association on Regatta Day.

Miss Irene and Laura Gray of Peterborough, are guests at Glenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Brundrette, of Toronto, are guests at Mr. T. Barrie's cottage, Lephoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Stubbs came up to the lakes on Tuesday.

Mr. Jas. Doris went around the lakes on the Empress on Monday morning.

Mr. Melville Moore arrived at the Victoria House on Monday for a few days holidays.

Mr. Bruce Gillespie is spending a vacation at the Victoria House.

The date for the St. George's tea at McCracken's Landing has been set for Aug. 21st.

Mr. Jas. Acton's gasoline launch carried a merry party to Buckhorn on Monday.

Mr. Willis Garrow came up to the Victoria House on Tuesday morning for a few days.

Mr. J J McBain, of Bona Vista, went down to the city on Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. East left on Tuesday afternoon for his home in Toronto.

Dr. Barnes of Cleveland, O., who arrived at his cottage last week brought up his gasoline launch "Kid" to the lake on Tuesday.

Mrs. Jno. Smith of East City, took in the round trip yesterday on the steamer Empress.

Mr. McCarthy and party went home to Toronto yesterday afternoon.

Ald. Morgan was among the large number who attended the excursion of the Ladies' Aid of Mark street church yesterday.

Mr. A. Sawyers and son, Mr. Hague, are camping at McCracken's Landing.

Mr. T J Curry returned home from Ballyragat cottage to Toronto on Tuesday.

No little complaint is made of the inconsiderate actions of the "chauffeurs" of gasoline launches, during religious services on Sundays in the pavilion. They come around during the services with their little dinghy yachts, equipped with coughing engines, which make an exhaust rattle like the beating of a Twelfth of July drum. They cruise and down in front of the landing, and their exasperating noise drowns the words of the preacher, and disturbs and annoys the worshippers. If an appeal to the self respect of these persons will not suffice an appeal to the law should be made.

Put New Blood Into the Arterics

AND THE FEELING OF WEAKNESS AND FATIGUE WILL GIVE WAY TO HEALTH AND VIGOR

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

At this time of year nothing is of such great value to the human system as new rich red blood. Feelings of languor and depression, headaches, sleeplessness, irritability, impaired digestion, nervousness — these all tell of thin, watery blood and a run down system.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is above all else a blood building restorative which puts new blood into the arteries and by so doing lays the foundation for health and vigour.

It sharpens up the appetite, and strengthens the nerves, which control the flow of digestive fluids, forms new firm flesh and tissues, and gives vigour to thee vital organs of the body.

Mr. Fred H. Gould, Purdy, Hastings Co., Ont., writes: "I was troubled with nervous headaches, which at times were very painful and caused much suffering. It has been thoroughly cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can recommend this treatment most highly and believe that as a general system builder it has no equal.

Mrs. W. Chappel, Barrie, Ont., writes, "I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of building up the nervous system and of improving the health generally and I have also found it a good remedy for female troubles.

"We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment as a household remedy for all kinds of sores and cuts and think it is a splendid ointment."

You can be sure that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is doing you good because each dose goes to the formation of a certain amount of pure, rich, red, blood. It cures by the building up process, and its cures are, therefore, thorough and lasting; 50 cents a box; 6 for $2.50, at all dealers; or Edmanson, Bates

BAND RECOGNIZES THE CHURCHES

'Old Country" Replies to the Criticisms of Salvation Army Band by Mr. R. J. Todd

Editor Examiner, —

Sir, — Your correspondent in his complaint re The playing of the Salvation Army band disturbing the services in the Christian Science church, admits he is not capable of judging the quality of music, yet straightway he launches out and says he is at a loss to know where the music part comes in, and talks of a conglomeration of sounds. Now, sir, as one who has been connected with bands for over twenty-five years, and have had the pleasure of listening to all the best bands in the Old Country, and since coming to Peterborough I have listened with pleasure and delight to the playing of the Army band. As to playing lively music, well all march music must of necessity be what is termed lively; perhaps if the Army took to playing funeral marches it would be more to the liking of your correspondent.

As to disturbing the services, the Army has a rule laid down that the band cease playing when passing a place of worship, and in this case, I feel, that there must be some misunderstanding. At any rate, as your correspondent frequently alludes to the life and teachings of Jesus, I think that it would be more in harmony with the said teaching if, instead of ventilating his grievance in the press, he had quietly made a request to the Army officials that request would have been cheerfully complied with. I feel sure he will have no further cause for complaint on this score.

The Army band is composed of working men who give their services freely for the good of others, and who but for the Army many of them would be in a different position to-day, and as a musical combination they are above the average of amateur brass bands.

Yours, etc.,
OLD COUNTRY.

HE WAS KILLED IN CHICAGO

George Pappas, Well Known Here, Met Sudden Death

Mr. M. Poppakoriazes, the local cigar dealer, yesterday received a telegram from Chicago containing the sad intelligence that his nephew, George Poppakoriazes, had been killed in that city. No particulars of his sudden demise were given, so that his sudden death is a mystery to his friends here. The deceased lived here for some time this spring and was popular with the members of the Greek colony. He was a cousin of Louis and George Xhotos, proprietors of the local shoe shine parlours, and a brother of Greek Jimmy Ryan, the well-known Greek prize fighter.

OLD SWORD FOUND IN TRENCH

Interesting Discovery Made on Water Street This Morning

A very interesting find was made this morning in the excavation on Water street, being made by the Water Commissioners for the purpose of making connections between the mains on Charlotte street and King street, when the remains of a sword, used in the older days, was uncovered. The hilt of the sword was all that remained. The steel blade had rusted away, and the brass and iron handle alone were left. There was nothing about the weapon to indicate the period at which it had been used, but it is certain that the sword had been buried there for very many years, judging by its condition. It was found about eight feet below the surface in front of the Peterborough Canoe Company's factory, where, old timers state, there once existed a raceway, filled in for a good many years.

The find will be donated to the Peterborough Historical Society and placed in the Victoria Museum.

Band to-night at Jackson Park.

BICYCLISTS CAME TOGETHER

Collision on George Street, With Ruinous Results

As the result of a headon collision between two bicyclists this morning there will be a nice little job for some of the local repair men. The two came together in front of Neill's shoe store and one of the pair is employed in that store. He was the worst sufferer by the mishap, the front wheel of his bicycle being damaged beyond the hope of repairing.

MARRIED

ONE YEAR IN MERCER REFORMATORY

Mrs. Susan Richards is at Last Disposed Of

Susan Richards was sentenced to one year in the Mercer Reformatory by Acting Police Magistrate Adams on the charge of disturbing the peace on Harvey street, where Mrs. Richards lives. She did not appear to be disconcerted by the sentence, but was laughing when she went down the stairs. It is a pity that her weakness for strong drink is so strong, as she and her husband could get along peaceably and well, but, as many other homes have been wrecked by intemperately using the vile stuff, so it easily got the better of this old couple.

Mrs. Richards pleaded guilty and the above sentence was imposed. Afterwards she asked the Chief if she could go up home with a policeman in charge of her, as she wanted to "straighten up" the house. Chief Ronzel gave his consent, and when she was going down the stairs, forgetting the term before her, she laughed, and said she had a good "stand in" with the Chief, and that he was good to her.

Her husband, who is deaf and about as old as his wife, was given permission to see her, and said good-bye. He said he was going to leave the city now and return to Goderich. The old man is a good worker, but when his wife drank he joined in with her.

Right Breathing Cures Catarrh

The only natural and common sense method known for the cure of catarrhal troubles is Hy-o-mei. It is breathed through an ingenious pocket inhaler, so that it medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane, and restoring a healthy condition.

Hy-o-mei goes right to the spot where the catarrh germs are present in the nose, throat and lungs and destroys the germs so that perfect health is soon restored.

A complete Hy-o-mei outfit with inhaler costs but $1.00 and is sold by Wm. Madill under guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

Advocates Uniforms For The Inmates Of The Shelter

Mr. Henry, Caretaker, Believes That Its Adoption Would Prevent Boys Leaving the Shelter.

AN EXCELLENT RECORD

In order to prevent children placed in the Shelter from running away, Mr. Henry, the caretaker, suggests that, with the occupancy of the new building, a regulation uniform be adopted. His idea of a uniform is that it should be of dark grey, with trimmings of red braid around the collar and down the front, and have the letters, "C. A. S." in large letters, on the back.

There are plenty of boys, Mr. Henry believes, who, if, instead of being sent to the Industrial School, were given a term in the Shelter, would be improved in their conduct. At the present time, however, unless the boys are willing to remain, there is no means of detaining them. With the new building arranged with this in view, and the uniform, Mr. Henry believes that it could be carried out satisfactorily. He points out the fact that boys sent to the Industrial School are, according to their own admission, taught by other boys older in crime things which otherwise they would never know, and Mr. Henry's opinion is that it is a first-class place to get a criminal education.

In the seven years that Mr. and and Mrs. Henry have been in charge of the Shelter there has not been a single complaint made, except the statement of Mr. Goodwill that they used the children too well, and no one will feel like blaming them for that.

They do not want to have to give up the Shelter, but if it is removed to the north end of the city, Mr. Henry fears that it will be too far from his work to permit him to attend to both.

Are The Montreal Buyers Working Corner In Cheese?

Statement That Firm in That City is Apparently Trying to Effect Control of the Market.

ENGLISH MARKET DULL

The statements made locally to the effect that appearance favoured the belief that there were influences at work to effect a corner in cheese seem to be substantiated by a despatch from Montreal this morning, which says:—

The cheese market of late has shown every evidence of a corner being attempted, judging by the action at the country boards, where practically everything that is offered has been bought by a Montreal house during the past week.

The local trade generally are adverse to the recent advance, and advices from England also state positively that buyers there are not going to follow the advance now being asked as a result of recent manipulation.

The stocks in store at Montreal are estimated in the neighbourhood of 200,000 boxes, of which the Montreal firm mentioned above hold a very large proportion, and the feeling among the Montreal traders is that, with this very large stock, combined with a very liberal buying programme all over the country, an effort is being made to control the situation.

The stocks in England are ample for the present; in fact, they have been accumulating of late, and if, by any means, supplies were withheld from that country, the English people are believed to have, along with their own make, which is the largest on record, sufficient cheese supplies to combat a corner.

The trade generally are not following this last upward movement, and it will be interesting to see what development will take place during the course of the next few days.

Receipts over the cables so far this week have been very disappointing, and while holders in some cases are willing to meet the buyers, it is difficult to make many sales.

The quotations to-day are—Quebec, 11 to 11 1-8c; Townships, 11 1-8 to 11 1-4c; Ontario, 11 1-4 to 11 3-8c.

The local receipts were 18,301 boxes, against 3,668 yesterday, and 13,376 for the same day last year.

STONY LAKE REGATTA ON MONDAY

A Very Pleasant Way of Spending Civic Holiday—Many Attractions

VERY GOOD BOAT SERVICE

There will be no one in town next Monday and if you are looking for a pleasant way of spending Civic Holiday no better programme could be suggested than a trip to the Stony Lake regatta which promises this year to surpass all the records of the past. What could be more pleasant than a day at Stony Lake at the height of the season with a long programme of exciting aquatic events and an enjoyable dance to follow. There will be a good train and boat service for the day. Peterborough people can leave at 8.30 in the morning and spend the day at the lakes taking their choice of returning on the afternoon boat reaching Lakefield shortly after six o'clock or waiting for the dance, after which a special boat will leave the Juniper Island pavilion at 12 o'clock, connecting with a special train at Lakefield. A good orchestra has been secured for the dance which is always one of the most enjoyable events of the season.

Juniper Island will be the mecca of all visitors throughout the Kawartha lakes chain. There will be a big excursion from Chemong and Sturgeon Point, and Lindsay and even Orillia and Barrie will be represented in the aquatic events. Good weather, and this is generally available, is all that is needed to make the regatta a grand success.

TO STONY LAKE

The steamer Otonabee will run a special trip to Stony Lake on Friday, August 9th, leaving at 7:30 a. m. and returning at 8 p. m. Return tickets, 75 cents. 3d31

WEDDING BELLS.

DAY-BRADSHAW

The Haileyburian, in its last issue contains a report of a wedding in Haileybury, in which the bride is a niece of Mrs. John Browne, of this city and a young lady who frequently visited in Peterborough, and is, by reason of this fact, well known here. The Haileyburian referring to the event says:—

St. Paul's Anglican Church was the scene of a popular wedding on Wednesday last, when Miss Lily Bradshaw of Haileybury, became the wife of Mr. Herbert A. Day, Manager of the Haileyburian. The bride was tastefully attired in a dress of white silk over white taffeta. She wore a tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Meta Bradshaw, sister of the bride looked very dainty in her costume of pink silk. She also carried a bouquet of the same flowers as the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Cowling. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. R A Bradshaw, and the groom was attended by Mr. E. Brookfield-ink, as best man. The choir of the church attended and sang the musical part of the service very appropriately. The newly-married couple left for Toronto and other points by the 7.45 express. They were the recipients of numerous presents. The weather was ideal and the church was well filled with well-wishers of the young couple.

BALL-WHEELER

A quiet wedding was solemnized last night, at St. Luke's rectory, in which the principal parties were Mr. William Henry Ball, son of Mr. Jos. Ball, East City, and Miss Charlotte Ellen Wheeler, daughter of Mr. Uriah Wheeler, Otonabee. The wedding was performed by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, and the bride and groom were unattended. The bride was becomingly attired in a pretty gown of white silk, with lace trimmings, and white hat. Mr. and Mrs. Ball are taking up their residence on Weir street, city.

WHEELER-COMRIE

An interesting wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 97 William street, Cobourg, when Miss Nora T. Comrie, daughter of Mr. Jas. Comrie, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry H. Wheeler of Peterborough, son of Mr. George Wheeler. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Dodds in the presence of a large number of the friends of the contracting parties, in the prettily decorated drawing-room. The bride was dressed in pale blue silk with lace trimmings and was attended by Miss Connelly of Peterborough, who wore white silk. Mr. Alex. Gibbs of Peterborough acted as groomsman. After the wedding the usual dejeuner was served. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler left on a trip to Toronto and Buffalo, and on their return will reside in Peterborough with the groom's father. The bride's going-away dress was of grey blue with white silk waist and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler of this city were among the guests.

DOUBT CAST ON THE RECORD

Sergt.-Major Brittain Says David Hartley's Reported Record Beats the Professional Time

The reported walking record of David Hartley, who is said to have covered the distance between East City and Chemong and return, fourteen miles in two hours and remained half an hour in Chemong, leaving 90 minutes' actual walking time for the 14 miles, is a record which Sergt.-Major Brittain is inclined to doubt. He points out that if the 14 miles were covered in the time mentioned, the professional walking record by athletes who make a business of walking has been completely smashed, and if Mr. Hartley can duplicate that record he can make the best of them go some.

TOWN'S NOT DEAD SAYS OLD TIMER

Just after the old-timer had taken his favourite seat last night and smoothed down the frayed edges of a somewhat dilapidated cigar, prior to lighting it, someone in the circle ventured to make the remark that the town was dead.

"Dead," he exploded, almost losing his imitation Havana in his confusion; "some of you people who go around corn, hining about the town being dead should put the hammer on the shelf and spend a few days in a town that is really slow. Take Lindsay, the town where nothing always happens, for instance. There, the only amusement is to go down to the station and watch the trains come in. Once in a while the sporting blood of the place is awakened by such an exciting event as a long distance sleeping contest, generally won hands down by the Chief of Police, but these moments of hilarity are are few and far between.

"If you want to save your money, son, go to Lindsay. You can't find anything to spend it on there, and if time's money, you can't kill time in Lindsay.

"Take it from me that, compared with other towns in the district, Peterborough is as lively as the stock market."

LINDSAY VISITORS IN THE CITY

Civic Holiday in Scugogville Brings Many Persons From That Town To-day

To-day Lindsay is celebrating its Civic Holiday, and the town is represented as being deserted. The greater portion of the inhabitants is at the regatta at Sturgeon Point, and those who did not go there are in Peterborough. The first train this morning brought about 100 persons—they were anxious to get to a live town as soon as possible—and at noon about 50 more came.

A baseball game between the Maybes of Lindsay and the Lillies of this city is being played this afternoon at Riverside Park.

YOUNG BOYS MAY FIND THEMSELVES IN TROUBLE

Have Broked Nearly All the Windows in the Exhibition Building

The management and Board of Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Fair will wonder in a month or so who the boys are that broke the windows in the exhibition hall. If they do not know it already there is scarcely an unbroken pane in the building. To look at it one would think that the Peterborough Gun Club had been showing their ability by breaking the glass. However, the guilty parties are to be found among a gang of small boys who are to be found there every evening and besides having broken the windows the filthy language coming from their young mouths would disgust a fish wife. Members of the Quaker football club and the Lakeview baseball club have tried to prevent the youngsters in thir work but it was of no use.

ANTI-HUMBUG" ON THE S. A. BAND

Pays His Respects to the Critic of the Band—He Refers to What He Considers Inconsistency

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I was surprised—no not surprised, come to think of it—at the letter of Mr. R J Todd, jumping upon the Salvation Army Band. Mr. Todd's place is not in a live city—he should be in a cemetery or in Port Hope or Lindsay, if he wants an uninterrupted chance to "bring himself into harmony with Divine principles." If he insists on absolute quiet he should go where he can get it. We read in sacred history of a man named Jesus, who was a resident of Nazareth, who "went apart in a desert place to pray." He could have created conditions of quiet, but He preferred to live and let live, and, instead of stopping all human activity, choking off the priest's ram's horns, etc., adapted Himself to the conditions and went where He could get quiet for His devotions. There's a man named Todd a resident of Peterborough, who wishes to make the sun stand still and the Salvation Army Band shut up to insure quiet for his wonderful harmonisms. The Salvation Army may be a little noisy—but not noisome nor dangerous to human life in its methods, and it manages to keep out of the police court and out of uncomfortable connection with coroners' inquests.

Yours truly,
ANTI-HUMBUG.

GET TO KNOW THE RIGHT NAME

Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—It has come to my knowledge that certain unauthorized persons are using the name of the Opera House Orchestra in making engagements. As this is causing considerable confusion and vexation, I should esteem it a favour if you would make it public that the orchestra accepts engagements only through the management of the house, or its recognized leader, Mr. H. Nicholl.

Yours truly,
H. NICHOLL,
Conductor Peterborough Opera House Orchestra.

Cup Safe In America, The Challengers Think

Rochester Yachtsmen Believe in Seneca's Ability to Successfully Contest the Canada Cup Races.

SIZING UP THE ADELE

Rochester, Aug. 7.—It's Seneca for the mug again. At least that is the opinion of the Rochester yachtsmen to-day, after having had an opportunity of looking over the challenger.

Canada's cup and the races for its possession, the boats which will meet in these races and the men who are to sail the boats; outside of these topics you can't interest a yachtsman nowadays. Since Adele arrived and tied up alongside of Seneca in the Naval Reserve dock, every man, woman or child along the lake front has been talking of the comparative merits of challenger and challenged.

Around the anchorage of the Rochester Yacht club to-day Skipper Addison G Hanan has his crew in workclothes getting Seneca into racing condition. The little Brooklyn man knows wrinkles about tuning up boats that most amateur skippers never learn and besides that he has the confidence of Herreshoff, who has not been silent when he thought any point of sailing on Seneca could be improved. Those who have been at all intimately associated with Herreshoff in the matter of the little designer know that the veteran designer has put every atom of skill he possesses in the American boat and that a defender of the great America's cup never had more thought and brain put into her lines and construction. Naturally the designer is anxious to have Seneca sailed to the best advantage and he believes thoroughly in Hanan. So do the club members and above all the men who are to sail with him on the boat. All this week the members of the crew and those who have not been fortunate enough to be selected will be at work with the skipper.

Rochester men believe that the cup is safe, basing their belief on the old standard of comparative form. Iroquois is the better of Kee Lox II, they argue and Seneca has beaten Iroquois; on the way down the lake Kee Lox had a brush with Adele, and more than held her own, consequently it is an open-and-shut proposition that Seneca can give the challenger cards and spades and big and little casino and then walk home with a broom at the mast head. Which is all very well until it is recollected that the sail area on Saturday will be somewhat augmented. Coming down to the views of the men of both clubs, who know something of the real merits of the case, the races will be close, but the odds appear to be on the side of the American defender. Seneca is the one best yachting bet.

BABY HAD DIARRHOEA FOR SEVEN WEEKS

Thousands of infants die annually who could be saved by the timely use of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

There can be no doubt about it. Sixty-two years experience has proved this sterling remedy to be the best for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus Summer Complaint, and all bowel troubles in both children and adults.

Mrs. A. B. De Marchand, Bath, N.B., writes: "My baby was troubled with Diarrhoea for nearly seven weeks. I tried three different doctors, but none of them could do her any good. I was advised to try DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY and less than half a bottle cured her."

BIG EXCURSION TO PORT HOPE SATURDAY

Ball Team Will Run One for the Big Midland League Game

The Peterborough Baseball Club has decided to run an excursion to Port Hope on Saturday, per special G.T.R. train, leaving here at two o'clock in the afternoon, and returning at 7.30 o'clock. The fare, which has been placed at eighty cents, is low enough to suit almost any purse, and there should be a big bunch of fans accompany the team. The game will be one of the most exciting of the League series. A win for Port Hope will give them the championship, while a victory for Peterborough will put the locals right in the running for the championship. Both teams will have their strongest lineups. Surphlis will pitch for Port Hope, while Peterborough's box artist has not yet been selected. All three of the twirlers are in good shape. The team will practice to-night at the Riverside Park.

REVIEW TEAM TRAINING VERY HARD

One of the Scribes Attempting to Beat Bicycle Records

One of the Review counterfeits who will fill a common or garden position against the Examiner in the big ball game at the Printers' picnic at Hyt Wyld on Monday has discovered a new method of training and is now taking long distance bicycle rides for the benefit of his wind. It is reported on creditable authority that the pencil pusher in question covered the distance between Chemong Park and Peterborough last night in a little less than four hours. If he can keep up such speed until Monday he will be in great shape for the defeat which will be handed out then to the players of the Tory sheet. Manager Paxman of the Examiner is confident that his bunch of braves will have no difficulty whatever in disposing of the Review even if the latter have the help of the Peterborough batters, as is reported. It is learned that Burridge and Burns will be in the points for them and they will certainly be needed to hold the Examiner swatsmiths who are keyed up to all kinds of speed.

LONGBOAT WILL MEET CODLEY HERE

Big Attraction Arranged for Turf Club Events on Saturday

The officials of the Turf Club informed the Examiner this morning that Tom Longboat will be here on Monday to run an exhibition four miles against Tom Coley of the Irish-Canadians, and other Toronto runners. The presence of these great runners should prove an added attraction to the big turf events, as well as the Marathon races.

Three horses arrived last night from Ottawa, and fast ones are coming in from all parts of the Province. The trotting matches promise to be the most interesting ever seen in Peterborough, and no doubt will attract an enormous crowd to the Driving Park.

BASEBALL

Here's a tale of base-running that should make the Peterboroughs do some thinking:

Hanlon tells of a case of base-running by McGraw and Keeler in the old Oriole days which must have been a wonder. With McGraw on first, Keeler hit a liner to left which went to the fielder on the bound. McGraw never stopped at second, keeping right on to third at full tilt. Nor did he stop at third. Bill Joyce was playing that bag, and by the time he had dug the ball out of the dirt and swung around for McGraw the latter was on his way home. He reached the plate when the ball did, knocked the ball out of McGuire's mitt, and before McGuire could recover it, Keeler, too, was over the plate.

APROPOS OF BUTTER SEIZURE

Writer Claims That It Did the Citizens and the City Harm in More Ways Than One

ONE INSTANCE OF IT

Editor Post-Card Column.

Dear Sir,—A little incident related to me by a friend a day or so ago recalled the action of the authorities in seizing a quantity of butter on the market, which they said was of light weight. This gentleman was in one of the George street grocery stores, and a lady had bought a pound of butter. There was thin tissue paper around the butter and the clerk wrapped it up in heavy paper and was about to give it to the customer, when my friend said to the clerk, "Why don't you weigh it?" The grocer, just to satisfy all parties, placed the parcel on the scales and the whole did not budge the pound weight.

Now, what I want to know is why did the police take the trouble to inspect the butter on the market, and by the rough manner in which it was done, so terrorize the women, that the effect has been very evident since then, and now the same women can dispose of their butter to the grocers, and the city people have to pay an increased price because the grocer must make some profit?

A great number of the farmers' wives are now selling their butter at the stores. And how does the grocer receive the butter? All the prints are weighed together and the grocer pays so much per pound and never endeavours to find out whether the individual prints are below weight. This is the way the grocer protects his customers. The result of the coup of the authorities is simply this,—the country woman take the butter to the stores, very likely still of light weight; the city woman cannot procure butter on the market, and are forced to buy at the stores, where they pay an increased price and do not get full value for their money.

Not only that, but the market has steadily declined since the Saturday when the butter was taken. Instead of Peterborough being a centre for this district, as it was steadily becoming, the farmers are going to other towns. Usually the morning trains brought in a large number of people to the Saturday market. They sold their goods here, and, in return left considerable of their money with the merchants. Anyone conversant with the facts, can tell that there has been a decline in the number of week-end visitors. I have read the market clerk's complaints and I agree with him in that the inspection should have been carried out more cautiously, and the market would not have suffered thereby. It is time something was done to counteract the decline of the market, and it is a matter of importance to the whole city. Since the authorities were so open in their belated seizure of the market butter, let them see to it that the citizens, although paying a higher price, are at least receiving 16 ounces of butter when they pay for it in the grocer shops.

Thankfully yours,

A WELL EQUIPPED FACTORY

IS A NEW FACTORY

The last issue of the Canadian Dairyman contains two illustrations of the Selwyn cheese factory, with the following reference to it:—The Selwyn cheese factory was built in 1906 on the old site of the North Smith factory, which was destroyed by fire in October, 1905. A new company was organized under the name of the Selwyn Dairy Company. The factory is 40x80 feet, with cement floors throughout. The make room is light and roomy. All equipment is of the best, consisting of four 7,000-lb. vats, two steel gang presses. Three vats are fitted with the Baird Power Agitators. The power used is a 15 h.p. boiler and a six h.p. engine.

The curing room is all insulated with planing-mill shavings, and requires only an ice-house to complete it for a cool-curing room.

Great credit is due to the officers of this company, especially Mr. Duff, for his untiring efforts to have everything of the best. The maker, Mr. Thos. Borland, has had almost twenty years' experience in making cheese. He has been very successful, and shows his appreciation of the company's enterprise in supplying a good building and plant by keeping everything in and around the factory scrupulously clean and tidy, and turning out fine cheese. This is one of the best equipped factories in Peterborough county.

A Cheap Drink

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder says: 'A man in Peterborough last week was fined fifteen cents for being drunk and disorderly. Fifteen cents! Next thing they'll be paying people in Peterborough to get drunk and kick up a row. Anything to relive the oppressive quietness and ominous silence of that town.

THE CARPET COMPANY'S OUTING

Excursion of Employees of Brinton Carpet Company to Idyl Wyld on Civic Holiday

The employees of the Brinton Carpet Company and their friends will spend Civic Holiday at Idyl Wild, the steamer Water Lily having been chartered for the day to take the party to Rice Lake. The excursion is not a public affair and is confined to the employees and their friends.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS OF THE TWIN CITIES AT LAKE SUPERIOR'S HEAD

To-morrow the Examiner will publish an illustrated article of some interest, it is believed, dealing with the progress which the twin-cities of Port Arthur and Fort William, at the head of Lake Superior, are making, judged from an industrial standpoint. There will be other features, many of them of local importance and interest in the edition to-morrow which will, it is anticipated, make it of more than usual interest.

HIGH PRAISE FOR THE CAR MEN

Cobourg Visitor Pays Tribute to Courtesy of Employees of Radial Railway

Mr. Arthur, a High School teacher from Cobourg, who was in the city yesterday with the excursion from that town, and who was a guest of his friend, Mr. J. Coyle Brown, paid a high tribute to the employees of the Radial Railway. Mr. Arthur is a man of considerable experience in travelling, and stated that in no place where he had ever been did he find the street railway employees so obliging as in Peterborough. No trouble seemed to be too great for them, and they appeared to take pains to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the visitors, showing them places of interest, and giving them any information in their power.

It is refreshing to pass this word of commendation on. It is seldom that praise, even though deserved, is given when it should be, and it may be interesting to Peterborough people to know what visitors think of a class of men who sometimes come in for some criticism from local patrons of the railway.

RESIGNATION STORY IS DENIED

Mr. Henry Has No Intention of Leaving the Services of the Children's Aid Society

A morning paper to-day made the statement that Mr. Henry, the caretaker of the Children's Shelter, was contemplating resigning from that position. Friends of the society, however, will be glad to learn that there is no truth in the statement that he had any such move under contemplation. He has no intention of leaving the work, with which he is in love, and for which he possesses superior qualifications.

HAILSTONES IN OTONABEE AN INCH IN DIAMETER; A VERY DISASTROUS STORM

Windows Broken in Houses and Hundreds of Acres of Grain Crops Were Destroyed on Wednesday.

A VERY HEAVY RAINFALL

Hailstones an inch in diameter are reported to have fallen in Otonabee during the worst storm in the recollection of the oldest resident of that township on Wednesday afternoon. Fortunately, the storm was not general over the whole township, only a limited section in the southeastern section being injuriously affected.

An immense quantity of rain fell, and in some places it was said to have been three inches on the level over the land. The greatest damage, however, was wrought by the hail, and a resident of that township reported to-day that there were hundreds of acres of grain, principally oats and peas, which would be utterly ruined, and would not be worth cutting. The hail was accompanied by a high wind and thunder and lightning.

The residents of the city noticed a black cloud, which indicated a storm, passing to the south, but beyond a slight darkness there was no other effect here.

Windows were broken in at least three houses near Keene by the hail-stones, among them being those owned by Mr. Thos. Taylor, Mr. Wm. Mathers and Mr. Jas. Drummond. The sky was so dark that at 4 o'clock Mr. R. Doris had to light a lamp in his home.

It was the most disastrous storm that has ever visited that section of the township, and the damage done will amount to thousands of dollars.

Barn Struck

A despatch to-day from Keene gives the following additional information in reference to the storm:—On Wednesday, the worst storm of the season passed over the village, accompanied by wind, hail and lightning. At Mathers' Corners, three miles from Keene, a great number of window lights were broken by the hail-stones. Mr. Ben. Kindred had a lamb killed by lightning, and Mr. Jas. Quinn's barn was struck, but, fortunately, not set on fire. Of six young ducks that were in Mr. Quinn's barn, five were killed by the shock, but no other damage was done. Besides a considerable amount of crop, a threshing outfit was also in the barn, and had it taken fire the loss would have been heavy.

TO RE-OPEN CORDOVA GOLD MINES AND PLACE THEM IN OPERATION

Report to This Effect---Contractor Preparing for Speedy Re-habitation of These Famous Mines---Peterborough Electrical Firm Offered a Large Contract

Examiner Special.

Cordova, uAg. 9.—The speedy rehabilitation and operation of the Cordova Gold Mines is now confidently expected by the residents of this village. Indications point to the intention of owners to again place the mines in operation, and official information to this effect may be received at any moment.

It is stated here that a firm of electrical contractors in Peterborough has been offered the contract for repairing the machinery and putting it into working order again. This fact, in conjunction with the other signs of returning activity are taken as indications that in a short time the mines here will soon be turning out the ore, the richness of which is not questioned.

This week, contractor Jas. Scott of Havelock, with a gang of men, commenced repairing the long flume at the air compressor plant. Some of the abutments upon which the immense flume rested, crumbled away recently, and a large section fell in. To repair this break is what Mr. Scott is now undertaking.

INCREASED PRICES FOR CANNED VEGETABLES AND FRUIT BEING FACED

New Wholesale Price List Received Indicate a Somewhat Alarming Increase in Some Cases—Raspberries Up to 25c.

THE REASON ASSIGNED

An Alleged Scarcity of Fruit Is Said to be the Cause — No Three for a Quarter Vegetables Now.

Will there ever be an end to the stories of increased prices? This is the question which many householders are asking themselves these days. Yesterday wholesale grocers in the city received the new schedule of prices for canned goods for the present season, and it will be interesting, if not pleasant, to learn that indications are that the consumers will have to pay more for canned fruits and vegetables this year. There will be no more three for a quarter cans of corn, peas and tomatoes, apparently. The prices for peas have been received, and it looks now as if it will be ten cents straight that the housewives will have to pay this year for these goods.

Fruit, too, will take a big jump. Last year canned raspberries were retailed at fifteen cents a tin, but there will be a different story this year, the indications being that not less than twenty-five cents will be charged, an increase of seventy-five per cent. over the prices charged last year. Strawberries and other fruits will go from fifteen cents, last year's price, to twenty cents.

No reason, outside of the alleged shortage of fruit this year, is assigned for the increased price, but the thing which concerns those who have to pay the increased price is not so much the cause, as the fact itself. This is the fact—fruit and vegetables will be dearer.

SON DREAMED OF RUNAWAY, MOTHER INJURED THE NEXT DAY

Examiner Special.

Carnes, Hope Township, Aug. 9.—On Tuesday night, Harry Halford, the eldest son of Mrs. Richard Halford, dreamed of a runaway accident, and the following day his mother, who was returning from picking berries, was the victim of a runaway accident. The husband of the lady, too, on the very day that the accident occurred, remarked to Harry that he felt that something was going to happen. It was but a few minutes afterwards that word was received at the house, of the accident, in which the wife and mother of the two men having the presentiment, was a victim. Fortunately, however, none of the ladies who were in the buggy when the horse became frightened were seriously injured.

TIGHT MONEY IN ENGLAND

Mr. E. W. Cox, of Central Canada Company, Tells of Conditions in Monetary Matters in That Country

Mr. E. W. Cox, vice-president and general manager of the Canada Life, looking extremely well after his recent trip to England, was seen yesterday by a Mail and Empire reporter and chatted most interestingly for half an hour on his experiences and on business conditions over the water.

Asked as to monetary conditions in Great Britain, Mr. Cox said that they were very similar to those prevailing here—a great demand for money and an inadequate supply. Insurance matters, he said, were in a very much more satisfactory condition—at least so far as his own company, the Canada Life, was concerned. Mr. Cox gave some interesting details in regard to its progress in Great Britain. "On arriving in London," he said, "we had a gathering of twenty-five of our leading men. Senator Gibson and Mr. E. R. Wood, were also present. The report of the Royal Commission was also read, discussed and explained, where necessary."

THE CHILDREN'S SHELTER

Arrangements seem to have been completed for the establishment of a new Children's Shelter, on the Hilliard Farm, now owned by the city. The officials of the Children's Aid Society and all citizens interested—and that should include everybody—in this splendid organization, are naturally highly pleased with the prospects for the provision of a suitable and adequate Shelter. But there is a condition that tends to subdue the satisfaction naturally felt, if it does not constitute a positive element of danger. The Hilliard Farm is selected, also, as the site of the Isolation Hospital. Per se it is a most desirable site too. But will not the erection of an isolation hospital adjacent to, if not adjoining, the Children's shelter, be a fruitful source of danger to the occupants of the shelter? We all know how susceptible children are to the attacks of infectious diseases, and this susceptibility will be virtually enhanced by the proximity of a hospital full of diphtheria or scarlet fever patients. This seems to be a capital objection to placing the shelter in a position which may result in grave danger to the prospective inmates. The only redeeming feature is that the danger is not immediate. Judging by the deliberate course of action or rather, inaction, on the part of the City Council, there does not seem to be any pressing peril of an isolation hospital becoming a menace to the health and lives of the children housed in the shelter. Still there is a bare possibility that the Council may take action and build an isolation hospital. The matter is sufficiently important to justify looking into the situation more carefully in order to avoid the dangerous conditions which would result from the possible juxtaposition of the two proposed buildings. Isolation is the first principle of the treatment of contageous diseases in relation to the safety of the general public. By placing the two buildings adjacent there will be no isolation, the children of the shelter, whose movements cannot be always controlled, will be in practically direct contact with those affected with contagious diseases. In this event the hospital will not be an isolation hospital, but a mere pest house, so placed as to defeat the very object of its erection, the segregation of the infected outside the danger zone of contagion.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Cobalt, and its solid silver rocks, does not satisfy the ambitions of the company promoters. A Massachusman claims to have located a buried treasure of fifteen million dollars on the north shore of the St. Lawrence. Of course he will form a company to seek for the mythical pirate hoard. That the treasure may not be there, will not prevent idiotic investments of small savings in the wild-goose enterprise.

Liverpool, England, is celebrating the seven hundredth anniversary of its foundation. What gay old dogs these British seaports are! A seaport that has been in active operation for three quarters of a millennium stands a good chance to stand a little longer.

The Toronto newspapers, with a "holier than thou" air, are making merry over the stone-throwing and hoodlumism in Quebec. Yet a Rochester ball team, which was walloped to the tune of a duck egg to a dozen, did not escape being mobbed and stoned by a gang of hoodlums, the matured product of what a citizen of Toronto declares, are the worst children in creation.

Yesterday was the tenth anniversary of the consecration of his Grace Mgr. Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal. His services in his official capacity, his piety and his devotion are taken for granted. But his works of what may be called supererogation, his interest in the moral welfare of the community, even outside his flock, are of the highest character. His devotion to the cause of temperance, his broad spirit in that regard, his willingness to co-operate with others with similar aims, entitle him to the respect and veneration of all lovers of good morals, even outside the pale of his official influence.

A Toronto lawyer has been served with a writ demanding claims for damages for injury, by the lawer's alleged negligence, of the interests of his client. And, as Kirstie would say, "What for no?" A retainer of a solicitor implies a contract to perform certain services "in a workmanlike manner." If these services are not so given, there is, necessarily, a breach of contract, and, in equity, a claim for compensation. If a surgeon saws off the wrong leg or gouges out the sound eye, he is liable for damages. If a bricklayer defaults in respect of his contract he becomes liable. Therefore, if a lawyer bungles his job, one cannot see why he should not be held to material accountability, especially if his neglect results in injury to the material interests of his client.

GOOD SERVICE FROM THE START

General Manager Mackay, of Canadian Machine Telephone Company, Says System Will Work Well in Brantford

BY JANUARY, 1908

Reference was made yesterday in the Examiner to the fact that the Canadian Machine Telephone Company had purchased a site for the central office in Brantford. The Expositor of that city has the following additional information concerning the operations of this company in the Telephone City:

"The Canadian Machine Telephone Company will have their system in operation in this city January 1, 1908," was the statement made this morning by General Manager F. D. MacKay of Toronto, to an Expositor reporter. With the above announcement, Mr. MacKay also stated that a site for the new Telephone Company's head office and plant had been secured. The property purchased was that on the north side of the police headquarters on Queen street, for which negotiations have been pending for some time. The vendor of the property to the company was Mr. McPherson Loyteth. The wires and poles would be all put up by the end of next week, and the remainder of the construction would be proceeded with in all rapidity. Manager MacKay stated that the new company will afford the very best service on the commencement of the operation of their franchise in this city.

WILL NOT AFFECT THE FAIR

Secretary of Ottawa Fair Says New Grand Stand is Being Erected Now and Fair Will Proceed as Usual

The Examiner is in receipt of the following message from the Central Canada Exhibition Association:—

"Ottawa, Aug. 9.—We desire to inform you that the fire which destroyed the grand stand at our Exhibition Grounds and also the Experimental Farm Building and damaged the Ladies' Building will not affect the Fair, Sept. 13th to 21st. Already work has been started on a grand stand that will provide sufficient accommodation for all. The Ladies' Building is being repaired and the Experimental Farm exhibit will be placed in Horticultural Hall. We are putting forth every effort to make this the most successful fair in every respect in the history of Ottawa and we are sanguine that our work will be duly appreciated."

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column,—

Sir, — At the corner of College and McDonel streets a rubber-tired rig and dashing span appeared to be in waiting this morning. Further developments proved that the city officials were making an estimate of the expense of the granolithic sidewalk as built outside the trees according to petition of residents of College street. The measure, apparently, met a cold shoulder, as "economy" seemed to be the watchword. If economy is a genuine point in that logic, and not a mere pretext, why did not those gentlemen walk the three or four blocks in demonstration of that hobby? College street compares favourably in breadth with some minds.

Yours, etc.,

RATEPAYER.

Peterborough, Aug. 8th.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I was greatly amused at Mr. R. J. Todd's letter in your paper complaining of the noise made by the Salvation Army Band. Was there any noise? According to the peculiar doctrine he preaches, pain and disease are only figments of the imagination—all in the mind. If he had been in line with his doctrine, he would have been in a state to believe that the noise he says he heard, was no noise, and he would have remained all serene. The man who does not practice what he preaches is a blind leader of the blind.

Yours truly,

WAYFARER.

ONTARIO MARRIAGE ACT.

Provincial Measure Only Treats of Special Cases.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—Attorney-General Foy yesterday made a statement to the press in reply to a despatch from Ottawa to the effect that the amendment to the marriage act passed at the last session of the Legislature is unconstitutional.

A few days ago Ellen Fasken originated an action in the courts to have her marriage with Henry Parr of Elora declared invalid on the ground that both are minors, and were married without the consent of their parents, basing her claim to a dissolution of the union on the Ontario amendment.

Mr. Foy states:

"Before the young girl, who is seeking relief in the Ontario High Courts, commenced action she obtained the opinion of two eminent counsel that the act was within the jurisdiction of the province. If the act purported to give power to the court to annul a marriage, it would be ultra vires, as the Dominion Parliament alone has jurisdiction under the B. N. A. Act as to the solemnization of marriages. The provincial act does not deal with divorce or annulment of a marriage, but only treats of the case where a form of marriage is gone through between two persons under the lawful age, without consent required by law, and where no valid marriage was effected or entered into. The act does not purport to give the court power to annul a marriage, but only to find (if the fact be so) that a valid marriage has not been entered into or effected, and to so declare.

"When this act was before the Ontario Legislature it was foreseen that some one hunting for flaws might possibly throw a doubt on the jurisdiction of the Ontario Legislature, and in order to remove any possible question it was suggested that a similar act should be passed by the Dominion Parliament, as a matter of precaution.

"The correspondent is mistaken in saying the bill introduced into the Dominion Parliament last session was at the request of the Provincial Government. There was no request but merely a suggestion to those interested in the legislation of a similar act were passed at Ottawa there would be no room for any one of the flaw-hunters to suggest a shadow of a doubt as to the sufficiency of the legislation."

DECLARE AGAINST BALLOONS.

Great Britain Turns Down Proposal at The Hague Conference.

The Hague, Aug. 9.—The question of projectiles thrown from balloons has served to show that whereas in 1899, the idea was treated with contempt, to-day the seriousness of the possibilities of practical results are keenly appreciated.

An Italian proposition that steerable balloons must be in the hands of military experts, chosen as the best, received 21 votes, and was referred to the editing committee.

England opposed the idea of aerial warfare. By dominating on the sea she is supreme in one direction, but if warfare in the air be added it might easily be possible that she would dominate in only one of the three elements.

A number of Armenian agitators have arrived to memorialize the delegates.

ELOPEMENT AT GUELPH.

Guelph, Aug. 9.—There is a warrant issued for the arrest of the man Ed. Hornbustle, who eloped on Monday evening with Mrs. Streeter, a fair-haired woman of about 35 years, who left her husband and four children, the eldest only seven years old. The warrant for the arrest is not, however, in connection with the elopement, as the woman's husband refuses to take action, but is on a charge of horse-stealing.

Mrs. Streeter, having hired from Smith's livery at 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning a horse and rig, picked Hornbustle up on the outskirts of the city and they disappeared.

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN

Diseases of Woman's Organism Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It seems as though my back would break." Women utter these words over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, "bearing-down" pains, nervousness and no ambition for any task.

They do not realize that the back is the mainspring of woman's organism, and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the female organs or tridneys, and that the aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily cures female organs and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered a long time with female trouble, having intense pains in the back and abdomen and very sick headaches every month. I was tired and nervous all the time and life looked very dreary to me and I had no desire to live until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to get some relief. My recovery was slow but it was sure, and I never regretted the money spent for the Compound as it brought me back to good health.

"It seems to be a medicine especially adapted to the ills of our sex and I am glad to say a good word for it."—Mrs. Albert Mann, 154 Gore Vale Ave., Toronto, Ont.

No other person can give such helpful advice to women who are sick as can Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice free.

FUN ON THOROLD STREET.

Firemen Guard Citizens While Fighting Railway Company.

St. Catharines, Aug. 9.—Wednesday night, when the waterworks men at Thorold knocked off work everything was ready to lay the water pipes under the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Electric Railway Co.'s trestle, which runs through the town.

The company raised no objection to the pipes going under the trestle, but some time after midnight one of their cars, loaded with pig iron and other heavy stuff was sent up the line and the open trench was filled up.

When the town authorities heard of it, an hour or two later, the mayor called out the firemen, and while the firemen stood on guard with their engine at full steam and ready hose to thwart any interference from the railway company, willing citizens cleared away the debris.

A guard was kept all night, and at 7 o'clock yesterday morning the work of laying the pipes under the trestle was gone on with.

The railway company and the Thorold authorities have not been on very good terms, and this is supposed to account for the company's strange actions.

A SHATTERED ROMANCE.

Ottawa Bride Deserted on Honeymoon In Paris.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—A young bride returned to Ottawa this week from Paris to tell the story of a shattered romance.

On June 27 Miss L. Mavant was married to the interpreter of the Dominion Immigration Department, who had been in Ottawa some ten years, while she herself is the daughter of a Government employe. The bridal couple proceeded to Europe by the Parisian and all was well until Paris was reached. Here the bridegroom, who said he was an Austrian, Rodgers by name, behaved strangely and did not send the luggage to the hotel, leaving it at the depot.

After five days he left the hotel, saying he had to see Lord Rothschild, and has not since been seen by his wife.

Stranded in Paris the girl had to apply to the Dominion representative, Hon. Mr. Fabre, for assistance.

TWIN BROTHERS SHOT.

Polish Priest Kills Two Hotelkeepers at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—Ludwig Sceigel, said to be an unattached Polish priest of Chicago, walked into a south side hotel in Carson street early yesterday and without warning, it is said, whipped out a revolver and opened fire upon the two proprietors, twin brothers, named Steven and Andrew Etarzynski.

Both men were fatally wounded. Steven died within an hour, and the physicians say Andrew cannot recover. Sceigel maintains a sullen silence, and nothing can be learned from either of his alleged victims. When Sceigel came here ten days ago he went to a hotel, accompanied by a woman whom he introduced as his housekeeper. They secured an apartment of two rooms. The woman, who gave her name as Francisca Sprock, is held as a suspicious person. Sceigel, it is said, had been drinking heavily.

Boy Hangs on Tree.

Brockville, Aug. 9.—In some unaccountable manner, Earl, the 11-year-old son of Charles Spaulding, residing near Rice in the Field Settlement, accidentally hanged himself.

It is thought he was endeavoring to perform tricks on a swing which he had in an apple tree near the house, where he was found hanging by his mother. Just how long he had been in that position is not known. All efforts to resuscitate him were unsuccessful.

Favor Women in Parliament.

Wellington, New Zealand, Aug. 9.—The bill providing for the election of a new Upper House by the House of Representatives, yesterday passed its committee stage in the latter chamber. One of the clauses by which women electors are eligible to election as members of the Upper House was adopted by 37 to 26 votes. The Premier and three Cabinet Ministers, who were present, voted for the clause.

Hail Does Million Damage.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 9.—Reports say that in Western Peoria County and Eastern Knox County the corn crop has been devastated. Hailstones the size of hen eggs left 25,000 acres of corn barren waste. Thousands of window panes were broken.

Campbellford Couple Delighted With Child

LITTLE FRED MOUNTENY

Mrs. Henry, matron of the Children's Shelter, received a letter yesterday from Campbellford, from a lady who took for adoption one of the wards of the Society, a boy about four years of age, Fred Mounteny, one of a family of five children brought to the Shelter a year and a half ago. The other four were found places some time ago, but it was thought at first that Fred would always have to remain in the Shelter. Under the care of Mr and Mrs. Henry, however, he developed into a bright, lovable boy, and he was eventually found a splendid home at Campbellford. That he is well liked there is demonstrated by the letter which follows. The home in which he was placed is one in which there were no children, and the little lad is being treated like a son. The letter gives evidence of this. It is not without a touch of pathos, either. The delight that this middle aged couple takes in the youthful antics of the boy shows the yearning in the heart which his presence seems to have gratified. The letter is as follows:

Campbellford, Aug 4,

Mrs. Henry, Peterborough,

Dear Mrs. Henry, — I received your letter in the box with Freddie's clothes. He arrived all safe and sound, and is certainly a dear little fellow. My husband is all in love with him, as well as myself. I would like to know how old he is, and when his birthday is, and where he was born, in what county. Let me know, if you please. You told me his mother was in the west; is his father dead? Please do not think I am too inquisitive, but I am anxious to know his real age. The dear little fellow is very contented, and so bright and smart; it is really wonderful how he talks to us about Harold and Louisa. He plays with my little dog and kitten, and chases the chickens, and he tells me he has got to go to the barns and see the rabbits, and help Mr. Alan feed the horse. He runs all the time and hunts in all the eggs. He runs to the barn for an egg five or six times a day, and he does not seem to be one bit lonesome. He calls us Uncle and Auntie, and it is cute to see him and "uncle" run a race. He will first scream, "Auntie, see me beat uncle in this race." I will often write and let you know about him. Yours respectfully,

MRS. JAS. F. ALAN.

BOYS' PRANKS ARE ANNOYING

Contractors of Bell Telephone Company's Building Complain and Police May Take a Hand in the Matter

The contractors for the new building of the Bell Telephone Company, have made complaints against a number of boys in the neighbourhood who, it appears, gather nightly, after the men have stopped work, and enjoy themselves among the piles of lumber, which they pull down, and otherwise make themselves a nuisance, besides disturbing those in the neighbourhood.

The police will likely take a hand in the matter if the boys persist in their operations.

OLD TIMER KNOCKS THE PHONOGRAPH

The Old Timer had a new grievance when he dropped into the circle last night. His grouch this time was against the ubiquitous phonograph, which some one had inadvertently termed a wonderful invention.

"Wonderful nuisance!" he grunted. "I wish you lived where I do, in the west ward, for a while, these summer nights, and you would change your mind, and want to change your place of abode. There is said to be good music in a phonograph, but it certainly doesn't stay there long, as the owners of the canned music producers distribute it all over the neighbourhood. There is keen rivalry on, and every night there is a contest to see whether Billy Murray singing 'Idaho,' can drown Ada Jones' rendition of 'A Hottentot Love Song,' while other phonographs add to the melange with bell solos and other novelties.

A phonograph may be all right in its place, but its place is on a desert island, where, if it makes the night air hideous, there is no one hurt. If it comes to a choice between a cat fight and a phonograph concert, it's me for the felines every time."

Pains in the Back Over the Kidneys

TELL OF DISEASED KIDNEYS AND THE PROVEN CURE FOR THIS DREADFULLY PAINFUL AILMENT IS

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

When kidney disease does not arise from exposure to a draft or chilling of the body it is usually developed gradually as a result of liver and bowel disorders.

It is because of the intimate and dependent relations of the liver, kidneys and bowels, that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure diseases of the Kidneys when mere kidney medicines fail.

By quickening the action of the liver and bowels this treatment immediately lessens the work of the kidneys, and at the same time restores their natural vigour. In this way the most serious and complicated diseases of the kidneys are thoroughly cured.

"For some time my mother could not walk across the floor, or stoop over because the pains in her back just over the kidneys were so severe. She had severe headaches, backache, spells of blindness and dizziness, and tried many remedies without obtaining any relief. The doctors of our town said that the trouble was due to the turn of life.

"A lady friend advised mother to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by the time she had used two boxes of this great medicine she was perfectly cured and the old trouble has never returned."

Mr. J. Edwards of Colborne, Ont., and who is employed by the Kennedy and Davis Milling Company, Lindsay, Ont., states: "I have been taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for some time and can positively say they are the best medicine I have ever used. I was troubled very much with my kidneys, and had dreadful pains in my back, which increased by leaning over.

"I can testify to the exceptional merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because they have cured me, and shall gladly recommend them to anyone inquiring about them.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

AUDITOR TO TAKE THE TICKETS

Proposal to Take That Duty Away From Conductors on the Grand Trunk Railway

A local railway man stated to the Examiner to-day that it was common talk among the trainmen on the Grand Trunk Railway, especially those connected with the passenger traffic department that a proposition had been made and seriously entertained to dispense with the services of conductors in taking up tickets on the trains.

The new scheme is that auditors will travel on the trains and collect all fares and tickets, the conductors duly being simply to run the train. In other words, he will give the signal to go ahead and to stop. Many of the men resent this, while others say they are glad to be relieved of so much work.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the deceased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. The Toronto Star says: Contractor: E. L. Finn, who undertook to remove the fruit building to the rear of the grand stand has notified Park Commissioner Chambers that he cannot do the work. He employed six Macedonians and got the building as far as the railway when they got stuck. The Macedonamns are now looking for their wages but the Park Commissioner says that there is none due the contractor. The building has been rented as a restaurant for $800.

They should have revived the Macedonian cry of Pauline days, or have sent for Allan McCarthy.

PAID TRIBUTE TO HER MEMORY

A very large number of friends of the deceased lady gathered yesterday to pay their last respects to the memory of the late Mrs. John Fowler, whose funeral took place from the family residence. The services were conducted by the pastor of the family, Rev. J. G. Potter, and reference was made and a high tribute paid to the exemplary Christian character borne by the late Mrs. Fowler, a lady whose good works would remain long after her mortal remains had been consigned to the tomb. Rev. Dr. Maran of Springville also assisted in the services. The pall-bearers were the four sons of the deceased and a son-in-law, Mr. Harry Webber, and grandson, Mr. Wm. White. The funeral was one of the most largely attended ever held in the township.

HE APPRECIATES THE MUSIC

But Mr. Todd Does Not Like the Lack of Discrimination Alleged as to Time and Place

Ecitor Examiner.

A criticism of my letter appeared in last evening's issue, signed "Old Country." I infer that this nom-de-plume is a native of the Old Country. Now, sir, if he is a native of either England, Ireland or Scotland, I shall expect him to demonstrate the manliness of a native of the above-mentioned countries, to retract his statement, in accusing me of critisicing the quality of the music of the Army Band, and that I said their music was a conglomeration of sounds. I have not expressed it in letter or out of it. On the contrary, twice in my letter I expressed my appreciation of their music and efforts. What I object to is the time and place. When I spoke of the conglomeration of sounds I was speaking of the sounds of the organ with sacred music mingling with the sounds of lively airs by a brass band and the shaking of glass. Our organist might say it was her music I referred to. Others in the congregation admitted it to be, to say the least, decidedly discordant. As for going to the officer in charge, that is right, and I accept his rebuke in all kindness. It was my intention to do so, as I had done on other occasions. This is not the first time this has occurred, although not with the present officer; neither has there been such a distressing noise before. After thinking the matter over, I thought it better to mentiion it through the press, that others might profit by it. The Salvation Army is not the only body that parades our streets. And, sir, I feel sure that if any of those leaders of parades had even a faint idea of the confusion it causes in a church to have an organ and brass band playing different kinds of music at the same time and place, they would never again allow such a thing to occur. As to whether they play dead marches or live ones, it matters not to me. And, as we read, "Pride goeth before destruction — Solomon—I hope our Army Band will not be too greatly exalted over me saying I appreciate their music, for, as I said before, I do not claim to be a competent judge. However, I have no apology to offer for intimating that there was not music (in the true sense of the word) in what greeted our ears last Sunday. Our good friend "Old Country" may have played in bands for 25 years and listened to some wonderful strains of music, but I don't think he has ever enjoyed the pleasure of having his ears tickled with such strains as we listened to last Sunday. If so, he would be more in sympathy, and grateful that he has not been called upon to play the good march for some of the listeners. And we sincerely hope he is an authority when he says that we shall not have a repetition of it. And, for his blessed assurance, we shall wish that he may live to play another 25 ears, and listen to much very high-class music.

Sincerely, with thanks,

R. J. TODD.

ENTERTAINED CHURCH CHOIR

Mrs. McClelland at Home to Members of St. Andrew's Choir at Chemong Last Night

Last evening a most enjoyable event took place, St. Andrew's choir being the participants. The choir gathered at the church about five o'clock and having engaged a 'bus drove to Chemong Park to the cottage of their organist, Mrs. McClelland, where a most delightful time was spent. After tea some went to the lake and took boats while others went on exploring expeditions around the park. Later all met at the house and many solos and choruses were sung. After singing God Save the King and Auld Lang Syne and giving their thanks to their kind host and hostess the choir started for home. The weather was so fine that everyone appreciated the outing and judged it a complete success.

GIVES FLAG TO THE FIRST BOAT

Steamer Kawartha, of Fenelon Falls, to Receive Flag From Orillia Board of Trade

The flag which was ordered by the Orillia Board of Trade for presentation to the first steamer bringing an excursion from the Kawartha Lakes was received from the manufacturers this week. Mr. J. D. Fortier is painting the town's crest in the field of the flag, which is a beautiful blue silk ensign. The flag will be placed on exhibition for two or three days, and will then be forwarded to Captain W. B. Burgoyne, owner of the steamer Kawartha, Fenelon Falls, who was the fortunate winner. Capt. Burgoyne suggests that a party of Orillians should go down to Fenelon Falls with the flag, and it is possible that this may be arranged.

BLUE DEVILS

Until the prescription known as Mi-o-na stomach tablets was put up in popular form as a safe and effective cure for sick headache, indigestion and stomach troubles, the "blue devils" made everything look dark, gloomy and depressing.

After a few days use of Mi-o-na the sick headache, dizzy feeling, ness, bad taste in the mouth, distress after eating—all these are symptoms of a weak stomach — will disappear, and with perfect digestion there will be a joyous and beautiful outlook.

Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets are sold only in a neat metal box convenient for the vest pocket and cost 50 cts. Mr. Madill has seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets, that he gives a guarantee with every box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction.

Deplorable Condition Of Crime Among Small Boys

An Alarming State of Affairs —Magistrate Dumble Speaks in Strong Terms of the Position of the Law—The Same Boys as Heretofore.

SUSPENDED SENTENCES

Before Magistrate Dumble this morning a number of boys—in fact—too many for their own and the public's welfare—appeared at a session of the Juvenile Court on serious charges. It is another proof of the prevalent tendency to mischievous actions which are criminal in character, when viewed from the serious side. The boys of to-day seemed to be imbued with a desire to satisfy their selfish tendencies, without considering the consequences to themselves, or the inconvenience to others. They, apparently, have no respect for law and decency; they entirely disregard the feelings of their parents, and to an observer it is painfully evident that they have not the slightest idea of how they should respect girls. What will become of them when they grow up to manhood? As His Worship said, there is only one result, and it is horrible to think of it.

Of the boys who were before the court to-day, one of them, who has been in court before, was charged with having stolen $2 from Mr. G. W. Frost last Saturday. He was given a two dollar bill to get changed and left the store, not to return. There was a baseball game in Cobourg last Saturday, and this youthful swindler took in the trip, and had a good time. He returned, and on Sunday evening, in company with another boy, stole Mr. John Doig's horse from its stable and hitched it to Mr. Adam Hall's wagon, at about 8 o'clock. They were seen driving furiously on Aylmer street, and the man who knew the horse, reported the affair to Mr. Doig. He found the animal tied to a tree on Aylmer street; his new 80 cent whip was missing and a rope, worth 35 cents, was cut in two, to be used as a part of the harness. The boys were placed in the shelter, but did not stay there very long, for they broke away and boy number one decamped for Emismore, spent a few days there, and calmly returned home, as if nothing had happened. These two boys are twelve and eleven years of age respectively. They pleaded guilty to the charges, and were remanded for a week.

Magistrate Dumble, commenting on the continuance of crime on the part of the same gang of boys, said that the present state of the law was breeding criminals. He said he cannot send them to jail, the law forbids public punishment, and it is only as a last resort that they should be sent to the Reformatory. The boys returning from there are seldom benefitted and are often more hardened to crime.

Another Case

Another lamentable affair was that in which four small boys, averaging about eight years of age, were charged with entering Mr. Hill's grocery store last Sunday morning, opening the till, and stealing $4.50. They entered through a rear window, and opened the contents of an open drawer, besides taking a quantity of peanuts. The rest of the day, Sunday, was spent in blowing in the money on ham and eggs, pork and beans and ice cream at the restaurants. That is the way these four boys spent the Lord's Day. Three of them have appeared in court on various occasions.

His Worship instructed the father of the two ring-leaders (they are brothers) as to how he should punish them, and stated that if they ever appear again they will be sent to the Reformatory.

A Third Case

The third case was that of two decent-looking young fellows, about 14 years of age, who stole tomatoes, etc., from a Hunter street fruiter. The Magistrate was shocked that the two boys should stoop to such a mean act. He gave them some advice and sent them on their way with the instructions to lead honest lives and never steal so much as a pin.

This was one day's grist of juvenile crime and to-morrow will bring another. This is a problem which requires a quick solution or in a few years the city, as well as the whole country, will be deluged with crime. Check and correct the boys when they are young before their minds have fallen into any particular groove.

Chemong Park Boys' Upset Nearly Proved A Fatal One

ONE BOY WAS INJURED

Examiner Special.

Chemong Park, Aug. 9.—Returning from theregatta at Sturgeon Point yesterday, two boys, residing at the park for the summer, met with a mishap which, fortunately, did not result fatally, but which might easily been recorded as a fatality.

They were being towed behind the steamer Ogemah in a sail-boat, with a number of other sailing craft, the navigators of which took this means of reaching home, instead of trusting to the slower process of proceeding under their own canvas, which, in the calm whether, would have been a slow means of locomotion. They had passed Bobcaygeon, and were getting along well, when, without any warning, the sail-boat turned turtle, throwing both boys into the water. One of the young men had time to dive, and got clear of the boat, but the other was less fortunate, and, as the craft upset, was caught underneath, receiving cuts on the head and chest. The crew of the steamer did not notice the upset, and, of course, she did not stop. Fortunately, the tow-line broke, and a man in a skiff who saw the plight of the boys, came to their rescue and they were taken aboard. By this time, the passengers on the steamer had seen the occurrence, and reported it to the captain, with the result that the boat was stopped and the boys were taken on board and brought home.

It was an experience which neither of them will care to have repeated, and, indeed, it is considered an extremely fortunate circumstance that the consequences following the upset were not more serious than they were.

Great Success Reported At Sturgeon Point Regatta

150 of Chemong Park's Summer Residents Were There, and Entries From the Park Were Successful.

UNDER IDEAL CONDITIONS

Examiner Special.

Sturgeon Point, Aug. 9. — The regatta held here yesterday under the auspices of the Cottagers' Association was the most successful ever held, all the conditions conspiring to contribute to this result. There were about 2500 persons present, including the 600 to 900 summer residents of the Point, the majority of the others coming from Lindsay, where Civic Holiday was celebrated yesterday.

A steamer brought up 150 persons from Chemong Park, and 50 more were taken on at Bobcaygeon. The Chemong people were greatly delighted with the regatta, and their pleasure was increased by reason of the fact that the contestants entering from that resort were successful in the events in which they participated.

There were no sailing dinghy races, the light wind making it impossible to pull them off.

Sturgeon Point will send a big contingent to the regatta at Stony Lake on Monday, and to the Chemong event on the following Thursday, and entries in the various races will be present from this place.

LINDSAY PEOPLE LIKE PETERBOROUGH ON HOLIDAY

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, Aug. 9.—Peterborough has the call with Lindsay people when they are out to enjoy a holiday. Yesterday was Civic Holiday here, and, outside of those who went to the Sturgeon Point regatta, which is looked upon as a local event, the majority of those who left town went to Peterborough. They got out on the first train in the morning, too, and decided to make a good long day of it. Others went at noon, and fully two hundred persons who left the town for the holiday were bound for the Electric City. They report, too, having spent a pleasant day, despite the fact that the half holiday in that city Thursday afternoon made it somewhat dull.

BOARD OF HEALTH MET TO-DAY

Mr. Edwards Given Until May 1st to Have Terrace Connected With Sewer

USE OF PAPER TICKETS

The Board of Health held an uneventful session this morning. It was over in a few minutes and but little business was done. Chairman Eyres was in the chair and the members present were the Mayor, Dr. Burnham and Dr. McNulty, as well as Dr. Bingham, M. H. O., and Geo Ball, the Sanitary Inspector.

Mr. S. Edwards was present, and asked that the Board should not insist on his terrace, on the north side of London street, east of George, being connected with the sewer at present.

The chairman strongly expressed the opinion that every terrace fronting on a street on which there was a sewer, should be compelled to connect with the same, and he would hold this opinion to the end.

The rest of the Board thought that some time should be allowed, and Mr. Edwards was given until May 1st next to have his terrace on London street east of George street connected with the sewer.

On motion the sanitary inspector was instructed to report to the board all terraces that are not connected with the sewer, and which could be connected.

The sanitary inspector called attention to the fact that many paste board tickets were being used by bakers and milkmen, and he did not think this was sanitary.

The Board did not think the matter was important enough to take action.

THEY ROCK THE CARS INSTEAD OF BOAT

Boys Have Discovered an Exciting Variety to Street Car Ride

The youths of the city have discovered a new way of getting amusement out of the street car ride to and from Jackson Park each evening. They congregate at the rear of a tranfert, and, by jumping up and down on the platform, impart a rocking motion to the car. The sensation is as bad as riding on the ocean wave or the figure eight, and the faster the car goes the more violent becomes the heave, until the passengers have to hold fast to the seats. One car was very nearly off the track the other night as a result of the manoeuvre.

The company does not take kindly to the new method of amusement, and some of those taking part in it will find themselves in trouble if they are not careful.

GOOD PROGRESS WITH SCHOOL

Baptie Brothers Now Have Roof on Addition to Barnardo Avenue School Building

Splendid progress is being made with the addition to the Barnardo Avenue School. The roof is now on and the work in the interior is being rapidly pushed. The contractors, Messrs. Baptie Bros., of Lakefield, are being complimented upon the speed with which they are prosecuting the work. The building, when it is completed, will be a creditable addition to the city's school buildings. While it was not intended to have the school ready for occupancy for some months yet, the good progress which the contractors have made already gives reason to hope that shortly after the opening of the schools after the summer vacation it will be ready for use.

STONY LAKE REGATTA ON MONDAY

Promises to be the Best in History of the Association

A day at the Kawartha Lakes, now crowded with campers and tourists and looking their best, a pleasant steamer ride through the finest scenery of Ontario, a long programme of interesting aquatic events and a dance to finish up with if you wish, what better attractions could be offered for the successful spending of Civic Holiday? You can have all these things by taking in the annual regatta at Stony Lake on Monday. The events this year promise to be the best ever seen at Stony Lake, as there will be an unusually large number of entries, and some well-known paddlers will be found in the canoe events. Lindsay, Chemong, and Sturgeon Point people will all be found in the sailing contests, and the fastest crafts on the Kawartha Lakes will take part.

Arrangements have been made for a special boat, to leave Juniper Island at 12 o'clock Monday night, returning, to Lakefield to connect with a special train for Peterborough. This will allow anyone who wishes to remain over for the dance and concert in the evening.

CIVIC HOLIDAY

On Civic Holiday the steamer Rainbow will take the Monarch's regular trip to Gore's Landing, leaving Wolfe Street wharf at 9 a. m. Return Fare 50 cents. There will be no early Monday morning trip from Gore's Landing.

TO CELEBRATE THE TERCENTENARY

Champlain's Arrival in Canada and His Voyage Through Ontario May be Celebrated

The celebration of the tercentenary of the arrival in Canada of that famous explorer, Champlain, and the first discoverer of the possibilities of the then unknown Trent Canal, has been suggested, and though it will be next year before the date on which the tercentenary falls will have arrived, it is perhaps not too early to begin to think about it. It is understood that the Lindsay and Orillia people have been discussing the proposal to hold some kind of a celebration, and the matter has now been taken up by some Peterborough enthusiasts, and it is probable that something may be done in this connection. Champlain was the first distinguished white man to go over the Trent Canal route.

This he did in his expedition with the Hurons against the Iroquois in 1615. Quebec will be celebrating Champlain's landing next summer, and Mr. Lemieux, the Postmaster-General, at the Lift Lock opening at Kirkfield, suggested that this district should join in honouring the great Frenchman.

GET OUT OF TOWN ON MONDAY

Come With the Printers to Idyl Wyld —Big Ball Came On

Everyone is going out of town on Monday, and there is no reason why you should stay at home when the Printers are offering you an opportunity to spend the day at Rice Lake, where you can dodge the heat and dust of the city. The Printers' Picnic is always the event of the year, and all records in point of enjoyment will be smashed on Monday. The steamer Otonabee will look after the crowd, and Idyl Wild is the objective point. Hippthe premier sporting event of the year will take place—the annual ball game between the Review and the Examiner. Both teams say they are going to win, but the one best bet is the Examiner. There will be other interesting events as well, and a good orchestra will be present to provide music for dancing.

Come with the Printers on Monday if you want to have the excursion of your life.

TRIED TO GET TWO MEALS WITHOUT PAYING FOR THEM

Hastings Man Finally Arrested and Locked Up

A man, who gave his name as John Ferguson, from Hastings, had a meal at Spence's restaurant today and went away without paying for it. Later, he had the nerve to return for another lunch, evidently thinking he had struck a good thing. The result was that the police were communicated with, and P. C. McGinty took him over to the police station and locked him up.

ITINERARY OF SALVATION ARMY BAND ON THEIR EASTERN TRIP

The Salvation Army Band will begin their trip to the lake shore towns on Saturday either on the noon Port Hope train or if it can be arranged on the special with the baseball team. Their itinerary then is as follows:—Concertin Port Hope on Saturday night, Aug. 10th; on Sunday the band will assist in the meetings in Cobourg and will likely give a sacred concert in the afternoon. On Monday night, concert at Trenton; Tuesday night at Picton, Wednesday night at Belleville, Thursday night at Campbellford, Friday night at Napanee. Taking the Bay of Quinte Road the band will go to Tweed where they will appear on Saturday night and on Sunday. This will end the trip and the return will be made by C.P.R. to Peterborough. Bandmaster Greene will conduct all the concerts which is sufficient to guarantee good productions. The Band has been practicing earnestly of late and have varied programmes to present.

Brigadier Hargrave will accompany the band as manager and it is hoped that the trip will be highly successful. Thirty-five bandsmen will be taken and should make a name for Peterborough as a musical centre.

PETERBOROUGH FISHING THE BEST YET

English Gentleman Reports Splendid Bass Fishing at Loon Lake

After having travelled across the continent and fished in the waters of British Columbia, the Georgian Bay, Muskoka and Nipegon, a gentleman from England has just returned to the city from Loon Lake, where, he stated, he had had the best fishing he had met since he landed in Canada. He came to Vancouver on his trip around the world on May 5th, and since that time has been travelling by easy stages eastward, stopping at Winnipeg, Lake Nipegon and Muskoka. He finds fault with the latter region—says there are too many gasoline launches—but the Peterborough county fishing grounds suit him admirably. He saw the Peterborough Lift Lock on his way to Burleigh.

WAGON SMASHED WHILE ATTENDING COURT

Mr. John Doig's Horse Fell and Broke Shafts of Wagon

While Mr. John Doig was attending the police court this morning, his horse, which he left standing with the wagon in front of the station, in some manner keeled over, breaking the shafts off short and becoming entangled in the harness. Mr. Doig is a junk dealer and this unfortunate affair was untimely and disastrous, as it will cost considerably to have the repairs made. He was soon surrounded by a gang of boys who expressed their regret that John's outfit had met the mishap.

Mr. Burnham Thinks Idea to Uniform Children in Shelter is Preposterous, and Says So

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir, —In the absence of Mr. Goodwill, the secretary, let me say that your flashy report of Mr. Henry's suggestions re uniforms for occupants of the Shelter, is preposterous. I am sure Mr. Henry has not so far forgotten himself as you make out. Moreover, while I know you would not willingly do the C. A. S. harm, this continual putting us in the limelight for want of better copy, is bound to do us injury. We would much prefer to be let alone.

HIGHLY PLEASED WITH TRIP

Those seventy, or more, persons who patronized St. Luke's W. A.'s excursion to Gore's Landing yesterday afternoon, were highly pleased with the trip, and spoke in glowing terms of the enjoyment of it. They reached Gore's Landing about 5. At the Rice Lake Hotel they found tea ready for them, which was a splendid repast, and was a credit to the management of that excellent hostelry. The party left the Landing about 7, reaching Peterborough at 10. Capt. Harris and his crew were most obliging and did all they could to make the trip a pleasant one. The Monarch stopped at the street railway wharf, and at the Ashburnham wharf, where a large number disembarked.

IS NECESSARY TO EMPIRE

Governor-General Makes Stirring Speech at Halifax — Our Relations With Mother Country — Mutual Sacrifices Must Be Made—What Canada Is Doing—New Postal Arrangements a Great Boon.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 9.—At a largely attended Canadian Club luncheon here yesterday, His Excellency Earl Grey, Governor-General, made an important speech, referring to relations with the Mother Country. His speech evoked great enthusiasm and a cordial vote of thanks was moved by Archbishop McCarthy, seconded by Dr. Falconer of Toronto University.

Referring to the Colonial Conference, His Excellency expressed the hope that the blue book report of the proceedings of the conference might be printed in a cheaper form and be widely read.

Mutual sacrifice and service appeared to be the motto which animated the discussions of the conference. Along this noble road the United Kingdom led the way. It was recognized that if the Empire was to be held together a complete command of the sea was necessary, and that for this purpose the Imperial navy must be stronger than the combined forces of any other two powers. The Home Government, recognizing that the first pressing need of the self-governing dominions across the seas was to develop their resources, and to make themselves strong, had undertaken to provide, single-handed, for the whole of this defence, and to ensure the safety of the over-sea trade, until the time had come for the twenty millions of self-governing dominions of the King outside the United Kingdom to take up their share of what should be a common Imperial burden.

He felt proud to belong to that small portion of the British Empire which considered it a privilege to carry the whole burden of the naval defence of the Empire so long as they were able, and until Canada could relieve it of a share of the burden.

His Excellency referred to the patriotic example of the Cape Colony, which had deliberately paid $625,000 in order to enable British manufacturers to secure a seven and one-half million dollar order for rolling stock, which, but for this action, would have gone to a foreign nation.

As an instance of Canada's sacrifice and service in the cause of empire, he referred to the new postal arrangements by which Canada secured to the people of the United Kingdom, as well as of Canada, the advantage of a cheap mail service, of which Canada paid the whole expense of collection and delivery over a continent the size of Europe. Canada further paid the whole cost of ocean transportation from Liverpool on the increasing mails and printed matter that the low postal rates were bringing into Canada, while England only paid the cost of collection and delivery over an area not larger than the Maritime Provinces.

Canada had again given a fine example of sacrifice and service in the vigor with which we had forced trade east and west, instead of north and south, against the laws of nature and geography, in the desire to throw trade into Great Britain.

BAD FIRE AT HAMPDEN.

Extensive Plant Including Machinery and Stock, in Ashes.

Ayton, Aug. 9.—A disastrous fire occurred at Hampden, near Ayton, yesterday afternoon, when the extensive sawmill, shingle and lath mills owned and operated by the Miller & Seim firm, were wiped out by fire. Their entire stock of this season's cutting of lumber, lath and shingles is completely gone, including the three mills and machinery, with a total loss of $7,000. The fire originated by a spark from the shingle mill. Every effort was made to prevent its spreading, but owing to the extremely dry season the fire spread and consumed the entire plant. A high wind was blowing, ad this carried the fire into the fields, which quickly consumed the dry crops, and the farmers in that vicinity had hard work in saving their barns and houses. Miller & Seim intend rebuilding at once. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

WATER TANK COLLAPSES.

Montreal Warehouse Flooded and Nearly Wrecked—Heavy Damage.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—A huge water tank on top of the building occupied by Herman Wolff & Co., McGill street, wholesale grocer, burst yesterday morning, and water flooded the entire establishment. The tank itself, when about half empty, toppled over across a lane and crashed into the Tamilkande Tea Co.'s building and made a big hole in the roof.

The Wolff Co.'s loss is about $50,000, and the Tea Company's $1,000.

There will also be separate classes for males and females.

This will overcome the objections which led to the withdrawal of the Christian Brothers from Ottawa.

Moslem Fanatics Stir Up Anti-Foreign Sentiment.

MOORS LOOTING THE CITY

Europeans Safe at Consulate—Guarded by French Sailors—Street Fighting Continues — More Troops Landed—City Strewn With Dead —Custom House Sacked—Kabyles Aroused—Bank Robbed.

Tangier, Aug. 9.—French sailors are guarding the British consulate at Casablanca, where the consular agents of the United States, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Sweden have sought refuge. The Italian and Portuguese consuls are at the French consulate. A minaret, from which a heavy, sustained fire was directed against the French consulate, was demolished by the guns of the French ships at the request of the Moroccan authorities.

The state bank agency at Casablanca has been robbed of about $15,000, but no details of the robbery have been made public.

The French consulate was attacked by Moors during the night of Aug. 5. One bluejacket of the guard was killed and three were badly wounded.

The custom house at Casablanca was looted by natives on Tuesday and many other buildings were set on fire and destroyed.

A French gunboat, the Cassini, which was detached from the northern squadron, now proceeding to Casablanca, was communicated with by wireless telegraphy and arrived here yesterday. She will await the orders of the French charge d'affaires, pending the arrival of the armored cruiser Jeanne d'Arc, as the French officials here consider it is not safe to be without a warship at their disposal.

The Spanish torpedo cruiser Destructor has arrived at this port. The Marabout Sidi Malouf, one of the principal Moors of Casablanca, has requested to be allowed to go on board a warship.

City Full of Dead Moors.

Tangier, Aug. 9.—The French warships Wednesday landed 2,000 additional men at Casablanca, where street fighting continues, judging from the desultory firing heard day and night by those on the ships anchored off the town.

The Jewish quarter of Casablanca has been attacked. Many persons were massacred in the streets. The city is said to be full of dead Moors and the Moorish quarter is in ruins, having been set on fire by the shells from the big guns from the cruisers. All the stores are closed and much hunger and distress prevails among the poor.

The foreign consuls have ordered the stores to be reopened and have established a special tariff for foodstuffs, designed to mitigate the sufferings of the poor.

The Europeans, who were all safe either on board ships or at the consulates, are guarded by bluejackets. The warships continue to drop an occasional shell into groups of Kabyles on the beach, in order to prevent them from approaching the town.

A despatch from Rabat says that the Kabyles have given the Government a fortnight in which to withdraw the French controller of customs. Refusing, they will attack the town. The effervescence among the tribesmen about Tangier is creating some apprehension and an attack may be made on the city.

The action of Mohammed El Torres, representative of the Sultan, in imprisoning the natives who had expressed anti-French sentiments, has produced a good impression among the Europeans here.

Sharpshooters Go to Front.

Algier, Aug. 9.—The steamer Oasis, having 300 sharpshooters and two mountain batteries on board, sailed for Morocco yesterday. Capt. De Rigoin and Lieut. Riech, who have been designated for duty with the International Moroccan police, were on board.

French Have Heavy Task.

Paris, Aug. 9.—In spite of the firm intention of the French Government to keep within the terms of the Algeciras convention in its dealings with Morocco, the French press clearly foresees that France, unless the situation rapidly improves, has entered upon a long and heavy task.

The newspapers express the opinion that France, upon which the chief burden in restoring security in the disturbed country will fall, may be forced to occupy in turn all the Moroccan ports, and then probably be compelled to undertake a punitive expedition to Fez, after which it would be impossible to withdraw, as was the case with the British in Egypt.

As the British bombardment of Alexandria enhanced the prestige of Great Britain in Egypt, so it is argued the French bombardment of Casablanca will have a similar effect in Morocco. An expedition to Fez, the newspapers point out, would, like the British victory at Tel El Kebir, complete the parallel.

Circumcision Not Observed.

Rome, Aug. 9.—The Pope yesterday countermanded all the receptions planned in honor of the anniversary of his coronation, fearing that the cardinals might be insulted in the streets while on their way to and from the Vatican.

IS IT PREFERENCE OR WHAT?

Sir William Lyne's New Budget Harshly Criticised.

AUSTRALIA'S LATEST TARIFF

Protectionists Are Pleased—But Others Denounce It as Sham—Preference to Great Britain Estimated at From 5 to 11 1-2 Per Cent.— New Duties Will Produce £800,000 Every Year.

London, Aug. 9.—(C.A.P.)—At Sydney, Australia, the new budget expounded by Sir W. Lyne is regarded by protectionists as a triumph for preference, while free traders call it a sham preference. At present a close analysis of the tariff is impossible, but there is approximately an average of 5 per cent. in favor of Great Britain. Premier Deakin was absent from the House through illness.

Cook (opposition leader) analyzed the preference lengthily and said:

"It is a tariff set up against Britain as well as the foreigner. There is no trace in this highly prohibitory tariff of a sacrifice, which Chamberlain said is the basis of empire.

"The tariff raises duties on all the principal Australian manufactures. It embraces an elaborate scheme of duties on iron, subject to the passage of the iron bonus bill.

"There is no preference on large agricultural machinery, but on hundreds of machine parts Britain receives special consideration.

Bills extending protection to the consumer are promised later.

The Melbourne Age (Protectionist) says that many doubt the wisdom of the preference, seeing that the English Government unequivocally, even contemptuously, rejected the principle of the Imperial Conference, and says it is doubtful whether it consists with our dignity or prudence to offer a gift which the recipient treats with levity.

Another estimate of the British preference makes it average 11 1-2 per cent., or an annual value of £1,200,000.

MAN CUT TO PIECES.

Quarrel at Beauce Leads to Horrible Murder.

Quebec, Aug. 9.—Another tragedy has been enacted in Beauce, as the result of which a man named Cyrille Vachon lies at death's door. The scene of the tragedy was St. Evariste, Beauce, and the man accused of the act of violence is Napoleon Lessar, formerly of St. Evariste. It appears that bad blood existed between the two men and a quarrel ensued. The victim who was horribly injured received about a dozen knife wounds. Vachon comes from St. Romaine de Windsor. Vachon now refuses to lodge a complaint against the other and the people of the district are displeased. The Attorney-General's Department may be appealed to.

Moved Just In Time.

Brockville, Aug. 9.—Fred Loomis, who lives with James Baker in Dexter, made a lucky move between 4 and 5 o'clock Wednesday morning when he concluded it was time for him to get out of bed and go downstairs. A few minutes later Loomis' bed was splintered by lightning. The house was struck, a small portion of the roof torn off, and the rafters and attic floor shattered.

Collision Near Portland.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 9.—The Portland and San Francisco liner, City of Panama, en route from Portland with a full list of passengers, collided yesterday and sank the steamer Alliance, from Coo's Bay for Portland, with passengers and freight. The collision occurred in a fog near the mouth of Williamette River. The passengers of the Alliance were brought to Portland.

Family Poisoned by Toadstools.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 9.—Dr. C. P. Dinsmore, aged 50 years, is dead and four members of his family are dying as the result of eating toadstools in mistake for mushrooms at Deep Valley, this state.

LILLIES TRIMMED THE MAYBEES

Lindsay Boys Downed by 16 Runs to 5 in a Rather Loose Game

With the Lindsay people who spent their Civic Holiday in Peterborough was one of the town league baseball teams, the "Maybees," who were defeated by the local Lillies on the Oval by the rather wide margin of 16—5. The game was a fair exhibition of ball but while the Lindsay nine were on several aerial trips the Lillies were piling up the score and many of the runs were due to errrors. The home team was strengthened by Bellegham of the Excelsiors and Curtis, Kendry and Wilson of the Strathconas. They played a good game throughout and deserved their victory. Starr who pitched for the Maybees put up some fast ones and had 5 strike outs to his credit while Bellegham who played his usual good ball made 6 of the Maybees to hit nothing but air. Anderson Lindsay's catcher played a steady game throughout, but the battery's support on the bases and in the field was not up to the standard. Fee at the initial sack was one of the best of the visiting players. The Lillies played a steady game as usual, the additional players strengthening up and helping in every way. Folley made a homer in the eighth and the batting of both teams was fairly good the Lillies having no difficulty to connect with Starr's curves. The teams lined up as follows:—

Score by innings:—

Lillies..... .....35100142x—16
Maybees..... .....00300001l— 5

FRANK O'CONNOR FAST RUNNER

Defeated "Price" Adamson at the Driving Park Last Night

At the Driving Park last night there was considerable excitement over a matched 100 yds. race between Mr. P. Adamson and Mr. Frank O'Connor of the C.G.E. Works and a large number of the sports were present to cheer to victory their respective favourites. The track was duly measured and the starter called the men to the scratch. O'Connor was given a handicap of three yards, according to the agreement, and when all was ready the starter fired his pistol and the men were off. They got a good start and ran down the track in grand style. At the finish O'Connor had bettered his handicap and was leading by five yards and thus the first heat went to him to the pleasure of his friends.

The second heat was also won by O'Connor who won the race, it being best two out of three heats. The time was not officially kept although there were those who had their watches on the race and the claim is made that O'Connor did the 97 yards in 10 seconds. There is a revival in sprinting among the sporting element in the city and some fast events are being pulled off.

SPEND HOLIDAY AT THE RACES

Track is in Great Condition—Longboat a Big Attraction

The track at the Driving Park has never been in better condition than it is now, and it is almost certain that some of the fast ones will break the track record at the big meet next week. Everything seems to promise the best programme of the kind ever offered in Peterborough. The fields will be large in all the events, and, with a Marathon race each day to add interest, there should be an enormous crowd in attendance. The presence of Tom Longboat, as stated by the Turf Club, should be enough to pack the grand-stand. A good street car service will be given to and from the grounds. Don't worry about now to spend Civic Holiday. Stay at home in comfort and see the races.

BIG BUNCH GOING TO PORT HOPE

Most Important Game in Midland League Series

A great bunch of fans will accompany the Peterborough baseball team to Port Hope to-morrow, when the most important game in the league series to date will be played. Peterborough must win in order to have a chance for the championship, while if Port Hope wins, the pennant is theirs. Both teams will have thier strongest line-ups on, and the game will be a great contest from start to finish. Word has been received that Port Hope has brought in several men for the game, including Hern of the St. Mary's Club of Toronto. Two locals will have their best team on, and will not go down without a struggle for the honours. Walsh of Toronto will handle the indicator.

For 85 cents you can take in the trip. A special train will leave the G.T.R. station at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and, returning, will leave Port Hope at 7.30. These arrangements make it possible for nearly everyone to take in the game, and many enthusiasts have already signified their intention of going. Tickets may be secured at the Windsor or City Hotels or at the up-town ticket office.

LACROSSE

Beaverton trimmed Young Torontos yesterday in an Intermediate C. L. A. game at the Island, Toronto, by a score of 6-5. A win for the Young Torontos would have given them the district; as it is, they have a fighting chance. They were short Crocker and Woods.

A BANCROFT RUNNER WOULD ENTER

Wants Privilege of Competing With Peterborough Runners in Examiner Road Race

Interest is being taken in the Examiner Road Race, which will be held as usual on Thanksgiving Day, and a number of inquiries are coming in in reference to it. To-day a letter was received from Bancroft, the writer stating that there was a runner there who was thought to be good enough to enter the race and make a good showing, and the letter asked for the conditions. It was pointed out in reply that the conditions of the race would prevent a resident of that village entering the race, by reason of the fact that he would not be a resident of the county of Peterborough, and the race was intended primarily to develop the runners of this county. It is possible that at some date in the future it may be decided to admit runners from bordering counties, but for this year at any rate entries will be accepted only from the County of Peterborough. From the present indications there seems every reason to believe that there will be a considerably larger field of entries than there was last year.

THE LACROSSE CLUB IS SUSPENDED

For Playing Fred Lynch Against the Young Torontos

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club has been suspended. What a joke! It came last night without a warning, at the meeting of the C. L. A. Executive, and the reason is because Fred Lynch played for the locals against Young Torontos. The following curt paragraph in the Toronto papers appears to-day:

"Peterborough was suspended for playing Lynch of New Westminster without a certificate."

Thanks, Mr. Cameron.

FOOTBALL

The following members of the Quaker football team are requested to be at the G.T.R. station to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock, to take the two o'clock train for their game at Warkworth: McFadden, Scrimshaw, Sullivan, Evans Archibald, McDonald, Crough, Hogly Brodie, Yeats, Hamilton and Cannliff.

The Quakers will journey to Warkworth on Saturday to play an exhibition game with the team of that town. It is believed that Warkworth will pick a strong eleven as they are very anxious to trim the champions. The Quakers are taking a strong team and will endeavour to keep up their good record.

HUMOR

AND CHAIN TOO.

"The most laconic man I knew of is a deaf and dumb man in our town," said a man to a San Francisco Argonaut writer the other day. "He never writes on his little pad more than enough to convey his meaning. It happened he was a good poker player and one night won a watch and chain from a young man of the town. The young man's father, a very pompous individual, heard of it and, meeting the successful gamester on the street next day, stopped him. The deaf and dumb man produced his little pad. On it the irate and pompous father wrote, 'I understand you won Bob's gold watch the other night.' He handed it to the deaf and dumb man, expecting to see him change countenance and offer to give up his spoil. The latter did not quite do that, however. Instead he took the pad, wrote two words carefully on it and returned it. The pompous father read inscribed thereon, 'And chain.'"

A Great Future Predicted For Lake Superior's Twin Cities

Port Arthur and Fort William are Making Rapid Strides, From an Industrial Standpoint—Iron Industry Prosperous.

PORTS OF HALF CONTINENT

Factors Contributing to the Rapid Progress of Cities Which a Few Years Ago Were Struggling Towns.

Reproduced From Winnipeg Free Press.

Fort William and Port Arthur, the twin ports of half a continent, through which are shipped annually some fifty million bushels of grain, and which receive the thousands of tons of freight and supplies necessary to the vast country which lies between the head of the Canadian lakes and the Rockies are to-day attracting a great deal of attention because of their favourable location, not only as ports but as manufacturing and distributing points for that territory. A quarter of a century ago they were small struggling towns with but little of interest save their scenery. A few of the smaller vessels used them as a port of call and Fort William was one of the divisional headquarters on the C. P. R. main line between Montreal and the coast. Port Arthur in fact was only a large village and neither it nor Fort William gave any promise of the great developemnt now in progress.

Even so late as five years ago there was little suggestion of what is now taking place, for while there was a great amount of freight handled during the summer and early fall months, the winter was a season of stagnation, for the two towns depended almost entirely on the revenue derived from the transportation business carried on there. The advent of the C.N.R. into Port Arthur had made a marked difference in that town's prospects and the rivalry engendered by the C. P. R. having opened the town of Fort William took on a different tone. Then came the opening of the great immigration movement to the Canadian west. For a couple of years thousands of people flocked into the new country without making any great effect on the lake ports. They came through on the C.P.R., stopped a few brief minutes while locomotives were changed and supplies taken aboard, then left for their new homes, probably taking with them little more than a vague impression of the many towns and villages through which they had passed.

Rock Ledge and Tamarac Swamp

There was no arable land in sight and the country seemed but an alternation of almost mountainous peaks, rock ledges, and tamarac swamps, while the land they were looking for was one without rocks or swamps, but miles of treeless prairie, lying open to the sun and rain, waiting for untold ages the coming of the strong men who would make practical use of the energy stored beneath their carpets of luxurious grasses. What cared they for rushing streams, for mountain cut with ledges of mineral for harbours or for a water frontage which offered accommodation for the fleets of a nation. And can they be blamed, for even those who made their homes at the head of the lakes only partially grasped the situation and what the future had in store.

It is the work of another class of men to develop the possibilities of these ports. Commercial men, manufacturers, shippers and masters of transportation, who follow to fill the needs of the agriculturists, and to handle their products on the way to the markets of the world. Many of the brightest men of this continent and of the Old Country have visited the Twin Ports, and all are most enthusiastic over the brightness of the future laid out before them, a future which means a multitude of tall factory chimneys, huge elevators and dock facilities second to none. The men who are in charge of affairs at both Fort William and Port Arthur have fully grasped the task which is before them and are developing the cities along lines which make ample provision for the future. There is a keen rivalry between the two cities, a rivalry, which if it does not overstep bounds, cannot fail but operate for the good of both, but which if it is allowed to become petty, may work irretrievable injury.

Both have many and manifest claims, and these claims are being kept before the world by judicious advertising, the object of which is to persuade manufacturers and others, of the opportunities offered.

Success which is Now Evident

That they are meeting with no small measure of success is evident to the most casual observer. Several factories are now in course of erection or recently completed, a tremendous number of buildings of all sorts including residences, stores and office buildings, are in hand, while municipal improvements are being pushed with the greatest possible vigor in order to meet the demands of the rapidly increasing population.

Within the scope of a brief article it would be impossible to go into the details of all of this activity, but perhaps it would be advisable to touch on some of the more important features, merely by way of an illustration. Even than the task is a difficult one for the writer is placed somewhat in the position of the westerner who was asked how his own town was progressing and what was doing there. He replied that he was not able to give any definite information for he had been absent a week. Then again there is the danger of arousing the jealousy of the residents of either city, who may feel that his native heath should have had a better showing. Consequently the task is approached in fear and trembling, with an apology ready at hand in case of emergency.

Port Arthur is known all over the continent as the city which has carried municipal ownership to the highest point of perfection. It owns and operates all of its utilities, telephones, water, light, power, sewers, and street railways, and operates them successfully on a paying basis. It has a magnificent location on the shores of Thunder Bay, where a breakwater gives it splendid harbour facilities and the fact that it is connected with three transcontinental lines, built or under construction, and is the port of call for several lines of upper lake boats, gives it great importance commercially.

Has Atmosphere of Permanence

The centre of the town slopes rapidly from the water front, giving great natural charm to the residential section, where many beautiful residences have been built, which give an atmosphere of permanence to the growth which is taking place.

Then, too, the water front is building up rapidly for the C. N. R each year adds something to its terminal facilities, docks and warehouses, and the C. P. R. is now engaged in the construction of a new depot in the heart of the city, which in connection with the new docks they have made estimates for will give them the best of facilities for handling freight and passenger traffic. Farther to the east there is a broad, flat stretch of country, which offers every facility for the construction of manufacturing plants or the laying out of railway yards. Here the C. N. R. has completed an extensive coal handling plant, and the Atikokan Iron Company has constructed a smelter which ranks as one of the most modern in Canada. No mention need be made of the grain handling facilities for these are too well known to need description.

East from Port Arthur and south from Fort William, are found extensive deposits of rich iron ore, an extension of the Mesabi or Upper Huronian series of Minnesota, which have placed Duluth before the world, as one of the heaviest iron shipping ports on the continent. The rapid advance in the use of iron and steel, bringing with it an advance in the price of raw material, has directed attention towards these products, and for several years past, parties of men armed with diamond drills have been exploring and mapping the extent and richness of the deposits of this district.

Splendid Plant to Smelt Ore

The Atikokan Iron Company is the first to undertake active development, and instead of merely mining the ore for shipment have made preparations to smelt the ore on the ground. At Port Arthur, over near the Fort William boundary, they have erected at great cost, a magnificent plant which it is expected will turn out a high grade of pig iron.

One of the heaviest items of expense was in securing a suitable foundation for the whole of the structures, including coke ovens, roasting furnace, boiler house, blast furnace, casting house and communicating tracks, are carried on heavy piling driven deeply into the mud of the bay shore. The piles were driven in thousands, then a layer of gravel was put on, and this was topped with concrete, making a solid monolith supported by the piling. The coke ovens, 100 in number, are of the old style, with no provision made for the utilization of the by-products. However it is expected that any additions which are necessary in this department will be of the modern sort with appliances for saving the gas and tar which will now go to waste. The ovens are constructed of stone.

THREW SAUSAGE INTO AUTOMOBILE GEARING

Examiner Special.

Rochester, Aug. 10.—Becoming entangled in a controversy on Main street east with an automobilist who also ran him down Thursday afternoon, John Wise, who declares he hails from Hilton, proceeded to grease the machine with an armful of sausage that was once wrapped up in paper. Later he rubbed some of the same material into a new suit that adorned the person of Special Policeman Sander.

Wise was accompanied by another man, and both of them showed the effects of frequent intercourse with the cup that cheers. As they crossed Main street at Water street, an automobile nearly hit them. Wise stood in its path and refused to move. When the driver started up enough to bump him slightly, he is said to have hurled several pounds of sausage into the gearing of the machine. Policeman Sander and Christie were attracted by the uproarious shouts of a gleeful throng. They locked up Wise on a charge of intoxication, but not before he had wiped his hands all over Christie's clothing.

AN AGE OF REASON.

The days of mystery have passed. There must be a reason for everything, and we demand to be shown the whys and the wherefores. Secret or patent medicines must go with the other mysteries. King Palmetto Compound is not a secret remedy,—the formula is printed on the label, and you can get expert advice from your physician, who will tell you that it is the most useful prescription ever prepared. Saw Palmetto for the kidneys, Cascara Sagrada for the bowels, Couch Grass, Corn Silk, for the bladder, Golden Seal and Compound Kerunfel,—a perfect combination. The cause of ill-health is not a mystery either, and we know we should apply our reason to our daily habits, but we do not do so. The modern struggle is too much for us. The result is a clogged liver, and a generally disordered condition of the stomach, liver, nerves, and kidneys. These things lead to very serious results, and render the body an easy prey to germ diseases, such as Typhus, Typhoid, and Consumption. The reasonable solution is to begin taking King Palmetto Compound to-day. One dose a day, and the cure begins with the first dose. It will renovate your entire system, cure constipation and indigestion, and purify the blood. Give it a trial. Write for a free sample bottle to the King Palmetto Company, Bridgeburg, Ontario.

Sold and guaranteed by Mollermid & Jury, druggists.

DOES THIS INTEREST YOU?

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, attributes a great deal of his success to the following simple vegetable prescription:—

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;

One ounce Compound Salatone;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mix, shake well, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Your druggist can supply the ingredients, and the mixture can be prepared at home at very little expense.

This, the doctor says, acts directly on the kidneys, assisting them to filter the poisons from the blood and expel same in the urine, at the same time restoring the kidneys to healthy, normal action.

We feel that a great many readers will be pleased to learn of this simple prescription, and knowing the ability of the physician whose formula it is, we do not hesitate to recommend it to any sufferer.

A STORY OF LOVE AND ADVENTURE

BY BERTHA RUNKLE.

Copyright by The Century Co.

"Bravo, Yeux, you are a Balagon! I have not wit enough to know whether you are as simple as sunshine or as deep as a well, but I love you."

"Monsieur," I answered, as I think very neatly, "if I am a well truth lies at the bottom."

"Well, Gervais?" demanded Yeux gris.

"Do you say, trust him?"

"Aye, I would trust him. For never yet did villain turn honest nor honest man false in one short hour. When he was asked to serve against the duke he showed his stuff. He was no traitor; he was no coward; he was no liar. I think he is not those now."

Gervais was still doubtful.

"It is a risk. If he betrays"——

"What is life without risks?" cried Yeux-gris. "I thought you too good a gambler, Gervais, to falter before a risk."

"Well," Gervais consented, "I leave it to you. Do as you like."

Yeux-gris said at once to me:

"This Lucas, as I told you, is too cowardly to meet my cousin in open fight. Since he got the challenge he has never stuck his nose out of doors without two or three of the duke's guards about him. Therefore we have the right to get at him as we can. We have paid a man in the house to tell of his movements. He is to fare out secretly at night on a mission for M. le Duc, with one comrade only. M. Gervais and I will interrupt that little journey."

"Very good, monsieur. And I?"

"You will meet our spy and learn the hour of the expedition. Last night when he told us of the plan it had not been decided."

"Then he will be the other man I saw in the window? I shall know him."

"You have sharp eyes and a sharp brain, youngster. But he will not know you. Therefore you can say you come from the shuttered house in the Rue Coupejarrets. You will meet him in the little alley to the north of the Hotel St. Quentin. Do you know your way to the hotel? Well, then, you are to go down the passageway between the house and M. de Portreuse's garden—you cannot mistake it, for on two sides of the house is the street, on the third the garden and on the fourth the alleyway. Half-way down the alley is an arch with a small door. In that arch our man, Louis Martin, will meet you. Do you understand?"

I repeated the directions.

"You have learned your lesson. You will ask him the hour—only that."

"And you will take oath not to betray us," commanded Gervais.

I took out the cross that hung on my rosary. I was ready to swear. Grevais prompted:

"I swear to go and come straight and speak no word to any but Martin."

With all solemnity I swore it on my cross.

"That oath will be kept," said Yeux-gris. He held out a sudden hand for the cross, which I gave him, wondering.

"I swear that we mean no harm whatsoever to the Duke of St. Quentin." He kissed the cross and flung the chain back over my neck.

At last I saw the door unlocked. Yeux-gris even returned to me my knife.

"Au revoir, messieurs."

Gervais, sullen to the last, vouchsafed no answer, but Yeux-gris called out cheerily, "Au revoir."

CHAPTER VI.

Nothing in life can be so sweet as freedom after captivity, safety after danger. When I gained the open street once more and breathed the open air, no one molesting or troubling me, I could have sung with joy. I fairly hugged myself for my cleverness in getting out of my plight. As for the combat I was furthering, my only doubt about that was lest the skulking Lucas should not prove good sword enough to give trouble to M. Gervais. It was very far from my wish that he should come out of the attempt unscatched.

But as I went along and had more time to ponder the matter other doubts forced themselves into my reluctant mind. Put it as I pleased, the affair smacked too much of secrecy to be quite savory. It was curious, to say the least, that an honest encounter should require so much plotting. Also, Lucas, coward and rascal though he might be, was monsieur's man, doing monsieur's errand, and for me to mix myself up in a plot against him was scarcely in keeping with my vaunted loyalty to the house of St. Quentin. My friend Gervais's quarrel might be just; his manner of procedure, even, might be just, and yet I have no right to take part in it.

And yet monsieur had signified plainly enough that he was no longer my patron. For my birth's sake I might never work against him, but I was free to do whatever else I chose. Monsieur himself had made it necessary for me to take another master, and assuredly I owed something to Yeux-gris. I had reason to feel confidence in his honor; surely I might reckon that he would not be in the affair unless it were honest. Lucas was like enough a scoundrel of whom monsieur would be well rid. And lastly and finally and above all I was sworn, so there was no use worrying about it. I had taken oath and could not draw back.

I hurried along to the rendezvous, only pausing one moment at the street corner to buy sausages hot from the brazier, which I crammed into my mouth as I ran. But after all there was no need of haste; the little arch, when I panted up to it, was all deserted.

No better place for a tryst could have been found in the heart of busy Paris. Only the one door opened into the alley; M. de Portreuse's high garden wall, forming the other side of the passage, was unbroken by a gate, and no curious eyes from the house could look into the deep arch and see the narrow, nailstudded door at the back where I awaited the rat-faced Martin.

I stood there long, first on one foot and then on the other, fearful every moment lest some one of monsieur's true men should come along to demand my business. No one appeared, either foe or friend, for so long that I began to think Yeux-gris had tricked me and sent me here on a fool's errand, when, all at once, a low voice said close to my ear:

"What seek you here?"

I jumped on finding at my side a little, pale, sharp-faced man—the man of the vision. He had slipped through the door so suddenly and quietly that I was once more tempted to take him for a ghost. He eyed me for a bare second; then his eyes dropped before mine.

"I am come to learn the hour," said I.

"Did you not hear the chimes ring five?"

"Oh, no need for disguise. I am come from the two in the Rue Coupejarrets. They bade me ask the hour."

He favored me with another of his shifty glances.

"What hour meant they?"

I said bluntly in a louder tone:

"The hour when M. Lucas sets out on his secret mission."

"Hush!" he cried. "Hush! Don't say names aloud—his or the other's."

"Well," I said crossly, "you have kept me waiting already more time than I care to lose. How much longer before you will tell me what I came to know?"

He looked at me sharply for another brief intant before his eyes slunk away from mine.

"You should have a password."

"They gave me none. They told me to say I came from the shuttered house in the Rue Coupejarrets, and that would be enough."

"How came you into this business?"

"By a back window."

He gave me another suspicious glance, but making nothing by it he rejoined:

"Eh bien, I trust you. I will tell you."

He clutched my arm and drew me to the back of the arch, where the afternoon shadows were already gathered.

"What have you for me?" he demanded.

"Nothing. What should I have?"

"No gold?"

"No."

"He promised me ten pistoles today. He did not give them to you?"

"I tell you, no."

"You are a thief! You have them!"

He stepped forward menacingly; so did I. He then fell back as abruptly.

"Nay, it was a jest; I know you are honest. But he promised me ten pistoles."

"He did not give them to me," I said. "Perhaps he was not so convinced of my honesty. He will doubtless pay you afterward."

"Afterward!" he retorted in a high key. "By our Lady, he shall pay me afterward! The gutters will run gold then, will they? Pardieu! I will see that a good stream flows my way. But one cannot play to-day with to-morrow's coin. He said I should have ten pistoles when I let him know the hour."

"I cannot mend that. It lies between you and him. I have not seen or heard of any money."

"Then all I have to say is, he may go whistle for his news."

Now, had I but thought of it, here was an easy road out of a bad business. If Martin would not tell the hour of rendezvous Lucas was saved, monsieur's interests not endangered, yet at the same time I was not forsworn. But touch pitch and be defiled. You cannot go hand and glove with villains and remain an honest man. I returned directly:

"As you choose. But M. Gervais carries a long sword."

He started at that and made no instant reply, seeming to be balancing considerations. Then he gave his decision.

"I will tell you. But your M. Gervais is wrong if he thinks I can be slighted and robbed of my dues. I know enough to make trouble for him, and I know where to take my knowledge. He will not find it easy to shut my mouth afterward, except with good broad gold pieces."

"Enfin, are you telling me the hour?" I said impatiently. I was ill at ease; my only wish was to get the errand done and be gone.

He laid a hand on my shoulder and made me bend to him, but even then spoke so low I could scarce catch the words.

"They have fixed positively on tonight. They will leave by this door and take the route I described last night to M. Gervais. They will start as soon as the streets are quiet, some time between ten and eleven. They must allow an hour to reach the gate, and the man goes off at twelve. In all likelihood they will not set out before a quarter of eleven; M. le Duc does not care to be recognized."

So they planned to kill Lucas at monsieur's side? Yeux-gris had not dared to tell me that. But he had looked me straight in the face and sworn on the cross no harm was meant to M. le Duc. Natheless, the thing looked ugly. My heart leaped up at the next words:

"Also Vigo will go."

"Vigo!"

"Not so loud! You will have the guard on us! Yes, he is to go. At first monsieur did not tell even him, he desired to keep this visit to the king so secret. But this morning he took Vigo into his confidence, and nothing would serve the man but to go. He watches over monsieur like a hen over a chick."

"M. le Duc," I cried, "I must see him. It is a matter of life and death."

"Then it will be three to three," I said. I thought of Gervais, Yeux-gris and Pontou, for of course I would take no part in it.

"Three to two; Lucas will not fight."

Lucas must be a poltroon, indeed!

"But Vigo and monsieur"——I began.

"Aye, they are quick enough with their swords. Your side must be quicker, that's all. If you are sudden enough you can easily kill the duke before he can draw."

Talk of words like thunderbolts! All the thunder of heaven could not have whelmed me like those words. Yeux-gris and his oaths! It was the duke, after all!

I could not speak. I looked I know not how. But it was dusky in the arch.

"It sounds simple," he went on. "But, three of you as you are, you will have trouble with Vigo. That is all. I have told you all. I must get back before I am missed. Good luck to the enterprise."

"Tell M. Gervais to remember me," he said, and opening the door passed in. I heard him lock and bolt it after him, and his footsteps hurrying down the passageway.

Then I came to myself and sprang to the door and beat upon it furiously. But if he heard he was afraid to respond. After a futile moment that seemed an hour I rushed out of the arch and around to the great gate.

The grilles were closed as before, but the sentry's face, luckily, was strange to me.

"Open! open!" I shouted, breathless. "I must see M. le Duc!"

"Who are you?" he demanded, staring.

"My name is Broux. I have news for M. le Duc. Let me in. It is a matter of life and death."

"Why, I suppose, then, I must let you in," that good fellow answered, drawing back the bolts. "But you must wait here till"——

The gate was open. I took base advantage of him by sliding under his arm and shooting across the court up the steps to the house. The door stood open, and a couple of lackeys lounged on a bench in the hall.

"M. le Duc!" I cried. "I must see him!"

They jumped up, the picture of bewilderment.

"Who are you? How came you here?" cried the quicker-tongued of the two.

"The sentry opened for me. Where am I to find M. le Duc? I must see him! I have news!"

"M. le Duc sees no one to-day," the second lackey announced pompously.

"But I must see him, I tell you." I repeated. I had completely lost what little head I ever had; it seemed to me that if I could not see M. le Duc on the instant I should find him weltering in his gore. "I must see him," I cried, parrot-like. "It is a matter of life and death."

"From whom do you come?"

"That's my affair. Enough that I come with news of the highest moment. You will be sorry if you do not get me quickly to M. le Duc."

They looked at each other, somewhat impressed.

"I will go for M. Constant," said the one who had spoken first.

Constant was Master of the Household; M. le Duc had inherited him with the estate and kept him in his place for old time's sake. He was old, fussy and self-important, and withal no friend to me.

"I had rather you fetched Vigo," I said.

"Oh, Vigo will not come. He is with monsieur. If I bring M. Constant it is the best I can do for you."

I had recovered myself sufficiently by this time to remember the nature of lackeys, and gave the messenger the last piece of silver I had in the world. He regarded it contemptuously, but pocketed it and departed in leisurely fashion up the stairs.

The other was not too grand to cross-examine me.

"What sort of news have you? Do you come from the king?" he asked in a lowered voice.

"No."

"From M. de Valere?"

"No."

"Then who the devil are you?"

"Felix Broux of St. Quentin."

"Ah, St. Quentin," he said, as if he found that rather tame. "You brings news from there?"

"No, I do not. Think you I shall tell you?" This news is for monsieur."

"It won't reach monsieur unless you learn politeness toward the gentlemen of his household," he retorted.

We were getting into a lively quarrel when Constant appeared on the stairway—Constant and the lackey who had fetched him and two more lackeys and a page, all of whom had somehow scented that something was in the wind. They came flocking about us as I said:

"Ah, M. Constant! You know me, Felix Broux of St. Quentin. I must see M. le Duc."

Constant's face of surprise at me changed to one of malice. Down at St. Quentin he had suffered much from us pages, as a slow, peevish old dotard must. I had played many a prank on him, but I had not thought he would revenge himself at such a time as this. He looked at me with a spiteful grin and said to the men:

"He lies. I do not know him. I never saw him."

"Never saw me, Felix Broux!" I cried, completely taken aback.

"No," maintained Constant. "You are an impostor."

"Impostor! Nonsense!" I cried out. "Constant, you know me as well as you know yourself. I say I must see the duke; his life is in danger!"

"An impostor, he yelled shrilly, "or else a madman—or an assassin."

"That is the truth," said some one, laying a heavy hand on my shoulder.

I turned; two men of the guard had come up, my friend of just now and my foe of the morning. It was the latter who held me and said:

"This is the very rascal who sprang on monsieur's coach step in the morning. M. Lucas threw him off, else he might have stabbed monsieur. We were fools enough to let him go free. But this time he shall not get off so easy."

"I am innocent of all thought of harm," I cried. "I am M. le Duc's loyal servant. I meant no harm this morning and I mean none now. I am here to save monsieur's life."

"He is here to kill monsieur; he is an assassin!" screamed Constant. "Flog him, men; he will own the truth then!"

"I am no assassin!" I shouted, struggling in their grasp. "Let me go, villains, let me go! I tell you monsieur's life is at stake—monsieur's very life, I tell you!"

They paid me no heed. Not one of them—save that lying knave Constant—knew me as other than the shabby fellow who had acted suspiciously in the morning. They were dragging me to the door in spite of my shouts and struggles, when suddenly a ringing voice spoke from above:

"What is this rumpus? Who talks of monsieur's life?"

The guards halted dead and I cried out joyfully:

"Vigo!"

"Yes, I am Vigo," the big man answered, striding down the stairs. "Who are you?"

I wanted to shout, "Felix Broux, monsieur's page," but a sort of nightmare dread came over me lest Vigo too should disclaim me, and my voice stuck in my throat.

"Whoever you are you will be taught not to make a racket in M. le Duc's hall. By the saints! it's the boy Felix!"

"M. Vigo," I said. "I have news for monsieur of the gravest moment. I am come on a matter of life and death. And I am stopped in the hall by lackeys."

He looked at me sternly.

"No, M. Vigo."

"Come with me."

CHAPTER VII.

That was Vigo's way. The toughest snarl untangled at his touch. He had more sense and fewer airs than any other, he saw at once that I was in earnest; and Constant's voluble protests were as so much wind. The title does not make the man. Though Constant was the Master of the Household and Vigo only Equerry, yet Vigo ruled every corner of the establishment and every man in it save only monsieur, who ruled him.

He said no word to me as we climbed the broad stair; neither reproved me for the fracas nor questioned me about my coming. He would not pry into monsieur's business, and save as I concerned monsieur he had no interest in me whatsoever. He led the way straight into an intechamber, where a page sprang up to bar our passage.

"No one may enter, M. Vigo, not even you. M. le Duc has ordered it. Why, Felix! You in Paris!"

"I enter," said Vigo; and sweeping Marcel aside he knocked loudly.

"I came last night," I found time to say under my breath to my old comrade before the door was opened.

Of the four triangular grate bars, each bar is operated by the use of a handle applied to either of the two centre bars. To remove this handle after shaking is impossible until the grate bar has been returned to its original position, flat and in place, without any of the cogs sticking up. The result is that the bars are always flat under the fire and that it is impossible for lumps of coal to drop through and be wasted. SELL PIGS FOR THE CHURCH

Picton Priest Has Novel Method of Raising Money for Benefit of the Church —Will Realize $1,000

Examiner Special.

Picton, August 10. — Rev. Father Killeen, incumbent of St. Gregory's church, is particularly energetic towards the material welfare of his charge. His novel ideas towards raising money are remarkably interesting. This spring he advised every member of his congregation to raise one or two pigs, the proceeds from the sale of which this fall will go towards the church. It is anticipated that over $1000 will be realized in this way. The congregation intend to hold their annual lawn social this month, and a week ago Rev. Father Killeen distributed $2 worth of tickets for each family of his congregation to dispose of. This means at the very outset $200 proceeds.

Varicose Ulcers Cured

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 29 Sheridan avenue, Toronto, states: "About eight years ago I hurt my leg near the ankle, and the result was what the doctors called verleose ulcers. I was treated in two Toronto hospitals, and sent away without being cured. From the very start Dr. Chase's Ointment helped me and by persistently use it has entirely cured me."

I Took Pe-ru-na, Hardly Daring to Believe

So Writes Mr. Newhof, of Albany.

Pelvic Diseases in Men.

Many an invalid is dragging out a miserable existence with catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the bladder, or both.

There is no disease equal to catarrh of the bladder in producing complete wretchedness, absolute despair, haggard misery and stubborn weakness.

An army of this sort of victims have one by one discovered that Peruna could be relied upon to relieve such cases.

One man tells another man, and in this way the news spreads until in all parts of the country are to be found men who have been permanently liberated from the thraldom of catarrh of the bladder by a course of Peruna.

Many cases of catarrh of the stomach, kidneys and other abdominal organs have reported themselves as cured.

We give below two prominent testimonials which illustrate the benefit of Peruna in these cases.

CHARLES B. NEWHOF

Mr. C. B. Newhof, 10 Delaware street, Albany, N. Y., President Montefiore Club, writes:

"Since my advanced age I find that I have been frequently troubled with urinary ailments. The bladder seemed irritated, and my physician said that it was catarrh caused by a protracted cold which would be difficult to overcome on account of my advanced years. I took Peruna, hardly daring to believe that I would be helped, but found to my relief that I soon began to mend. The irritation gradually subsided, and the urinary difficulties passed away. I have enjoyed excellent health now for the past seven months. I enjoy my meals, sleep soundly, and am as well as I was twenty years ago. I give all praise to Peruna."

H. L. EMERY

Catarrh of Stomach and Kidneys.

Mr. H. L. Emory, Vice Chancellor and Master of Arms, K. P.'s, of Omaha, Neb., writes from 205 North Sixteenth street, the following words of praise for Peruna as a tonic. He says:

"It is with pleasure I recommend Peruna as a tonic of unusual merit. A large number of prominent members of the different orders with which I have been connected have been cured by the use of Peruna in cases of catarrh of the stomach and head; also in kidney complaints and weakness of the pelvic organs.

Mr. David L. Jaycox, Chaplain Clarinda I. O. G. T. and Chaplain G. A. R., 865 Broadway, Oakland, Cal., writes:

"I am an old war veteran. I contracted severe bladder and kidney trouble. I spent hundreds of dollars and consulted a host of doctors, but neither did me any good.

"Finally some of my comrades who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it. I at once bought a bottle, and found it helped me so much that I kept using it for nearly four months.

"Peruna has proven the best medicine I ever used. My pains are gone and I believe myself to be cured. I feel well, and would not be without a bottle in time of need for ten times its cost."

Mr. Robert E. Hanvey, Treasurer Knights of Industrial Freedom, also a well known writer and lecturer, writes from 11 South Nicholas St., Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"I was in good health until about four years ago, when my back became lame and sore. The pains kept increasing, with severe twitches and slow exhaustive aches. Urine was highly colored and passed with great irregularity. I knew this must be inflammation of the bladder.

"Having read of Peruna I decided to try it. I found relief from the pain within ten days. The aches gradually diminished, and it was a blessed relief I can assure you. Within three months I was well once more. My appetite had returned, nervousness and irritability were things of the past, and for over two years now I have been a healthy man.

"I give all thanks to your Peruna, and believe that it is a blessing to mankind."

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to act is when the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up energy that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils into us force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, promotes rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness generally.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness after exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Ledue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Old World Mail News Of The Week

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

ENGLAND

The exposure of a fraudulent "spiritualistic medium" was the sensation of Leeds recently, the medium having been caught in the act by a camera which was brought into the meeting. The supposed medium was an engine minder, who has found it lucrative to desert his engine at frequent intervals in order to humbug devout Spiritualists at fees varying from a guinea to 35 shillings a night. Recently, by means of a substantial fee, the medium was persuaded to give in a private house a materialising seance, at which the photographer contrived to be present. The medium, having entered an improvised curtain cabinet in a corner of the room, lights were lowered until it was impossible to distinguish more than just the outline of one's neighbours. The only light permitted was that of a small red lamp. While the "assistants" sang a hymn, the medium proclaimed by his deep breathing that he was going into a trance. After some hymn singing the "spirit" came forth. It was then that the flashlight photographs were taken, and the lights as well as the subsequent prints showed a man bearing a remarkable resemblance to the medium. The discovery proved too much for the latter, and he disappeared from Leeds.

This end was reached at Clerkenwell Police Court, London, recently, of a strange case connected with an offence of 25 years ago. John Edwards, a (builder, of Manchester, was charged with having stolen, in July, 1882, £462 belonging to his then employer, Mr. T. B. Westacott, auctioneer of Pimlico, London. The lawyer for the prosecution stated that the facts disclosed had altered the prosecutor's view of the transaction. At the time of the robbery, another man, also employed by the prosecutor, absconded, and, if what happened at the time had been fully explained, proceedings against the prisoner would never have been taken. The prisoner and the other man (now dead) were fellow clerks. The other man had considerable influence over others in the office and the prisoner entrusted him with money he had received to pay into the bank. This man absconded with the £462, and the prisoner, feeling that he had done wrong in not paying the money personally, also absconded, thus causing suspicion to fall upon him. He now proposes to make restitution, and the prosecutor wished to withdraw the charge. For 25 years the accused had been living a most respectable life. The prisoner was discharged.

Thomas Jones, of London, a tailor, by trade, who, at Wakefield recently, was dealt with under the Vagrancy Act, had in his possession a diary, containing the following quaint passages: "London is my own town, bringing with it a length of 15 miles of suburbs." "I reach Cambridge, which is a very beautiful town, but chiefly known for its large colleges, which the poor does not get the opportunity for the teaching." "On leaving the town, a little way out is a wireless telegraph, which belongs to the college, which, after I passed through, rapidly brought me to Lincoln." "Lincoln is very wild for its large stretches of land, which takes up its trade for the trading of the ground, and also for its large farms; but, for all that, it has some beautiful (village)." "The people, very clannish, know a stranger, and so they are down on him, for which they have their reasons; but they carry it too far, for I have known men and women to be locked up just for the sake of doing it."

Methods of real military warfare are to be adopted by the Suffragettes. From now onwards the "Skirmishing Scouts" of the main army will be a force to be reckoned with. Into remote villages and hamlets will now be carried the "Votes for Women" movement. The "Scouts," who started their campaign recently, were seven in number, mounted on bicycles. Each week, country places in which, probably, nothing has been previously heard of the votes for women agitation, will be visited. The large red banner emblazoned with the familiar Suffragette war cry will be unfurled, and the little band will arouse the rustic inhabitants by the clanging of specially procured handbells and the tooting of the more sonorous cycling horn. At the village green speakers will deliver addresses. The inauguration of this new campaign was signalized by visits to Holmwood and Leatherhead, in Surrey.

"This is an unprecedented case, for the whole history of English law shows no record of a man whose wife was living at the time of the promise being sued for breach of promise," said Lord Coleridge, summing up at Lincoln Assizes recently, in a breach of promise suit brought by Miss Florence Wilson against Mr. Sidney Carnley, a solicitor, both of Alford. Carnley and his wife were unsympathetic, and Miss Wilson was not always happy with her father. The pair sympathized with each other, and Carnley promised to marry Miss Wilson when his wife, who was an invalid, was dead. The jury awarded Miss Wilson £100 damages. The point of law as to whether the promise was a legal one—the plaintiff knowing the defendant was married—is to be argued in London, and it was conditional on the result of this that judgment was given on the verdict

Allen Newman, a Kettering schoolboy, one night recently, leaped from a Midland express train travelling at 40 miles an hour, and is recovering from his injuries. The boy's father Mr Harry Newman, is a well-known Northamptonshire cricketer, and was playing in a match for the county against Kettering, and the boy obtained permission from the headmaster of the Kettering Grammar School to leave early to see the match. He went into the fair ground close to the railway station and stayed until the very last minute. Then, racing into the station, and seeing what he supposed to be his train leaving the platform, he jumped into a compartment of the moving train, and it was not until he heard the guard shout, "You are in the wrong train," that he realized he was in the Nottingham express. He allowed the express to proceed over a mile before he jumped out on the metals. He was picked up unconscious.

A terrible encounter between a man and a dog was described in the Southend county court recently, when Joseph Pudney, a mailman, brought an action for damages against Harry Turner, a machinist. Late one night, Pudney was passing Turner's house when a powerful Irish terrier flew at him, making four bites on one thigh and two on the other. Pudney seized the dog by the jaw and tail and threw it over the hedge. The animal, however, flew at him again, biting him severely on the hands and arms. He shouted for assistance, and a boy brought a lantern and a stick. Weak and bleeding, Pudney walked backward for 300 yards, keeping the dog at bay as well as he could. When the encounter ended—man and dog both thoroughly exhausted—it was found that Pudney's clothes had been practically torn off him, and he had received between 25 and 30 bites, 14 of which were serious.

SCOTLAND

During the recent visit of the Channel Fleet to Scottish waters a German ship was run down on its northward journey by H. M. S. Assistance. The latter struck the German vessel full on the starboard side a little in front of the funnel. The fearful crash of the collision aroused everybody on both vessels. On the Assistance all hands were immediately called on deck. A scene of excitement and commotion took place on the German vessel, which it was easily seen had suffered badly in the collision. For a few moments the two vessels lay locked. Lines were thrown from the warship and fifteen of the crew of the collier scrambled on board. The only member of the crew remaining was the cook, a man of advanced years. At the moment of the collision the engineer of the German vessel had set the engines full astern, and had so left them when he ascended the deck and boarded the warship. The pull of the propellor soon began to take effect, and the two vessels parted. It was then discovered that the captain's wife was also on board the ill-fated steamer. Three boats from the Assistance were quickly manned and lowered. The sea was a little choppy but not rough, and the sailors who had been quickly summoned from their sleeping quarters, pulled willingly at the oars. To the consternation of those who were watching thme, it was seen that in spite of their efforts, the vessel was increasing her distance. An exciting chase, which continued for nearly forty minutes then took place. The doomed steamer, with no one on board but imprisoned woman and the cook, who apparently was unable to turn off the steam, kept steadily on her course with the man of war's men pulling strenuously but ineffectually behind. Finally the steamer began to settle, and forty minutes from the shock of the collision in the light of the early morning she sank from view, carrying the captain's wife below. Just before the vessel sank the cook threw a ladder overboard, and then jumped into the sea. By means of the ladder he kept himself afloat until the boats came up and took him on board. He had also got his kit together, and threw it overboard, and it too was picked up. He stated that he had endeavoured to force his way into the cabin where the captain's wife was imprisoned, but unaided he was unable to force an entrance.

In view of the recent happenings in connection with St. Margaret's Parish Church, (Arbroath, more than ordinary interest was centred in the attitude of the congregation on a recent Sunday. At a previous meeting the members virtually pledged themselves "to pass the plate," the idea being to lessen the emoluments of their pastor, the Rev. W. d'Esterre MacLeod, who has been asked to resign. Some time ago it was the custom in this church to hand around collection bags. Plates have now been placed at the entrance, and on Sunday it was evident that the suggestions thrown out by the congregational meeting were not being ignored. Men, women, youths and girls, all walked past the plate without subscribing their usual contribution, and it was found that the ingoing collection amounted to about five shillings. This sum included several silver coins. The total collection for the day, embracing two services amounted to 9 shillings, 1d. It is estimated that ordinarily the amount would have been four pounds. Liberal collections were given to the outgoing collection, which will be devoted to the fund for the school picnic.

Egyptian bankers, merchants and financiers, men who have been the silent forces making for progress in the land of the Pharoahs, thronged Glasgow recently on the occasion of the launching of the new turbine steamer of the Egyptian Mail Steamship Company. A few weeks ago there was launched the first of the ships that have for their object the connecting of Egypt and Great Britain. The launching of the second vessel, the Cairo, must strongly appeal to Britons, for it makes Cairo a veritable suburb of London, for a man may breakfast at the Carlton on Monday and lunch at Shepherd's Hotel on Friday, for in these ships, both of which are of 12,000 tons, the entire seas passage will be only three days. The Egyptian Ferry will start running on November 15th, and these huge floating clubs will add to the joy of the Egyptian season.

A distressing accident occurred on the River Tay at Dundee recently, when William Wilson, an apprentice carpenter, fell off the navigating deck of a ship on which he was at work, and was drowned in sight of his comrades. While he was engaged in placing a hinge in position the screw driver with which he was working, slipped. This threw Wilson off his balance, and he fell over the side of the ship, headlong into the river. Two carpenters who were working near Wilson, observed the mishap, and raising the alarm took immediate steps to effect a rescue. A ship's fender with rope attached was thrown into the sea, and Wilson was seen to make an attempt to clutch at it. He failed to grasp the rope and then sank immediately from view.

An exciting scene was witnessed by the passengers on the steamer Edinburgh Castle, of Glasgow, when she was returning to the city recently. Between Dumbarton and Bowlingo one of the passengers, a young man, divested himself of his coat and boots and leaped over the side of the steamer. Capt. Brown, with admirable promptitude, backed the steamer, and the man was hauled on board. He was unconscious, but the purser, Mr. John Baillie, and other officers, applied restoratives, and he quickly recovered, being apparently none the worse for his plunge. His explanation of his conduct was that he had boasted to some of the passengers that he could swim ashore.

The servants in a house in Coates Crescent, Edinburgh, were alarmed one night recently to discover that there was some one beneath a bed in their room. Two passers-by responded to their cry for help, and valiantly searched for the intruder, who proved to be no desperate burglar, but a quiet little boy, who was snugly tucked up in a quilt and resting peacefully. Nevertheless he was handed over to police protection, and gave his name as William Hall from Glasgow. His story was that he had failed to meet a man whom he had come from Glasgow to see about a job, had gone to the house to rest, and had found the quilt underneath the bed.

IRELAND

Extraordinary scenes of violence and disorder have taken place in Belfast in connection with the strike of dockers and cartons. Two vans laden with goods for a new Brazalian liner, which is fitting out at Alexandra Wharf, were attacked by a crowd of men and boys, who removed the goods from the vans and pelted with rivets the men in charge, who had to take shelter. The assailants then set fire to one of the vans, which was totally destroyed, while the other was thrown into the water at the Musgrave Channel. The horses were saved. On the other side of the river in Garmoyle street a crowd attacked a builder's timber van and scattered the contents over the tramway rails, completely blocking the road. The constabulary escort intervening, the mob retaliated with a volley of stones. A constable was badly cut in the face and had to be sent to the hospital, while a sergeant and several officers were more or less severely hurt with stones. A sugar-laden lorry was held up, the bags burst open, and the sugar strewn all over the tramway track.

An interesting case has been concluded in the Dublin Law Courts, in which Mr. Martyn, of Tilbyra Castle, County Galway, chairman of "The National Council," the principal Sinn Fein organisation obtained judgment against the committee of the Kildare Street Club. Mr. Martyn claimed a declaration that a resolution purporting to expel him from the Kildare Street Club is invalid, that notwithstanding the resolution he is still a member of the club and entitled to exercise all the rights attached to membership, and an injunction restraining the defendants and all other members of the club, their officers and servants, from excluding from the club. The Master of the Rolls said that though the committee acted in a manner that could not be assailed by any right-minded person, and though their integrity and honesty could never be called in question, the rule upon which they purported to act did not give them jurisdiction to act as they did, and the plaintiff must succeed.

Notwithstanding the fact that over two hundred police were in Birr in connection with prosecutions, which were going on, two cattle drives took place in the district Mr. Davis Kenny, Ballingarry House, Shinrone, had all his stock cleared off the Leeca farm by a large crowd. The Borrisokane police met the drivers, but were not sufficiently strong to recapture the cattle. The Birr police arrived on the scene ten minutes after the stock were brought home. A rather extensive drive took place also at Fairy Hill, the property of Mr. Harry Kenny, Clyduff House, Shinrone, in which the antigrasers again had their own way. Great excitement prevails in the district over the determined attitude adopted by the Leaguers, and, it is expected all the holdings on the eleven-months' land will have to be surrendered.

A distressing boating accident occurred on Lough Erne, recently, in which Sidney Plews, a private in the Army Ordinance Corps, stationed at Enniskillen, met his death by drowning. Deceased and three other soldiers of the 4th Battalion Middlesex Regiment were boating, and at the rear of the main barracks were changing places, when, the four men were precipitated into the water. One of the Middlesex, however, managed to climb on to the boat, and it was his standing up in the partially submerged craft which drew the attention of a number of civilians to the accident. The other two soldiers managed to swim ashore, and Plews, who was a fine swimmer, struck out in the opposite direction. He managed to swim a short distance when he sank.

At the opening of the Leitrim Assizes, recently, the Attorney-General told an extraordinary story of the boycotting of a man named Brady, who took an evicted farm. Brady's sons, aged seven and twelve had to travel twenty-six miles at night to get provisions. The emissaries of the league followed them, and overshadowed their movements. On one homeward journey they were assaulted by a mob of about 600 men, and the provisions taken from them, in spite of the police escort. Eight farmers were prosecuted, but the jury failed to agree about the case.

The continued activities of the law in parts of Ireland led Justice Wright in charging the grand jury at the Roscommon Assizes recently to describe the lawlessness as rampant and defiant and threatening anarchy. He subsequently granted an application by the solicitor general to have a cattle raiding case postponed until the next assizes, with the object of obtaining a change of venue, believing that fear and local feeling would prevent Irishmen from giving a just verdict.

A large force of police surprised about 400 men watching a cock-fight in Fermanagh, recently. They dispersed them, but the men continued the sport on an island. They were followed by the police, and fled in boats. On landing the fugitives made for the mountains, and the police pursued them for nearly twenty-four hours. Several fights took place, in which a number of policemen were injured and numerous arrests were made.

A shooting accident occurred at Leabeg, between Kilcood and Newcastle, Co. Wicklow recently, resulting in a young man named Stringer, aged 16, a farmer's son, being shot dead. Stringer and a servant named Hickey, also about 16 years, were toying with a gun, which they were not aware was loaded, when it suddenly went off blowing the head almost off young Stringer.

The Price has nothing to do with the Quality

Beer, brewed abroad, is not one bit better because it costs twice as much in Canada as it does at home.

The difference in cost goes into the custom house—not in the lager.

Beers, that cost 20c. and 25c. a bottle in Canada, cost the same at their homes that O'Keefe's "Pilsener" Lager costs here at your home.

What are YOU paying for — lager or custom charges?

All the leading hotels, cafes and dealers have O'Keefe's "Pilsener" Lager. It's the ideal beer for the table and sickroom. Order a case of Frequently when a salesman for Business Systems, Limited, installs a new system for accounting in a large commercial house, he is asked if he can recommend a man who is capable of taking charge of the work.

Right now, if they had them, Business Systems, Limited, could place some men at $2000 a year; but it is a pretty risky thing to recommend a man for such a position without being thoroughly conversant with his capabilities.

The directors of Business Systems, Limited, have therefore, caused to be started, under the title of Business Systems Commercial School, an up-to-the-times training school where education for real business is given.

Business Systems Commercial School is entirely different from the ordinary "business" college—no student will be permitted to graduate unless he is really capable when he enters a business house, of stepping right in and taking hold in a practical manner.

That, in a nutshell, is the foundation upon which Business Systems Commercial School rests.

Business Systems Commercial School, not confined to the forms manufactured by Business Systems, Limited, includes all modern methods of accounting. The work taught consists of the methods adopted by the largest commercial houses, goes thoroughly into the practical details, and, in the more advanced courses, includes Commercial Law and modern banking.

No teachers will be employed who have not had actual business experience, and both retail and wholesale methods will be taught. For students who already occupy positions and who are desirous of bettering themselves, there will be special night courses.

Business Systems Commercial School has no room for drones—if you merely want to go some place to "put in" a year after school, go elsewhere——don't come to Business Systems Commercial School.

If you are wide awake and anxious to learn, write us.

The Peterborough Horsemen Want License Fee System

Report of Special Commissioners Appointed to Deal With Condition of Horse Industry in this Province.

IMPROVEMENT SHOW

A bulletin has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture dealing with the condition of the horse industry in the Province, and, in this connection, reference is made to the conditions as they were found in Peterborough county by the special commissioners appointed by the Government to inquire into them. The section of the report dealing with the local conditions is as follows:—

As regards the townships of Belmont, Methuen, and Dummer, in this county, the Inspectors report a decided improvement in the class of heavy horses inspected, and there is evidence of more intelligent interest being taken by farmers in horse breeding. The "scrub" is much complained of, however, and any legislation that will protect the owners of high class horses and encourage systematic breeding will be favourably received by most of the horsemen here. Stallion inspection and a license fee appear to be the only form of legislation considered likely to improve the present state of the horse industry. With but two exceptions, a Clydesdale and a Percheron, all the sires inspected were grades, viz., a Coach, Clydesdale, Percheron, and two Standard-breds. One is not sound, but on the whole they average up fairly well. The maximum for stud fees is $10, and minimum, $5. Mares in these townships are a little better and heavier than in some of the other districts, but show no particular line of breeding with the exception of some grade Clydesdales. There are also a few registered mares of that breed. While there is a large number of light mares, there are not many high class drivers among them.

Peterborough city being adjacent to the townships of Otonabee and Asphodel, there is naturally a large number of stallions travelling in that section. Included in these are five pure-bred Clydesdales, and seven grades, eight pure-bred Shires, a German Coach horse, three pure-bred and two grade Standard-breds, a Percheron, a French-Canadian, a pure-bred and a grade Hackney and a nondescript. There is a good deal of unsoundness among these horses, and some, at least, should not be travelling on this account; and also for food conformation. There are some good sires amongst them, however, and some have good reports about them as stock getters. There is a pretty wide range of fees from $5 to $15, the former for grades. Mares here show some improvement along draft lines; but too many are old and worn out and not suited to give the best results in breeding. Very few give evidence of breed quality, and most of them are too light to mate with heavy stallions. Here, again, horsemen are nearly all a unit in asking that steps be taken to banish the "scrub" stallion, but opinions differ as to what action should be taken. Some would make registration a necessary qualification for all stallions, while a large number seem to favour inspection of all stallions as well as their progeny. The fact that some registered stallions have been failures in the stud, while some unregistered horses are recognized in the community as excellent stock getters, is put forward as an argument against pedigree qualification being made the standard. Many express the conviction that educating farmers as to the advantages of line breeding and the proper mating of their mares should be attempted before compulsory legislation is introduced.

The townships of North Monaghan, Smith, and Ennismore, also benefit by the proximity of Peterborough, and no less than 23 stallions are found in this district. In this list are three pure-bred and six grade Clydesdales, three pure-bred and one grade Percheron, one Shire, four pure-bred and four grade Standard-breds and a grade Coach horse. Here, too, there is some unsoundness, but even among the grades there are some pretty good horses. Six dollars is the lowest stud fee, and $15 the highest. Mares are of fair average quality, but the age average is too high. The general purpose type of about 1200 pounds predominates, but there are a few Clydesdales and some good road mares. Stallion owners complain that the best mares are used on the road, and the culls kept for breeding. The greatest hinderance to improvements is the cheap stallions. Owners of high-priced horses are anxious for legislation to protect them. The amount of the fee carries more weight with some farmers than the quality of the stallion or the suitability of the mare. Education is much needed along the lines of intelligent breeding and mating of mares. The majority of those spoken to favour stallion inspection, and quite a number advocate a license fee on all stallions. Opinions vary as to the fee, some thinking that $25 would be sufficient; others, $100. High prices offered for horses have induced farmers to part with their good mares. The introduction of the elyesene into this district has also lowered the standard, as many farmers have been foolish enough to breed them.

The report states that there were 32 registered stallions and 30 grades, serving between them 2764 mares. Of these, 49 stallions were reported as serviceably sound, and 2393 mares in the same condition, with 13 stallions and 372 mares unsound.

At the Peterborough meeting on October 24, there was not a very large attendance, owing to a severe thunderstorm that evening. A motion was carried favouring a standard of registration in the recognized stud book of the respective breeds in order to qualify stallions for service, and the majority were in favour of legislation to prevent "scrub" stallions doing business. Opinions varied as to the most profitable class of horse to breed, but the majority are breeding for the heavy horse market, and consider heavy horses most profitable. The syndicate system of ownership is not very popular. The opinion of many is that syndicate horses are purchased at prices much beyond their value. With very few exceptions, horsemen consider stallion inspection a good thing. This, and a license fee on all stallions seem to be the two principal methods suggested to improve the horse industry.

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW

The Ideal Existence Is That Of Almshouse Life

Old Age Seems to be Assured by a Period Spent in English Workhouse—Regular Habits.

MAY BE CENTENARIAN

London, Aug. 10.—The remark of Wynn Westcott, at an inquest at Bethnal Green, that the best way to prolong life is to retire to a workhouse, is endorsed by poor law administrators.

"We have scores of inmates over 80 years old, and quite a number just about 90 or a little over," an official of one of the largest London workhouses said yesterday.

"We have had centenarians, although we have not one at present, but I have no doubt that two or three out of our scores of octogenarians will easily live into the 100 years.

"The conditions are ideal. There is regular and good food, regular hours, genial company, medical and nursing attendance, warmth, fresh air, and contentment. The way that old people pick up on coming to the workhouse is quite remarkable.

"Old soldiers of 50 or 60 come in almost at the point of collapse. They are often broken down owing to want of food and excess of alcoholic liquor. But after a few months of workhouse life they generally recover, and some of them live on for 20 years or more.

"The latest returns for the metropolis show that there were last year nearly 50,000 men and women over 60 years of age in the London workhouses. Of these, 12,016 were between 65 and 70 years of age; 12,211 were between 70 and 75 years of age; 8,269 were between 75 and 80 years of age, and 6,166 were over 80 years of age.

"The returns omit the most picturesque figures—those of inmates between 90 and 100 or over 100, but I believe that there are several centenarian workhouse inmates in London."

The Great Speed Test Of British Turbine Steamers

First Trip of Lusitania Will be Awaited With Deep Interest—To Drive Speed Supremacy From Germany.

NEW CUNARD LINER

No event in ocean navigation has been awaited with such world-wide interest, since the introduction of steam power, as the first performance of the giant turbine-driven Lusitania of the Cunard Line. This is to be this great speed test of the turbine. The other turbine-driven ocean liners that are already in service were intended to be comparatively slow ships, and were never designed to break records, so that their performances, while satisfactory, have been neither spectacular nor epoch-making. But in the Lusitania and her sister ship, the Mauritania, both built with the aid of the greatest Government subsidy ever paid, is embodied the resolve of Great Britain to win back from Germany the blue ribbon of the seas. Thus, to the greatest test yet made of the turbine driven in this case by 70,000 horsepower—there is added the element of a great international sporting event, involving commercial prestige. It has been reported that the giant turbiners, the largest ships in the world, would not make their debut until next year, but it is now announced that the Lusitania will make her first trip to New York early in September, and leave on the return voyage on September 21, —

Pick-Pockets Were Taken To Toronto Last Night

A Lesson to Young Men to Live an Honest Life—Sympathy for the Youngest of the Party Generally Expressed.

BERT NEWMAN GONE

The large holiday crowd that gathered at the C.P.R. station yesterday awaiting the 4.45 p.m. express for Toronto, witnessed the departure of four men who were committed to Central prison. They were, Charles H. Phelps, Harry Goldfarb and Ray Bradford sentenced ti 18 months in the Central Prison by Judge Wei-Weller for picking pockets on June 25th; the other man was Bert Newman whom Magistrate Dumble sentenced to Central Prison for a term of six months on the charge of vagrancy. He has been in the goof now over a month and his time in the prison is decreased by that time.

The sight of these young men guilty of criminal offences bound to-gether with steel manacles touched the pathetic side of the individual onlookers. Phelps and Goldfarb were hand-cuffed together and Bradford and Newman. The four men were chained tdgether by a heavy chain which passed around the two handcuffs, thus making escape a practical impossibility.

To those who make a study of human nature and is a student of physiognomy it was quite evident that the four men were of different types. Bradford was linked to a man who in every sense appeared his inferior and in truth it was a surprise to the great number of people to see such a young man on the highroad of crime. It was for he mostly that the sympathetic glances and words were intended, and the humiliation of the exhibition effected him although he tried to laugh off the seriousness of the situation and had a merry word for the young fellows hwo had a smile for him.

It was a striking lesson to young men to choose the narrow path of honesty and contentment rather than the easier one which conquers the best of men and results in degradation.

Central Prison Keeper Philip Swiser was in charge of the four men and kept his eye on them all the time. It is not likely that the men will have to spend the full 18 months and in any case they will be free by Christmas 1908. Thus Peterborough has seen the last of the three pickpockets and of Newman, it is not likely that he will come to this city again.

Spoon-fed Men Are Not Wanted

Too many persons never get over the habit of being spoon-fed. That's one of the reasons why so many of them never amount to much. They're always waiting for someone to come along and put something into their mouth instead of getting out and hustling for themselves.

Welcome Leagues and things to help immigrants are all right in their place, but what nine-tenths of the immigrants who come to Canada need is not to be coddled and pap-pered, but to be given a line of good straight from-the-shoulder talk and a pitchfork or a shovel, and a chance to do some good honest work.

Too much sympathy is making a lot of poor citizens. When our grandfathers came to this country seventy-five years ago there were no welcome leagues and nonsense like that. If there had been Canada would not have been what she is to-day.

Help is all right if it is administered in the right way, but the best kind of help is the kind that gives a man a chance to help himself.

One of the reasons why good men in every line of work are scarce is because they are the kind that have to wait until they are told what to do and how to do it.

Plenty of them haven't an idea in their heads except to get through the work they are told to do. They don't look for anything further.

What kind are you? Are you one of the spoon-fed variety, or are you in the class that help themselves—and others?

MONDAY CIVIC HOLIDAY; NO EXAMINER PUBLISHED

Monday will be Civic Holiday in Peterborough, and as a consequence there will be no publication of the Examiner that day. On Tuesday the Examinerport of the events of the holiday will contain a complete re-day, and of the news since the publication of to-day's paper.

HAIL AND FROST REPORTED IN SOME SECTIONS OF NORTH-WEST

Examiner Special.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10. — the danger point for frosts in the wheat-growing sections seems to have passed. The weekly crop report, compiled from accounts furnished by the agents of the C.P.R. is out to-day, and it indicates the usual amount of hail, and at one or two points frosts are reported with, however, slight damage. The occurrence of frosts at this period of the year is taken as an indication that the country will be free from the later and much more dangerous frosts, coming at a time when they bring havoc to the almost ripe grain. With the exception of districts which have been visited by hail, the general condition throughout the country is growing more favourable. In almost all sections of the country here has been sufficient rain, and the crops of the country are improving.

Peterborough Citizens Will Spend Civic Holiday At Summer Resorts

A Difficult Matter to Decide on the Prettiest Places — The Lakes North and South of the City Will be Objective Points for Crowds.

WEATHER VERY PROMISING

People Are Going to Get Away for Monday — Many of Them Spending Three Days Out of the City.

"You sunburnt sicklemen, of August weary,
Come hither from the furrow and be merry;
And these fresh nymphs encounter every one

—The Tempest.

With the weather promising fair, and with a desire to get away from the heat and toil of the city there will probably be but few people at home on Monday, Peterborough's Civic Holiday. The powers that be had a little consideration for human feelings when they chose a general holiday to fall sometime in August. It affords the great mass of the people an opportunity to enjoy for one day that which the monied class revel in during the sultry summer days, namely, a chance to get back to nature and share in the pleasures that are found in the cool suburban parks and resorts. It is a brief respite from the sweltering toil of these mid-summer days and providing the weather is propitious the city will be depopulated as never before.

Already many people have made up their minds as to how they shall spend the day but Peterborough and the vicinity afford so many beautiful resting places that it is difficult to decide which to choose. The people are prosperous and are prepared to take their families for an outing so that the only remaining factor to make Monday a day of pleasure for hundreds of the citizens is ideal weather such as we are enjoying at present.

The Printers Picnic

Idyl Wyld, one of the prettiest resorts in Ontario has been selected by the printers for their annual outing, one of the most popular that is held during the season. The steamer Otonabee has been chartered for the occasion and it is expected that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity of enjoying the pleasure of a day on Rice Lake. An excellent orchestra will furnish music for dancing on the boat and at the grounds and a good list of sporting events has been prepared. Perhaps

WEDDING BELLS.

GOODWILL--KILPATRICK

Examiner Special

Kingston, Aug. 10.—The marriage of Miss Nellie Marion Kilpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Kilpatrick, University avenue, to Edmund Lionel Goodwill, B.A., of Peterborough, was quietly performed this morning at 5 o'clock by the Rev. W. H. Sparling, B.A., pastor of Queen street Methodist church, at the home of the bride. Immediately after, the couple left on the steamer Kingston en route to Montreal. The bride was given away by her father, and was married in her travelling suit, Shantung silk skirt, pleated, and jumper; a tucked net blouse, with pleated tucks and Valenciennes lace. Over this she wore a shirred organdie silk coat with touches of brown. Her hat was of white Tuscan straw with brown trimmings.

The house was radiant with pink sweet peas, white asters and creep vines. There were no attendants. The service was quiet but joyous, befitting such an important event. Among the few guests were Miss Addie Harold of Belleville and Dr. and Mrs Victor Goodwill of Charlottetown.

The bride, a very amiable girl, a successful teacher and church worker will be much missed, both in the home, the school and the church. Her friends, by tokens of value, remembered her in a very flattering way.

The groom is a son of the late Rev. John Goodwill, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., a graduate of Queen's University, and Osgoode Hall, and a member of the legal firm of Roger, Bennett and Goodwill, of Peterborough. He is a young lawyer with promise of a clever career.

The couple will take the steamer Cimpana at Montreal for Prince Edward Island, where they will spend a month or more, arriving at their home in Peterborough about October 1. The best wishes accompany them on their honeymoon and for their future happiness.

The teachers of the Public School staff, among whom the bride was a favourite, remembered her with a beautiful set of silver candle-sticks with green shades, and also a shower of linen. Mr. Goodwill's partners in Peterborough also remembered him with a handsome silver tilting pitcher and congratulatory telegrams.

CROP REPORTS ENCOURAGING

MEN WANT PROTECTION FROM MODERN WOMEN; MEN, THE WEAKER SEX

Examiner Special.

London, August 10.—The British Association listened to the pleadings of Prof. Henry E. Armstrong for mercy from women. The advanced woman, said the distinguished chemist, was apparently bent aggressively upon displacing man everywhere. At the same time it was obvious that she was becoming more and more neglectful of her own domain, and in consequence the foundations of the home, if not all destroyed, were being undermined.

Traditions which had guided women in the past, were being given up. If disruption were to be avoided there must be framed scientific conceptions of the mutual duties and responsibilities of the sexes.

"My present object," Prof. Armstrong said, "is to file a petition for help on behalf of the weaker sex, the men, those frail creatures, who are absolutely dependent on women. It is our pride and privlege to fight for women, as well as to provide food and raiment for them. Before they have secured us, before they marry us, we are called upon to show that we can provide means to keep the house going.

"Shall we not soon be justified in asking women to produce certificates of competency, to give proof that they are skilled in all matters relating to household management? Is not the time at hand when the pendulum should swing back and women cease their unreasonable competition with men? The place of woman in society is defined by nature. She is superman."

The speaker then appealed to women to adapt themselves to their own nature, and not to simply follow men. They should glory in meeting the requirements of their natural duties, which are chiefly in relation to home life.

NEW TELEPHONE OFFICE WILL BE MODERN IN ALL ITS APPOINTMENTS

New Central Exchange Building and Office of the Bell Telephone Company on Hunter Street, as it will look when completed

The Examiner to-day presents an illustration of the new central exchange building and office of the Bell Telephone Company, now under construction on Hunter street, as it will appear when it is completed. The cut is one made from the architect's drawings of the Brantford exchange and office building, recently completed and equipped, and the local office will be an almost exact duplicate of that erected in the Telephone City.

The building will be equipped with a central energy switchboard, similar to that in use in the office at the present time, but with a much increased capacity, to provide for the expected increase in the number of telephones which will be installed during the next few years.

In the Brantford building there will be accommodation for 1,500 'phones, and at present there are 850 in use. The total outlay for construction of the building, cost and installation of equipment, will be in the neighbourhood of $40,000.

The building will be thoroughly modern in every respect, and will compare favourably with any telephone exchange building in existence anywhere. It will be completed and ready for the installation of the new equipment this autumn.

Chairman Thinks Board Has Made Mistake

In Connection With London Street Terrace—Mr. J. H. Burnham Indignant Over the Matter—Owner Given Until May 1st to Put in Sewer.

SHOULD BE DONE NOW

The action of the Board of Health yesterday morning in giving Mr. S. Edwards until May 1 to connect his terrace on London street with the sewer is causing considerable comment. Mr. J. H. Burnham, who owns the property immediately north of the terrace, is indignant over the matter and thinks the Board has made a mistake.

Chairman Eyres is also opposed to the action of the Board, which to-day will be known as the Sanitary Committee, and will probably not support it. To the Examiner last night he said that in his opinion whenever a house fronted on a sewer it should be connected with the same. However, it was not in the power of the Board to order the owners to do so, although they could compel them to abate the nuisance and close up the privy vaults and cess pools, and hence they would have to get sewer connection.

He was of the opinion that this course should have been followed by the Board in Mr. Edwards' case, and that he should have given, at the outside, only a month to close up the vaults, in which case he would be compelled to connect with the sewer at once. He had instructed the Sanitary Inspector to visit the property, with the result that the premises were reported to be in an unsanitary condition, which should be remedied as soon as possible.

Peterboroug County Farmers R port That Grain Crops Will Better Than at First Indicated— A Good Average.

FALL WHEAT ALL CU

Oats Will be Below Average, B Outside of This All Grain Crop Will be Good—Prices Promi to be High This Year.

The fears expressed in some quarters that the crops in this county this year, would be unsatisfactory seem to be discounted somewhat by more general reports which have been received from different parts of the county, and it now seems probable that, while possibly the yield of grain may be slightly below the of last year, which was rather above the average, the crops will not be poor, by any means.

There are, it is true, sections which in some cases a partial failure is reported, but taking the county as a whole there is no occasion for alarm.

In this respect, too, it appears that Peterborough county is better off than the majority of surrounding counties, reports having been received from them which indicate that the late spring and cold weather have had a bad effect on grain, and the yield as a result, will be small.

The fall wheat harvest in this county, is now practically over, and in many cases the result was a surprise. Grain which wintered and was allowed to grow, is showing up well. While the straw is light in some cases, it is well headed, and the grain is of an excellent quality, and will grade No. 1.

Barley cutting is now general, and encouraging reports have been coming in in reference to it. In the case of this grain, too, the straw will be short, but the favourable weather during the last two months has had the effect of developing a good grain which will weigh well. There is very little rust noticed in the barley.

Oats, which will not be cut until next week, are about the only grain which does not show up well. Rains and the cold have affected it somewhat seriously, and it blight seems to have struck it in many places. As a result of this the straw will be short and poor, and the grain will be light.

Taken altogether, the grain in this county will be fully three-quarters of last year's crop, and well up to an average yield.

This, with the now recognized fact that the prices this year will be higher than those prevailing last year, indicates that the farmers will not suffer, and that the net returns for their labours will be equal to if not greater, than those of last year.

FINE WEATHER FOR THE HOLIDAY

Conditions are Promised to Be Satisfactory for Civic Holiday.

Weather forecasts for Monday indicate that the climatic and atmospheric conditions for the holiday will be favourable. The Government weather expert here states that at the present time the prospects for good weather were never better. Those who are planning to spend the day out of the city need have no fears on the score of the weather.

WILL INSPECT THE MILK PERIODICALLY

Property Committee Decides on the Step at Meeting Yesterday.

The Property Committee met yesterday afternoon and decided to have monthly reports made of the milk inspection. There were present, Chairman McIntyre, the Mayor, Ald. Elliott and Morgan. It was moved by the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Morgan that the Sanitary Inspector be instructed to have samples of milk taken from all licensed milk venders delivering milk in the city submitted at the Peterborough Creamery and report the results to the Property Committee monthly. The first of such reports to be made by the 1st of September next, and subsequent reports on the first of each month thereafter during the year 1907.—Carried.

THE MOROCCAN SITUATION

There's bloody trouble in Morocco. French intervention was inevitable. France, as having the directest interest in settled conditions in the country was the natural power to inaugurate armed intervention. The fact is palpable that there are no settled conditions. The Sultan is a ruler who cannot rule. He cannot apparently prevent the paradoxical rule of anarchy. The convention agreed to at the conference of the powers at Algeciras provided for the establishment of a police force in eight specified coast towns, the police to be enrolled by the Sultan, and officered by French and Spanish. This division of nationality was to avoid the German suspicion that France was interesting herself to obtain a position of undue influence in Moroccan affairs. Casablanca, where the recent disorders took place, is one of the eight coast towns included in the convention. There is necessity for drastic measures; for order must be maintained, and the country made safe for European dwellers engaged in commerce there. France has, of course, the first right to interfere. There is danger of a holy war, and of the dangerous and virtually anarchic conditions that prevail, spreading to the adjacent colonial territory of France. The police force stipulated has not been provided, and the Sultan will likely be made to understand that he must provide such a force. He must be made to understand that a state in a condition of anarchy, cannot be permitted to exist on practically the borders of Europe; that its citizens cannot be murdered, or treated with indignity, without the perpetrators of outrages being called to account. Germany may regard the armed intervention of France with disfavour, and without the countenance to France, which will no doubt, be forthcoming from the other powers. Subjects of both Spain and Italy have been killed in the disorders in Morocco, and they, therefore, have a direct interest in seeing that exemplary punishment is meted out, and if Kaid McLean, a British subject, captured by the outlaw, Rasuli, is murdered or maltreated, France will have an ally in more than name in bringing the Sultan to his senses. It may take him some time to understand what civilized international comity means, but he will be made to understand, even if the lesson has to be punctuated with the bayonet in British, French, Spanish, or Italian hands, or, if necessary, by all together.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In future, says the Ottawa Free Press, spell the name of the busy central Ontario city as "Peterborough," and not Peterboro. The Examiner, of that city, objects to the latter spelling as undignified and unworthy of the city's importance.

The complaints regarding the character of the departmental examination papers this year, will, it is thought, lead to a lowering of the standard set for students. Why should the standard be lowered? Keep up the standard, but use a little common sense in setting the papers. Let the examiner keep in mind the spirit of the saying, that a fool can ask questions that a wise man cannot answer. Papers constituting a fair test do not include "catch" questions — questions which the examiner himself might not be able to answer without consulting his library.

Mr. Borden and the Conservative party are clamouring for "adequate" protection for Canadian industries. They should be reminded that the application of the fiscal policy of the Liberal Government—tariff for revenue and incidental protection—yields ample revenue under a lower tariff—15.81 per cent., as against 16.31 under Conservative rule—and "adequate" protection for Canadian industries. That the present tariff deals fairly with manufacturers is shown by the fact that during the past five years the capital invested in manufactures in the Dominion has increased from $446,000,000 to $810,000,000, a growth of nearly one hundred per cent. "Adequate" protection did not do that in any Conservative lustrum, or even decade, under Conservative rule, from 1878 to 1896.

AN INDUSTRIAL BUREAU

LIBERAL ADVERTISING

Columns have been printed of late about enterprising cities and towns, whose public spirited men and business merchants have raised funds for advertising to extend their manufacturing industries and promote the growth of population, but very little has been said as to the results. This is because the co-operative municipal advertising plan is a comparatively recent development, and in many cases has had no time for a fair trial.

An interesting report, however, has lately been published by Winnipeg papers on the work of the Winnipeg Industrial Bureau. Eighteen months ago this organization, whose executive is comprised of representatives drawn from ten organized business bodies of the city, started a campaign to extend their manufacturing industries. In this space of time advertising has located twenty-two new manufacturing industries. The population has increased at the rate of sixty new residents every day, or in other words, the population in 1905 was 79,975 and to-day is 111,717, and the bank deposits increased in the past year over thirty-six per cent. The Winnipeg experiment is a marked success and to a great extent demonstrates that if natural advantages exist within a municipality judicious advertising properly placed is a good investment, and thus convinced the Industrial Bureau is looking to still greater things, as shown in the report referred to, that estimates for the coming year have been struck as follows:

Printing	$1,800 00
Postage	300 00
Legal	400 00
Entertainment and transportation	400 00
Office maintenance and supplies	1,275 00
Salaries	4,900 00
Advertising :—
Newspapers	5,000 00
Magazines	5,000 00
Trade papers	1,250 00
Financial papers	3,000 00
Total estimates, year ending June 30th, 1908	$25,000 00

Though the idea of forming an Industrial Bureau in Winnipeg when first mooted was conceded by nearly all to be a good and profitable factor in advertising the city, few indeed realized what a public benefit such a plan was destined to prove.

STREET CAR PUT OUT OF COMMISSION

Axle Broke Near the Park Street Switch —No Inconvenience.

Yesterday afternoon car number 20 of the Street Railway system (the new open car) met with a mishap that will likely put it out of commission for a few days. This car provides the hour's ride for five cents and as it was leaving the switch on Park street, just north of Charlotte street, one of the axles broke and the car sank upon the rails. The ordinary street car runs upon four wheels which are securely attached together and supporting the motor. For this reason some difficulty may be experienced in quickly replacing the broken axle so that the car may be in use on Monday, Civic Holiday. The line was cleared as quickly as possible but in the mean time there was no delay caused as the Jackson Park cars ran to the switch where the passengers changed cars, and thus but little inconvenience was caused. The car was taken to the barn last night after a little trouble and it was found that a new axle would have to be put in place which on account of its position will take some time. The expectations are, however, that the car will be running on Monday the same as usual. It is fortunate that the accident occurred just at that point for had it been in other parts of the line it is highly probable that an accident would have followed.

COMMITTED SUICIDE BY BURNING

Saturated His Clothes with Methylated Spirits and Set Fire to Them.

Examiner Special.

London, Aug. 10.—An extraordinary case of suicide is reported from Dover, the victim being Mr. S. Lefevre, aged thirty-eight years, a tradesman in the town. Mr. Lefevre, on Wednesday night, started from Dover for London, but left the train at Folkestone, where he purchased a quantity of methylated spirits.

He then walked along the railway line in the direction of Dover, and, on reaching an isolated spot known as The Warren, he undressed. Placing his clothing on the ground, so as to form a circle, he saturated it with the spirit and then set fire to it, remaining himself in the centre of the blazing material. For some time the unhappy man walked around in the circle of fire, until he collapsed from terrible injuries.

Meanwhile he had been observed by a naturalist engaged in catching moths, who at once gave information to the railway authorities. A light engine was sent to the spot, and the man was conveyed to Dover, where he died in hospital at six o'clock yesterday morning after terrible agony.

The ground where the tragic event took place is stained with blood in thousands of places, where the deceased walked about in his frenzy. It is supposed that his mind had become unhinged through worry.

Eating Carelessly

frequently causes stomach troubles, but careful eating will never right them. When your stomach is out of condition, it needs help that no food can supply. It must be thoroughly cleansed, settled and strengthened. Food never does this.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are the greatest stomach medicine human skill ever compounded. Don't attempt to cure your stomach by dieting. You will half starve and get little benefit. Give Beecham's Pills a chance and you will again know the pleasures of a sound digestion. Appetite will return and the stomach again work without any discomfort. The skin will clear, the face plump out, while people will remark "How well you're looking." These are facts, not fancies. Prove it yourself.

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England.

THE EMOTIONS STIRRED, BY ROCKY MOUNTAINS

One of the best descriptions of the magnificent scenery in the Canadian Rockies, a description which makes those who have been privileged to take that delightful trip to the Pacific, along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway like that experience over again, appeared in the Toronto News, from the pen of "Claudia," and it is such an excellent piece of descriptive literature that a portion of it is published. The writer, after describing the trip over the prairies, says:—

After Calgary the mountains! Those of us who grumblingly sought our repose in upper berths, where there were no windows, had to rise at dawn to catch the first glimpse, and at midnight of the third day, after our eyes were peering into the darkness to catch the last. In the hours between every emotion of awe in one's make-up was played upon and exhausted. A Sultan must cross through the Lebanon on the Fraser Canyon, the series, worn in his own sight. Man's handiwork is the marvel of the prairies; the potentates of the universe can only be satellites in the stronghold of Nature.

Every mountain has a distinct expression. Some look young, others look old; some with broad smooth brows crowned with heavy snows smile out benevolence upon the valleys below, others with gnarled, knotted snows and jagged peaks, hurl imprecations of wrath; and here and there one stands apart clad in the white pure garments of a glacier. Its head lost in the atmosphere of the heavens like some cloistered nun at prayer. Then there are mountains that look like churches, many that resemble old ivy-grown cathedrals, and Castle Mountain that needs logic and keen eyesight to persuade you that its brown stone walls and turrets have not been piled together by a human builder, and that its moat and its barbicans are not for the safe-keeping of some chieftain within.

The Theme of the Mountains

Every mile works out some new and perfect theme. In the Kicking Horse Pass the way is threaded through a riot among Nature's warriors. The mountains loom up terrifying and defiant in their gigantic height every muscle tense and iron, and the snow on their peaks and slopes, not smiling and glistening, but cold and forbidding in its iciness—its rigor implacable to even a benignant sun. The trees lower at each other, the stronger bending down and crushing the weak, the firs engaged in dogry combat with the cedars, trampling and bruising the maples and the willows in the conflict. Hundreds of feet below the river dashes and swirls and writhes and casts itself over a myriad ramparts of stone and earth. And the train glides on serenely, poised mid-air on the slender trellises and along the little shelves on the wall of the gully,—glides on serenely over the curves where should you feel inclined, you may stretch out of the window and shake hands with the engineer and the man in the caboose at the same intense moment.

The rioting ceases, and the way leads on long aisles between grim fortresses where the quiet of armed peace seems to brood, and where the mountain imagery and symbolism of the Psalmist unfold their riches with a new, strong significance. Then come pleasant valleys—the valleys of the Illiwieat where the mountains close around you like the gentle petals of a rose. The tiny streams come rushing down from the glaciers above, babbling out their story, and you wish you knew their language to hear all they have to tell of what goes on where they come from, and to ask what there is on the other side.

UNCLE SAM'S GOVERNMENT AS MATRIMONIAL AGENT

Examiner Special.

Panama, Aug. 10.—The girl who wishes to be a bride should come here. Uncle Sam is playing the role of matrimonial agent in an endeavour to bring about the marriage of as many of the Isthmian Canal employees as possible, and the venture, therefore, promises success. As an inducement to the young men working on the canal, the Government offered separate houses to any man who would get married. The offer was accepted by so many that is has been impossible to put up houses rapidly enough to accommodate all the candidates.

This exhausted the supply of available girls, however. Many of the young fellows with remembered girl friends back in the States began to get busy writing letters, and it is hinted that more brides are soon to arrive. But there are still many men unsupplied, and the inducing offer of the Government is still open.

AN ADAMLESS EDEN IS FEARED

At the Present Death Rate Among Men Chicago Will Soon Be Without Members of Male Sex.

Special Correspondence

Chicago, Aug. 10.—The strenuous life is killing the men of Chicago at a tremendous rate, while the women of the city are increasing their longevity by the simple life.

In the weekly official health bulletin, issued yesterday, Health Commissioner Evans declares that a few centuries will see Chicago an Adamless Eden. He draws his conclusions from the death rate in Chicago for twenty years, and especially the last five months, when five members of the stronger sex died for every two of the fairer. Dr. Evans makes the startling statement that during the last seven months of 1907 in Chicago, about 12,000 men succumbed to 8,000 women. He says that in the last year the ratio of difference in the death rate between men and women has been thirty, against less than ten per cent. twenty years ago.

The cause for this is attributed by physicians to the strenuous life. Contributory are the quick lunch and carelessness. The men, he says, are living at a rate thatt is thirty per cent. faster than that of the women.

"They work harder. They take less care of themselves than of their wives and daughters. They court danger. They dissipate more, they exhibit a carelessness begotten of familiarity with danger." The remedy, according to an eminent physician, lies in the return to the simple life of our fathers.

To Keep the Skin in Health

AOVID PORE-CLOGGING POWDERS AND CURE ALL SKIN IRRITATIONS AND ERUPTIONS WITH

Dr. Chase's Ointment

It is quite possible that, while you know of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema psoriasis and the most severe forms of itching skin disease, you may have overlooked its value as a beautifier of the skin.

There are minor forms of skin trouble, such as rough, red, skin, chafing, chapping, pimples, blackheads, blotches, irritation, or poisoning from the clothing, etc., which disfigure and form a starting point for serious trouble.

A few applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment at such times not only remove these blemishes, but also restore the health and beauty of the skin, and positively prevent further development.

Miss C. Stanley-Jones, professional masseuse and nurse, 2-8 Simpson st., Toronto, Ont., writes: "In my occupation as a nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case I recall was that of a child of sixteen months, who was in a bad way with scaly head. It was a really nasty case, causing the child to suffer very much and to be very troublesome. I persuaded the mother to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in ten days the child was entirely cured.

"Another case was that of a lady who was greatly troubled with eczema on the face. The doctor was dosing her with medicine, which was doing no good. In this case cure was effected in seven days with only one box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Both of these cures were lasting."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is delightfully pure and creamy, is pleasant to use, and is rapidly absorbed. It acts as a food for the skin, making it soft, smooth and velvety. By its soothing, antiseptic and healing properties it allays inflammation, relieves itching, and heals sores, wounds and ulcers; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SOME BIG FEES THAT WERE PAID

KING EDWARD'S DOCTOR

Special Correspondence

Some fault has been found with the gift of $250,000 made by way of honorarium to Lord Cromer in respect of his services in Egypt. But that's a way Britain has in rewarding distinguished public services, and the sums paid to Lord Cromer and Lord Kitchener are not large in comparison with the fees paid great physicians for private professional attendance.

On one occasion, at least, a physician has received a million dollars for a single cure, and $700,000 was paid in another case. A Philadelphia physician, however, holds the record for high charges, a fee of $1,500 being demanded and paid for an examination of a millionaire lasting one minute. Dr. Jonnar got $50,000 for attending King Edward for a few weeks when his Majesty, then Prince of Wales, was seriously ill. Two days' attendance on the late Czar was worth $75,000 to a Moscow physician; and for attending the Emperor of Russia in his last illness, Dr. Morell Mackenzie presented a bill for $100,000 and was paid without a murmur. Dr. Thomas Dimsdale received a pension of $2,500 and a cash gift of $50,000 for vaccinating Catherine of Russia. The total value in dollars and cents of all these experts' services would not amount to one half the value of Lord Cromer's services to Egypt, so it cannot be said that he was overpaid. That he has many years before him is which to enjoy his fortune is the universal wish.

While one of our young gentleman was on his way to see his best girl on Sunday last his horse became frightened at a passing train. The owner jumped out of the buggy, and held the horse by the head until part of the harness gave way. The horse then got away and upset the buggy, breaking the top, the dashboard and one wheel. The young gentleman was not hurt but somewhat delayed. — Ivanhoe correspondence of the Tweed News.

Too Fast For the Train

The fastest time made by any runner in Kaladar since the railway was built, was the record of the assistant agent's last week. The conductor missed an order being handed and immediately George took after the train, which was going a good gait. It is believed that he would have caught it, as he claims that he was gaining all the time, but the train stopping suddenly, and George in his hurry not noticing it, caused a pitch in, and now regrets a broken draw bar and his old country watch demolished. — Kaladar correspondent of the Tweed News.

Pickings Were Poor

Messrs. Bert Courtney, Jos. Hayes and Chas. Banks, went out for a week's huckle berrying and managed to gather enough of the excellent fruit to make nearly four medium sized pies. They contemplate holding a picnic to dispose of the pies. Watch for bills. The gentlemen however enjoyed the outing very much, paddling to some miles the other side of Bobcaygeon and back, after getting the big cargo of berries, which made a good ballast for their canoe, which rode the waves very nicely indeed. — Millbrook and Omemee Mirror.

MOTHER'S ANXIETY

The summer months are a time of anxiety for mothers because they are the most dangerous months in the year for babies and young children. Stomach and bowel troubles come quickly during the hot weather and almost before the mother realizes that there is danger the little one may be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets will prevent summer complaints if given occasionally because they keep the stomach and bowels free from offending matter. And the Tablets will cure these troubles if they come suddenly. The wise mother should keep these Tablets always at hand and give them occasionally to her children. The Tablets can be given with equal success to the new born babe or the well grown child. They always do good—they cannot possibly do harm, and the mother has the guarantee of a Government analysis that this medicine does not contain one particle of opiate or harmful drug. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A PECULIAR FREAK OF ELECTRIC FLUID IN OTONABEE WOODS

An Eighty Foot Tree Cut in Two at the Centre—A Straight White Mast Forty Feet High Standing.

STRIPPED THE BARK

Examiner Special.

Keene, August 10. — By a peculiar feat on the part of a bolt of lightning, a basswood tree five feet in circumference at the base and eighty feet high, has been converted into a white mast. The tree in question is in Comrie's woods, near here, and about 500 yards distant from Mr. J. M. Drummond's residence. One bolt struck a limb of the tree, cutting a groove four inches wide down through the limb and about three-fourths of the length of the tree. The bolt either divided, or a second one struck the other side of the limb and entered the body of the tree some fifteen feet from the limb, splitting the tree straight down through the centre to within six feet of the ground. The course of the lightning can easily be traced. The tree was split in two by the bolt, one part fell to the ground, leaving the other part tapering to a point, and forty feet in length, still standing. All the bark was peeled off the tree, which now presents the appearance of a mast or flag pole. Part of the tree fell to the northeast, and bits of wood and bark were hurled 120 feet to the southeast.

The freak on the part of lightning has caused considerable interest and many have visited the spot to see the phenomenon.

Tried To Swim Across Lake To Juniper Island

Mr. Sherman McCracken Makes Two Attempts to Swim From Landing to the Island.

A VERY SUCCESSEUL WEEK

Special Staff Correspondent.

Stony Lake, August 10. — The past week at the lake has been one of the most satisfactory of the season. Summer has apparently returned after a fortnight of chilly weather, and the guests at the various hotels spend most of their days hunting for the secluded spots, where old Sol's beams cannot find an opening.

Miss Mollie Young of Peterborough went around the lakes on Friday.

Mr. G. K. Mahon of Peterborough, came up to the lake yesterday.

Mrs. H. P. Kennedy went around the lake on the steamer Empress yesterday.

Mr. Leo Young of Toronto, came up to the lake yesterday.

Mr. Willis Garrow went home on Thursday, from the Victoria House, where he spent a few days.

Mr. Richard Sheehy has opened up a fine new limestone quarry on the Dummer shore of Clear Lake, near Bryson's Bay. Yesterday the Water Lily towed down a scow load of the stone, which is said to be for the new Roman Catholic church in Peterborough.

The Government steamer Sovereign went among the islands yesterday painting the buoys that determine the main channels, an act that will be greatly appreciated by the amateur pilots who have not yet become acquainted with the deep water spots.

Mr. Sherman McCracken, of McCracken's Landing, on Wednesday made an attempt to swim across to the Juniper Island store. A strong adverse wind was blowing and the waves were rolling higher than usual. Nevertheless the young fellow made good progress and almost reached Eagle Mount. The following day he made the attempt in calm water and came within a few hundred strokes of reaching the northern point of Juniper.

Miss Hewitt of Toronto, returned home yesterday after a two weeks' outing at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing.

Miss Eva Irwin went down to Peterborough yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stubbs have returned home from the lakes.

Mr. W. J. Hanna went round the lake yesterday.

Miss Edith Gillespie was among those who went around the lake on the steamer Otonabee yesterday.

A small fire occurred amongst some lumber on a scow at the Young's Point saw mill on Thursday evening but by the diligence of a number of volunteer firemen a disastrous conflagration was checked in time.

Commissioners To Lay New Twelve Inch Main

A Water Service Which Will Accomodate Large Section and Connect With the General System of Mains.

UP BARNARDO AVENUE

The Water Commissioners have a big programme of work laid out for this summer. At the present time a six-inch main is being laid along Stewart street, from London street north over the hill, to serve a large section of the city with water. In a few days, too, work will be commenced upon an important branch in the north end. A twelve inch main will be laid, from George street, west along Barnardo avenue passing the new school and going as far west as Aylmer street, where it will be carried south to connect with another main sewer and join the system. This is one of the largest branch mains in the city, and will serve a considerable section of the corporation which up to the present time has been without the city water.

Other important extensions are being planned, but work on them will not be taken up until those mentioned have been carried to completion.

An evidence of the fact that the Commissioners carry on the work under their charge in an economical manner is furnished by the statement of the average cost of laying the mains. It is stated that the average cost of the mains is $1.20 a foot, which, taking into consideration the fact that many of those recently laid are large mains, up to twelve inches, is a splendid record.

NO ALARM IS FELT

DAN WHETUNG TAKEN HOME

Well Known Chemong Indian, Who Has Been Suffering From Pleurisy Goes Back to Indian Village.

After having spent several weeks in the Nicholls Hospital, suffering from pleurisy, Dan. Whetung was this morning taken back to his home in the Indian village. He was, however, not much improved in health. The hospital life did not agree with him, and he felt that he would get better more quickly in his usual surroundings, and, yielding to his opinions, he was removed this morning, Bellegham's ambulance being brought into requisition to convey him to his home.

FIRST DEATH IN COUNTY HOUSE OF REFUGE REPORTED

On Wednesday, the 8th inst., there died at the County House of Refuge, Mrs. Phoebe Thomlinson, an inmate from Dummer township. The old lady had been confined to her bed for four months, suffering from a breaking up of the constitution, she being over 90 years of age. Although requiring constant attention, she did not suffer very much pain, and gave evidence of being ready for the summons to come.

Mr. R. W. Scott, Chairman of the Board of Management, upon being notified of her death, authorized her burial in the Lakefield cemetery. The services at the House and cemetery were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Bedford of Lakefield, the funeral leaving the House at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

New Fruit Cleaner Is A Useful Invention

Perfectly Cleans the Fruit With Speed and With Verry Little Loss—Local Company's Plant is Now Running at Full Blast.

WET PROCESS USED

There is being manufactured in Peterborough, in the plant of the Excelsior Fruit Cleaning Manufacturing Company on Simcoe street, a machine, the use of which will prove a boon to everyone who uses currants, raisins, or other varieties of dried fruits. The company are manufacturers of currant breakers, and patent hand and power cleaners, which will clean and renovate all kinds of dried and evaporated fruits. The instrument willbe of immmase value to wholesale grocers, proprietors of large bakeries, mince meat factories, etc.

The process used in connection with the machine is known as the wet process, and is said to be a vast improvement over the older dry method, which did not thoroughly clean the fruits of stems and grit. The local manufacturers show the superiority of their machine over other kinds by taking the fruit, which is supposed to have been cleaned, and running it through the Excelsior machine, with the result that a large amount of dirt is taken out. By the use of the machine in question 75 barrels of raisins can be cleaned in one day, leaving the fruit clean, ready for the consumer and perfectly free from stems and grit.

The machine stems and cleans all kinds of currants and raisins, and, by a simple arrangement, will clean also all kinds of dried fruit, such as prunes, peaches, quartered pears, figs, dried apples, etc. These classes of fruit are liable to become mazzotty and unpresentable, but with an Excelsior machine the fruit can be put in a first-class condition.

The machine works fast, but does not in any way injure the fruit. So delicately and thoroughly does the wonderful machine handle fruit that the brushes throw out live worms, uninjured bythe cleaning process.

There is but little waiste, the loss in currants being only about 2 per cent., while other machines are said to wastefrom 12 to 15 per cent.

The plant is now running full blast and a number of machines have been manufactured. The company superintends the installing of the machine, Mr. John J. Bidler being the travelling representative.

The housewife will no doubt appreciate the advantage of getting fruit perfectly fresh and clean. There seems to be a bright future before Peterborough's newest industry.

TO ERECT WINDMILL FOR WATER

New System of Waterworks Will Be Established at County House of Refuge at Once.

A meeting of the Committee of the Whole was held at the County House of Refuge yesterday for the purpose of adding to the system of water supply, the system established when the House was built having proved inadequate. It was decided to takeadvantage of the spring, some 200 yards from the House, and erect a windmill and force the water into the large tank now in use by the institution, so that the hott air pump now installed in the House will always have plenty of water to draw from for all purposes.

Mr. R. S. Cotton Goes to Montreal to Look After Installation of Three 5,000 Horse Power Generators.

FOR THE STREET RAILWAY

This afternoon Mr. R. S. Cotton, who for a number of years has been connected with the works of the Canadian General Electric Company, in the power house and shops, leaves for Montreal, having been transferred to the construction branch of the Company. With Mr. Lillie, Mr. Cotton will effect the installation of a large addition to the Plant of the Montreal, Light, Heat and Power Company, to be used in connection with the operation of the Street Railway in Montreal. The power plant is located at Shewanigan Falls and when the addition has been made will have a capacity of 60,000 horse power.

Mr. Cotton will assist in the installation of an addition to the plant, of 15,000 horse power, three generators of 5,000 horse power each being installed.

About a year will be consumed in the installation of these generators and the incidental equipment.

It is a big contract, and that the local firm secured it in competition with other concerns is a matter for congratulation.

Tug "Bob Hall" Had Stormy Passage On Lake Simcoe

Was Caught in Squall and Crew Had Interesting Time — New Boat Gave Good Account of Herself.

BOAT IS VERY SEAWORTHY

The crew of the Government tug "Bob Hall," in charge of Captain Frank Morin, had a somewhat exciting experience on Lake Simcoe last Friday afternoon. The boat was out near the middle of the lake when a storm came up suddenly, and the wind blew at almost a hurricane rate. The waves were lashed into foam and rose high in the air beside the boat, which was being tossed about by the furies of wind and wave. At times it was feared that she would go down, as once or twice it looked as if the stout little craft had taken in more water than she could carry, but each time she righted herself in fine style, and after a stormy period the wind subsided, and everything was all right again. It was an exciting time for the crew while the storm lasted, and none of them care to go through the experience again. They were a long distance from shore and would have had a hard time had anything happened the tug.—Lakefield News.

GOOD 'LUNGE CAUGHT AT RICE LAKE

Mr. Cole Barrett, Reported To Have Caught One Weighing 18 Pounds.

Mr. Cole Barrett, of Cedar street took a day off yesterday, and went to Rice Lake on a fishing trip. He did not return empty handed either, the result of his day's labours being represented by a 'lunge which tipped the scales at 18 pounds and measured 41 inches in length.

LAKEFIELD LADIES SAW SNAKES

An Exciting Experience Reported From That Village—It Measured Six Inches

Two ladies had an exciting encounter with a serpent on Wednesday evening. They were crossing Burnham street, when they came upon it crawling over the crossing. Two slabs were procured from a nearby wood pile, and after a desperate struggle the reptile was dispatched. The snake measured six inches.—Lakefield News.

PRINTERS' OUTING ON MONDAY

Best Excursion of the Year Will Be Held to Idyl Wyld.

If you have not solved the problem of where to go on Civic Holiday, do it now and decide to come with the Printers to Idyl Wild per steamer Otonabee. It will be the best outing of the year.

The feature, of course, will be the big ball game between the Examiner and Review teams, always won, of course, by the Examiner, but interesting, nevertheless. The Tory team has imported a number of players for the occasion, and will make a big effort to reverse the score.

the feature of the day will be the annual ball game between the representative teams of the Examiner and Review. The trophy is at present in the sanctum sanctorum of this office, but the Tory swatters, strengthened by the Peterborough Midland League battery, believe that they are going to remove it this year. The result will be wirelessed to the world on Monday night. The boat will leave Idyl Wyld at five o'clock and should reach the city at a reasonable hour. There are many pleasures at Idyl Wyld which makes one of the most attractive places from a visitor's standpoint. The return fare is fifty cents, children under 12 years 25 cents.

Stony Lake Regatta

The Hibernians and the Catholic held at Stony Lake off Juniper Island usually attracts a large number of Peterborough people who swell the crowds that gather from the different resorts up the Lakes. Many people will spend Sunday and Monday at the Lakes going up on Saturday. On the holiday the rates are the same as usual the railway fare, however, is at half price. The events of the regatta are usually hotly contested and for lovers of aquatic sports an enjoyable day is assured.

Excursion to Jubilee

Teh Hibernians and the Catholic Order of Foresters will run their annual picnic to Jubilee per steamer Monarch and palace barge Sultana. This excursion is noted for the pleasant time that without exception results and the committe promises that this year will be better than any of the past. The steamer and barge will leave the street railway wharf at 8 a.m., the price for return, including car fare each way being 60 cents. Tickets may be procured at Lang and Mather's, Lane and Eano's and Tully, Merrill and Meridth's. A first-class orchestra will furnish music for dancing and a good list of athletine events has been prepared. The Hibernians and Foresters will play a game of baseball and a tug-of-war is also scheduled.

Miscellaneous

The employees of the Brinton Carpet Company will use the Water Lily for a private excursion to Idyl wyld.

The railways are offering a single fare good from to-day until Tuesday and it is safe to say that large numbers will be carried from the city for the three days. Toronto, Rochester, the Thousand Islands and other places will be the prospective points for many pleasure seekers.

At home the street railway intends to put on its usual effective service and for those who remain in the city Jackson Park will be the central point. A great number will likely spend the day boating on the river and the boat liveries will be taxed to their limit. This is a quiet, but pleasant way to spend the day and is popular with those citizens who prefer the solitary enjoyment of a day on the Otonabee.

The Races

Those who stay at home must not forget the races at the Driving Park under the auspices of the Turf Club which is sufficient guarantee that they will be fast and exciting. Besides running and trotting events the Club has secured the famous Tom Longhost to run an exhibition race with another fast outsider. This should be a great drawing card and the sporting element may expect some exciting finishes.

The 57th Band has no particular event for the day but a section will be in attendance at the regatta at Stony Lake with Mr. R. Gliddon as Bandmaster.

These are a few suggestions for those who have not decided where they will spend the day, but the greatest factor on which the pleasure of the holiday depends is smiling skies and a clear day. If the hopes of the great majority are realized and the morning breaks bright and fair then let them be "as merry as the day is long."

OCCUPATION FOR THE INSANE

Dr. Moher, Writes Interesting Treatise on Value of Giving Patients Something to Do.

hTe Examiner has received a copy of a pamphlet, entitled, "Occupation in the Treatment of the Insane." It is a reprint in brochure form of a paper with the above title read before the British Medical Association in Toronto, and also printed in the May Journal of the American Medical Association. Dr. Moher is well known as a former resident, and practitioner, of Peterborough. He has evidently taken an intelligent and practical interest in the new duties which came to him as Medical Superintendent of the Brockville Asylum for the Insane.

IMMIGRANTS COMING TO-MORROW

Ten Men Will Arrive to Work on Farms on Sunday Morning—Mr. Howson Directing Them.

Mr. George Howson, the Dominion Government Immigration Officer, has received a number of letters addressed by Old Country friends to men who presumably came to Canada to work. Some of them Mr. Howson was able to locate and deliver their mail to them, but others he knows nothing of, since they were not placed through him, and consequently he cannot deliver their mail. He has two letters for Mr. F. Buckland and one for W. A. Loverick. If these men see this reference they may secure their mail on application to Mr. Howson's office.

Matting Factory Is A Growing Industry

Mr. Wm. Weatherston's Plant at the Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets—Mats Are Shipped All Over the Dominion.

ARTISTIC WORK DONE

A local industry that is not very well known, but that is assuming large proportions, is the mat factory operated by Mr. Wm. Weatherston and sons at the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, which was begun a little over two years ago. The factory building is a commodious one and is equipped with all the machinery necessary for turning out first-class work. The only articles of manufacture are mats and matting composed of cocoa fibre, and some very artistic workmanship is shown. The raw material, the cocoa fibre comes from the East, and is imported by the local manufacturers from New York.

The company manufacture mats of various sizes and qualities. An Examiner reporter who dropped into the factory yesterday was shown a fine Bokhara door mat that had just been finished for a gentleman in Calgary, and had his name dyed in the centre. It was a very artistic piece of work and took one of the workmen two days to finish it.

The output of the factory averages over two hundred mats a week, and there is a ready market for them. The mats and matting are shipped to points all over Ontario and the Northwest, and the goods are always in demand.

Mr. Weatherston came here with his family from Cobourg, and has built up a substantial business in this city, the prospects before which are very bright.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

GUESTS POISONED BY THE FOOD

Arsenic Found in Porridge at Regina Restaurant.

RIVAL CHINAMAN ARRESTED

Borrowed Oatmeal From Proprietor—Alleged That Poison Was Placed In Quantity Returned as Payment—Boarders Seized With Violent Pains After Eating Meal—Three Men May Die.

Regina, Aug. 9.—A sensation was caused in the city yesterday by the news that a number of boarders at Steele's restaurant on Lorne street had been poisoned by a solution of arsenic in the porridge partaken of by them at breakfast. It appears that the proprietors of the restaurant lent a quantity of oatmeal on Thursday to the Chinese proprietor of the adjacent eating house. The oatmeal was duly returned and Steele used some of it to cook the morning meal. Mrs. Steele and eight or nine guests ate of the porridge and almost immediately afterwards were seized with severe internal pains accompanied by vomiting. Doctors Thompson and Meek were summoned and by natural means and stomach pumps the greater part of the food was ejected. Three of the sufferers, Harry Stewart, Cyrus Winters and John Fortune, were conveyed to Victoria Hospital, where their condition aroused grave anxiety. There is, however, some ground for hoping that all those attacked will recover.

Arsenic In the Meal.

The unused oatmeal was confiscated and a portion of it submitted to Dr. Charlton, Provincial Bacteriologist, who certified to the presence of arsenic. The Chinaman who returned the oatmeal, and generally known here as Mac, has been arrested. According to present arrangements he will be brought before Magistrate McCausland. A fact which, unless disproved, appears to weigh against him is that an invoice shows that he purchased two weeks ago a quantity of oatmeal, all of which had not been used. What valid reason he had to borrow oatmeal with a stock already in his possession remains a mystery.

AUSTRALIA'S TARIFF.

The Free Traders In England Laugh at It.

London, Aug. 10.—(C. A. P.)—The average preference granted the Home Country by Australia is from 5 to 10 per cent. on the new tariff, which increases the duty from 20 to 45 per cent. and in some cases 100 per cent.

Free traders here laugh at it, while tariff reformers, on second thoughts, receive it with no great enthusiasm. As one tariff journal points out, the tariff must be modified extraordinarily before Australia can be considered as generous as Canada, adding that free traders should not be disappointed at the loss, since they pointblank refused the greater benefits at the Imperial Conference.

TORNADO WORKS HAVOC.

Nearly Every House In Tuxford Damaged or Destroyed.

Moosejaw, Sask., Aug. 10.—A wide scope of country southwest was swept by a devastating tornado Thursday night. The town of Tuxford, 30 miles west, was the centre of disturbed district. Nearly every house in the village was destroyed or damaged. Many were hurt, but no fatalities have been reported. Grave fears are entertained for safety of many in adjacent rural districts where the cyclone was very severe. The chief disturbance passed over Tuxford for many miles, then swept around and again passed through the town. The people were terror-stricken.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER LOST.

$100,000 Boat Wrecked Off Maine Coast With Lumber Cargo.

Rockland, Aug. 10.—The Norwegian steamer Preysdal, Capt. P. Frantzen, was wrecked early yesterday on Western Malcolm Ledges, about twenty miles from here, and is expected to be a total loss. She left Stockholm Springs at 7 o'clock Thursday night with two-thirds of a cargo of spool wood, valued at $35,000, for Glasgow, and was bound to Halifax, N.S., to complete her cargo with lumber. The steamer is valued at $100,000, and is insured. The eighteen men in her crew remained aboard, and are in no danger.

MOORS BEATEN OFF BY TROOPS

General Drude's Camp Attacked by 6,000 Horsemen.

RAISULI GIVES UP MACLEAN

Arabs Threaten to Raid Rabat—Tribesmen Loot Cape Juby—Garrison Suffers Heavily—Two Thousand Troops at Casablanca—Soldiers Display Great Courage—Steamer for Magazan.

Casablanca, Aug. 10.—The Moors Thursday night renewed their attempt to invade Casablanca, but were repulsed with heavy losses by the fire of the warships. All the consulates here are now guarded by machine guns.

Paris, Aug. 10.—A message received here from Admiral Philibert, off Casablanca, Morocco, probably forwarded from his flagship by wireless telegraphy, and dated at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon says:

"Gen. Drude's camp, outside Casablanca, was attacked to-day by 6,000 horsemen, who were vigorously beaten off."

Tangier, Aug. 10.—The town of Cape Juby, on the west coast of Africa, has been attacked and raided by the Aituyusa and Aitdjemal tribes. A number of the garrison were killed, and the remainder were made prisoners. The governor escaped in a boat to the fort on Fuerteventura Island, opposite Cape Juby. The rebel tribesmen completely looted Cape Juby.

The latest news from Rabat confirms previous reports, and is most disquieting. The tribesmen threaten to attack Rabat unless the French control of the customs is abolished, and all foreigners there are keeping strictly within their own quarters.

Hope for Sir Harry's Liberty.

A Moorish official here has just received a letter from the Governor of Tetuan, stating that Sir Harry MacLean is no longer in the custody of Raisuli, the chief of the Kmass tribe, having demanded and obtained permission that he be turned over to their custody. If this be true, there is little doubt that the captive soon will be liberated.

Quiet at Casablanca.

Tangier, Aug. 10.—Tranquility has been restored at Casablanca, and the fanatics and hostile tribesmen who invaded the city had been driven out when the French cruiser Forbin, which arrived here yesterday, left that port. All the Europeans and others who sought refuge on the steamers in the bay have returned to their homes. Much of the City of Casablanca is practically in ruins as a result of the bombardment, even the European quarter being extensively damaged, the warships having directed the fire of their guns on that part of Casablanca with the object of ending the extensive looting, in which the Moors were revelling. The bodies of those who were killed in the recent fighting have since been piled up in the streets, and are being buried as quickly as possible.

Four battalions of Spanish infantry, with rapid-fire guns, which have been stationed at Algeciras, near Gibraltar, have been ordered to proceed to Morocco.

In response to the urgent request of the British consulate, Mazagan, a short distance from the southwest of Casablanca, a steamer was yesterday despatched from here to that port.

The Spanish cruiser Rio De La Plata, from Cadiz, has arrived at Casablanca to reinforce the international fleet. Casablanca is now in complete possession of the French and Spanish forces. Of the former about 2,000 are ashore, and others are ready to land at short notice should it be necessary for reinforcements.

French Were Decidedly Brave.

Paris, Aug. 10.—Gen. Drude reports that Casablanca has been in possession of the French expeditionary force since Wednesday night. He pays high tribute to the defence of the foreign consulates by the sailors, who had two officers wounded, two men killed and ten wounded.

The report of the French charge d'affaires at Tangier contains a graphic description of the heroic conduct of the first French landing party under the command of Ensign Ballande. Upon disembarking, the party was divided into squads, with fixed bayonets, and with Ballande in front with a trumpeter on one side and an interpreter on the other, they advanced to the water gate. As the party reached the walls the gates were slammed in their faces, Ballande cried: "Open the gates," and his demand was repeated in Arabic by the interpreter. A volley from the Moors was the reply. Before the Moors had time to lock the gate which would have left the party at the mercy of the fire from the ramparts, Ballande ordered his men to charge. As the gate yielded, Ballande's right hand was pierced by a bullet, which flattened against his sword hilt. The Moors retreated, but continued firing. At every corner the sailors were ambushed and met attacks on their front, flank and rear, but they moved on, keeping up their fire and killing scores of their assailants. A subaltern named, Labaste received a bullet in his breast, but he continued at the head of his squad and under continual fire until the French consulate was reached, and while its defence was being arranged.

"Bill" Miner Gets Away From B. C. Penitentiary.

THREE OTHERS ALSO FREE

Notorious Train Robber Eludes Vigilance of Guards—Was at Work In Prison Yard — Excavated Under Jail Wall—Stole Horse and Is Likely Over Border — They Had One Hour's Good Start.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 10.—Bill Miner has escaped from Westminster penitentiary. The most notorious outlaw and train robber in America, the only man who ever held up a train in Canada, is now believed to be heading for the international boundary 15 miles distant from Westminster, if he has not already crossed it, on the fastest horse he could steal. His pals, Shorty Dunn, who is serving a life term, and Colquhoun, his Ontario confederate, in Kamloops train robbery in May, 1906, are not with him, not having had old Bill's opportunity to get away.

Three others escaped with Miner, but he will likely drop them, all being juniors in the game Miner plays. They are Clarke of Nanaimo, three years for forgery; W. J. Woods, Victoria, a like term; A. F. McCloskey, Vancouver, seven years, robbery. All had served a year of their term.

With these, Miner, working in the brickyard, had dug a hole under the wall, and had made their escape nearly an hour before it was discovered.

Ottawa, as well as every police centre in British Columbia and Washington State, were immediately wired, and every available officer in Westminster and Vancouver has been pressed into the chase.

Deputy Warden Bourke says the escape was due to negligence of guards.

Miner was the best behaved prisoner. Only a few weeks ago he joked about his home life to a mounted police officer, who had assisted in his memorable capture.

ESCAPES FROM JAIL.

Toronto Youth Runs Away From Turnkey and Evades Recapture.

Cobourg, Aug. 10.—Norman J. G. Frame, the Toronto youth who was convicted of forgery and sentenced to four months' imprisonment for passing bogus cheques in Port Hope, escaped from the county jail here yesterday morning while in charge of the turnkey. Although the sheriff's officers and county constables are looking for him, he has so far evaded recapture.

The escaped prisoner is 17 years of age, height about 5 feet 8 inches, complexion dark, eyes blue, face smooth, and form slim.

He had been "doing the races" at the Woodbine, and resorting to devious devices to raise money for "sporty" purposes when he was arrested at Port Hope.

STOLE LIVERY RIG.

Harold Scott is Sent For Trial at Cobourg.

Bowmanville, Aug. 10.—Harold Scott, the young man from Newmarket who was arrested by Chief Jarvis Wednesday night on suspicion of having in his possession and offering the same for sale a driving mare, top buggy and complete driving outfit, appeared before William M. Horsey, police magistrate, yesterday.

After hearing the evidence of Thos. Mahoney of Bellhaven, who identified the property taken from Scott as his own, and that of other witnesses, Scott was sent to the county jail at Cobourg for trial on two charges. Scott gave his age as 15, but he is nearly 20 years of age, and took his committal with the nonchalance of an old offender. This is the seventeenth horse that Chief Jarvis has returned to owners since he came to this town.

Both Bodies Recovered.

Montreal, Aug. 10.—The bodies of Shirley Davidson and Miss Eileen Hingston, who were drowned while out sailing in a skiff on Sunday morning, were both found in the river yesterday morning. Mr. Davidson's body was found about four miles below Varennes, where the accident took place, while Miss Hingston's body had been washed down the river nearly eleven miles by the swift current.

THE NEW COMIT IS VISIBLE

SEEN IN MONTREAL

Montreal people have now discovered the comet, which has been recorded in these columns for some weeks, and which has been photographed on different occasions by Dr. Marsh, of Springville. Recently, however, the comet has become much brighter and is now visible to the naked eye, which fact probably accounts for its discovery by the Montreal astronomers.

On Thursday morning about 3 o'clock, the comet, which is now known as Daniels' comet, was photographed again by Dr. Marsh, who found it in right ascension 5 hours and 32 minutes, with a declination of about 17 degrees.

While the comet may be seen with the naked eye, provided, of course, one looks for it at the proper time and place, it can be seen much better with the aid of field glass, and there is less likelihood of it being confused with a constellation.

The Montreal Star, in referring to the comet says:

For the first time in many years a bona-fide full sized comet is scurrying across the heavens in full view of all Montrealers who care to look at it. What is more, another one is on the way to our section of the heavens, and while of less mundane interest, will be even more carefully inspected by Canadian astronomers.

The comet at present visible, and plainly visible, even to the naked eye, lies a little to the north-east of a line between the Zeta star in the well known constellation, Taurus, and the Alpha star in Orion.

Its tail is several degrees in length, and even the nucleus in the head is visible without a glass, although a pair of opera or field binoculars are a great help in looking for it.

Officially its location is given as near Star 129, Flamsteed's number, about 5 hours 45 minutes, right ascension, and 15 degrees north declination.

At the Dominion observatory in Ottawa, it was stated that the observers are at present busily engaged in photographing it. The comet has been identified as the "Daniel's Comet," (1907 Alpha) which was discovered in June.

The comet will continue to grow brighter for some little time. The best hour to observe it is in the early morning about three o'clock, when its position is due east and the elevation is about 20 or 25 degrees above the horizon.

VERY LIVELY SEASON AT GLENWOOD

Some Interesting Times Enjoyed the Guests of this Popular Summer Resort

Glenwood, Aug. 8.—The season is now at its height at Glenwood, and the guests here are enjoying themselves to the limit. There has been a jolly bunch at this resort all season. In addition to the social pleasures, for which this spot has become noted, by reason of the congenial associations found here, those who find satisfaction in fishing are discovering that there are few better places in the lake than in this vicinity, and the results of the piscatorial pursuits of the guests during last few weeks have added to that conviction.

Those who have been registered at Glenwood during the past week are: Mr. and Mrs Frisbie and son, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs Brown, Rochester; Mr and Mrs Ingle, Rochester; Mr. Lindmiller, Mr. Charlie Krause, Cleveland, O.; Mr Richeson, Mr Alf Miller, Pittsburg; Miss Reddick, Miss Bain, Toronto; Mr and Mrs Rowe, Hamilton; Mr Carmichael, Toronto; Mrs. Sturup and two daughters, Toronto; Mr Stenson, Rochester; Mr Sayers, Mr Briggs, Mr McLeisz, Mr T. Grayson, Toronto.; Misses Laura and Irene Grey, Peterborough; Mrs Taylor and daughter, Toronto; Miss Parks, Rochester; Mr. Hayes and son, Peterborough.

The Misses Simpson of Peterborough are now occupying Mrs. Crowley's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Halpany and two boys are up with Mrs. Simpson over Sunday.

MONTREAL SHORT OF WATER.

Accident to Pump Leads to Water Famine for Five Days.

Montreal, Aug. 10.—One-third of Montreal's water supply will be cut off for five days by the breaking down of one of the big pumps at the pumping station yesterday morning.

This means that a certain section of the city will be without fire protection and without water for drinking and domestic purposes for the time mentioned.

An investigation will be held.

Injured In Runaway.

Guelph, Aug. 10.—Lincoln Goldie of the Goldie Mining Co. met with a painful accident Thursday while driving with Alfred Watson to Elora. When about three miles from Elora the horse took fright and ran away. Both men jumped from the rig and both were injured. Watson, however, was only badly dazed, while Goldie is suffering from injuries to his back, the seriousness of which is not yet known.

First Race For The Canada Cup To-day

Adele and Seneca Will Meet Off Charlotte---The History of the Cup is an Interesting One---Some Close Contests

Later.—The differences have been settled and the race will take place as scheduled.

The Royal Canadian Yacht Club's boat, the Adele, has won the Canadian Cup by default, owing to the failure of the Rochester Yacht Club to furnish the Seneca's lines, so that she could be measured. The cup therefore comes back to Canada.

The first race for the Canadian Cup was to have been sailed to-day off Charlotte between the Adele of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto, and the Seneca, the Rochester Yacht Club's boat, was won by default by the Canadian craft, the Adele. The American boat failed to comply with the measurement requirements. Amelius Jarvis is skipper of the Canadian boat, while Addison G. Hanan of New York, was to be at the helm of the defender.

The races were to be run as follows:—

The first race will be over a triangular course of 21 miles. It, and all other races, will begin at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

Monday the second race will be sailed, this time a windward and leeward thresh nine miles out and nine miles back.

Providing only three races are necessary, Tuesday's will be the final. It will be over the same course as the first one.

A preparatory gun will be fired half an hour before the start. A red flag will be hoisted if buoys are to be left to port, and a blue flag if buoys are to be left to starboard.

Cup's History

The history of the cup is an interesting one.

In 1896 a group of Toledo yachtsmen offered a silver cup to become the property of the yacht winning an international race off Toledo. The two races necessary to decide supremacy were accordingly sailed on Aug. 25 and 26 between the Canada of Toronto and the Vanvedor of Chicago, the Canadian boat taking both races.

On January 18, 1897, the owners of the cup—George Gooderham, Geo. H. Gooderham, S F McKinnon, Frank J Phillips, J H Plummer, James Ross and Aemilius Jarvis—donated it by deed of gift to the Royal Canadian Yacht Club as trustees. The trophy was to be known as Canada's Cup, and was to be sailed for by yachts with a load water length of 25 to 40 feet, under the regulations of the Yacht Racing Union of the Great Lakes.

Work of the Genesee

The first challenger after this donation was the Chicago Yacht Club, which, after keen competition, selected the Genesee, owned by members of the Rochester Yacht Club, as the boat to bear its colours. The Genesee won the three straight races, sailed off Toronto on Aug. 24, 25, and 26, beating the Beaver, designed by A E Payne of Southampton, England, and sailed by Aemilius Jarvis. The Genesee is still in commission at Charlotte, and is a centreboard craft, designed and built by C C Hanley of Quincy Point, Mass.

The next contest for the trophy was sailed off Chicago on August 10, 12, 13, and 14 the Cadillac of Detroit, being the defender, and the invader of Toronto the challenger. The Cadillac won in first race handily, but was beaten in the next three races by the challenger, with the redoubtable Commodore Jarvis at the helm, and the cup was brought back to Canada.

The next challenging club was the Rochester Yacht Club which produced the Irondequoit, designed with the Strathcona, sailed by Jarvis. The memorable races were sailed off Toronto, and were the most exciting in the history of the cup. With James Barr, a relative of Captian Charlie Barr, of America Cup fame, at the helm of the Irondequoit. Jarvis won the first race by 22 seconds, and the second race by nearly ten minutes. The Canadians had already begun to celebrate the victory, and were preparing a consolation banquet for the visiting yachtsmen, when Addison G Hanan of New York arrived on the scene just in time to board the Irondequoit for the third race, and succeeded in walking away with the next three races straight in intensely exciting struggles with Commodore Jarvis.

Lengths of Yachts Changed

Up to this time the yachts competing for the cup were in the 40-foot class, but the lake yachtsmen came to the conclusion that such yachts were too large, too expensive in construction, and too costly in maintenance. It was agreed accordingly on September 12, 1904, that in the next race the yachts should be restricted to a 30-foot measurement on the load water line.

The last races for the trophy in question, sailed off Charlotte two years ago, are fresh in the memory of everyone. The contest was again very close, and again looked dubious for the Americans, when the challenging Temeraire, after losing the first race, romped away with the next two in stiff weather. Iroquois breezes prevailed after that, however, and the cup was lost. Lorenzo G. Mabbett sailed the defender, while E K Wodd was at the Temeraire's helm.

¶ Spring water, as a rule, is good pure water, and fit to drink—at the spring. But it may not be so when you get it. ¶ Many things can happen—do happen—to much spring water, long before you pour it into a glass. Some of them are things you wouldn't like to know about. ¶ Some bottlers of spring water bring it long distances in tanks. This simply invites bacteria to come and multiply in the water. ¶ Some spring waters are stored in containers a long while before they are bottled. Then the water gets flat and insipid. ¶ Things happen in the bottling house, too, that don't do the water any kind of good. ¶ The safe way for you, and the only way for a bottler who cares about purity, cleanliness, quality, is to do the bottling where the spring flows, as we do with

York Springs Water

Wholesome — Limpid — Refreshing

We take more trouble than seems worth while to have everything just as clean as daintiness demands — we are perhaps "finicky,"—even the bottles we use are cleansed with York Springs water. ¶ Bottling at the Springs for surety of purity, and bottling under scrupulously hygienic conditions, we KNOW York Springs Water gets to you pure. ¶ If you realized half the dangers that come from drinking water that isn't surrounded with just such precautions—you would drink no water except York Springs Water. 204

PETERBOROUGH HAS STRONG LINE-UP

The Team That Will Meet Port Hope This Afternoon.

The Peterborough baseball team will leave for Port Hope this afternoon on a special G. T. R. train at 2 o'clock, to meet the lake shore team in the most decisive game of this season. The locals have a very strong team on and are confident of pulling out a victory. Chris. Graham is away on his holidays and his place will be taken by Spence of the Toronto Baraccas, a finished first baseman and hitter. Anderson, the big second baseman of the Wellington Club, will cavort around the middle station, while Quinlan will do the slab work. McMahon of Cobourg was agreed upon late last night as umpire.

Burridge, c; Quinlin, p; Spence, 1b; Anderson, 2b; Chertham, ss; Haliburton, 3b; Burns, rf; Connors, cf; Gallaghar, lf; Johnston, Flaherty, spare.

AL SPENCELY WON BIG BICYCLE RACE

Local Athlete Distinguishes Himself a Ottawa

Mr. Al. Spencely, son of Mr. Mark Spencely of Peterborough, has been distinguishing himself in Ottawa. One of the capital journals contains the following reference to his winning the one-mile bicycle race there last Monday:—

"The one-mile bicycle race, the final in the one of last week, which ended through an accident, was witnessed also. Al. Spencely of Peterborough proved a winner, with Else Marshall second and Ramsay third. The men did the mile in fair time and were together until the last quarter, when Spencely put on a spurt that the others could not follow. Spencely rode a clever, fast race from beginning to end, and deserved the ovation tendered him as he crossed the finishing line ahead of Marshall."

THE CITY WILL GET A GOOD NAME AMONG TRAMPS

Magistrate Dumble Treats Them Kindly and the Law is the Good Samaritan.

John Ferguson, the man who thought that Mr. Spence conducted a free lunch parlour, and got two meals yesterday and was not gentleman enough to pay for them—to tell the truth, he had not the money, having given the little he had for whisky—was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble on the charge of having secured them under false pretences. His Worship found that the man was not guilty on this technical charge, and so Chief Rowel, who had a regular Morton's fork prepared, thought that, escaping the first prong, he would catch Ferguson on the second. Accordingly, he drew up a charge of vagrancy, and on this the man was practically proven guilty.

He said his home was in Muskoka but he had not been there for four years. He has been working lately in the lumber camps. Ferguson is a tall man and should be able to do a good days' work, and to see him reduced to common beggary is a pity. He said he intended to leave the city as soon as possible, and His Worship, remembering that the man had had nothing to eat since yesterday noon, gave him a quarter and told him to go and get a square meal.

A little boy nine years of age was fined $3, to be paid in five days, for stealing apples from an East City orchard. His Worship put on the heavy fire to let other petty pilferers know that they will be severely dealt with.

WELLAND AND THE CANAL

Within the last few years Welland, a little town—well it was little until this thing happened—on the Welland Canal, was dead, and no one took any pains to deny it, or to try to bring any life into it, either, for that matter. It did waken, though, and to-day no place in the country is getting as many new industries as that same town Welland. There are a number of contributing causes to this new-found prosperity, but one of the most potent factors in the progress of that town is the fact that it is on the line of the Welland Canal, and, consequently on the line of cheap transportation. In a recent issue of the Welland Telegraph, a humour known as the Hospital Number, there was the following reference to the canal. It will be read with interest here, because Peterborough owes considerable, and will owe more of its prosperity to its situation on the Trent Canal. The Telegraph says:

The construction of the first canal from Lake Ontario to Lake Erie was undertaken by the Welland Canal Company in 1825. They were confronted by many difficulties, not the least of which was the want of money, but overcame them all and two vessels passed up to Port Robinson in 1829.

This canal left Lake Ontario at Port Dalhousie, following the Twelve Mile Creek through St. Catharines, Merritton and Thorold, thence to Allanburg and Port Robinson, the intention being to use the Welland River to Chippawa and the Niagara River to Lake Erie. The latter part of the route having been found impracticable, the canal was extended to Port Colborne in 1833.

The original idea was to have the summit level at the same level as the Welland River, but the heavy excavation in the "deep cut" between Allanburg and Port Robinson proved so serious a problem that it was decided to raise the summit level about sixteen feet or eight feet above Lake Erie. This was accomplished by forming a reservoir in the Grand River by means of a dam, at what is now Dunnville and carrying this water by a "feeder" to Port Robinson to supply the canal. Vessels consequently had to lock down into the Welland River at Port Robinson about sixteen feet, and at Port Colborne into Lake Erie about eight feet.

The locks were 100 feet long by 22 feet in width. A couple of well preserved specimens remain, but are only visible when the water is drawn off the old canal. One is in the raceway immediately below lock 25 weir at Thorold, and the other near old lock 2 (Welland Vale), St. Catharines. The foundation timbers, mitre sills and parts of the wooden bottom, quoins and side walls remain intact.

In 1841 the Government took over all the holdings of the Welland Canal Company, closing the canal and started to enlarge it at once. In 1845, the canal now known as the old Welland Canal was completed. The location of the original canal was followed closely, but the locks were built of masonry and were made 150 feet by 26 1-3 feet, with ten feet of water on the mitre sills.

This canal carries a large quantity of freight, and did a great deal towards building up the towns along its route.

The present new Welland Canal was completed in 1881 for vessels drawing twelve feet of water, but shortly afterwards was enlarged to allow of fourteen feet draft. The locks are 270 feet long between gates, by 45 feet in width, at the water line.

An entirely new location was chosen between Port Dalhousie and Allanburg, but from there to Port Colborne the old canal prism was used. The feeder was abandoned as a source of supply, the upper level from Thorold to Port Colborne being deepened to allow Lake Erie to become the summit.

The quantity of freight carried on the new canal did not increase to any great extent over that carried on the old canal until the last few years. The first half of the present year has shown a very large increase over any previous half year. Residents along the canal have noticed the large number of vessels this year, and as new vessels are being added to the fleet every few weeks it may confidently be expected that the future of the Welland Canal as a heavy freight carrier is assured.

Improvements are continually being made to facilitate the passage of vessels, and these, together with the abolition of all tolls, have done much to make this route what it should be, namely, the main transportation route between the Northwest and the ocean.

The capacity of a canal-sized vessel, while only about one-fifth of that of the largest lake vessel, is still considerable. A single vessel can carry through the canal 80,000 bushels of wheat; this would represent the product of 4,000 acres of our Northwest, assuming an average of twenty bushels to the acre, and the value of this cargo is about $65,000.

As several of these cargoes have been passing down the canal every day this season, it gives one an idea of the enormous wealth that is stowed in our great Northwest.

SERIOUS DECLINE IN THE NUMBER OF METHODIST CLASS-LEADERS REPORTED

A Discouraging Report Presented, Showing Conditions in Toronto Conference, as Compared With Ten Years Ago.

THE DECLINE IS DEPLORED

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—At the last session of the Toronto Methodist Conference a special committee was appointed to deal with the question of class meetings, and to present a report, which has now been done. It provides information in reference to a live question in the Methodist Church of modern times and reveals a situation which, from the standpoint of the old-time Methodist, is somewhat disconcerting. In part, the report says:—

"In the General Conference attention was called to the fact that of recent years there had been a very serious decline in the number of class leaders, the number having fallen from 6791 in 1902 to 5611 in 1906, a decrease of no less than 1180; while the membership of the church during the same period increased from 291,895 to 317,717, or 25,822.

"We regret to find that the records of this Conference show that this alarming falling off has taken place here as well as elsewhere. In 1897 there were in this Conference 42,379 members and 1045 class leaders, that is, one leader for every 40 members. This year (1907) there are 54,248 members and only 743 leaders, or only one leader for every 73 members. In 1897 there were 164 ministers in the quatorate of this Conference, so that there were more than six leaders for every pastor; in 1907 there were 196 pastors, so that there are now less than four leaders for every pastor.

"There has been no substantial change in the number of local preachers and exhorters. In 1897 they numbered 535; in 1907, 520."

ODDFELLOWS AT THE GRAND LODGE

LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES

Examiner Special.

Orillia, August 10. — Arrangements for the annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of Oddfellows, to be held in this town next week, are well in hand by the local committee, the members of which have been working energetically for months, and the whole town is looking forward expectantly to the visit of the members of this society. They will be given a warm welcome, if it is in the power of the citizens to accomplish it—and they think it is—and it is promised that they will leave Orillia after the sessions with pleasant recollections of their visit.

The committee has succeeded in making excellent arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors. The town council will take the delegates for a sail around Lake Couchiching on Wednesday afternoon. On the same afternoon there will be a baseball match and a canoe regatta at Couchiching Beach Park. While the attempt to induce the Toronto Canoe Club to take part in the regatta has fallen through, it is expected that the visitors will nevertheless be shown some good water sport. In the evening there will be a monster parade, starting at 7.30. The Citizens Band will be at the park on Monday and Tuesday evenings, on Wednesday afternoon, and after the parade on Wednesday evening.

The prizes offered for the best decorated store and for the best decorated residence are exciting considerable interest, and it is expected that there will be keen competition. The town council has agreed to decorate the town hall building. A feature of this decoration will be the word "Welcome" worked out in electric lights.

An indication of the general interest the citizens are taking in the visit of the fraternalists, is furnished by the fact that upwards of 150 beds have been placed voluntarily at the disposal of the committee.

The members of the Order from the local Lodge, who were at Peterborough last year, and who while here secured the promise of the Grand Lodge, to hold the next meeting here, speak in enthusiastic terms of the manner in which the Peterborough people treated the visiting brethren, and they are trying to equal in warmth the welcome extended by the brethren of the Three Links in Peterborough.

On Monday a number of the members of the local Lodge Oddfellows' Lodges, who will attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge, will leave for Orillia, including Mr. J. A. Tully, who, by reason of his official connection with the Order, will be prominent in the arrangements, and Mr. M. W. Matchett, who is this year a Grand Lodge Officer. The delegates to the Grand Lodge and to the Grand Encampment and Oriental Lodges, will follow on Tuesday, it is expected.

The different branches of the Order in Peterborough, will be represented at Orillia by the following gentlemen:

Grand Lodge — M. W. Matchett, P. G.

I.O.O.F. Relief Association — J. A. Tully, P. G.

Supreme Orient — Frank Wise, P. G.

A DOUBTING THOMAS

Had His Failing Hair Stopped, and Dandruff Cured, Without Faith

H. B. Fletcher, Butte, Mont., October 20, 1899, says: "Like many other people, I have been troubled for years with dandruff, and within the last few years my hair came out so badly that I was compelled to have what I had left clipped very close. A friend recommended Newbro's Herpicide. I confess that I doubted his story; but I gave Herpicide a trial; now my hair is as thick as ever, and entirely free from dandruff." "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Herpicide is a delightful hair dressing for regular use.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. McDermid & Jury, Special Agents.

After Being Separated for Nine Years—Mrs. Mandel Joins Her Husband.

One of the Mandall brothers, proprietors of the firm on Charlotte street, that is engaged in the junk business, is feeling happy to-day and yesterday, for he received a telegram on Friday night, stating that his wife, whom he has not seen for nine years, arrived at Quebec and would be in Peterborough to-day. Mr. Mandall has a son 14 years of age and another nine, and, strange to say, he has never seen the second boy. How You Can Test the Blood

Paleness of the lips, gums and inside of the eyelids, tells of weak and watery blood, while other indications are languid, worn out and despondent feelings, headaches, nervous troubles and weakness of the bodily organs. To say that the blood is thin and weak is to say that it lacks iron and the other elements of which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed. There is no greater blood builder.

The Natural Cure For Rheumatism

Rheumatism means poisoned blood. The kidneys, bowels and skin should rid the system of waste matter. If either of these vital organs become weakened or diseased, the body cannot throw off this waste fast enough.

One of these body poisons is UREA, which is eliminated both by the kidneys and skin. If the skin action is poor—if the kidneys are inflammed—urea stays in the system—is changed into uric acid—carried by the blood to the nerves and joints—and causes Rheumatism.

This is the only possible way in which Rheumatism can be cured to stay cured. And "Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy in the world that completely eradicates the disease from the system.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the natural medicinal action of fruit is many time increased by the process of combining them.

Then tonics and antiseptics are added and the whole made into tablets. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. 111

Orangemen's Duty To Promote Unity In The British Empire

On the Basis of Religious Liberty —'Prentice Boys Sunday Night Celebrated Closing of Gates of Derry—Attended Church.

HIGH IDEALS SET FORTH

In commemoration of the raising of the seige of Derry the members of the 'Prentice Boys' Lodge of this city attended service last night in the Charlotte street Methodist church, where a sermon was preached to them by the pastor, Rev. H. M. Manning. The 'Prentice Boys were accompanied by a number of members of the other branches of the Order, and the parade was headed by the Fife and Drum Band. About seventy-five men were in line.

In his introduction to the sermon, which was preached from Hebrews, 13; 12, "Wherefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood, suffered without the gate." The speaker remarked that the presence of the members of the Orange Order suggested stirring times in British history; times when events of the greatest possible importance to the British nation were transpiring. Referring to the events which led to the closing of the gates of Derry by the 'Prentice Boys the speaker pointed out that James went too far in curtailing the rights of his Protestant subjects, and drove them to ask William to help them. This William was willing to do, and it was a significant fact that he came armed only with the open Bible. By reason of this fact, he said, the success of his mission was assured.

The defence of Derry was a costly undertaking, 4,000 of the defenders and 6,000 of the besiegers being slain. In view, however, of the results which followed, he believed that it was worth all it cost. The fight was for civil and religious liberty and freedom to read the Word of God and worship according to the dictates of their conscience.

The Orange Order, he said, meant liberty for every man under the British flag; Protestants and Roman Catholics, alike. Orangemen do not interfere with Roman Catholics who will be treated as brethren.

It should be a matter of pride to members of the Orange Order to know that the cause of the Open Bible is gaining ground all the time.

Referring to the work of Orangemen the speaker believed that it was of a constructive character. It was their duty to bring about the unity of the British Empire on the basis of religious liberty.

In his application of the text the reverend gentleman spoke of the heroism of Christ referred to in the verse which formed the basis of the sermon, and urged his hearers to follow His example.

On the return to the hall from the 'Prentice Boys church parade, on Sunday evening, it was moved by Bro. S. Adlum, seconded by Bro. G. Carter, and carried, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to Rev. H. M. Manning for his very instructive address, the choir for their excellent singing, the church officials for the use of the church, and to the members of the True Blues and Orangemen, and the Nassau fife and drum band, who joined in the parade.

Rev. Mr. Manning made a suitable reply and said that it gave him pleasure to address the members of the Order. Bro. Batten replied, on behalf of the Orangmen.

Printers' Picnic Premier Civic Holiday Outing

FEATURES OF THE DAY

The Printers' picnic of 1907 has found a tablet in the Hall of Fame and will go down into local history as the most successful that was ever conducted under the auspices of the Peterborough branch of the Typographical Union. Printers in this district, where every opportunity is afforded by nature herself are common, but it remained for the printers to establish a record which is not only a credit to themselves and a satisfaction to their friends, but which will serve as an ideal for pleasure, amusement and wholesome fun. The officers of the steamer Otonabee declared that the boat carried considerable over 100 more passengers yesterday than with any other excursion to this date. The Printers have gradually gained a good reputation during the past few years and thus on this occasion they received the patronage of such a large number who openly expressed their pleasure with the day's outing.

Idyl Wyld, the delightful summer resort on Rice Lake, where every breeze is caught for the benefit of those who are fortunate enough to be there, was the scene of the days enjoyment and the beauty and invigorating effects of the place greatly enhanced the success of the affair. The steamer Otonabee departed on its trip shortly after eight o'clock, and reached its destination at half past eleven. To describe how the people—young and old—amused themselves is impossible but on the boat and at the grounds there were few dull moments. The Printers are the beloved of Jupiter Pluvius for in spite of predictions and a lowering sky on several occasion, there was no rain to mar the pleasure, but a refreshing wind blowing from the lake kept the atmosphere clear and cool.

After dinner a list of sporting events were run off, all the contests being interesting and appealed to the friends of those taking part.

The races were as follows:—

100 yds.dash—Corney Burns, Jack Seymour.

Boys', 15 and under — Callaghan, Barrie.

Girls, 15 and under—Lillian Hain, Madeline Hickey.

Young Ladies' race—Miss Bessie Crowe, Miss Lillia Crowe.

Married men's race—R. Long Ed. Sherrard.

Reporters' race—Harry Theobald, D. B. McRae.

Married Ladies' race—Mrs. Geo. Smith, Mrs. Sherwood.

Boys' boot race—Stewart.

Fat men's race—Mr. Archie Moore.

Perhaps the most amusing incident of the afternoon was a pie eating contest by four boys who were each given a huckleberry pie which they were to eat without touching with their hands. The result was a surprise to everyone and a source of fun to the onlookers. The boys, two especially, performed feats a la bouche which, as a disappear act, put the great Herman in the shade. With their faces smeared with huckleberry juice they certainly presented a dubious sight as they "dug" into the pie. No "Meandering Mike" who had not touched a dainty for months could have succeeded so well, and if the boys' gastronomical and digestive systems are not overtaxed as a result the general opinions are far astray. The winner was Dominie Barnett and a lad named McIntyre was a close second.

Mr. R. Long's prize was a handsome black silk parasol, very kindly donated by Mr. Richard Hall & Son. Mr. Wescott presented a pair of boots to the winner of the boot race. The Printers are also indebted to Messrs. W. A. Sanderson & Co. for a pair of gold cuff links which were drawn for among the Printers and went to Mr. Ernie Bartlett, of the Times.

Baseball Match

The great event of the day was the baseball match between the Review and Examiner nines. Perhaps the sporting world is not aware of the fact that there is a splendid loving cup (of tin) on the desk in this connection, and it is awarded yearly to the victorious team. According to Manager Paxman of the Examiner bunch the trophy has been in this office for the past fifteen years, and it was about time the Review had a look at the tinware. All the Examiner players were tipped to drop the game, but at the end of the fourth innings they were in the lead. "Paxy" himself had been swinging at the ball in fine style, so he decided to quit and give the other fellows a chance. That's the way it happened.

Harry Burridge, Corney Burns and Charlie Wilson composed the Review team, with apologies to Thompson, McCrae and others. Of McCrae, truthfully cannot be said of his "punk" playing. He went after the ball like a navvy with a pick. He took nine strikes at it, but did not come within a yard of it. The natives were dissatisfied with his capers, although he wore a sporty sweater and trousers; and even the fair sex threw him down afterwards. Not only that, but he ordered Umpire Methven unceremoniously and was ousted from the game for one innings.

Burridge was on the slab and started in easy to throw lobs, but so many runs were piled up that disaster was apparent—and then to see these shoots. Foul tips hit the bar, making the bottles rattle and striking onlookers with laughable effect. Corney Burns at second base was the whole infield, and, with Wilson and Burridge, was the idol of the fair sex. The basketball scoop artist of the Examiner team, missed the boat and was unavoidably absent. He was greatly missed, and, in spite of the Review's last trio, would have cheered the boys to victory.

Well, about the score. At the end of the sixth both teams were tied, six all, and the Review braves wanted it settled. With but seven men on the field, Harry Burridge hit the ball a wallop that sent it screeching through the etherial spatre and it was not seen again. The latest report is that it was found at Gore's Landing, in front of the hotel. Thus the game ended, with the Burridge and Burns end 7, Examiner 6.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Notes of the Picnic

Who said the Printers were not the goods?

And their young ladies and the ladies of the printing establishments.

Everyone was pleased with the kindness of the Otonabee's crew.

Mr. William Taylor declared that the Printers' Picnic was the most successful in every respect that he had ever enjoyed. He has been on three already this summer to Idyl Wild, besides many others, and should be an authority.

The Printers appreciated the assistance of Mr. Walter Stocker, who, with his wife and family, were present.

The Examiners' employees carried off the honours in the Harry Burridge and Corney Burns must have thought they were in Cobourg. They lost three balls by long drives to Rice Lake.

Mr. Chas. Sawle of the Review staff was an interested spectator of the various events. He was accompanied during the day with his inspiration, a cigar.

Mr. Archie Moore, in the fat man's race, pleased the sports with his knee action. The great Longboat is not as graceful as Mr. Moore.

The music on the boat and at the grounds was supplied by an orchestra composed of Messrs. Nicholl, Howarth and Wesley and was much enjoyed. Mr. Archie Moore had his own time in getting dancers on the boat as it was rather warm for that recreation.

The Review reporters are the "candy boys" with the ladies when certain other gentlemen of the pen are absent.

Tom Begley of the Review nine was a tower of strength to his team. His batting was second only to that of "Paxy Paxman."

"BILL" TRAYNOR'S GOOD WORK

Former Peterborough Player Who is Making Good in Fast Company in Buffalo

In a recent issue of the Buffalo Courier, reference is made to some good work done in a baseball game, by a former Peterborough player. In part, the Courier says:

"Before a crowd of 3,000 spectators, at the Bunker Hills grounds yesterday, the East Buffalo A. C. Baseball Team, in the most hard-fought and most exciting game ever witnessed on the grounds this season, won by a score of 16 to 13."

Referring to the work of Traynor the Courier says:

"Trayner, lately with the Peterborough, Canada, semi-professional team, made several sensational catches in centre field, and at bat made a double and three singles."

WORTH TAKING

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;
One ounce Compound Salatone;
Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, is pronounced by a prominent physician to be the best mixture for the cure of the kidney, bladder, and all urinary troubles.

This says the doctor, is the most simple though remarkable prescription ever written to cleanse the system of impurities and waste matter. It acts as a powerful tonic to the kidneys, forcing them to filter out the acids and poisons, overcoming rheumatism, lame back, sciatica and other afflictions arising from sour, impure blood.

The ingredients can be procured at any good drug store, and being purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can easily be mixed at home.

If you have a suffering friend show this to him, as he will undoubtedly be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended a remedy.

The Diplomacy Of Ted....

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

Copyrighted, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

"You see, I wouldn't mind it a bit if it were not for Uncle Halbert, but if I marry you and go to Denver, Bob, what would become of him? He hasn't a soul in the world but me, and he's forty-nine"—

"Forty-nine isn't old," interrupted Bob gloomily.

"It isn't for most men, but it is for a man like Uncle Halbert," Gwendolin answered seriously. "It isn't as though he had led an active business life, Bob. He has always been so seclusive; you know what I mean—he had lived by himself and for himself until mamma died and I came to live at the Maples. That is over fifteen years ago, and I know that if I were to marry and leave him all alone here it would break his heart."

"Let him come with us," suggested Bob, walking up and down the strip of beach below the sand dune, where the figure in the blue cloak sat in solitary state. "It's a great climate out there. He'd like it all right as soon as he got accustomed to the change. Of course, it might come hard to an old man like that"—

"You just said he wasn't old"—

"Well, he's too old to care one way or the other.

"Bob Daulton, how can you talk so heartlessly?"

"Just because I want you for my wife," he said, "and any obstacle that stands in my way after you yourself have said yes has simply got to be overcome—that's why. I like Mr. Rutherford all right. He's a fine old fellow, but I don't see just why we should blight our whole life's happiness in order to insure his not getting lonesome. And he won't be. He has lots of neighbors"—

"He hates neighbors," interposed Gwendolin sadly, her chin on her palms. "He has quarreled with the Lawrences over the greenhouses they built that spoil the view from the arbor, and he doesn't like the new people at Greystone a bit. He says they're too excitable."

"WHAT ARE YOU DOING, TED?" ASKED BOB.

"He did, did he?" laughed Bob. "Well, he must enjoy excitement a little himself. When I drove in to the postoffice yesterday, I saw him riding beside little Mrs. Ainslee in her red and black runabout. They were clipping along the post road to beat the band, and he didn't look worried a bit over any excitement."

"He was not riding for pleasure," said Gwendolin coldly. "Mrs. Ainslee's little boy Teddy was bitten by a snapping turtle, and uncle simply went with her to the doctor's. Teddy was with them."

"Well, he wasn't in evidence, and I didn't hear any moans of pain. The old boy and the widow seemed to be enjoying themselves all right. Anyway, that kid ought to be suppressed. He put one of those snapping turtles in with my terriers last week, and it didn't do a thing but nip Napoleon's ear and take a bite at Lady Gay's nose."

"What were the terriers doing?" Gwendolin's blue eyes lighted with quick merriment.

"Nothing except kiyi-ing. You can't take a grip on a turtle shell, and every time one would make a dash at the turtle's head it would draw it in. And Teddy thought it was great fun."

"So it was," approved the young woman on the sand dune. "I didn't know Teddy had so much sense of humor. That must be why Uncle Hal likes him. Generally he doesn't care for children a bit."

"Maybe Teddy would keep him from being lonesome, then, after we've gone to Denver." Bob waited an instant, then caught encouragement from the face above him and took the sand dune at four steps. "Gwen, darling, quit teasing and behave. It isn't a joke. It's our life's happiness at stake just because this old fossil wants your company. What do we care even if he cut you off without a cent? I'll have enough for two, and I'm not afraid of him. I'll go to him after dinner tonight and tell him the whole thing and let him sizzle"—

"You can't tell him tonight, Mr. Daulton," interrupted an interested, eager little voice from the other side of the dune. "He's coming over to our house for dinner. Why don't you tell him right now?"

Bob withdrew his arm hurriedly from its resting place, and Gwen pinned up some stray tumbled locks with fingers that trembled even while she laughed at the picture below them. Standing in the pool of water left by the tide in the rocks below was Teddy Ainslee. His short duck pants were rolled high about his bare tanned legs, and his face was intensely serious as he balanced a tin pail and toy rake in his hands and stared up at the two figures on the sand dune.

"What are you doing, Ted?" asked Bob impersonally. "Digging for clams?"

"Nope; crabs," returned Ted laconically. "Got five. Two's most dead, though. Why don't you tell him right now? He's over there with mamma, over behind the clubhouse. They're sitting on the rocks, talking about our coming to live in his house. Say, I'm going to have a room all to myself, he says, and a pony, and a real boat, maybe. Aren't you glad I'm coming to live with you, Gwen?"

Gwendolin's hand closed over the strong one that reached for it, with a warm, close grip. For a moment her eyes met Bob's, swift, questioning, amazed, laughing, all in one quick sweeping glance of understanding. Bob started to laugh aloud, but she checked him and bent toward the little figure standing in the water below.

"Indeed, I am glad, Teddy," she said very gently, very diplomatically, "but I didn't know about it. When are you coming, dear?"

Teddy's gaze wandered musingly over the stretch of shore to where the clubhouse made a splash of green and white on the landscape. From where he stood he could see a white parasol, and down behind the chiffon ruffles on that parasol sat Mr. Rutherford and his mother.

"Just as soon as he's my papa," he told the two above him calmly. "I like him real well. He asked me if he could love mamma, and I told him I didn't mind. He used to know mamma a long time ago, and he liked her then, but she liked me best. She don't any more, though. She likes him best, but I don't care. I told him maybe I'd marry you, Gwen."

"That was awfully sweet of you, Teddy, dear," began Gwendolin.

"Just so you wouldn't be lonesome, you know," Ted assured her, "because I s'pose maybe he used to like you best, too, and now he won't any more, 'cause he told mamma he liked her the bestest in the whole world."

"God bless you, Teddikins," murmured Bob thankfully. "I'll buy you a bear for this, six feet tall."

"When are you coming to live with us, Teddy?" asked Gwendolin, her voice a little unsteady, her face flushed rosily. The big hand was crushing her own so that it hurt.

"Pretty soon," said Ted encouragingly. "That's why they made me come away now. They're talking it over. They're going to hurry up and get married before you find it out, so it won't be a sudden shock. That's what Mr. Rutherford said. I heard him tell mamma that they must avoid any sudden shock to Gwen's nerves. So they're going to run away and get married, and then he's going to break it to you."

Bob gave an explosive peal of joy and rolled over on the sand at Gwendolin's feet. But Gwendolin sat still, her eyes bright with happiness and hope ahead, her chin resting on one palm and her eyes filled with sudden tears.

"Don't you cry, Gwen," called up Teddy courageously. "I'll love you and keep you from being lonesome."

Gwendolin laughed, a quick, breaking laugh of tears and happiness combined, and held out both hands to Bob.

"Thanks, Teddy, dear, so much, but I don't think I'll be very lonesome. After—after poor Uncle Hal has broken the news to me I think I shall go to Denver."

The Transformed Pythagoras.

Some undergraduates once wished to play a practical joke upon a man who was a disciple of Pythagoras, so one day when he was a little sleepy by reason of the amount of brandy and soda that he had imbibed his friends smeared him with honey and rolled him in the inside of a feather bed. When the disciple of Pythagoras got up in the morning he looked in the looking glass at himself and said slowly, with a whistle, "Bird, by Jove!"—London Telegraph.

FOLLOWS DIVER'S CALLING.

Lady Employs Her Own Crew and Makes Good Living.

Miss Florence Baker, is regarded as a protege by all the sailors of the Great Lakes. She is twenty-one years of age, and has laid up a comfortable bank account by following the hazardous calling of a diver. Her first professional work was when she raised $20,000 worth of copper from the ship of W. H. Stevens, which sank in eighty feet of water in Lake Erie several years ago.

Miss Baker's father, Capt. H. W. Baker, was a captain of divers, and from the first time she was allowed to go down to the river alone, she used to watch her father's wrecking ship leave the dock and long to go with him. The ambition to become a diver matured in her as she grew older, and she deplored the fate which had condemned her to be a girl.

At last her desire to become a diver overcame the objections of her friends and she began making wrecking trips with her father, and soon became his inseparable companion. She made a study of every part of the machinery connected in any way with diving, and in time learned to command the wrecking boat with great skill and assurance.

Her First Descent.

Her first descent was in Lake Huron, where a big wooden barge had gone down, and before the wrecking steamer had reached the spot where the barge had sunk, the owner spoke to Miss Baker, regretting the loss of a diamond ring which was in the cabin.

Miss Baker immediately offered to recover it for him, as she had been planning for some time to make her first descent upon the first favorable opportunity. When everything was made ready for her to descend, her own father manned the compressed air apparatus, which meant life or death to her, as she calmly walked down the ship's ladder and, without a moment's hesitation, disappeared under the water.

In describing the sensations of the initial trip, she said that the feeling at the outset was as if some great creature with a thousand arms was pressing her gently, but firmly on all sides, and as if in a few minutes her breath would be cut off entirely, but she was far from frightened, and continued her descent until the shadow of the sunken barge loomed up before her. She had a strange feeling of buoyancy, and the twenty pounds of lead attached to her feet seemed no heavier than leather soles as she followed her companion to the walls of the sunken ship, and with his aid climbed over them.

Undaunted By Pain.

At this point she experienced severe pains in her head, and felt as if her nose were going to bleed, but, still undaunted, she reached the cabin of the barge, where she entered, and with the aid of the electric light at her belt, sought out the corner of the cabin, which contained a small stand, upon which was the tiny box containing the much-desired diamond ring.

In her haste to reach it she stumbled and fell, and, for the moment was consumed by a terrible fear, as the pressure of the water, together with breathing the compressed air, had now become almost overpowering; but she quickly gained her self-control, and, with the box in her hand, returned to the deck of the wrecker.

As a reward for this exploit Miss Baker was presented with the diamond ring she had recovered, and it is now in her possession.

The ring marked the beginning of her fortune, as she had proved that she could live under the water, and to be able to do this means that a person is worth anywhere from $50 to $200 a day to a wrecking company. As ninety-nine out of every 100 men who descend into the waters of the lakes will in a few minutes begin to suffer from bleeding at the nose, head-splitting pains, and suffocation, that is why all good divers from one end of the Great Lakes to the other may be counted on one's fingers and toes.

Miss Baker now began following up her adventure with practical work, and she early discovered the fact that she was fitted for a captain of divers, instead of a diver alone, as the locating of the lost copper ship, which had been searched for for years, has proven.

Drove Prospectors Out.

It is little wonder that the Salvation Army party was driven out of the Northern lands of Ontario. Allowing for all the exaggerations, the stories told here by parties from the Lake Abitibi district indicate a condition of things there that make prospecting almost impossible. Men have arrived here with their faces literally covered with mosquito bites. These have swelled to such an extent as to temporarily disfigure the victims.

"Of the 600 men at Abitibi," says one member of a surveying party just arrived, "only a dozen are now left. They have simply had to quit. The black flies and the mosquitoes give the men no rest, and one plague is as bad as the other. It is impossible to get restful sleep. The continuous fighting of the pests gets on the nerves, and life becomes unendurable. A man dare not remove his clothes. He would instantly be covered with the little brutes."

While the statement of one man who says that the swarms of mosquitoes can be cut with a knife is, of course, an exaggeration, there is every reason to believe from the raw and bleeding faces of some of those who have returned that the pest of mosquitoes and flies in northland is almost the worst ever reported.

The Genius of Ancient Greece.

An authority on old Greek history says, and in my opinion rightly, that the average intelligence of the assembled Athenian citizens was higher than that of our house of commons. No doubt the Athenian public was by no means so learned as we moderns are. They were ignorant of many sciences, of much history—in short, of a thousand results of civilization—but in civilization itself, in mental power, in quickness of comprehension, in correctness of taste, in accuracy of judgment, no modern nation, however well instructed, has been able to equal by laborious acquirements the inborn genius of the Greeks.—Mahaffy's "Social Life in Greece."

Empresses of Japan.

Women played an important part in the early history of Japan. To a woman, the Empress Jingu, belongs the glory of the first conquest made by Japan, that of Korea, A. D. 201. Dressed as a man, she led her fleet over the unknown waters, across which she alone believed a country lay to the westward. "If we succeed," she said to her chiefs, "the glory will all be yours. I will be responsible for the infamy of a possible defeat." The Koreans laid their wealth at the feet of the conquerors, and the king swore that so long as the stars shone and water ran down hill Korea should be faithful to Japan. This achievement of the empress gave rise to the boast of the Japanese, "The arms of Japan shine beyond the seas." But the most important fruit of her victory was the introduction of Buddhism from Korea, as well as Asiatic art, science, medicine and literature. Jingu, however, was never actually proclaimed head of the empire. The first female ruler was Suiko, and since her time eight empresses have governed Japan, some of them with great wisdom.

CALLING IN PARIS.

The Concierge Is a Peculiar Institution in Several Ways.

You leave your card at the door of the person to whom you desire to present yourself, and there it is taken in charge by that peculiarly French functionary, the concierge, says Professor Barrett Wendell in Scribner's. At least in Paris, the greater part of French people live in large houses containing a number of apartments with a common entrance and staircase. Close to the entrance door, on the level of the street, are some stuffy little rooms inhabited by the concierge, or porter, with his family. Their duty, among other things, is to keep strict watch on whoever goes in or out, and at least one of them, often the porter's wife or half grown daughter, is always at hand.

The chief peculiarity of their temperament seems to be insatiable appetite. At whatever hour of day or evening you call on a concierge you are sure to find somebody eating or just risen from table, and the atmosphere inhabited by this bustling personage seems immortally laden with the fumes of something recently boiled.

No matter whether you call on a friend who lives in some unpretentious out of the way place or on one who inhabits something like a palace, the concierge is always about the same. You can detect little difference between those in charge of important doors and of insignificant. They are as like as house flies. Of course there are private houses in Paris, with regular domestic servants such as you would find anywhere, but these, grand or simple, are so unusual that you remember the concierge as everywhere standing between you and further human intercourse.

In response to your card, which the concierge duly sees delivered, comes a card, often with a note, in return. If, as is generally the case, this acknowledgment of your existence contains an intimation of when your French acquaintance may be found at home, either habitual or for your special benefit, you make your second visit at this appointed time and thus enter into real personal relations.

Otherwise, your intercourse has limited itself to a polite exchange of cards. Generally speaking, you never expect or attempt to see French people socially except when they have asked you to one of their regular days of reception or have made a definite appointment. To call on a person at any other time—to do more than leave your card with the concierge—would be an intrusive pretense to intimacy.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

You can waste a good deal of time telling how reliable you are.

You never say a man won't listen to reason if he agrees with you.

A boy is liberally abused if he isn't polite, but how many say "Thank you" to a boy?

No one seems to have as hard a time earning money as the woman who marries for it.

Having good judgment and being "a fool for luck" are frequently the story of a single financial success told by different parties.

"How poor are they who have no patience! What wound did ever heal but by degrees?" Who is the author of the above? It is not important whether you can remember the author if you can soberly accept the lesson taught.

The Value of Diamonds.

The value of the diamond is at so much per carat, and up to a certain limit the value per carat increases as the size of the stone increases. When a carat diamond is quoted at $125, a diamond weighing a half a carat is counted at the rate of $75 per carat, three-quarter carat diamonds at $100 per carat, one and one-quarter carat diamonds at $140 per carat, one and one-half carat diamonds at $150 per carat, one and three-quarter carat diamonds at $180 per carat, and two carat stones at $200 per carat. Stones weighing more than two carats sell at about the same rate as that quoted for two carat stones, and do not increase as rapidly owing to the more limited demand for the larger sized stones.

To Calculate Longevity.

"Bacon took a deep interest in longevity and its earmarks," said a physician, "and Bacon's signs of long life and of short life are as true today as they ever were. You won't live long, Bacon pointed out, if you have soft, fine hair, a fine skin, quick growth, large head, early corpulence, short neck, small mouth, brittle and separated teeth and fat ears. Your life, barring accidents, will be very lengthy if you have slow growth, coarse hair, a rough skin, deep wrinkles in the forehead, firm flesh, a large mouth, wide nostrils, strong teeth set close together and a hard, gristly ear."

Dogs That Worry

If you have ever seen a dog that has lost its master in a London street you will wonder whether even the lower animals have not the elements of worry to disturb them. But the man worries about many other things than bones or masters, and the dog never suffers from insomnia through fear of a future life or the state of his bank account.—Reader.

AN OBLIGING WAITER.

He Got the Five Dishes, and He Got Them in Record Time.

He was a stranger in town. The clerk of the hotel had neglected to call him until twenty minutes after the requested hour, and as a consequence he had but a short time for breakfast before he must leave for his train.

Going into the dining room, he waived the formality of having the chair leisurely pushed under him by the head waiter, and, accosting one of the dusky servers, he commanded hurriedly:

"Go to the kitchen and get me a breakfast—five dishes of anything that is ready—and get it quick!"

As the order was accompanied by a medium sized piece of silver the wayfaring man had reason to expect a fairly good meal.

And as to speed of delivery he was not disappointed. In an incredibly short time the negro reappeared, bearing aloft a tray on which sat five dishes, remarkable only for their similarity of size and shape. When the tray was lowered sufficiently to bring the contents of the dishes into focus the traveler saw his breakfast—five dishes of steaming oatmeal, accompanied by five miniature pitchers of cream.

The negro beamed with satisfaction at the rapidity with which he had executed the order. The traveler hurriedly ate one dish of the oatmeal, and as he left the dining room the waiter was heard to remark:

"Wondah wot dat man say he want five dishes foah!".

MONOPOLIES AND RINGS.

Olden Time Schemes For Obtaining Wealth and Power.

The evil of monopolies and rings was known to ancients. Aristotle referring to them in his "Politics," and then, as now, it was found necessary to hold them in check by legislation. The monopolist was in Roman law called a dardanarius and punished under the Lex Julia de Annona. Monopolies of clothing, fish and all articles of food were prohibited by the Emperor Zeno under pain of confiscation and exile, so that it is certain that the rings of the ancient days were as mischievous as they are now. At Athens a law limited the amount of corn a man might buy. The earliest recorded instance we have was a corn ring.

There is an ancient tradition that the king who made Joseph his prime minister and committed into his hands the entire administration of Egypt was Apepi. Apepi was one of the shepherd kings and ruled over the whole of Egypt as Joseph's pharaoh seems to have done. The prime minister during seven years of remarkable plenty bought up every bushel of corn beyond the absolute needs of the Egyptians and stored it. During the terrible famine that followed he was able to get his own price and bartered corn successively for the Egyptian money, cattle and land and, taking one-fifth for pharaoh, made him supremely wealthy. It was not merely a provident act, but a very politic one, his policy being to centralize power in the monarch's hands.—London Answers.

Origin of Attar of Roses.

The preparation of the famous attar of roses, according to the Circle, seems to have been discovered by accident. From India we get the tradition. The favorite Sultana of Schanghir caused a bath of rosewater to be prepared for her use. The burning sun of India brought its might upon the bath prepared in the royal garden and soon globules of oil were found floating upon the fragrant water. Deeming the bath impure and attempting to skim off the film, the attendants broke the globules, and at once the garden was filled with fragrance. The finest essence is not gathered from the rarest and most costly flowers, for the fragrant oil glands are most abundant in the petals of the free blooming, old, common kinds.

Machiavelli.

Nicolo Machiavelli, from whose surname has been coined a synonym for treacherous craft, was a writer of nervous and concise Italian. He took high rank as a dramatist, his comedy of "Mandragola" being pronounced inferior only to the work of Voltaire. Leo X. admired it so much that he had it played before him in Rome. His book on the "Art of War" won the praise of so competent a judge as Frederick the Great of Prussia. His policy in statesmanship embodied in his work "The Prince" was the direct antithesis of Washington's sentiment that "honesty is the best policy."

MUST LOWER THE RATES.

Railway Commission Issues New Order to Canadian Roads.

The findings of the Railway Commission with respect to the discrimination in rates from United States points to Canadian points as against those from contiguous Canadian territory to the same destination has been announced, and as a result of the efforts and representations of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association a general readjustment of rates throughout eastern Canada has been brought about. An order has just been issued to the railways that tariffs covering the new basis of rates must be issued without unnecessary delay.

The new proposition means a general decrease in class freight rates in the territory east of the Detroit River and Sudbury to and including the Maritime Provinces; the same basis of rates from and between all large centres; the same rates in winter as in summer; overcome complaints as to the violation of the long and short haul clause of the Railway Act, except as authorized; the removal of the discrimination which now exists at frontier points in favor of the United States manufacturer; the rates between all points to be based on short line mileage, and as nearly as practicable, uniformity in rates between various distributing centres in Ontario.

Railways may continue to apply from recognized water points, such as Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, etc., a basis in competition with water during the summer slightly lower than the general basis adopted, but there is to be no increase from those prevailing at the present time.

As an illustration as to how the new basis will work out, the present first-class rate, Windsor to Montreal, is 70 cents in the winter and 60 cents in the summer. The new basis will be 58 cents all the year round.

Owner's risk conditions has been so amended and defined that the carrier are liable for loss through negligence on the part of themselves, their agents or employes.

There is to be no disturbance of any special commodity tariffs or commodity rates now in effect where these rates are lower than the new class rates.

ADVENTURE WITH MOOSE.

Trapper In Danger of Being Trampled to Death, Saved by Dogs.

Angus Le Sage, who has just returned from a trip over his trapping trail at the 24-mile post on the Gunflint road, Minnesota, tells of a thrilling adventure he had with a moose, in which he narrowly escaped being stamped to death, and was saved only by his dogs.

Le Sage, who has been trapping in that vicinity all winter, started recently to pick up his traps and close camp. On the trail in the vicinity of Clearwater Lake the two dogs which were accompanying the trapper, and which had gone on ahead were barking furiously, and when their master caught up with them he found that they held a monster moose at bay. The big animal stood squarely in the trail, and was menacing the dogs with its horns. Le Sage, without thought of danger, attempted to take a hand in the fun, starting toward the animal, and inciting the dogs to renew the attack by clapping his hands.

As soon as the moose saw its human enemy it charged fiercely at him, and the trapper, in attempting to make a sharp turn, became entangled in his snowshoes, and fell heavily to the ground. The animal was almost upon him, and had its hoofs raised to beat his life out when the dogs, seeing their masters' peril, attacked the moose fiercely from behind. This caused a diversion, and the upraised hoof of the animal descended on the prostrate man's leg instead of upon his head.

Meantime, a companion of Le Sage, who had been some distance in the rear, came up, and assisted the fallen man to his feet. Then the combined efforts of the men and dogs put the infuriated moose to flight, but not until it had inflicted severe injuries upon one of the dogs.

Le Sage was not badly hurt, escaping with a contusion caused by his heavy fall upon the frozen snow, and with a bad scrape along the muscles of his leg, where the roof of the moose had ripped open his trousers.

Our Australian Trade.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has received a report from J. S. Larke and D. H. Ross. Canadian trade agents in Sydney and Melbourne, Australia, respectively.

This year's harvest in Australia will probably be below the average owing to the dry weather. Good prospects for developing a good leather trade with Australia are reported, provided Canadian firms will devote sufficient attention to the Australian market.

Canada's trade with Australia shows a satisfactory increase. Australia imports from Canada last year totaled £303,751, an increase over the preceding year of over $350,000. The increase was principally in textiles, drugs, apples, paper, spirits and vegetables. On the other hand, Canadian exports to Australia decreased in lumber, agricultural implements and fish. Canada's imports from Australia totaled last year £73,688, an increase of about £30,000 over the preceding year. The principal increases were in meats, butter, wool, tin and cocoanut oil.

Canada imported butter to the value of over $15,000 last year from Australia.

Greenland's Glaciers.

Nearly all the Greenland glaciers and tongues from the internal ice cap terminate in vertical faces from 100 to 1,000 feet high, presenting facilities for investigation. The vertical faces reveal pronounced stratification on the basal ice, even earth materials in the bases carried by the ice being arranged in layers. Fine laminations were seen twelve or twenty to an inch. The layers are sometimes twisted and contorted and even shoved over each other.

THE CALL OF THE WEST.

Women Are Needed to Build Up Its Domestic Life.

In that far western land of Canada where the sun sinks into undulating fields of grain, there are lonely hearts. When the throb of day has ceased and subdued sounds begin to pass over the prairies and people the eventide with fancies and yearnings, there are bosoms that sigh. The quiet, lonely hour brings thoughts of home, of kindred, of early associations and of tender memories.

Annually now there are thousands of people from all parts of Europe pouring into the vast areas that spread themselves out between the indented Pacific and the peaceful settlements of the east. With the exception of a small percentage, indeed, these thousands are men, young and old, who have gone into the new and promising field, to gather their sheaves of success and fortune. Some have established homes, some have not. It is from those who have not the content and refinement of settled domestic life that the call of the West comes.

The echoes are resounding now toward the Atlantic and across into the populous nations of the old land, and those echoes are ambassadors of affection to the power of womankind.

Throughout that great territory, billowy as it is with golden wheat, there are innumerable men who, with stout resolve and eager purpose, are endeavoring to establish homes. Wives, mothers and adored ones are left behind till fathers, husbands and brothers send for them. Tailing on with the light of hope constantly before their view, these new citizens of the Dominion are hewing out a destiny for themselves and the young nation into which they have come. When the smile of fortune warms their brows, they will send to the crowded cities, the pretty towns and sleepy hamlets of Europe for those who alone by their feminine grace and influence can enthuse the highest morality into citizenship.

The world has again and again taught humanity that without the chastening agencies of the home, the fabric of national life cannot be strong. The men in the West will turn its sod, build its great centres of population and transform its wastes into fertile fields, but the women at the fireside will make it rich in those qualities out of which true greatness springs.

It cannot be expected that to take the highest place in the affairs of a broad Dominion the West can do without the counsels and culture which woman offers. It is a new country, pregnant with great possibilities and wealth, but it cannot lay the strongest foundations unless the call is answered.

It is not suggested in any way that there is not now a noble work being done daily by the mothers and wives who have gone to the big west. They have taken with them the attributes of dignified domesticity, but there are not enough of them. Their sisters beyond the seas must augment their efforts.

To those who reflect on the good which is in their fellows, it must appeal that the thousands of men who are laboring long and alone to make homes in the trackless scenes of the new provinces are doing well. They are true to the best instincts in them, true to the memories of their childhood and parental roof, true to those they love and true to the community where they have settled. One by one they are preparing a hearthstone and as each is made ready, we hear repeated the call of the West.

DO NOT BE HUMBUGGED.

More than ever, dishonorable and disreputable pharmaceutical concerns are flooding the market with cheap and worthless preparations designed to be imitations of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Some of these are even labelled "Extract of Wild Strawberry," "Wild Strawberry Compound," etc., in the hope that the public may be deceived and led to purchase them, thinking they are getting the genuine Dr. Fowler's.

Are you willing to risk your health—perhaps your life, to these no name, no reputation, likely dangerous, so called Strawberry Extracts.

For sixty-two years Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been used in thousands of families for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum and all Bowel Complaints.

Do not let the dishonest or unscrupulous dealer humbug you into accepting one of these cheap substitutes, to the detriment of your health and gain to his pocket.

Ask for Dr. Fowler's and insist on being supplied with it. See that the name The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont., is on the wrapper. Price 35 cents.

Beware of Benedicts!

By E. M. KERNER.

Copyrighted, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

The new Mrs. Wolcott regarded Billy Bevan distrustfully. Not until the train had pulled out and she had sent her newly acquired husband forward to the baggage car to remove excess baggage in the shape of white satin streamers from their trunks would she feel safe. Billy Bevan was only happy when playing practical jokes. He was happiest when his victims were bridal couples.

Suddenly Bevan snapped a handcuff upon her husband's wrist and was drawing the bride and groom together with a mocking "till death do thee part" when he felt the cold steel on his own wrist and heard the fatal click. He, not the bride, was handcuffed to Wolcott.

"I say," he cried protestingly, "this is not fair."

"You can unlock yourself in time to leave at the next station," said Wolcott. "It's poetic justice, Billy."

"It's confoundedly unpleasant," Billy retorted. "You see, I did not get the key; never supposed that I should need one. I just could see you going to the hotel and asking that a pitcher of ice water and a policeman be sent to your room."

"This is the better joke," smiled Wolcott. "It will teach you that marriage is something sacred, not merely a peg upon which to hang fool jokes. Let's go ahead to the smoking car. We will be less conspicuous there than here."

Arm in arm they made their way to the cafe car, but once there Wolcott dropped Bevan's wrist and let the cuff show.

They immediately became the center of attention. One man, more curious than the rest, turned to Wolcott. "Your prisoner?" he asked. The bridegroom regarded Bevan with a benevolent smile.

"He is a prisoner of his own making," Wolcott explained. "The jail yawns for him, but it is more likely to be the insane asylum that finally comes into its own."

"I see," grinned the questioner. "You're that bridal couple three cars back."

"I am part of that happy pair," conceded Wolcott, "but this is not the partner of my joys and sorrows. He simply shares my sorrows at the present time."

"You're a sharer all right," agreed Bevan with a chuckle. "There's some consolation in that. Think of poor Bess back there in the chair car all alone."

"She would rather be rid of us," said Wolcott comfortably. "It is all your own fault, Billy. I begged you not to try any of your fool tricks. Beware of the benedicts, Billy. They will all pay you back some day when your neck goes under the matrimonial yoke."

"The lady says to come on back and bring your friend," reported the white coated porter. "There's a seat next yours he can get."

Bevan's eyes snapped. He could make things interesting back in the chair car. But his amiable intention to turn the joke on his involuntary host was checked, for a dapper little man stepped forward.

"Permit me," he said. "I am a handcuff magician. "I can take those off if you wish."

"Then he'll go ranting through the train," said Wolcott. "I'd rather have him where I can watch him."

"No, it will be all right," said the magician as he drew a handkerchief over the cuffs. A click and Wolcott withdrew his hand, rubbing his chafed wrist. Bevan attempted to do the same, but when the handcuff king removed the cloth it was seen that the cuff had been slipped around the arm of Bevan's chair.

"Better carry him to Presby," said Wolcott. "He has some friends there."

Bevan groaned. Grace Coburn lived at Presby. If any one should detect his plight and tell her— He stuck his free fist after Wolcott's retreating form.

At Presby, Wolcott came up just as the first cuff was unfastened from the chair.

"Let him keep the other," he suggested. "He seems so fond of them it would be a shame to remove them."

"Quite so," agreed the magician. "Monsieur is too fond of a joke to let this terminate so abruptly? Is it not so?"

"Give my regards to Grace in case you see her," called Wolcott as Bevan made for the door. Bevan breathed a prayer that he would not see her, but as he stepped to the platform she came toward him with sparkling eyes.

"Why didn't you let us know that you were coming?" she cried as she shook hands.

"I didn't know it myself," he explained. "You see, I was carried off while I was saying goodby to Ted Wolcott and Bess, so I came on for a call."

"I'm glad you did," she said smilingly. "It's too bad I did not know that Bess was on the train. I came to see May Lewis off. Oh, have you hurt your wrist, Billy?"

"A little," he admitted lamely, scowling at the handkerchief bandage around the offending cuffs. "I'll tell you about it as we drive out."

He followed her over to the dog-cart.

"That was very careless," she scolded. "You must have hurt your wrist."

"It's not my wrist that hurts; it's my feelings," he began. When he had explained his plight he added, "Bert was hoping you would be here to see me—and you were," he ended miserably.

"Are you sorry that I was?" she demanded.

"Sorry? Not a bit of it, only a man feels such a fool."

"If you ever marry what a lot of back scores there will be to be paid off."

"Yes, Ted was telling me to beware of the benedicts. No girl would want to marry a man that will get the send-off that's in preparation for me."

"She would not care very much for you if she could not stand a little teasing for your sake," she said softly.

"A little teasing!" he echoed. "Why, they are liable to wreck the train to get square. How would you like"—

"There's a blacksmith shop just ahead," she said hurriedly to change the topic. "I guess he could cut that cuff."

The blacksmith could and did.

"That lets you out of a scrape," Grace said when they were under way again.

"Only to get into a greater one," he declared. "I—well, I've been trying for months to get up my courage to ask you to marry me, dear. I think you know that I love you. I know that you love me or you would have joked me about the scrape I was in. Do you think, dear, that you love me enough to say 'Yes?'"

"I think I can brave even the benedicts," she answered shyly.

Physical Horrors Not Art.

The subject of discussion at the Impressionists' club was a picture, "Circe's Swine," by a young German painter, a grotesque study showing the enchantress among a herd of bestial things, variously diverging from the human type—furry eared fauns, shaggy hipped satyrs, apes with pink palms, snuffing jackals and thick jowled swine—all with more or less of agonized human intelligence protesting mutely from their hideous lineaments.

"They are all errors, these freakish excesses," declared an old painter of the second empire. "Triboulet, Quasimodo, Gwynplaine, have no proper place in art. Such art belongs to the Huns and Iroquois, who could only be stirred by laceration and dismemberment. The only effects of horror properly within the province of the artist are psychological. Everything else is a mere matter of the abattoir. The body as nature has evolved it is sanctified by her purpose, in any natural function or attitude decent and comely. But lop away so much as a finger and you have wounded the creature beyond reparation."—Willa Sibert Cather in McClure's.

To Cure Blushing.

"A great many men blush," said a physician; "some so painfully that they come to me to be cured.

"The cure I recommend is an odd one. It is the abandonment of overheavy clothing, especially of woolen socks. Amazing it is how many male blushers have a predilection for thick socks of wool.

"But some blushers wear light enough clothes. To them I can only recommend a nerve treatment. I advise them to make speeches at banquets, to be witnesses in murder trials, to go to teas and dances, to develop, in short, the nerve as a wrestler develops his muscle.

"Blushing is a difficult disorder to cure. As a rule it passes away of itself when the victim reaches his thirty-fifth year."

Will Improve Your Figure.

His Broken Promise.

By COLIN S. COLLINS.

Copyrighted, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

"Goin' to th' circus?" Toby glanced longingly at the gaudy bills as he shook his head.

"Ma says I can't even go to the side show," he said.

"Cummon, I'll take you," volunteered Freddy Plastrick. "I was goin' t' take Nettie Fless, but her aunt from Canneisville's goin' t' take her, so I'll take you. Cummon."

The tempter never had assumed such an enticing form before, but Toby held back.

"Tain't that," he explained, unclosing four moist and grimy fingers to show a shining quarter in his hand. "I got the money, but ma cried when I asked could I go."

Freddy regarded him with pity. That a boy should have a quarter and yet not be permitted to go to the circus seemed to sound the depths of human woe, but he could not pause to comfort. Already the shrill scream of the calliope announced the approach of the parade, and he raced down the street.

Eight-year-old Toby kicked his heels disconsolately against the wooden stoop. He fought hard against temptation, but in the end the boy nature asserted itself. He could cut across lots and reach Tompkins' pasture before the parade got back.

Ten minutes later Mrs. Atkins, coming to the door with a huge slice of bread and jam to stay his hunger and make him strong against temptation, saw what had happened and went back into the tiny house to throw herself upon the bed and cry.

But Toby for once had forgotten his mother. He was racing across the back lots to beat the parade to the grounds. He brought up panting just as the band wagon came into sight, and he climbed a fence post to get a full view. The free show that brought the people to the lot held him fascinated and almost tempted him to follow the crowd into the side show tent, but something in his mother's face had sunk deep into his heart. He would play truant, but he would not go to the circus.

He wandered about the lot. It was only a two ring show, but the horse tent fascinated him, and he lingered, watching the men take the gaudy trappings from the horses and give them feed and water.

Almost unconsciously he strolled through the dressing tent and into the "big top" where the performance would be given later. He seemed oddly at home somehow, and he sat down on the bank of one of the rings where a group of men were tumbling on a pad.

One of them dropped out of the group and sat down beside him. He was a tall, dark man, with a kindly face and a smile that would win the confidence of any child. Toby smiled upon him and so attracted attention to himself.

"Hello!" cried the man. "What are you doing here, youngster? I thought you were Metcalf's kid."

"I just came in," explained Toby, as though such a proceeding were most natural. "I can do those things."

The big man laughed. Most small boys could "do those things" after a fashion and were anxious to show off before the circus folk.

"Let's see what you can do," he suggested as the others paused for a rest. Toby made for the mat. Somehow he seemed to remember tricks long since forgotten. Somehow also he seemed to remember doing just these same things in a ring like this one, and he gravely went through his repertory.

The men crowded about the mat, laughing and crying encouragement, but it was the big man to whom Toby turned for applause.

"You're a 'pro' kid all right," he declared. "I guess you've seen the rings before. Want to come with us, kid? We could use a light boy."

"I've got to stay with mother," Toby announced regretfully. "I'm all she's got, you see, and she can't spare me."

"What does your mother do?" demanded the big man. He had known mothers who were open to argument, and the boy gave promise of being an addition to the troupe.

"She makes hats and sews," explained Toby. "We live over there on Grove street."

"Over there" was indicated by a semicircular sweep of the arm, and the big man pulled out a watch from the seat he had resumed.

"You want to come with us if your mother will let you?" he asked.

Toby's face fell.

"She won't," he said dolefully. "She hates circuses. She's going to whip me when I get home. She made me promise not to come, not even to look at the parade."

"He's a circus boy, all right, Ted," laughed one of the other men. "She knew that if he hit the tents it would all come back to him, and it has. He worked like a veteran. He'd make a great top mounter."

"He's going to make one," announced Ted. "I'm goin' to see his mother. I don't know what grouch she's got against us show folks, but I'll talk her out of it. Come, kid."

He held out a hand to Toby, and together they left the tent. Ted stopped to speak to a man in the dressing tent, and then they struck out across lots for the tiny little home where for the last four years Rena Atkins had sought to support herself and her son by millinery and dressmaking. She was on the steps now peering up and down the street, hoping against hope that Toby would come. But at the sight of the man with him she shrank into the house, though not before the stranger had caught sight of her and had gone bounding forward.

When Toby's shorter legs had compassed the distance he found his mother in the stranger's arms striving to fight him off. Toby valiantly came to the rescue with feet and fists, but the big man seemed scarcely to notice the attack.

"I've found you at last," he was saying. "Why did you run away, dear?"

"You ask me that?" Her voice was quiet now and tense with scorn. "Let me go and I will show you."

His arms dropped to his side, and she slipped across the room to where her pocketbook lay. Silently she offered a slip of paper frayed with handling and yellowed with age.

"You believed this?" asked the man. "You really thought I had eloped with Clara Grey? We left the same night because Griffith was doing us out of our salaries. Her husband, Jim Grey, was playing with Cole's circus, and she joined him. I played a couple of houses for expense money to get back home with. I wrote, but the letter was there at the boarding house when I arrived. They told me you had gone. Griffith put that lying notice in the paper to hide the real reason for our leaving, his own dishonesty."

"And I believed it," she sobbed, "and I've been trying to hide ever since to keep the boy from being like his father."

"It's in the blood," the big man said tenderly. "Why, the kiddie came into the big top and saw us working on the mat, and he went at it like he used to in the old days. I never guessed that he was my child. I only saw what a great top mounter he would make, and I came to see if you would apprentice him to us. I never hoped to find a wife and little son where I was looking for a topper."

"You—you forgive me?" she faltered.

"You were just a foolish little child to run away before you found out the truth," he said, with a tender laugh. "It's all the more reason you should have a husband to look after you, and I know that Toby wants a father."

"You bet I do," put in Toby, at last finding something he could understand. "Are you my dad?"

"I am that," said the big man as he hugged Toby to his breast. "And you're a true chip of the old block. Why, laddie, I taught you these tricks you showed us this afternoon. It all came out when you saw a ring again."

"I'm glad I broke my promise," said Toby complacently, "even if I am whipped for it."

But the whipping was deferred indefinitely.

Choice of Evils.

"Well, old man," said Sinnickson after the performance, "I certainly was surprised to see you in private theatricals."

"Yes," replied Brightly, "but you see if I didn't appear on the stage I'd probably have to sit in the audience and be bored to death."

Mother of Invention.

Talk about necessity being the mother of invention! No such thing, I assure you. Accident is the mother of invention in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred.

JARVIS MADE 'EM GO SOME

Canadian Challenger Hustled the Seneca in the Second Race.

LED FOR HALF THE COURSE

Yankee Boat Won Out on the Best Home—Canadian Again Got Away First—Trouble With the Adele's Sails—A Merry Race In Which Odds Were For a Long Time Even—To-day's Triangular.

Rochester, Aug. 13.—Skipper Hanan and his crew of the defender, Seneca, drove another rivet into the fastenings that hold the Canada's Cup at the Rochester Yacht Club house, by sending Seneca over the finish line about a mile ahead of the Adele yesterday afternoon. It was the second of the series and both have gone to the Yankee defender; on Saturday, in a light breeze, that finally died down to a complete calm, and yesterday in winds that varied from 8 to 12 miles an hour.

The start yesterday was made early, a slight delay being caused in placing the buoys. They jockeyed for half an hour near the starting line while the buoys were being placed and when the whistle was sounded both were throwing spray on the imaginary line. Jarvis again got the windward position and the timers caught the challenger going past the line at 11.30. Five seconds later Hanan and the Seneca flashed over and they were off for a nine-mile frolic before the wind.

Almost straight out into the lake they went, the Adele seemed to realize she was sailing towards home and was daring the Seneca to catch her before she could get there. The dare was accepted and they rushed away so fast that the sailing craft in the fleet, although some of them are speedy, seemed to be dragging anchors and even the steamer that carried the judges and the patrol boats had to keep chug-chugging to keep along near the racers.

The Seneca gradually crept up and finally passed the challenger, but it was a merry race, with odds for none and when they made ready to turn the mark, Jarvis obtained the windward place and slowly the large sail of the Adele carried her past the Herreschoff boat.

They rounded the stake boat: Adele at 1.05.20, Seneca, 1.05.36. Then the Seneca was pointed towards the land of Uncle Sam and it was the Canadian's turn to play tag with the defender. Some trouble was experienced with the sails on Adele and her crew was kept busy getting canvass out of the water. When her big sail caught the wind squarely she raced like a hawk, but when it got in trouble she dropped back very perceptibly. They were about an hour running out and it was figured that they would be about two hours coming back. These calculations were not far from the results, although the Seneca made the water fly faster as she neared the finish. The Seneca struck a lull when about half way home, and the Adele almost overtook her. But it was the Seneca all the way, on the last half of the run home, and she gradually widened the gap from 300 yards to half a mile and when she crossed the line she had a lead of a mile.

To-day the third of the series will be sailed over a triangular course. If the Seneca wins there will be no further races and the Canada's Cup will remain on the American side of the lake.

Put the Blood In Condition

BY THE RESTORATIVE BLOOD-FORMING PROPERTIES OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is weakness that causes most of our sufferings — weakness of the heart, weakness of the stomach, weakness of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

The result is feeling of langour and depression, and impaired action of the vital organs, headaches, indigestion, spells of dizziness and weakness, sleeplessness, irritability, and a general rundown condition of the system.

Put the blood in good condition by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and you have a foundation for health to build on. Weakness and disease will give way to new strength and vigor, and angour and discouragement will yield to no hope and happiness.

Mr. Fergus Conn, Lily Oak, Ont., writes:—"As a result of the severe winter and an attack of la grippe, I was all run down this spring. I soon improved very much by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. My appetite is better than it has been for years, and though sixty years of age I am able to do a man's work on the farm following a team. I believe that I owe my good health to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Mrs. Geo. Battie, Carr's Brook, Colchester Co., N.S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends.

"We always keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house to be used for constipation, pains in the back and stomach troubles."

By means of good blood only can Nature make weak people strong, and Chase's Nerve Food is composed of the most powerful blood-forming elements known to medical science. Every dose is bound to be of some benefit to you; 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

PUT A STOP TO IT.

Canadian Game Officials Arrest Several Yankee Poachers at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 13.—Five Americans were arrested at Moore's Point, three miles above the Canadian Soo, on Saturday for poaching in Canadian waters, a gasoline launch and rowboat and a certain amount of fishing tackle being among the confiscated property.

The arrests were made by local Game Warden Calbeck and Fisheries Inspector Hand. The men were brought to the Canadian Soo and fined $10 each, and were then allowed to go. The boats will probably be disposed of by public auction, in accordance with the law governing such cases. When arrested the men had no fish in their possession, and it is supposed that all the catch was thrown overboard at the approach of the officers. The operations of the American poachers have been going on for some time, and the local minions of the law have decided to put a stop to it.

Big Call Goes Forth From the Great Wheat Fields of the Northwest.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—To harvest the northwest crop Manitoba requires 11,000 farm hands, Saskatchewan 7,000, and Alberta 3,000.

The first contingent is required to reach Winnipeg by Aug. 25, and the others as soon after as possible.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is preparing to run a series of farm laborers' excursions, and announcement of the dates leaving the various sections will be made in a day or two.

SCORCHED THEM.

Standard Oil Co. Pilloried by Corporation Commissioner Smith.

New York, Aug. 13.—Another broadside for the Standard Oil Co. is contained in a report to President Roosevelt by Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, on "Discrimination in Prices."

Abounding in invectives, the report pillories the Standard Oil Co. for selling its products abroad cheaper than at home, for maintaining the highest prices possible in those parts of the United States, where it has a complete monopoly, and cutting prices relentlessly where it meets competition, and for using its vast freight traffic as a club to compel railroads to pay high prices for lubricating oil. Then, as a hint that the half has not been told, Mr. Smith closes his report with this passage:

"By your direction, in view of the proceedings of the Attorney-General against the Standard Oil Co., some of the more detailed evidence procured by the bureau regarding price discrimination is at present withheld from publication, and the same is true of other unfair practices, the most important of which are maintenance of bogus independent companies, espionage over the business of competitors, especially by bribing railway employes to disclose their shipments, and deceptions as to the quality of oils sold."

Commissioner Smith says: "In the business of selling petroleum products in foreign countries the price policy of the Standard Oil Co. has apparently been to sacrifice the interests of the American consumer for the purpose of securing the Standard's foreign business, which is a very important one."

WERE HUMAN BONES.

Workmen In London School Ruins Discover a Hidden Skeleton.

London, Ont., Aug. 13.—Workmen engaged on the work of repairing St. Peter's school, corner of Princess and Park avenues, yesterday made a ghastly find.

In making certain excavations, a number of human bones were found, which had evidently been buried there for many years.

At first it was surmised that they were Indian bones, but old residents of London recall that half a century or more ago the ground surrounding St. Peter's Cathedral were used as a cemetery. In later years the bodies were exhumed and reinterred in St. Peter's Cemetery in London Township.

Many bodies were overlooked, however, and it is remembered that when the new cathedral was being built—from about 1880 till 1884—it was no uncommon thing for bones to be unearthed as the excavations proceeded.

FAVOR LIQUOR LICENSE.

Haileybury Club Puts Itself on Record as Desirous of Refreshments.

Haileybury, Aug. 13.—A general meeting of the members of the Haileybury Club was held on Saturday night, at which a large number of local and visiting members were present. The question as to whether the members did or did not approve of the continuance of the charter, recently granted to the club, entitling it to the privilege of furnishing its members with liquor, was discussed. The continuance of the license met with the approval of every member present, with the exception of Rev. Mr. Donnell, who has been actively opposing the license, largely on the ground that it was not desired by the members. This decision ought finally to settle the question and dispose of the only reasonable argument which could have been raised against the granting of the license.

Man Was Deserted.

Kincardine, Aug. 13.—When James Shelton, a respectable but close-fisted granger of Arnso, six miles from Kincardine, returned to his house on Friday morning after being out in the fields only half an hour he found a note pinned to the table cloth:

"We have gone for good."

Shelton's wife, Martha Ann, and his daughter, Nora Ellen, had left the house and farm, taking with them a couple of grips packed with clothes.

Shelton reported the matter to the police yesterday, and asked that something be done to locate the runaways.

Eighty-Four Years Old.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—To-day, Dr. Goldwin Smith, Toronto's leading citizen, and one of the last survivors of the great thinkers and writers who advanced the Victorian era of English literature, celebrates his eighty-fourth birthday.

"Dr. Smith feels the heat, but is in good health," the press was told, in reply to a query as to how he was on the eve of another anniversary.

He is not now engaged in any literary work, except reviews.

Girl Drowns.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—The danger spot on the bay front, at the foot of Brock avenue, claimed another victim last evening, when Viola Myrtle Haw, aged 9, was drowned.

She was playing, about 7 o'clock last evening, with her sisters, Louise, aged 12, and Frances, aged 6, and with Dinah and Blanche Goldberg. Viola walked out on a slippery plank and fell in the water. She did not come to the surface.

Another Half Billion.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—In nearly every case in the Ottawa Valley, the lumber mills are running day and night.

Although the cutting was two weeks behind in starting, on account of the late spring, the total output for the season promises to be equal to last year, which means about half a billion feet.

To Execute Agreement.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The agreement between the Hydro-Electric Commission and the Ottawa and Hull Power Co., for the supply of power to the municipal electric plant, will be executed at a meeting of the Commission at Toronto to-day. Hon. Adam Beck has so advised the company.

Present Challenge Cup.

London, Aug. 13.—(C. A. P.)—Coates, Son & Co., stockbrokers, of which J. G. Colmer, formerly secretary to Lord Strathcona, is member, is presenting a challenge cup valued at 100 guineas, to the Dominion Rifle Association for competition at the annual meeting. The cup is being shipped next week. The first competition will take place at Rockliffe meeting, beginning on the 26th.

No Election This Year.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—The intimation that there would be no Quebec provincial election this year was confirmed yesterday by a member of the Legislature close to the Premier and one of his strongest supporters. This gentleman states that it had now been fully decided to have an investigation into the Baron Lepine charges, and then call a session of the Legislature.

Garment Workers' Strike.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—Over 300 employes in the Vineberg & Co. clothing factory have struck for an increase in wages.

Saved Two Lives.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—George McLaughlin, 505 Lisgar street, single-handed, saved the lives of two Italians who were bathing at the St. Louis dam. They had sunk out of sight when young McLaughlin, who is a G. T. R. employe, dived after them. He caught one by the arm and the other round the body and succeeded in bringing both to shore.

Canned Paintings.

Painting under glass may now be preserved indefinitely. Had the men of old known this the pictures of Apelles might still live in the first freshness of their colors, and the work of Raphael and Michael Angelo would look today as it looked when it left the painters' hands. The method of preservation is simple. The canvas is placed in a vacuum. It is preserved, like fruit. It is sealed up from all the destructive influences of the atmosphere. Since metal figures in the operation the canvas might indeed be said to be canned. There is no reason why paintings kept in this manner in a vacuum should not endure indefinitely.

A Safe Place.

General William W. Belknap went to the war of the rebellion as the major of the Fifteenth Iowa infantry. In one of the companies of that regiment was a young fellow named Darby Greely. When the regiment was marching over the gangplanks on to the steamer Sucker State the major sat on his horse close by. As Darby Greely stepped on the plank his mother grabbed him and pulled him to her bosom. With intense emotion she cried and crooned over him and then, seeing the major, she cried, "Darby, me b'y, stick close to the major an' ye'll niver git hurted."

Difficulty.

What is difficulty? Only a word indicating the degree of strength requisite for accomplishing particular objects; a mere notice of the necessity for exertion; a bugbear to children and fools; only a mere stimulus to men.

A Good Motto.

It is only the thinking man who says things worthy of utterance. Some talk the livelong day, yet say nothing. Hang this motto on the wall of memory, "Speak little; say much."

Why She Laughed.

Nell—She always laughs at him so; and yet he isn't at all humorous. Belle—No, but I believe she heard that he had remarked once that he admired her teeth.

TELEGRAPH STRIKE SPREADS

Associated Press Now Being Affected —Montreal Operators on G. N. W. Leave Work—More to Quit To-Day Declares President Ahern —Reports From Various Telegraphic Centres Are Serious.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—The telegraph operators' strike hit this town yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock, consequently 30 of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Co. went out. It appears that one of the operators refused to take stuff from a New York strike-breaker, and he was discharged This was a signal for 25 of his fellow operators to walk out. They are mostly union men who are out, and the nine remaining in the office are non-union. So far the C. P. R. men have shown no sign of infection. There was a rumor, however, afloat that the C. P. R. operators would leave at 7.30. So far they are at their posts.

New York, Aug. 13.—Many of the telegraph operators employed throughout the country by the Associated Press struck at 8.30 o'clock (eastern time) last night. All of the night operators in the New York office of the Associated Press, with the exception of the chiefs, are out.

At the sound of a whistle blown in the operating room at 1 p. m. yesterday, the day operators in the Western Union branch offices joined the strikers at once. As the men and women marched out of the building they were cheered by striking comrades who awaited them in the street, but there was no disorder.

The secretary of the local union said the strike was unauthorized and due to the action of a chief operator in ordering out of the building three men who had refused to work wires with strike-breakers and who had returned for their pay. He said the union would stand by the strikers.

President Ahearn of the local union, in answer to a question as to whether the strike would affect operators on other wires, said, "It is likely that all operators will be called out to-day."

Chicago, Aug. 13.—As setting forth very clearly the Postal Co.'s side in the fight, a letter was given out. It has been addressed to striking employes in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other affected offices in the west by W. I. Capen, general superintendent in Chicago. He says:

"There is, and probably always will be, malcontents and strike-makers among our employes, ever ready to find fault with those holding higher positions and making mountains out of mole hills. It is against this class that I want to warn any man with a family, parent or other dependant upon him for support. Agitators with wagging tongues cause men to leave positions, but they fail to provide food and shelter for their families, and nine times out of ten the agitators hold some union position drawing both salary and expense money out of the fund to which you have contributed a part."

Philadelphia, Aug. 13.—The Postal operators went on strike at 3.40 p. m.

Cleveland, Aug. 13.—The operators employed by the Western Union and Postal Companies here struck yesterday.

Buffalo, Aug. 13.—The day force of the Western Union Telegraph walked out at 4.55 p.m. yesterday. The Postal operators have also gone out.

Philadelphia, Aug. 13.—The union operators in the office of the Western Union here went out yesterday afternoon.

Pittsburg, Aug. 13.—At 5.30 last night, one hour after the night force had reported for duty a whistle was blown in the Western Union office here and all members of the union left their keys. Fifteen men had been discharged during the day for refusing to work with cities where the operators had gone out. The Postal operators also went out at 6.30, leaving five men, including the chief operator.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 13.—All Western Union and Postal Telegraphers walked out yesterday afternoon. It affects some sixty Western Union and ten Postal operators.

Washington, Aug. 13.—At 8.30 last night all the Western Union operators walked out. Only the chief operators and a few wire men remained on duty.

Charlotte, N.C., Aug. 13.—The Western Union operators here, about 30 in number, walked out at 6 o'clock yesterday.

Minneapolis, Aug. 13.—The night force, numbering about 16 operators, employed by the North American Telegraph Co., here, went out yesterday.

To Hunt Rodgers Down.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—It is probable that more will yet be heard of Robert H. Rodgers, who a short time ago deserted his Ottawa bride in Paris, and left her to seek the assistance of the Canadian officials to enable her to return home.

A photograph of the man has been sent to the Paris police, and the whole matter has been reported to the Dominion Department.

It is probable that a member of Mrs. Rodgers' family will proceed to Europe in the fall, and a vigorous search will likely be instituted.

Polygamy Among Mormons.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—Rev. R. M. Craig of New York, home mission secretary of the American Presbyterian Church, made some strong statements regarding the Mormons in a sermon here Sunday night. He stated positively that, despite denials, polygamy was still quite common among the Mormons, and said that that was well known.

"Nowhere have I found that denied," said Dr. Craig, "except in the Senate of Washington, and I believe it has always been denied in the Parliament of Canada."

Michigan Central Railway May Be Prosecuted For the Loss of Life—Crown Attorney Has Taken Up the Investigation — Expert on Explosives Summoned to Give Evidence—Jury Empanelled.

Essex, Aug. 13.—Responsibility for the cause of Saturday's explosion is to be placed, if it possibly can be done. Not only will a coroner's jury make a searching enquiry, assisted by Crown Attorney Robb, but the Dominion Railway Commission will also enquire. Acting on a request made by the mayor, E. C. Lalonde, chief inspector of accidents, for the board, has been detailed to come here.

Coroner Brien subpoenaed Wallace Ritchie of the Ritchie-Lang Co. planing mills, whose place came toppling over on their heads. Mr. Ritchie is expected to say that the car of explosives remained from Friday, at 9 p. m., over night within the town limits, and this is said to be illegal. Mr. Ritchie was looking at the car half an hour before the crash and saw the stuff leaking to the tracks. Leo Delong, an expert on nitro-glycerine and high explosives generally, will be brought from Leamington to testify.

J. H. Rodd of Windsor, county crown attorney, will have charge of the proceedings. Other witnesses who saw the car blown up are J. H. Coulter, C. E. Naylor, Bert Esselstone, Archie Naylor, members of the firm of Dunbar and Sullivan of Detroit, contractors, to whom the explosive was consigned; Michigan Central officials and others are subpoenaed.

It is said here that several Michigan Central officials acknowledge their liability for damages to at least a limited extent. The coroner found yesterday that the car was labelled "explosives." It bore a placard that it was dangerous and must not be placed within eight cars of engine or caboose. The county attorney wants to examine the firm that sent the dynamite. Both the packing and the sending in the manner done are against the law.

"Whether the Michigan Central officials may be proceeded against criminally for loss of life depends on the evidence produced now and later," said County Crown Attorney Rodd yesterday. "There is no prohibition against carrying explosives, but a special car must be used, and the common law says the utmost precaution must be used in handling them. "I doubt very much that the proper label—'explosives, dangerous'—was on the car, because at one end of the car was the dynamite and at the other was common freight," said Mr. Rodd.

"It looks to me pretty clearly like a case of criminal negligence. The stuff was not properly packed, and not put in a special car, and was allowed to remain for 48 hours near the depot. It should have been on a siding three-quarters of a mile away."

License Inspector J. A. Smythe allowed the bars to open yesterday morning.

At the Hotel Dieu in Windsor, Dr. Cruickshank said yesterday that Stimer, the station agent, is in the most dangerous condition, but he hopes for his recovery.

CABINET CHANGES.

Britain's Liberal Ministry Loses Lord Sefton Over Land Legislation.

London, Aug. 13.—Lord Sefton, who was appointed Minister of the House when Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman first framed his Ministry, has resigned as a protest against the land legislation inaugurated by the Liberals.

In officially announcing his retirement, his lordship says it was due to "not being in accord with the extreme measures of the Government."

White's Widow to Marry Partner.

New York, Aug. 13.—The American says:

Mrs. Stanford White, widow of the architect whom Harry Thaw shot to death last year, is engaged to marry, according to a rumor firmly believed in their social circle. Her late husband's partner, Charles Follen McKim, is said to be the prospective bridegroom.

The wedding, according to the report, will take place as soon as the trial of Harry Thaw is concluded and the sensation caused by the killing of Stanford White dies out.

Deserted Bride.

New York, Aug. 13.—According to news which has reached Hempstead the awakening has speedily come to Miss Florence Whaley, the 17-year-old girl, who eloped on April 29 with her guardian, the Rev. Jere Knode Cooke, then rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, at Hempstead.

Miss Whaley, it is stated, had been deserted by the unfrocked minister, and is reported to be in a sanitarium in Canada, a nervous wreck.

The whereabouts of Cooke has not been learned.

Another Jailbird Escapes.

Whitby, Aug. 13.—The third jailbird to "fly" inside the month is Jas. Wells, who escaped at noon yesterday. Turnkey Kerr had gone to dinner, and young Wells succeeded in scaling the jail walls by means of boards he got in the cellar and a short rope. He is a dark-skinned, black-eyed boy of 16. Wells already had several charges of stealing proven against him, and was to have been sentenced to a reformatory to-day. All efforts to apprehend him have proved unavailing.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 13.—J. S Coxey, leader of the famous army by that name, which in 1894 traveled on foot from Massilon to Washington, in an endeavor to force the views of the eccentric leader upon the United States Government, is a guest at the International Hotel, in the Canadian Soo. Coxey still retains the ideas that prompted his pilgrimage in 1894. He says that his visit to Northern Michigan and the Canadian side would probably have to do with something equally as interesting in the near future.

Coxey still believes that the administration of the United States Government will utterly fail, owing to a mistaken idea as to the manipulation of public utilities, such as street, telegraph and telephone services, which, he claims, should be conducted under a system of municipal ownership, of which he is the father.

FOR SCIENCE SAKE.

Elderly Pedestrian Has Undertaken to Walk One Thousand Miles.

Cincinnati, Aug. 13.—For the benefit of science, Dan O'Leary, 63 years old, pedestrian, who has walked a total of 98,000 miles during his lifetime, will attempt to walk a thousand miles in 1,000 consecutive hours on a local track.

The track will be well padded with tanbark, and in the centre will be a tent with provisions, where O'Leary will rest each hour after he completes the mile.

Each day physical examinations will be made and a record kept. Local physicians declare it impossible for a man to accomplish the feat, but O'Leary says he will do it.

The start will be made next week.

Happenings in the City and Vicinity During the Midsummer Holiday---Indians in Row on Steamboat

CHEMONG INDIANS AND "FIRE-WATER" CREATE SCENE OF ALMOST PANIC ON BOARD THE STEAMER ESTURION

A Wild Time Reported on Trip From Stony Lake to Buckhorn Last Night — Chemong Cottagers' Boat Scene of Trouble.

THREE INDIANS EJECTED

The Preacher Takes a Hand in the Efforts to Quell the Disturbance —An Experience of Which No Repetition is Wanted.

Passengers on the steamer Esturion which ran an excursion yesterday from Chemong Park to Stony Lake for the regatta, passed through an experience which none of them want a repetition of, and, if the reports received in the city to-day, describe the actual conditions, it is to be hoped for the sake of the good name of the county of Peterborough, that such a condtiion of affairs will never exist again.

The trouble was caused by three Indians, belonging to the Chemong Band, who, it is alleged, secured liquor at Burleigh Falls on the return trip last night, and, until they were forcibly ejected from the boat at Buckhorn, they made life miserable for the other passengers on the steamer.

According to the story told the Examiner by passengers on the steamer, among who were many of the best citizens of Peterborough, the crew of the steamer, with the exception of the first mate proved themselves utterly incapable of preserving order on the boat.

At times, after the steamer left Burleigh there were scenes approaching a panic, ladies and children were in a state of terror.

The circumstances, as reported are to the effect that among the twenty-five Indians who boarded the boat at the Indian village on the trip up, and many of whom took part in the regatta, there were three, their names being given as David and Alexander Jacobs and Isaac Knott, who, on the return trip at Burleigh Falls got off the boat and secured a supply of liquor which they imbibed freely of, with the result that on the trip from Burleigh there were fights between the Indians and other passengers on the boat who were trying to restrain the red-men from inflicting injury upon the women and children.

Profanity, the like of which passengers telling the story state they never heard before was indulged in, and the captain of the steamer upon being appealed to in an effort to preserve order confessed his inability to cope with the situation. First Mate Wright however, is said to have done the best he could and in the mix-up received some injuries which while not serious are painful.

Upon the arrival of the steamer at Buckhorn Chief Constable Nichols, swore in a number of constables, and it was determined to detain the three hilarious Indians at that place over night, the passengers having declared that they would go no farther with them on board. It was after this decision that the most serious trouble was experienced, and in the general melee which ensued Constable Nichols received a severe cut in the face and County Crown Attorney Wood, who was on the boat and who was assisting in the effort to preserve order was roughly handled by the now thoroughly infuriated Indians. Mr. T H G Denne, who is a Justice of the Peace was another passenger on the boat and directed that the troublesome men be detained at Buckhorn.

After some difficulty they were taken off the boat, which then proceeded on her way and landed the passengers at their destination without further trouble.

It is understood that the matter is being taken up by County Crown Attorney Wood, and that an investigation will probably be held to inquire into the facts of the case and locate the blame.

PREACHER-MISSIONARY CHUCKS DRUNKEN INDIAN DOWN-STAIRS; HE'S A MUSCULAR CHRISTIAN

Muscular Christianity was given an exemplification last night during the disturbance on the steamer Esturion. At Buckhorn, when an attempt was made to eject the troublesome Indians from the steamer, Mr. Hopwood of Chemong stationed himself at the head of the stairs, and, with a chair upraised, threatened to brain any Indian who tried to reach the deck.

One redman succeeded in getting up, but he did not stay long. Missionary Potter, a brother of Rev. J. G. Potter, of this city, who is in charge of the mission at Buckhorn, had taken his coat and hat off when the trouble commenced, and he was on hand when the Indian eluded Mr. Hopwood and reached the deck. Taking the redman by the back of the neck, he sent him down the steps quicker, by a good deal, than he came up.

One of the Indians who saw the feat, and who was surprised at the ease with which his brother redman was handled, said to Mr. Potter, "Who are you?" and, at the reply, "Oh, I'm the preacher here," he fell back, surprised and pleased at the fistic ability shown by the "Sky Pilot."

Walked to Baillieboro And Returned In 5 Hours 48 Min.

Mr. David Hartley, at the Age of 53 Years, Performs a Remarkable Athletic-Feat For His Years —People Out in Numbers on the Route.

HE MAY TRY IT AGAIN

Mr. David Hartley, of Robinson street, East City, performed a feat yesterday afternoon, in walking from the post office to the Fox Temperance House, in Baillieboro, and return, which greatly surprised his friends, who claim that few men his age can repeat.

Mr. Hartley left the city at 1 o'clock. He was attired in a light athletic costume, and started off on a go-as-you-please trip, a distance all told of over 34 miles. His return at the post office was made at 12 minutes to 7 o'clock.

Mr. Hartley was fresh at the finish and made a sprint that would do credit to a man many years his junior. The first half of the journey, from here to Baillieboro, was made in 2 hours and 30 minutes. Fraserville, a distance of 10 miles, was reached in 1 hour and 25 minutes; Centreville, 15 miles from the city, was reached in 2 hours.

Arrived at Baillieboro, Mr. Hartley registered at the Fox House, rested about 10 minutes and commenced his return journey. On the way back the people were out to see him pass, and he had many offers of lemonade, tea and eatables. He accepted one of the offerings, but would never have arrived if he had tried them all. He appreciates the kindness of the ladies, however.

Mr. Hartley is 53 years of age, and a native of Peterborough, having been born on Chambers street. Twenty-six years ago he entered a three days' go-as-you-please race on the property now know as Central Park. Mr. Mark Spencley, then in his prime, finished first, and Mr. Hartley was a good second. There were twelve entries but the remaining ten did not finish well up. Mr. Hartley offered his congratulations to his one-time rival this morning, and recalled the race which they had over a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Hartley performed the feat to show that he really was capable of it. A bet of $15 was put up but a week's training was a loss to him as he was prevented from working. If a purse were collected he would attempt to lower his present record by twenty minutes.

Mr. Hartley, about 30 or 35 years ago, was an expert cricketter, a member of the "Graveyard Cricket Club," which played in what is now Central Park.

TELEGRAPH OPERATORS' STRIKE AFFECTS LOCAL CONDITIONS

The strike among the telegraph operators in the United States has affected local conditions, and this afternoon it was intimated at one of the local offices that it was impossible to assure the daily weather forecast by reason of the fact that the operators in Toronto, who are members of the union, are on strike, and will not handle messages.

The operators here are at work—that is, they are in the offices—but messages sent to cities in the strike zone stand poor chances of being delivered.

EXCURSION TO JUBILEE YESTERDAY

A. O. H. and Catholic Order of Foresters Had Pleasant Outing

Those who attended the picnic at Jubilee yesterday under the auspices of the Catholic Order of Foresters and the Ancient Order of Hibernians report that they had a most enjoyable time, and, as an outing, their could not be surpassed. Be that as it may, they had [illegible] people along with them on the steamer Monarch and barge Sultana.

Jubilee Point proved an ideal picnic ground, and after a hearty dinner the athletic field was the centre of attraction. The Foresters trimmed the Irishmen in a tug-of-war, in two straight pulls. Mr. John O'Brien captained the men with the most pull, while Mr. Jas. Hickey looked after the other side.

In a seven-innings game of spectacular ball, the teams representing the two societies were tied, the score being four all. Rev. Father Kelly did the pitching for the Hibernians, while Mr. Chas. Noyes and Con. Culver composed the battery for the [illegible] ing all the time and the greatest excitement prevailed. A good list of sports was run off, and dancing at the pavilion was a feature. The music was supplied by Messrs. P. Kane, W. Dwyer, F. Kearney and N. Trombley.

The Monarch's crew received many comments on their kindness and geniality.

EXCURSION TO STONY LAKE

The steamer Otonabee will run her usual weekly excursion to Stony Lake on Wednesday, August 14th The steamer will leave the Wolfe S Wharf at 7:30 and will return at 8 p. m. Return fare 75 cents.

SECOND ACCIDENTAL DEATH IN OTONABE WATERS THIS SEASON

HE COULD NOT SWIM

Drowned in Sight of His Brothers and Dozens of Spectators—Had Lived in the City But a Short Time.

The Otonabee River claimed its second victim by an accident for the season, on Sunday morning, when Willie Barr, a bright lad 14 years of age, was drowned at Crawford's Grove, while bathing with a number of other men and boys.

That the boy was drowned within sight and almost within touch of his brothers and other young men makes the event increasingly pathetic, and furnishes another evidence of the uncertainty of life.

The particulars of the drowning, set forth briefly, are: With his two brothers and a number of other young men, the majority of them older than himself, William Barr went to Crawford's Grove on Sunday morning to bathe in the river. They had been there some little time and were enjoying themselves in the water, the younger boys remaining close to the shore, for a number of them, Willie Barr included, could not swim.

The unfortunate boy, however, ventured too far from shore and dropped off the sloping bottom into a hole twelve feet deep, and that was the last seen of him alive. He never came up again.

As soon as he was seen to disappear in deep water the other members of the party made strenuous efforts to locate him, diving continuously to find him, if possible, but their efforts proved unavailing, and it gradually dawned upon his terror-stricken companions that he had drowned, and that in plain sight of possibly fifty persons, whose inability to render him the needed assistance, but increased the horror of the affair.

Boats were immediately put out and every effort was made to find the body—for it was recognized now, that it was hardly possible to rescue the boy alive.

Everyone in the grove and numbers of persons passing in launches and in rowboats and canoes joined in the work, and messengers were despatched post-haste to the city for grappling irons.

It was, however, fully four hours after the disappearad that his body was recovered, Mr. Laplante and a young son of David Doig being the ones to secure the body, which was removed to Bellegbem's undertaking rooms to await the pleasure of the Coroner, who was notified of the drowning. Upon learning the circumstances of the case Coroner Grey decided that an inquest was unnecessary and gave permission to have the body taken home and for the funeral.

The unfortunately boy was an exceptionally bright lad, fourteen years of age, and was born in Scotland, coming to Canada with his parents at an early age. Prior to living in Peterborough the family lived in Peterboro Falls, removing to this city a few years ago. He was employed at the works of the Rapid Tool Company, where his brother works, and was of an unusually bright disposition.

He is mourned by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Barr, two brothers, John and James and one sister, Bella. The family reside on Chamberlen street, and from there the funeral took place this afternoon, and was largely attended.

BRAVE RESCUE WAS MADE

Son of Robt. Howland Saved From Drowning by Mr. Baptiste Vinette

JUMPED INTO THE RIVER

Only for the presence of mind and bravery of Mr. Baptiste Vinette, the Otonabee would undoubtedly have claimed another victim Saturday morning, when Willie Howland, the ten-year-old son of Mr. Robt. Howland, had a very narrow escape from drowning. Young Howland, who is learning to swim, was bathing with a number of other boys above the Smith street bridge. The log to which he was clinging got into deep water, and when the boy found he could not touch bottom and that he was being carried away by the current, he became very much frightened, and was going to let go of the log, when Mr. Vinette, who was driving across the bridge, observed his predicament. Shouting to the boy to hold to the log he jumped into the water and brought the boy safely to shore. Mr. Howland wishes to publicly thank Mr. Vinette, through the medium of the press, for this brave act, which undoubtedly saved the life of his son.

Returned From Trip Across The Atlantic

Mr. Robt. Fair and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rush, of Peterborough, are Back---Visited the Dublin Exhibition and Were Pleased With the Canada Exhibit

On Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rush and Mr. Robert Fair, returned from a trip to the British Isles and the Continent. The party arrived at Montreal on Saturday, on the Victorian, which left Liverpool on August 2nd. The return voyage was marked by two days of very rough weather, which had the effect of rendering most of the passengers seasick, although the Peterborough contingent escaped.

Mr. Fair, when seen by the Examiner to-day, stated that he had had a most enjoyable trip in which he had combined business with pleasure. While he was away he visited all the leading centres of production, and was able to make purchases at good prices, in spite of the rapidly advancing markets. The purchases made for the fall trade at such seasonable figures will be appreciated by the customers of the Golden Lion store. Speaking of the Dublin Exhibition Mr. Fair stated that the most interesting feature was the Canadian Exhibit, which was the pride of the exhibition, and reflected great credit on Canada. He with Mr. John C. Kells of Millbrook, who accompanied him on the trip, were shown through the exhibition by Mr. McHugh, son of Senator McHugh of Lindsay, who is assistant to the Canadian Commissioner.

Among the passengers on the return voyage were Mr. H. A. Wheeldon, who is taking Dr. Torrington's place as organist of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto. His playing at divine service and at the usual concert given, was much appreciated by his fellow passengers.

Visited old Home

Mr. Rush's trip was especially interesting, inasmuch as the itinerary contained a visit to his boyhood home, which he had not seen for 51 years.

Landing at Liverpool, Mr. and Mrs Rush went at once to the famous old walled city of Chester, where a short stay was made, and they then went on to Shakespere's birthplace, Stratford-on-Avon. The university cities of Cambridge and Oxford were next visited, after which they went to London. An interesting visit was made to Diss in Norfolk, where Mr. Rush was born. Then returning to London, Mr. and Mrs. Rush went to Thexted, in Essex, where the former spent his boyhood days. He found the place almost unchanged after 51 years. He had heard his father say that the population then was 2,000, and at 2,000 it has remained ever since.

Next the cathedral cities of Ely, Lincoln, Peterborough and York were visited, and a short stop was made at Norwich and Lowestoft, famous watering places.

Leaving England the party went to Glasgow through the celebrated Trossachs, thence across to Belfast, and Dublin, where the exhibition was taken in. Mr. Rush was disappointed in the latter, the best feature, he said, being the Canadian exhibition, in which two local firms, the Quaker Oats Co., and the Geo. Matthews Co., were represented. Mr. Rush was delighted with the fine showing made by the latter firm.

Leaving Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. Rush crossed over to Fishguard in Wales, and thence to London. Paris was the next pointed visited, and three days were spent in the French capital, after which Switzerland was visited for a few days. The balance of the stay was made in London.

SALVATION ARMY BAND'S TRIP A TOUR OF TRIUMPH

Word has been received in the city from the Salvation Army Band that their tour so far has been a decided success and the band has added fresh laurels to those already won. Port Hope was reached on Saturday afternoon and the meetings were largely attended. Captain Osmond had a banquet ready for the visitors, after which they were given a sail on the lake, the operation of raising the dredge "Sir Wilfrid Laurier" being watched with interest.

The band was given an ovation in Cobourg, which town they reached at midnight on Saturday. A meeting was held in the morning and two concerts were given in the afternoon and evening, both of which were very largely attended. The American visitors at Cobourg were delighted with the playing of the band and wanted them to return next Sunday. The collections in the park amounted to $61.44, and the farewell offerings to $105.86.

On Monday morning the band played a concert at the jail. The proprietor of the bathing and boat houses threw everything open to the Salvationists, and they heartily enjoyed themselves. The band was in Trenton yesterday.

CIVIC HOLIDAY WAS A DIFFERENT DAY AND WAS SPENT PLEASANTLY

How Peterborough People Celebrated Their Mid-summer Play Day—No Excursions on Railways—Result Fewer Persons Left City.

BIG CROWD AT REGATTA

The Outings by Water Yesterday Were All Well Patronized—Holiday Weather—Those Who Spent the Day in the City.

Yesterday was a different Civic Holiday.

In the history of the city no holiday was ever spent like that of this year. There was one particular contributing cause to this effect. In the past, the midsummer holiday has been chosen by innumerable fraternal societies to run excursions out of the city, and this practice had become so firmly established that nine-tenths of the population of the city planned to leave it on that day, taking in one of the many trips offered.

This year the railway companies decided on a radical change in policy, and no excursions were booked for the holiday, single fare rates, however, prevailing to points of the province.

The result was that the city did not present the usual Civic Holiday deserted appearance, for, while undoubtedly a great many persons left the city, there was not the exodus characteristic of former years.

The single fare rates, however, attracted a great many, and the trains to Toronto, on both railways were crowded on Saturday and yesterday, while the railways report that they did not handle as many passengers yesterday as on previous Civic Holidays, it is anticipated that the net returns will be almost, if not quite as large. By reason of the fact that the cheap fares went into effect on Saturday, the traffic was spread over a more extended period and there was not the usual crush on the morning of the holiday.

It was a satisfactory day all round. Those who went out of the city to spend it returned pleased and those who preferred to remain at home and spent it quietly were equally satisfied.

The regatta at Stony Lake was the strong attraction yesterday, and the railway and steamers serving that event handled unprecedented crowds satisfactorily.

Two water trips of a public character and one private excursion furnished a pleasant means of spending the day at Rice Lake. They were all well patronized, too, the Printers' excursion to Idyl Wyld on the steamer Otonabee carrying the premier crowd of the season. Those who patronized it, too, had a pleasant day.

Chemong proved to be a popular place yesterday for Peterborough residents, and a great many spent the day there, reports received from those who took this method of spending the holiday indicating that they enjoyed the day.

For those who remained at home there were some pleasant diversions provided. The Turf Club races at the Driving Park were a strong attraction for many, and some good sport was seen. David Hartley's long walk to Baillieboro was also one of the interesting events, and at the time of his departure and his arrival back there were a number of interested spectators on the streets.

The street railway report one of the best days in its history, the cars being crowded at all hours of the day and evening, Jackson Park being the objective point for the majority.

Favourable weather during the whole day added to the pleasure, and the entire day was, taken altogether, one of the most satisfactory holidays of the year.

SERIOUS RESULTS OF FALL FROM TREE

Lionel Barroclough Sustained Double Fracture of the Arm by Falling From an Apple Tree

On Saturday evening, Lionel, the nine-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Barraclough, 416 Charlotte street, met with a painful and serious accident. Boy-like, he was climbing a tree on Charlotte street. A decayed limb upon which he climbed gave way, and he fell, striking the fence below. He suffered a combined fracture of the humerus, the pointed pieces of the fractured bone piercing the flesh. Both bones of the forearm were also broken. The injured boy was removed to the Nicholls Hospital, and the necessary surgical attention was given to his injuries by Dr. Malcolm McCulloch and Dr. Cameron.

THE LATE DR. McCLELLAN

The death of Dr. J. A. McLellan, which has been daily expected for some weeks past, occurred at Toronto Sunday night, after a long illness. For many years he filled places in the higher institutions of learning of the country and his name will occupy a prominent place in the history of education of Ontario. Many elderly Canadians can remember him as an official visitor to the High Schools when they sat at the desks, and his work in the Normal College familiarized him to the teaching profession of the later years. He loved his work, and while his health permitted he devoted his energies to it. His death leaves a void which only a great educationist can fill.

THEN AND NOW

In order to rightly appreciate good health, an attack of illness would not be amiss. In order to appreciate Liberal good government, and, to a certain extent, the consequences, in our general, and unmistakable prosperity, a comparison of conditions in in ante - Liberal and Liberal periods of administration, would be instructive. Everyone is employed, at good wages. As an example of Canadian prosperity the conditions in the Northwest of the country, might serve as a type, and the force of this comparison would be strengthened, by contrasting the conditions under Conservative rule, with those now obtaining, and existent for some years past. In Manitoba and the Territories in 1881, there was a population of 105,681, including 22,783 Indians, and the census of that year showed an area of 56,971 acres, in wheat and a production of 1,153,328 bushels of wheat, 302,048 of barley, and 1,330,220 bushels of oats — these being the harvest for 1880. In 1891, ten years later, the population had increased to 219,305; the area sown to wheat to 1,010,430 acres, and barley and oats proportionately; the total production of wheat had grown to 17,884,629 bushels, barley to 1,667,895, and oats to 9,998,556 bushels. These figures cover practically the same area as the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the two latter having reached full provincial standing in 1905. At the beginning of the Twentieth Century, April 1st, 1901, the provinces as now constituted, had a population of 419,512, and on June 24th, 1906, the population was 808,863, being an increase in five years of 389,351, the increase being about 175,000 more than the total population of 1891. In 1906, the estimate of wheat for the three provinces was 110,837,949 bushels, or about eight times greater than in 1891, while the total of wheat, oats barley, was in 1906 over two hundred and forty million bushels. The increase in population, and consequently of production is due to improved homesteading regulations, a better class of immigrants and general adjustment of the Liberal policy to the prevailing conditions. For the last seven years of Conservative rule, from 1899-90 to 1895-6, the number of homestead entries was 23,029. For the last seven years of Liberal rule, the homestead entries totalled 160,405, or nearly as great a number yearly as during the seven years of Conservative rule named. A proof that the application of the policy of the Liberals has made the Canadian Northwest, a good country to live in, is shown by the tremendous increase of homestead entries by Canadians. In 1896, the last year of Conservative rule, the homesteads taken up by Canadians were 570. In the first eight months of the fiscal year, 1905, the Canadian entries amounted to 5470, or in eight months nearly ten times as many as in a whole year of Conservative administration. This example of improvement might be largely extended to other departments, but this is enough to show that under Liberal rule, Canada has grown and prospered in a manner not even dreamed of under the administration of the Conservatives.

The Japanese are getting on. In 1892 it was reported that 85.06 per cent. of the boys and 59.04 per cent. of the girls of school age were attending school—figures which had increased five years later to 96.59 and 89.88 respectively. During the school year 1903-4 (the latest for which we have figures) £4,500,000 was spent on public education, and 5,976,124, or 93.23 per cent. of the children, boys boys and girls combined, of school age, were recorded as receiving elementary instruction. Such a people will not fail to make rapid progress.

EDITORIAL NOTES

If Rudyard Kipling had been in Peterborough yesterday, he wouldn't have recognised "Our Lady of the Snows."

The German army strength on a peace footing is 605,975, and the war strength about 4,000,000 of men, not including officers. The French army on a peace footing consists of 598,749 men, (excluding a gendarmerie of 22,861 men), while on a war footing the army could be raised to over 3,000,000 men. The Russian army on a peace footing numbers 860,000 men and on a war footing is capable of being raised to about 3,460,000 men. Now, if that vast host, which in peace simply lives on and wastes the product of the earnes, was turned to productive industry and supported itself, the workers would have a much larger proportion of their earnings left to themselves.

Medical science is applying itself with energy to discovering means for the curative treament of consumption, but social science should more diligently apply itself to the treatment of consumptives. There is such dread of the popularly ascribed contagiousness of consumption, that tuberculosis patients, are, in many cases, treated as outcasts. This condition materially aggravates the malady, or, at least, puts the sufferer in a condition that militates against treatment having the best results. The true nature of the contagious character of tuberculosis should be made widely known to the end of combatting and removing the present popular prejudice against the afflicted.

SOME SUBSTANTIAL INCREASES

Quarter of a Million Ahead of Last Year's Record

At the end of June the sales by the Slater Shoe Company had bounded forward exactly $220,000 ahead of the sales up to the same period of last year. With four months to go on their fiscal year the sales of the year 1907, will be well over one million.

Passing the "million mark," places the Slater Shoe Company in the first rank of the larger Canadian industries. Making only high grade shoes the company stands alone in Canada. Their progress since the installation of Goodyear machinery has been phenomenal and their success is attributable in a great part to a firm adherance to a high standard. The making of cheap shoes is left entirely alone, as the president early laid down the axiom that one cannot do cheap work and high class shoe making in the same factory.

These specific increases are interesting in view of the abnormal progress made in the five year period for which the Government of Canada gathered statistical records. The stability of Canadian industries is assured and investors find them as profitable to-day as are those which gave to Great Britain her commercial ascendancy, which began in the days of good Queen Bess.

COLLISION OF CYCLISTS AT CHARLOTTE STREET

Mr. Dan Levasseur's Pipe Forced Down His Throat

An accident occurred at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets at noon to-day which exemplifies the danger which cyclists run at this particular place. The gates had been down, and the train, having crossed, they were raised, and it being noon hour, quite a number of vehicles and pedestrians were passing. Mr. Dan Levasseur was riding south and Mr. Jas. Graham was riding north. Mr. Levasseur tried to dodge a couple of rigs, and in doing so, the two men met, and, as they were going rather fast, they were hurled to the ground. Mr. Levasseur had a pipe in his mouth, and in the impact it was driven down, his throat and broken off. Both parts of the pipe were recovered, but Mr. Levasseur's throat was lacerated and he bled at the mouth.

The accident was only one of many and the result might have been very serious. Wheelmen cannot be too careful along the circular path, where they are tempted to speed.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED

Many people who have suffered with catarrh for years, naturally think that they cannot be cured, and become discouraged.

The reason they have failed of cure is because they have not treated the disease with the local remedy, Hy-o-mei, which is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, so that its healing, medicated air, reaches the most remote air cells, kills all the catarrh germs, and restores the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, to a healthy condition.

Catarrh is really a local disease and to cure it it must be treated by a remedy which reaches every spot in the nose and throat, where the disease germs lay. Hy-o-mei does this and gives relief from the first day's use.

A NEW FLOUR BLENDING DISCOVERY

One with Practical and Far Reaching Results

For years the farmers of Ontario have heard of the phenomenal production of the Western wheat fields, and have resignedly accepted the much-advertised superiority of Western flour as a conclusive fact. All over Ontario this demand for Ontario wheat has fallen off, with a consequent lowering of the price paid to the farmer for his grain. In addition, bran and shorts have become so expensive as to seriously reduce the margin of profit for the dairyman and stockman.

Now, the most practical discovery of the last decade, the one most far-reaching in its results to Ontario farmers, is that known as "flour blending." Western flour has been popular in Ontario on account of its large percentage of gluten, or "strength," which chemists call protaid, although the western product lacks both flavour and colour. Flour made from Ontario winter wheat is not so "strong," but has a peculiarly attractive flavour. When a little Western wheat is added to the Ontario product, the percentage of gluten is increased, and all the flavour retained.

The practical results of the discovery are certainly noteworthy. Ontario millers who have made a specialty of the new flour have driven out Western flour from the Maritime Provinces. They have been compelled, in some instances, to double their already extensive plants, and have created such a demand in Toronto that the most popular loaf sold to-day in that city is made of Ontario blended flour.

What is true of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, where an unprejudiced public have decided in favour of the blended flour of Old Ontario, ought to appeal to Ontario farmers generally. Buying Manitoba flour is financial folly, when the purchase of the Ontario product gives better bread, and helps to create a demand for Ontario wheat. When people all over Ontario realize this diet the farmers of Ontario will not only be the gainers of several millions of dollars, but will find that the cost of bran and shorts will drop to the normal figures of ten to fifteen dollars a ton. And, surely, the Ontario farmers should be the first to set the good example by buying only the flour made largely from Ontario wheat.

ATMOSPHERIC ELECTRICITY.

Experiment Suggested by Franklin and Performed by D'Alibard.

To Benjamin Franklin belongs the merit of having perceived that a direct experiment was needed to prove what so far was only a guess. In an article entitled "Opinions and Conjectures Concerning the Properties and Effects of the Electrical Matter Arising From Experiments and Observations Made at Philadelphia, 1749," the following passage occurs:

"To determine the question whether the clouds that contain lightning are electrified or not I would propose an experiment to be tried where it can be done conveniently. On the top of some high tower or steeple place a kind of sentry box big enough to contain a man and an electrical stand. From the middle of the stand let an iron rod rise and pass, bending out of the door and then upright twenty feet or thirty feet, pointed very sharp at the end. If the electrical stand be kept clean and dry a man standing on it when such clouds are passing low might be electrified and afford sparks, the rod drawing fire to him from a cloud.

"If any danger to the man should be apprehended, though I think there would be none, let him stand on the floor of his box and now and then bring near to the rod the loop of a wire that has one end fastened to the leads, he holding it by a wax handle, so the sparks if the rod be electrified will strike from the rod to the wire and not affect him."

The experiment suggested by Franklin was successfully performed in Marly, France, by D'Alibard on May 10, 1752; in London by Canton in Spital square on July 20, 1752, and by Wilson in Chelmsford, Essex, on Aug. 12 of the same year. Franklin himself described having used a kite in Philadelphia in a letter dated Oct. 19 without giving the date of his observations. Rosenberger ("Geschichte der Physik," volume 2, page 316) mentioned that it was done in June.

Franklin's disbelief in the dangerous character of the experiment must have received a severe shock when he heard of the death of G. W. Richman, who, in the year 1753, was killed by an electric discharge drawn from the clouds by means of a kite.

A HOG ORCHESTRA.

French Musician Made the Squealers Sing a Tune.

During the reign of Louis XI. of France there was attached to his court one Abbot de Baigne, a man of considerable wit. The abbot was somewhat musically inclined and delighted the court with inventions of odd musical instruments. One day the king, after having enjoyed a hearty laugh over one of these curious contrivances and desiring to bathe this musical genius, commanded him to produce harmonious sounds from the cries of hogs. This seemed an impossibility to the king, and he prepared himself to enjoy the discomfiture of the abbot. Much to his surprise, however, the abbot readily agreed to produce them. All he required was a sum of money, upon receipt of which he declared he would invent the most surprising thing ever heard in the way of musical atrocity.

He scoured the country and secured a large number of hogs, trying their voices as to pitch and quality, and finally, having fully satisfied himself, he arranged the animals in a sort of pavilion richly decorated. The day of the trial arrived, and the king and his court entered the pavilion prepared for something, but greatly in doubt as to the success of the abbot with the hogs.

However, there were the hogs, sure enough, and, much to the surprise and delight of the king, they commenced to cry harmoniously and in good tune, rendering an air that was fairly recognised. The abbot had arranged a series of stops that were connected with the hogs and upon pulling one of them out caused a spike to prick the hog it connected with, making him squeal his note. The rest was easy, for by pulling out the different stops he produced the tune.

A Ring Island.

Many coral reef islands in the Pacific are in the form of more or less perfect rings, or ovals, inclosing lagoons. The ring island of Ninafou, halfway between Fiji and Samoa, is not a coral reef, but a volcanic ring inclosing a crater containing a lake two miles in diameter. Toward the sea the ring is bordered with walls of black lava, and on the inner side these break down in cliffs 200 to 300 feet in height. An eruption in 1886 formed a peninsula on the eastern side of the lake. While the ocean outside is trembling and thundering under a heavy wind the lake remains smooth or is simply wrinkled with ripples.

The Time to Cry "Halt!"

If one be watchful there comes a time in the life of every man and woman when one or more discoveries are made. The walk is not so brisk, the shoulders have got into a way of stumping forward and the back is not so erect as formerly. Now is the time to cry "Halt!" It is the time to drill the body, the time to revise sleep, diet, exercise, occupation, relaxation and all habits. Every son and daughter of humanity should refuse this gradual yielding to decay.

The Difference.

"I always thought," remarked an English judge, "that a parasol and a sunshade were the same."

"No," replied the witness on the stand; "a sunshade is to keep the sun off; a parasol is to flirt with."—

A CULTURED BASS.

Higher Education Was the Ruin of This Intelligent Fish.

"Bass are intelligent little beasts. That is the reason they travel in schools," remarked Walter Dumpling, an authority on fishing and a candidate for the nature fakir class.

"I have frequently observed them studying," he continued, "whether it was better taste to swallow a minnow whole or on the installment plan. I have seen them seek knowledge concerning rubber frogs and, having made up their minds that it was a false friend, go off and warn their comrades.

"I have seen them studying weather conditions, coming to the surface, gazing intently at the sky, finding the direction of the wind and satisfying themselves whether tomorrow would be clear or rainy.

"All real fishermen can vouch for the statement that bass are fond of children. I have seen them eat up the little ones.

"Bass are natural defenders of the home life, and when a carp or catfish comes browsing around to devour the eggs the female bad laid the male will attack the intruder by swimming under the enemy and slashing him with the sharp dorsal spine.

"I once knew a bass so intelligent that it refused to bite on the ordinary bait and was only caught after a page from an encyclopedia had been tied to the hook. Higher education was his finish."

IN THE SAME BOAT.

A Story of Samuel Warren and Matthew Davenport Hill.

Sam Warren, the author of "Ten Thousand a Year," has been the subject of many anecdotes, none of them better than one which I first heard related about him by his friend, Matthew Davenport Hill.

Looking in one day at Warren's chambers, Hill noticed that he seemed a little troubled. "It's a," said the lawyer-novelist, "most unfortunate. I ought to have dined tonight with the lord chancellor, but Mrs. Warren is about to present me with another olive branch. How can I leave her? I hope his lordship won't be annoyed at my putting him off." "Oh," returned Hill, "don't make yourself uneasy. I am one of the guests. I know him so well I can put it all right for you." With these words the visitor prepared to leave the room.

At first profusely grateful, Warren presently seemed a little perplexed and said: "By the bye, after all, I won't trouble you to say anything about me to the chancellor. Between ourselves, I have not been invited."

"Well," rejoined Hill, "make yourself comfortable on that point. For that matter, neither have I."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Witches' Brooms Do Not Injure Trees.

Among the objects which the leafless season of the year makes conspicuous in our woods and hedgerows are certain dark, almost globular agglomerations of small twigs on the boughs of many different kinds of trees which at first sight look like birds' nests. They are what are popularly known as witches' blooms or brooms. They are usually the results of some bygone disturbance in the economy of a shoot producing bud which caused the bud to break up into several instead of continuing its onward growth as a single branch. The irritating influence which produced this result was probably applied at a very early period of the bud formation, while its development was but little advanced. Whether due to insect or fungal irritation, these brooms are not infective to the rest of the tree and do not cause decay or injure the tree in any way beyond uselessly consuming a certain amount of sap. It is possible that some of the best brooms are caused by the attacks of mites which persist in their occupancy and attack the spring buds every succeeding year.—Museum Gazette.

A Bold Rat.

A strange incident occurred at Crediton. While walking along the street a man was alarmed by something springing at him from the roadway. He brushed his hand over his coat, and a large rat fell to the ground. The incident, however, did not end there, for the rat made further attacks on the man, who experienced some difficulty in keeping it off. Several passersby came to his assistance, but it was some time before they were able to kill the rat. So wild and unusual an attack in the open street was doubtless due to the rat having lost its way back to its haunt. —London Standard.

Dullman Goes to Dark Hole.

Dullman, the mysterious life prisoner, who is behind the walls of Kingston Penitentiary, and who is probably the most celebrated criminal in any Canadian penitentiary, has, it is announced, been sent to the dark hole and stone pile, because he refused point blank to work.

No criminal more interests the Department of Justice than does this man. He is of scholarly attainments and knows every part of the world like a checker board, but he has kept his past life to himself, and no one knows what he is or whence he came.

All he will say is that no one but himself is to blame for the fiendish attempt to blow up the Welland Canal and he is glad that no one was killed.

The most generally accepted theory is that Dullman was high up in the councils of the Irish-Americans, that some one was suspected of giving out secrets, that that person was Dullman, and that in order to clear himself he undertook something big off his own bat. Procuring a couple of dupes he sent them out to blow up the canal and figured that both would be blown up or drowned.

Not long ago he had a good job in the penitentiary keeping books, but fancying himself slighted he refused to work and went to the dark hole without a murmur.

Petes Won Great Game in Port Hope on Saturday by Rapping Surplis for Five Hits and Seven Runs in the Eighth Sesssion---Score Was 10 to 2---Jack Connors Had His Left Shoulder Badly Injured Sliding Into Second Base---Anderson's Work a Feature

In a game that for seven innings was the nearest approach to baseball that has been unfolded in the Midland League in some time, Peterborough trounced Port Hope in the lake town on Saturday by 10 runs to 2. The locals won in the eighth session when they soused the leather for five safe swipes, one of which was good for an extra cushion, and which, with three slip-ups, netted them seven counters.

As a result of the contest, the "Petes" are now tied with Cobourg for second place, and only one game behind Port Hope. Cobourg comes to Riverside next Saturday, and the locals must win to keep in the running for the bunting. The game will undoubtedly be the best of the season, and will be witnessed by the largest crowd that ever attended a ball game in this city.

The locals went down to the lake town on the week-end on a special train and were accompanied by some three hundred supporters, the most of whom backed their favourites to the last cent., and in so doing doubled or tripled their bank rolls, and to-day Port Hope is in a state of bankruptcy.

The attendance at the game very nearly reached the 1,000 mark, which was the biggest crowd of the season for that town. A large contingent from Cobourg was over to see the set-to. They rooted continuously for the Petes, and to say that they were pleased with the result is putting it mildly, for they were simply tickled to death to see the northerners put it on their old rivals.

In the sixth session, Jack Connors, the locals' clever centre-fielder, had his left shoulder strained and the muscles badly torn in sliding to second. The injury forced Johnny's removal from the game, and it is doubtful if he will be able to play again for a couple of weeks. His place was taken by "Yebbie" Flaherty.

Manager Johnston sent Quinlan in to do the mound ministrations for the locals, and his effectiveness had the most to do with the massacre of the Crawfordites. He was in rare form, and outside the third and fourth chapters the Port Hoppers only got one man past first. He had seven strike-outs to his credit, passed two and hit one.

Henry Surphlis graced the heaving hill for the homesters and did good work. For five innings Johnston's swipesmiths were unable to comb the the elongated twirler for more than two singles, but from the sixth to the end the locals bumped Henry with deplorable consistency. He passed three and struck out eight.

Peter Duncan of Cobourg handled the indicator and he gave out some pretty rank decisions on both sides. The pitchers suffered most from his rulings, as Peter was away off on balls and strikes.

The fielding feature of the day was the work of Fred Anderson, the locals new second baseman. His playing around the middle bag was a revelation, and, taking his work of Saturday as a sample, he is easily the best second sticker seen around here for many moons. His one-handed catch of O'Hearn's drive in the first was worth the price of admission alone. Besides his great work in the field, he had two hits out of five times up.

The batting honours were about even, Burns, Burridge, O'Hearn, Anderson, O'Neil and Callaghan each having two hits apiece.

Peterborough went first to bat. Burns opened with a single over second, and stole. Cheatham sacrificed to Kervin. Burridge walked, and then he and Burns worked a twin steak, but Spence and Connors both fanned, and it was all off.

Port Hope went out in order.

Haliburton was first up in the second and walked. Anderson advanced. Callaghan sacrificed "Hal." to second. Quinlan hit to O'Hearn, who got Haliburton at third.

Port Hope went out in one, two, three order, and Peterborough did likewise in the first of the third.

Brown was first up for Port Hope in their half of the third and was safe when Spence lost the ball in the sun. Surphlis rolled one to Quinn, forcing Brown at second. O'Hearn doubled to right. Kervin flew out to Callaghan, but Surphlis tallied on the throw in. O'Brien flew out to Anderson. Port Hope 1, Peterborough 0.

Peterborough had a chance in the fourth. With one down, Connors got a life on Surphlis' misplay. He stole second, and went to third on Haliburton's sacrifice. Anderson fanned.

In the fourth, Henderson was hit, but was out trying to annex second. O'Neil doubled to left. Wal[illegible] singled and O'Neil crossed the plate. Brown flew out to Haliburton. Port Hope 2, Peterborough 0.

Callaghan was first up in the fifth. He hit safely and purloined second, but the next three batters struck out.

In the sixth, Burridge opened with a hit and pilfered second. Spence fanned. Connors bingled, and Burridge tallied. Connors out stealing second. Haliburton grounded out.

The homesters were again retired in order. Port Hope 2, Peterborough 1.

In the seventh Anderson flew out to Kolb. Callaghan was safe on O'Hearn's fumble. He stole second and third, and scored on Quinlan's long fly to Walters. Burns grounded out.

Cheatham was first up in the eighth and got a life on Brown's slip-up. Burridge singled, advancing Cheatham a notch. Henderson dropped Spence's fly and the cushions were full. Flaherty dropped one in front of the plate and was out, Haliburton singled and Cheatham and Burridge scored. Anderson hit safely and Spence tallied. Callaghan bingled, and again the bases were full. Quinlan hit to Surphlis, forcing Anderson at the plate. Burns doubled, scoring Haliburton and Callaghan. Henderson dropped Cheatham's fly and Quinlan and Burns crossed the plate. Burridge out, O'Hearn to O'Brien.

In Port Hope's half, with one down, O'Brien doubled, but was out trying to steal third. Henderson fanned. Port Hope 2, Peterborough 9.

In the ninth, Spence walked and stole second. Flaherty flew out to Kolb. Haliburton flew out to Walters. Anderson singled, scoring Spence. Callaghan lifted one to Kervin.

In Port Hope's half, Kolb walked. O'Neil fanned. Walters hit to Cheatham, who played it to Anderson, to Spence. Port Hope 2, Peterborough 10.

How You Can Test the Blood

Paleness of the lips, gums and inside of the eyelids, tells of weak and watery blood, while other indications are languid, worn out and despondent feelings, headaches, nervous troubles and weakness of the bodily organs. To say that the blood is thin and weak is to say that it lacks iron and the other elements of which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed. There is no greater blood builder.

Regatta Was The Most Successful On Record

Biggest Attendance at Stony Lake in the History of the Event---Weather Was Perfect and the Aquatic Events Were Most Interesting

Juniper Island, Stony Lake, Aug. 13.—With perfect weather, a record attendance, and hotly contested aquatic events, the annual regatta of the Stony Lake Cottagers' and Campers' Association, held yesterday afternoon on the course off Juniper Island, was the most successful on record. Never in the history of the association has there been more interest taken in the event. Juniper Island seemed to be the mecca of everyone on the Kawartha Lakes yesterday. Few, if any, cottages on the lake were not represented, and craft of every possible kind were pulled into play to solve the transportation problem. Steam yachts, gasoline launches, sailboats, canoes, skiffs, and even the humble punt, brought their quota to add to the gaiety of the occasion. The scene at the height of the regatta is one that will not soon be forgotten. It is estimated that at least 2,000 people witnessed the races from the rocky shores of Juniper Island for from on board the craft that stretched along and sometimes on the course, for, as usual, many people forgot that the competitors had the right of way. The picture presented, with the lake dotted with pleasure craft, with launches and sailboats darting here and there, was a striking one.

A feature of the regatta was the large attendance of people from the other parts of the Kawartha Lakes. The Estarion arrived shortly after 1 o'clock with a jolly crowd of two hundred people from Chemong, who soon made their presence known, and who were decidedly prominent in the events, many of the prizes going to the people of the lake of the curved bow. The Chemong ladies were hospitably entertained by the ladies of Stony Lake.

Sturgeon Point was, as usual, well represented, not only in attendance, but in the prize-winning entries from the Point getting a full share of the laurels.

An unusually large crowd of Peterborough people came up to spend the day, the steamer Stoney Lake being crowded.

Perfect weather conditions prevailed. A fresh breeze blew from the west, heavy enough to make the sailing races interesting, and not too strong to interfere with the paddling events. Under such conditions, one would expect the races to be warmly contested, and they were, the finishes in the majority of cases being very close; so close, in fact, that in several cases another race was needed to determine the winner.

The most picturesque races were the sailing events, of which there were four on the programme, all of them being good races. The course was a triangular one, finishing off Juniper Island, and the spectacle was magnificent, as the many white wings strung off in procession.

The doughty sailors from the Chemong Yacht Club carried off all the laurels in the dinghy race, in which there were seven entries. Mr. Milne Hamilton of Chemong was first, and Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, also of Chemong, was second, the race being warmly contested. A silver cup, donated by Hon. Geo. A. Cox, went to Mr. Hamilton.

It was the turn of the Stony Lake skippers to win in the open sailing race for a silver cup presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton. Mr. Shaw won the event after an interesting battle with Mr. J. S. Knapman's "Quaint." The rest of the field were beaten off.

The canoe sailing race was captured by Mr. John Roxburgh of Norwood, who won easily, with Mr. Gerald Rackham second.

A splendid race for 18-foot dinghies completed the sailing events. The winner was Ross Cameron, with the Munro brothers second.

The man's single canoe race, always an interesting feature of the regatta, and given added interest owing to the presentation of a silver cup by Mr. H. T. Woodroffe, of Toronto, was a hard fought battle, and the two Lakefield boys, Chas. Gordon and Harry Simpson, finished first and second.

The boys' tandem canoe race furnished an exciting finish, Douglas Layfield and Percy Stock winning after a hard struggle with M. and F. Rice.

In the ladies' single skiff race, which was won by Miss Genevieve Sanderson, there was a great race for second place, Miss Isabella Hay and Miss Puddefoote being tied. Miss Hay declined to row another race, and the prize was awarded to her competitor.

In the ladies' tandem two pairs of Chemong young ladies fought fiercely for the honours, Mildred Bull and Jean Hill beating Phyllis and Marion Denne by a small margin.

Miss Gwen Hall won the ladies' single from her sister after a good race.

Jacob as usual won the Indian race with Tobacook second.

The aborigines did not exert themselves very much.

The men's tandem skiff race was one of the best events on the programme. Five pairs were entered, and the Simpson brothers won after a hard race. Several fouls had been made, however, and the judges decide to have the race rowed over again. The winners of the first race declined to row, and the other four started. Acton brothers won by a great spurt at the finish.

The tilting was, as usual, very amusing, although its effect was marred by the frequent breakage of lances. At last the competitors had to employ brooms for the purpose. Hopkins and Wilson of Sturgeon Point repeated their exploit of last year and once more won the event.

A new feature was the tug of war. Two canoes each containing four paddlers, were tied together, and at the word the canoers paddled in opposite directions.

Following is a summary of the races:

Final — Hopkins beat Watson.

The Evening's Gayety

In the evening the gayety of the afternoon was repeated when the presentation of prizes took place in the pavilion, which was artistically decorated for the occasion. Hon. J. R. Stratton made the presentations, and in doing so referred to the great success of the regatta. He remarked on the large number of Chemong people present and hoped that the summer residents at Stony Lake would reciprocate on the occasion of the Chemong Regatta.

A delightful dance followed this function, a section of the 57th band rendering splendid music. The floor was in splendid condition, and the affair was heartily enjoyed by the young people.

GOOD DAY'S SPORT AT THE DRIVING PARK

The holiday attraction in the city was the summer meet of the Turf Club, and some good draces were enjoyed by a crowd which should have been larger. ORANGE EXCURSION A SUCCESS

Enjoyable Outing Under the Auspices of L. O. L. No. 80

A most successful excursion was held on Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of Peterborough L. O. L. No. 80, to Idyl Wild, on the steamer Otonabee. About 200 people were on board, and the sail was greatly enjoyed. Music was furnished for dancing and the young people took full advantage of the opportunity. The excursion was most enjoyable from every point of view.

PORT PERRY VISITORS IN THE CITY

An Excursion Under Auspices of Citizens Band Here

An excursion under the auspices of the Citizens' Band of Port Perry was run to the city to-day, and between two and three hundred persons took advantage of the cheap trip to visit Peterborough. A special train of five coaches arrived over the G.T.R. about 9.30 o'clock, and, headed by the band, which, by the way, is a splendid organization, the majority of the excursionists went to the Wolfe street wharf, where they boarded the steamer Otonabee for a trip to Idyl Wild. The steamer will arrive back about 6 o'clock, and the train will leave an hour later.

MARKET CLERK COMPLAINS OF THE DUST NUISANCE

The Building is Enveloped in Dust Clouds These Days

Mr. McIlmoyle, market clerk, was complaining this morning of the dust blowing from the market square and settling about his office, on the platform and everywhere in fact. He says that it is a great nuisance and especially this morning when the farmers were having their cheese weighed they complained that the dust was settling on the cheese. In fact one of the men threatened to go at once and call the attention of the authorities to the condition of the market.

Mr. McIlmoyle says that when Mr. A. Parker was driving the watering cart there was no trouble of this kind as he drove around early in the morning about eight o'clock when business was just beginning. The busies' hours are from 8 to 10 in the morning. Mr. McIlmoyle on behalf of the patrons of the market would like to see immediate action taken.

INJURED AT THE STONY LAKE QUARRY

One of the Employees Had His Finger Badly Crushed Yesterday

One of the men employed at the quarry at the Eastern Stony Lake, Mr. McIntosh, met with a painful injury yesterday, getting his right hand caught in a derrick with the result that one finger was very badly cut and crushed. He was brought down to Juniper Island on the steamer Majestic and his injuries attended by Dr. Cooper Cole. Mr. McIntosh came down to Peterborough this morning.

The Doctor's First Question

Almost the first question a doctor puts to his patient is in referenced to the action of the bowels. By keeping the bowels regular you avoid the serious derangements of the liver and kidneys and can defy colds and contagious diseases. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ensure prompt movements of the bowels, and by their action on the liver thoroughly cure constipation.

THE FIRST OF ANNUAL OUTINGS

Brinton Carpet Company's Employees and Friends at Idyl Wyld

Yesterday the employees of the Brinton Carpet Company and their friends enjoyed their annual outing, the objective point of about two hundred persons who boarded the steamer Watar Lily, being Idyl Wyld. The sail down the river and across the Lake was thoroughly enjoyed, and a delightful afternoon was spent at the island, the steamer being boarded later and a sail to Gore's Landing being enjoyed. The party reached the city about eight o'clock on the return trip.

We Have Been Doing Police Duty in Every Department; All Laggards and Loiterers Given the "MOVE ON" Sign.

We must be Custodains of our own Stocks, we must compel tag ends, oddments and endments to "Move On", stagnation is the death of trade. No inert, torpid, lazy stocks here, when lines become broken—when prices dwindle to remnants when odds and ends crop up. WE GET BUSY DOING POLICE DUTY, WE GO AFTER THEM WITH THE BIG STICK AND PRICES ARE RADICALLY AND EFFECTIVELY LOWERED, what is the natural result? what happened to seasonable, desirable, fashionable goods when priced far below regular, they "move on" and they move at a lively gait. THESE ARE THE FACTS OF THE STOREY WE HAVE TO TELL TO-DAY—BUT THE FIGURES ARE THE INTERESTING PART OF IT. Remember it's time for all Summer Goods to go—Fall goods are pushing from behind, they must "move on" remember all sorts of Summer Goods have to receive "move on" orders and will leave the store in quick time.

APPLICATION FOR MANDAMUS

Citizen States That He Will Ask Law to Make Board of Health Do Its Duty

LONDON STREET TERRACE

The Examiner was informed to-day that a mandamus would be applied for by a citizen to compel the Board of Health to take action in connection with the request that the terrace on the north side of London street, between George and Water streets, should be connected with the city sewer and water mains.

It is understood that the Board of Health has no authority to order connections made, but it can, on sanitary grounds, order that the wells and cesspools on the premises be closed, which would mean, of course, that connection would have to be made.

A member of the Board pointed out to the Examiner that the owner of the property was not refusing to have the sewer connections made and the plumbing installed, he was simply asking for a little time, an agreement having been reached between himself and the Board that he would have the desired connections made by the early spring, and this was considered by the majority of the members of that body as satisfactory.

CANCEL CHURCH SERVICES FOR THE AMUSEMENT PARKS

Mr. G. Pratley, of the Victor Manufacturing Company, Clinton, Mass., and a former well known resident of Peterborough, is in the city on a week's visit with friends. Life in the American city seems to agree with Mr. Pratley, who is looking well, Clinton is a city of about 13,000 population, the great majority of whom are mill operatives, one cotton mill alone employing over 2,500 hands. Industrial conditions are described as satisfactory, though Mr. Pratley is frank in his expression of preference for life in Canada, were it not for the fact that work is more remunerative in the American city in which he now resides. An indication of the way in which Americans regard Sunday, for instance, is furnished by the statement that on Sunday evenings during the summer months, the churches are closed in order to allow the people to go to the parks, and other places of amusement and recreation.

There are several former Peterborough residents in Clinton, and they, like Mr. Pratley, are doing well.

Bush Fires Reported From North Country

SOME LATE VISITORS

Examiner Special.

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, Aug. 12.—Master Roy Harmer is becoming quite a marksman. The other day while strolling through the woods with his dog "Dewey," they came upon a very large porcupine which the dog quickly treed. The young lad with one shot from his 22 rifle brought the member of the quilly tribe to the ground, where a great struggle took place. Some little time after the two reached their camp, the young lad with his face covered with smiles, and the dog with his face covered with quills.

Two large bush fires are reported to be burning in the vicinity of the Blue Mountains. It is supposed that the fires have originated through the carelessness of the berry pickers who have been in the vicinity during the past week. Too much care cannot be taken while on these expeditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Howson, of Norwood, have returned home after spending a work at "Belvidere," Mr. J. R. McKelvie's new and beautiful resort.

Mrs. and Miss Gaffield, of Toronto, are guests of Mrs. H. P. Gould, at "Woodcest Hall."

MR. FRED SHANNON IS A FISHERMAN

Returned Home With a Large Number of Bass From Hastings

Mr. Fred Shannon of the C. G. E. Angling Club spent Civic Holiday in Hastings, and returned with a fish story that has his brothers-in-rod green with envy. Mr. Shannon spent the day bass fishing, and his catch was such a large one that he grew weary of the sport, and was, perforce, compelled to rest at intervals, and decide whether he would catch any more or not. He landed a big eel and Mr. Shannon claims to have discovered a bass bed where the fish will bite at anything.

His story is an interesting one, and will be related to his angling friends if they ever claim to have made an important fishing coup.

An Earnest Trifler.

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay.

Copyrighted, 1907, by P. C. Eastment.

"What an age it is since I've seen you!" said Branton Ridgely, turning with enthusiasm to Eleanor Grayson.

The pink skirted candles on Mrs. Courtney's dinner table cast a glow across the pale oval of Miss Grayson's face. From under her dark, delicately arched brows her hazel eyes looked out on the world with starry seriousness.

"The last time we met," he went on, "was at the Van Nestor's tennis tournament on the 17th of September."

Miss Grayson laughed.

"What a memory for dates! I suppose you also recall each bit of our conversation?"

"Every word. Do you remember calling me a trifler?"

"Did I? Well, I recollect your telling me that I was an erratic, headstrong young woman. That was two months ago, and I don't think either of us have changed much since."

"I accept the rebuke," said Ridgely meekly.

"Isn't it a pity to waste such good material? Instead of a leader of cotillions you might be a leader of men."

"And isn't it a pity to hide yourself from your friends and stay in that settlement, toiling and slaving?"

"That's all very well, but how am I ever to catch a glimpse of you? I was just beginning to know you last summer, and now your time is taken up morning, noon and night, and you haven't a moment to give me. And you'll end," he predicted savagely, "by falling in love with one of the workers down there—unless you're already interested in some one else."

"Such frankness merits frankness in return. I am deeply interested in some one. But your first surmise was wrong. The hero in this case is quite unknown. I've never even seen him."

"Never mind," growled Ridgely, "he'll avow himself soon enough when he's found you've begun to care."

"Well, then, he'll have to change his present tactics," answered Miss Grayson lightly. "Do you know, it's the most mysterious thing! Each week through the mail I've been receiving an envelope filled with paper money. Inclosed is a printed note which says, 'For the needy,' and it's signed 'E. T.'"

"Strange," murmured Ridgely.

"Yes, and there's more"—

"More?"

"I mean each day there's a bunch of violets, too, and the same initial on the card."

"The deuce!" said Ridgely, "Well, and what then?"

"Then? Oh, there's nothing more. The flowers continue to come, and the money continues to come, and though I have no clew as to who E. T. is, I continue to accept both."

"How do you know he's a man?"

"What woman would be so—so systematic?"

"True. And do you wear the flowers he sends?"

"Sometimes."

"Lucky dog! He's to be envied!"

"That's so like you, Mr. Ridgely, to think of the flowers first and forget all about the money that has made it possible for me to carry out one of my pet schemes. This week Miss Elliston and I have rented and renovated a house—number 12 Pearl street, and we're going to live there and run it to suit ourselves."

"Alone?".

"Why, of course!"

"Well, to say it's madness is inadequate! In that quarter of the city—regular slums! If you had parents"—

"I shouldn't be doing it? Probably not. As it is, my friends have expostulated in vain, for I am quite capable of taking care of myself. And I see no reason why I shouldn't make experiments and do as I please. Besides, Miss Elliston and I aren't altogether alone. We have a very competent German servant, Gretchen. And I'm sure the man who sends the money would be delighted to see to what use we've put it. We have only been in the house a week and have an inmate already—such a piteous case, a little Italian girl whose stepfather, Grinaldo, forced her to work in a cigar factory, though she was so ill she could scarcely stand. Grinaldo used to beat her if her earnings didn't please him. If you could have seen her poor arms—so wasted and pinched black and blue! Of course it was a case for the societies, but I didn't wait for them to interfere. I took her in myself. I wanted to see those olive cheeks of hers grow rounded out and rosy, and those scrawny brown hands—do you know, she looks as if she'd gained pounds already! Her eyes are beginning to lose their haggard look, and she doesn't duck her head as if she expected a blow."

"And her stepfather?"

"Grinaldo? Oh, he's disappeared! We won't have any more trouble with him, I fancy. There! I've bored you with talking about myself, but it's going to end, for I am taking the privilege of excusing myself and leaving early. Mrs. Courtney is a lenient hostess!"

"You'll let me put you into your cab?" said Ridgely.

"I would if I expected to take one, but I'm going back to Pearl street via the friendly street car. It drops me within three blocks of the door."

"Three blocks! Oh, I say, Miss Grayson, won't you let me"—

"Thank you, no! I shall be perfectly safe. I've come and gone at my own free will for the last week. The people down there are too busy minding their own affairs to interfere with mine."

A few moments later, swathed in a long dark coat that fitted closely and hid the folds of her dinner gown, Miss Grayson hailed a crosstown car. It was a cloudy evening that threatened rain, and before she reached her destination the storm broke wildly, the great drops falling in gusts against the car windows. The corner at which Miss Grayson alighted was utterly deserted. Pale gleams from half opened tenement shutters and the dim, murky yellow of the street lamps were reflected in the streaming gutters and the sidewalk's miniature pools. Miss Grayson splashed briskly ahead, looking neither to the right nor to the left, till she neared her own abode and turned her head to glance in the windows. The partition of what had once been a narrow hall had been removed, and the whole was turned into a spacious sitting room. The embers of a half spent grate fire threw a softened color over books and pictures, and the dark, thin face of little Tessa, who was seated on the hearth rug.

"Well, Tessa," called Miss Grayson, opening the door and pausing a moment to wrest the key from the reluctant lock, "Did you sit up for me? And where's Miss Elliston?"

But Tessa's slow, sweet voice was checked midway in reply, for of a sudden Miss Grayson was thrust violently into the room, and the half opened door was closed behind her. Against it leaned the threatening figure of Grinaldo, his lips in an ugly line.

"What do you mean by breaking in like this?" demanded Miss Grayson, sternly quiet, though a pulse beat hurriedly in her throat.

Grinaldo fixed his narrow eyes on her. Angry red surged under the brownish pallor of his skin. She had taken his daughter, he said, his daughter who earned for him. Now he had come to fetch Tessa away. She would not be found a second time.

Tessa was staring at a window at the other end of the room, as if she did not hear Grinaldo's words, but Miss Grayson's eyes were on the thin, keen knife that flickered in his hand.

"If the lady screams or calls the police, I strike now," said Grinaldo softly, with a threatening gesture.

"Oh, no you don't!" cried Branton Ridgely, crashing in the window with his walking stick and vaulting over the sill with the jump that had won him a medal at college. Beyond were the amberlike lamps of his waiting hansom, the cabman whistling shrilly for the police. Miss Grayson saw as through a maze the things that followed, Ridgely's arm striking out and Grinaldo sprawling. She heard Tessa's cry of relief, the startled voice of Miss Elliston, who, panic stricken, was descending the stairs. Lastly came the police. It was Ridgely who told them the necessary details; it was Ridgely who calmed the excited Miss Elliston and half hysterical Tessa; it was Ridgely who came to Miss Grayson when it was all over with a fervent "Thank heaven, I was in time."

"How did you know"—

"Why, after you were gone I felt a premonition, so I took a cab and followed."

Miss Elliston had discreetly turned her back. Miss Grayson lifted a bunch of violets from a bowl on the table and held them out to him.

"Instead of laurels," she began tremulously.

"I couldn't—I can't—you see—that is"—stammered Ridgely, coloring to the roots of his hair.

Their eyes met.

"Oh," cried Miss Grayson, with a deep breath, "then it was you who sent them! And the money too."

"But the initials?" she questioned, perplexedly after a moment's silence.

"Stand for 'Earnest Trifler,'" he said lightly. "I thought I'd like to help, but I'm pretty much of a thick headed blunderbuss and didn't quite know how. You see, a trifler wouldn't stand much of a chance with you, would he, Miss Grayson?"

"An earnest trifler would," she answered, looking down at the violets she still held in her hand.

"Yes, really," said Miss Eleanor Grayson in a tone that made Ridgely's heart skip at least three beats.

Why They Cheered.

Dr. Whewell, master of Trinity college, Cambridge, was a great but unpopular man. When he entered the senate house it was the ill mannered practice of the undergraduates to begin a loud and continuous whistle.

"How this originated I do not know," writes Dean Farrar in his book, "Men I Have Known." "There were two legends about it. One was that it intimated that the master would have to whistle for a bishopric; the other, equally absurd, was that when some one had asked him how to pronounce his name he had said, 'You must shape your mouth as if you were going to whistle.'"

But under the rough manners of the students there was genuine goodness of heart. Dr. Whewell's wife died. He had been tenderly devoted to her, and when he attended chapel after her death the undergraduates were touched by an "old man's anguish and a strong man's tears."

"When next he entered the senate house," writes Dean Farrar, "there was dead silence. For the first time for I know not how many years not a whistle was heard, and then a moment afterward as by spontaneous impulse the whole crowded mass of undergraduates in the gallery burst into a loud and long continued cheer. It was not astonishing that such a proof of sympathy should move the heart of the great master or that the tears should run down his cheeks. I do not think that he was ever whistled at again."

Where Ignorance Was Not Bliss.

A story is told of a man who, crossing a disused coal field late at night, fell into an apparently bottomless pit and saved himself only by grasping a projecting beam. There he clung with great difficulty all night, only to find when day dawned that his feet were only four inches from the bottom.

A LESSON IN LAW.

Several Things the Philadelphia Drummer Didn't Know.

"Most of us think we know the law pretty well," said the Philadelphia drummer, "but I had a little experience to show me that there are several things in the statute books that I don't know. I was in a New England town and dropped into a barber shop to get shaved. There was only one barber, and he didn't look as if he knew putty. He turned out to be a pretty good shaver, however, and as I had had a drink just before entering the shop I fell asleep in the chair. I slept for half an hour, and when I awoke he was through with me. The first thing I missed on getting out of the chair was my roll of money, next my watch, next my overcoat, next and lastly my scarfpin. I went for that barber for all I was worth, but he denied robbing me, and his face wore a smile. Then I got a gait on me and went to a lawyer's office.

"'Can you prove by a credible witness that you had $90 in cash when you entered the barber shop?' he asked.

"I couldn't.

"'Can you prove that your watch was taken in the shop instead of being lost on the street?'

"I couldn't.

"'Are you sure that you had your pin on as you opened the door to enter?'

"I wasn't.

"'As to your overcoat,' continued the lawyer, 'have you a bill of sale of it, or was any one with you when you bought it? In other words, can you swear to the ownership in law of any particular overcoat?'

"I couldn't.

"'Then I can do nothing for you,' he said, and I went to a second lawyer to be told the same thing. I had left the shop without paying for my shave, and I was even told that the barber could arrest me for beating him out of 15 cents and have me fined $5. I believe I can quote Shakespeare correctly and distinguish between tea and sugar, but when it comes down to the law I am not in it. It's too kinky."—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

A PRIVATE DENTIST.

One Luxury This Man Will Have When He Gets Rich.

"If ever I get really rich," said the man with a toothache, "I shall have a private dentist. What do I want of a private dentist? Well, I'll tell you.

"It's bad enough anyway to suffer from your teeth, but to me this suffering is made doubly distressing by the circumstances attendant upon my visit to the dentist's office.

"I arrive there to find the dentist working away upon the teeth of some patient in his chair, and that always sort of disturbs me—to find somebody else being worked over and cared for while I wait in distress. I think I am entitled to all the care and sympathy. And maybe I find somebody else waiting, perhaps a friend of the person in the chair, or somebody waiting his turn, come ahead of time, and that disturbs me, for I like to wait with my pain in solitude.

"But the dentist gets through with the patient in the chair on time for me, and I take my place under his hands. And I don't doubt that I get his concentrated and complete attention and skill while he is operating upon me, but I can't get away from the idea that he is working as rapidly as he can so as to be ready for the next patient.

"And then, with all my pain, I can't forget either that person in the waiting room waiting his turn after me, and waiting without a particle of sympathy for me, and, in fact, rather impatient of my presence and thinking of himself alone. This is rather wounding to my self esteem.

"In fact, however I regard it, a visit to the dentist's office is always a jarring experience. My dentist is a man of the highest professional skill, and, as I said, I am sure I get his best care, but still all these familiar things that I have mentioned to you jar me, and I would avoid them all if I could. So when I get real rich I shall certainly have a private dentist."

Samuel Warren's Vanity.

The vanity of Samuel Warren, the author of "Ten Thousand a Year," in his early years of authorship at least, was remarkable, and there is a story told of him to the effect that on one occasion at a friend's house he had to take down to dinner a lady whom he had not met before, and as soon as they were seated at table asked her if she had ever heard of Samuel Warren. "Oh, certainly," was the reply. "My husband prefers Warren's blacking to any other. We always use it."—Westminster Gazette.

Pleasant.

"Tommy," said the young man to his prospective brother-in-law, aged five, "will you be sorry when I marry your sister?"

"Yes," answered the little fellow; "I'll be sorry for you."

The Difference.

Harry—Do you know the difference between capital and labor? Jack—No. Harry—Well, if I loaned you 25 cents, that would be capital, and if I tried to get it back, that would be labor.

The Drawback.

"So Snooks married his stenographer? Well, she doesn't have to work any more."

"Well, she doesn't draw wages any more."

RENFREW WOMAN DIED IN A DENTIST'S CHAIR; TOOK CHLOROFORM

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, August 14. — At Renfrew yesterday the unfortunate death in a dental chair took place of Mrs. Joseph Thompson, of Queen's Line, near Renfrew. She was at the dental office of Dr. J. D. Cameron, and was having a number of teeth etracted. She desired the administration of chloroform, which was successfully administered by Dr. S. H. Murphy, a physician, and the dental operation was performed by Dr. Cameron. The combined shock of operation and the chloroform proved fatal, and although every effort was made to revive Mrs. Thompson, she died in a few seconds. Dr. Murphy says the case is one in a thousand. Of course no blame is attached to anyone.

Big Automobile Firm Fails; Liabilities Of $25,000,000

Pope Manufacturing Company Goes to the Wall—Tightness of Money Market Reported as the Cause of Failure.

(J. R. Heintz & Co. Special.)

New York, August 14. — The Pope Manufacturing Company, one of the largest automobile manufacturing concerns in America, failed today, with liabilities of $25,000,000.

The news came as a sudden and painful shock to the financial and industrial interests of the country. The cause of the failure is reported to be the depressed condition of the money market.

A. O. Pope, the president of the company, has been appointed receiver by the courts. The Pope Manufacturing Company, has long been recognized as one of the most substantial concerns in the country, and was one of the pioneers in the bicycle manufacturing industry, shifting later to automobiles.

SIGNALLED RETURN BY OPENING THE BIDDING

After an enforced absence of more than a year, through illness Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald was again among the buyers at the meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board this morning, and was warmly welcomed both by the buyers and salesmen, the President in opening the meeting referring to the pleasure it gave him to see Mr. Fitzgerald back at the meetings of the board again. He opened the bidding, too, offering 10 3-4 cents per pound.

Serious Injuries Result Of Fall From Waggon

Norman McIntyre and George McEwen Hurt—Fell From Coal Wagon and Wheels Passed Over Their Bodies.

A TORONTO BOY HURT

This morning Norman McIntyre, a young son of Mr. Malcolm McIntyre, East City, and George McEwen were injured by falling off a wagon belonging to Messrs. Weir & McIntyre, coal and wood dealers, and as a result one of the boys is lying at the Nicholls Hospital in a serious condition. It appears that the boys were riding on the wagon, and on James street a sudden jolt threw them both off, and it is believed the wheels of the wagon passed over young McIntyre's chest, and over the chest and head of McEwen. The latter, who is in the city from Toronto, visiting, was taken to the Nicholls Hospital and young McIntyre was taken to his home.

The McEwan lad is a son of Mr. Robert McEwan, who until about a year ago lived in the city, and was manager for one year of the baseball team. He has been in the city visiting with Miss Graham.

A Masquerade Ball At Juniper Island Pavilion

Delightful Social Function at This Popular Resort—List of Those Participating and Their Costumes.

Special Staff Correspondent.

Juniper Island, Stony Lake, Aug. 14.—Great events are following in rapid succession at the lake this week, last evening being one of the gayest. The dancing pavilion was decorated in its prettiest garb for the hundred or more merry masqueraders who assembled to join in the first specialty of the season. In numbers the dance was not as successful as those in other years, due to the heavy gale which blew across the lake all day long. But from the variety and prettiness of the costumes the masquerade easily eclipsed those of the past. They bore testimony to the originality of the wearers, and lent a pleasant appearance to the popular spot—Juniper Island pavilion. The dance began with the evening twilight, and reigned supreme until almost midnight, when the gathering dispersed.

Among those in special masquerade costume for the occasion were the following:

Miss Henderson—Dresden Shepherdess.
Miss A Bradd—Western Girl.

OPERA HOUSE OPEN ON TUESDAY

"A Wife's Secret" the First Bill—House is Being Renovated for the Opening

A VAST IMPROVEMENT

The local theatre season will commence on Tuesday next, Aug. 20th, when the Grand Opera House will open with a strong presentation of melodrama "A Wife's Secret," a play that has been receiving favourable press notices wherever it has appeared. Two other strong attractions will be seen next week. On Thursday night "A Message From Mars," the play that made such a decided hit last year and was regarded by many as the most meritorious offering of the season, will be on the boards. Saturday Porter J. White's sumptuous production of Faust will be given with a matinee in the afternoon.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, the proprietors of the house, are making grand preparations for the opening and patrons will hardly recognise the theatre in its new guise. The lobby is being repainted and decorated most artistically in bright, but not gaudy colours, large mirrors will be placed on each side and the entrance will be made as beautiful as possible. It was the intention to have repainted the interior to have repainted the interior of the house from top to bottom, but owing to scarcity of men it will be impossible to carry out this work until next year.

Great improvements have been made, however. The facing of the boxes and the balcony and gallery as well as the columns of the stage have been painted white, making the house appear much brighter. Brass railings will be placed on the boxes and it is also planned to erect canopies over them.

The exterior will be repainted and decorated, greatly improving the look of the building from outside. Next year Messrs. Turner & Sons will apply to the council for permission to erect a glass porch over the pavement in front of the house for the convenience of patrons in inclement weather.

The Grand has been successful in booking a strong line of attractions for the season and a merry feast is before the local theatre goers.

The Reason Why

Zutoo

Is Used by Thousands.

It would probably surprise you to know how many thousands of people are using Zutoo Tablets who had never before used a headache cure.

This is due to three facts.
They tried the tablets.
The tablets cured their headache.
The tablets did not hurt them.

Like sensible people, they do not suffer from headache any more. They either let Zutoo ward off the headache—nip it in the bud—or assist nature in stopping it.

Which do you do? Do you suffer from headache or do you take Zutoo?

TOO MUCH SAMENESS

The following from the Hamilton Herald applies to, and can be read with profit in, Peterborough:

One disadvantage of a building boom is that work is done in too much of a hurry. This is doubtless true of the actual work of construction, but what we refer to more particularly is the designing of new houses. Architects as well as builders don't seem to have time enough for original designing.

Anyone who takes a walk through the new residential districts and glances at the hundreds of residences which have recently been built must be struck with the dead sameness in the style of architecture. The monotony is actually oppressive. Almost every new house of a value exceeding a thousand or fifteen hundred dollars must have its "colonial" verandah or columned porch, its dinghy little bay-window in exactly the same spot, the same attic finish. They look as if they were all turned out, ready-made, from one establishment—all built on the same pattern and differing only in size. The eye longs for something different. One yearns for the sight of an occasional old shack, interesting in its ugliness, to vary the monotony of the smug red-brick, white-pillared fronts.

Maybe it isn't the architects' fault, though. More likely it is the fault of the builders, who, knowing to a dollar what the standard type of house costs, prefer to run up that sort rather than spend time and risk a few dollars in working on fresh designs. As they build to sell, and have no difficulty in selling what they build, from a business point of view perhaps they are not so much to blame; but from an esthetic point of view they are.

If the foregoing had been written with specific reference to building conditions in Peterborough, it would not have been more to the point. There's an everlasting monotony of sameness in the style of, especially medium size, residence structures in Peterborough. A few years ago it was the plain rectangular structure, with the gable facing the street, and these were repeated in scores. Then came the rectangular structure with a little patch ascending one side of the front, with a pedimented gable and a square porch over the door, fitting into the semi-recess, with or without balcony. Then came another form of the rectangular house, with the gable facing the street front, recessed, shingled, and painted a staring green. This style and the other styles mentioned are not objected to in themselves. Many of the houses are types of neatness and artistic treatment of exterior. But what is objectionable is the deadly monotony of the everlasting green in the shingled gable. One house here and there relieved by other styles would be quite unobjectionable. There is an utter lack of originality in design, no thought of the fitness of the style to the situation. A specimen of originality is found in a beautifully neat and tasty cottage on Reid street, next north of Judge Weller's residence. The designer and builder have cooperated to give a new effect, not the least effective novelty being the shingled gable—covered with ornamental British Columbia cedar shingles, finished natural in oil. The effect is excellent, the rich brown of the oiled shingles blending with artistic harmony and variation of shade. Another house with unique treatment of the exterior is on the south side of Gilmour street, near the west end. The base of the verandah is solid, shingled from the ground and up to about six feet, with ornamental British Columbia cedar, with oblong grill work of spindles at the floor line on the front and sides. There are a great many houses here and there in different parts of the city different from the general run, but there is a dreary procession of houses built, like the cattle sheds in an exhibition grounds, on the same plan and with monotonous repetition of the same style of architecture. Whatever style of architecture is adopted, no objection can be reasonably made. The objection is to the slavish following of a particular model. Such a model, however fetching and handsome, loses its distinction if it becomes common. One may see ten houses on a street, of exactly the same style, but one could not find the ten wives of the builders wearing the same style of bonnet with the same trimmings. There can be individuality among buildings as there is among persons.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Explorer Peary can't find the North Pole, but he can always find an excuse for not finding it.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Premier of Great Britain, has sat in the House of Commons sixty-one years. So much sacrifice laid on the altar of patriotism, deserves a pension.

The Hague Peace Conference, if it has done nothing more, has reduced war to an amateur standing — there are to be no more money prizes —that is, there are to be no more —prize capturing.

A Toronto being, in the shape of a man, on a charge of brutally assaulting his wife, and threatening his infant child with a cart whip, remarked upon his eighteen months' sentence to the Central Prison — "I might be dead before then." And small loss, too. There is not much hope of betterment in a wife beater.

Among other matters to come before the Imperial Parliament is the ratification of the arrangement entered into between Great Britain and Russia. This arrangement which will create conditions favourable to peace, involves the settlement of certain matters affecting the frontier of India and Persia. It will remove any danger of conflict owing to rival interests on the north-west frontier of India and in Persia. International relations have always been in an acute condition owing to Russia's mala fides and her aggressive policy of encroachment and incitation to trouble. If the treaty will keep the Bear in his territory, seriously minding his own business, a great advance will have been made. The treaty spoken of, unlike that with France, will have no relation to domestic or fiscal interests, but will deal only with the boundary question.

There's food for thought in the fact that 20,000 men are needed to gather the Northwest crops, while there is, so to speak, standing room only, at the several colleges of the country. Apart from colleges, like the School of Practical Science, the output of our colleges, are not productive factors. They will largely live on the industry of others. This is not to say that the graduates of colleges will illegitimately absorb a large share of the wealth made by others, but they are not nation-builders, especially in the material sense, like even the navvy or the farmer, or the miner or manufacturer. A country to be properly balanced needs all classes, but the professional and the literary class should not have undue prominence. In a young country, while brawn, well-blended with brains, is the important factor, mind has its field of exploitation. Only we should be careful not to have a superfluity of the etherial at the expense of the material.

CANADA'S MINERAL TREASURES

Following closely after the meeting of the American Association of Mining Engineers, held at Toronto recently, the untold wealth of Canadian mines has taken on a new significance and already is attracting American and other investors. The New York Sun is evidently impressed with our great possibilities in the way of mineral development. Editorially, it says:—

"North and east of Lake Superior there lies a region as big as California, and as yet of only partially ascertained wealth. It is known to be rich in copper, nickel and silver, and comparatively recent discoveries of iron are giving weight to predictions that the value of that mineral lying there under the surface will yet prove to be far greater than the value of all the rest.

"Some very flattering comments are made by members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers. These gentlemen have recently made a trip through that country under the auspices of the Government of the Province of Ontario. They visited Sudbury and Cobalt, Copper Cliff and Temagami, and made various excursions into the surrounding country. They are reported as deeply impressed by the prospects of the region as a producer of iron. As yet little work is being done, from lack of smelters and facilities for transporting the ore. Those will come with the full proof that their installation is warranted by the quantity and the quality of the ore discovered.

"Iron suitable for steel-making, if it is found there in abundance, will mean a great deal to our northern neighbour. Her big steel plant at Sydney goes to Newfoundland for much of its ore supply, and the works at Sault Ste. Marie come to us for a goodly portion of their needs. It will mean much to Canada in many ways if she can make her own steel from her own iron and produce both iron and steel in quantities sufficient for her industrial needs.

"It may be several years before the resources of that district are even fairly known, but there is a present disposition to believe that they are both vast and valuable."

INSPECTOR EXPLAINS THE GRANTS

The New Regulations Respecting Grants to Rural Schools, is Explained by School Inspector, Rich. Lees

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly permit me to make a few words of explanation in regard to the grants to the rural schools? The general grant is now in the hands of the treasurer, and has been certified by the inspectors for payment to all the schools that have complied with the new regulations in regard to equipment. The others will receive their grants as soon as official notice is received that they have met the requirements.

This grant consists of—1, a fixed grant of $30 per school in all townships where the total assessment is less than an average of $30,000 per school section. This includes Belmont and Methuen, Burleigh and Anstruther, Chandos, Galway and Cavendish, and Harvey. 2, Forty per cent. of the salary paid the teacher in excess of $150 in the townships mentioned above, and the same percentage of the excess over $300 in the other townships; 3, a grant of $30 to every school in which a teacher holding a second-class or higher certificate is employed.

In addition to this there will be distributed later (before December 1), the special grant on equipment and accommodation, which will consist of —1, A percentage of the total value of the equipment, and, 2, a grant on accommodation based on the grading at last inspection, together with any improvements made since, of which due notice has been sent the inspector. The county pays the equivalent of this grant. The amount with this equivalent will be about an average of $23 per school.

There will also be a grant to all schools that purchased libraries between July 1, 1906, and June 30, 1907. It is not yet possible to say what this will amount to.

The grants to Continuation Classes are not included in the above. For this year they will be paid on the same basis as last year, but in future, according to an entirely new scheme, in regard to which full information can be obtained by those interested if they will communicate with the undersigned.

Thanking you for your courtesy, I am,

Yours respectfully,
RICHARD LEES,
P. S. Inspector.

A PELVIC DISEASE

Of Which Peruna Cured Me In a Very Short Time

WAS SAPPING MY LIFE.

MRS. SOPHIA CALDWELL.

MRS. SOPHIA CALDWELL, 1129 McGavock St., Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"After doctoring for a year and finding no relief from leucorrhea resulting from prolapsus uteri, and which was sapping my life forces away, I finally tried Peruna, and when I found that it was helping me every day, it seemed almost too good to be true.

"But, it not only helped me, it cured me and in a very short time.

"I am now enjoying the best of health.

"I am strong and free from pain, and I certainly feel that all praise and honor are due to Peruna."

Thousands of women will read the testimonial of Mrs. Caldwell as above given.

Thousands of them will be induced to try the remedy that saved her.

Thousands of them will have the same experience she had.

Peruna is the remedy such women need. Peruna comes like a boon to suffering womankind.

Mrs. John Hopp, Webster Ave., Glendale, L. I., N. Y., has also been relieved of pelvic catarrh by Peruna.

PORT PERRY IS ALARMED OVER SCUGOG'S LOW WATER

Is Lake Scugog passing? The Port Perry Star is authority for the statement that the water in the lake is fully two feet below its proper level—lower than ever known to be before. Lindsay boats are not venturing to Port Perry, and it is only with the greatest care that the Cora and Stranger are able to ply the lake waters. It is stated, too, that the mouth of the intake pipe from which the town gets its water supply, is only a foot or so under the lake surface and will be sure to freeze next winter. Waste and leakage at Lindsay are said to be the cause and the Government are asked to investigate the matter as it is a serious blow to Port Perry in several respects.

Those who took advantage of the outing were delighted with the trip over the Lift Lock and through the canal to Lakefield, and one of the gentlemen said that the work done during the summer by the Government along the west bank of the river, between Nassau and the village, in clearing up and burning the dead wood, stumps and rubbish, and thinning out the trees has done much to improve the beauties of the trip through this part of the Trent Canal.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the deseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube, when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Sufferings of the Dyspeptic

DUE TO NEGLECTING TO KEEP THE LIVER RIGHT, THE DIGESTION GOOD, THE BOWELS HEALTHY BY USING

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You may shudder to think of yourself as a dyspeptic—as one who, through stomach troubles, has come to look on the dark side of things, and to be ill-tempered and grouchy—but if you neglect treatment for repeated attacks of indigestion you will most assuredly become a chronic dyspeptic.

The great mistake is to put the blame on the stomach, and strive in vain for lasting benefit from tablets and so-called digestives. The real cause of trouble in nine cases out of ten is with the liver.

Thousands of persons are being cured of complicated cases of indigestion by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their direct action on the liver, thus ensuring a good flow of bile—good digestion and healthful action of the bowels.

Mr. C. D. Bennett, Maple Grove, Megantic Co., Que., writes: "I had dyspepsia very bad. The food would sour, my stomach would swell up, I suffered a great deal and could not sleep. As the result of using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I am now entirely cured, and can eat any kind of food without feeling any bad effects. They have made a new man and a younger man of me, and I cannot say too much in their praise.

"Dr. Chase's Ointment cured a friend of mine of piles when he was so bad he could not work or even stand up."

Mr. Wm. G. Purdy, Bridgetown, N. S., writes:—"When I wrote to you for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I was a sufferer from kidney disease, stomach troubles, and liver and bowel disorders. By using one pill at bedtime every night my health has gradually improved until I can say that I am in better health than I have been for twenty years. All other medicines failed, but Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me."

This treatment is thorough, far-reaching and of lasting benefit, and cures the most severe cases of chronic and intestinal indigestion, as well as biliousness and constipation; 25 cts. per box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A FORMER ENNISMORE RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Jeremiah McCarthy, Passed Away in Grand Forks, at Ripe Age of 87 Years —An Old Settler

At Grand Forks, North Dakota, July 21, 1907, Jeremiah McCarthy passed away at the ripe old age of 87 years. The late Mr. McCarthy, formerly of Ennismore, was born in the city of Cork, Ireland, in the year 1820. His father, with a large family, emigrated to Canada in 1825, and settled on lot 7, concession 4, Ennismore, where he lived for a period of 72 years, then he and his family moved to Grand Forks, North Dakota. The late Mr. McCarthy was one of the most respected citizens and one of the most popular men in the township at that time, having held the offices of reeve and county councillor for nearly 20 years. The late Mr. MacCrthy was a firm Irish Catholic, and his generous Irish heart would never allow him to close his door to the weary traveller that went by on the wayside. Mr. McCarthy in 1863 was married to Mary O'Donoghue who, with seven children, survive him; these are Mrs. P. F. Flood, Ennismore; Mrs. Michael Doyle, Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. John Crough, of North Dakota; also Katie, Eugene, Dan and James, residing at home.

BLUE DEVILS

Get Rid of Indigestion and Things Will Look Bright and Joyous

Until the prescription known as Mi-o-na stomach tablets was put up in popular form as a safe and effective cure for sick headache, indigestion and stomach troubles, the "blue devils" made everything look dark, gloomy and depressing.

After a few days use of Mi-o-na the sick headache, dizzy feeling, ness, bad taste in the mouth, distress after eating—all these are symptoms of a weak stomach — will disappear, and with perfect digestion there will be a joyous and beautiful outlook.

Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets are sold only in 25 neat metal box convenient for the vest pocket and cost 50 cts. Mr. Madill has seen so may cures made by Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets, that he gives a guarantee with every box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction.

Kilkenny, Aug. 12.—The residents of the Boschink section were given considerable excitement on Friday afternoon, when one of the guests at Kilkenny discovered Pine Island to be in flames. A general alarm was given, and in a very short time canoes, boats and launches appeared from all parts, loaded with pails. Bucket brigades were formed, and after several hours of hard work the flames were finally brought under control. A picnic party from another part of the lake had built a small fire to prepare dinner, and had not taken the precaution to extinguish it before leaving, causing it to spread to the surrounding dry bushes. The island is a beautiful one, containing three acres, and covered with pine trees. The fire swept about one-half of it, but, fortunately, did not destroy many of the large trees. The heat was so intense that the fire-fighters had to relieve themselves at intervals by plunging into the lake. Mr. I. N. Ackerman of Norwood, the owner of the island, appeared on the scene of the conflagration shortly after it started, having seen the smoke from his cottage on another island a short distance away.

One of the most gallant feats of the day was performed by Mr. "Dickie" Meredith of Toronto, a guest at Kilkenny. One of the young ladies had been surrounded by the flames on a high point of the burning island. "Dickie" rushed through the fire and carried the thoroughly frightened young woman down the steep rocks to a place of safety. Hearty cheers were given by the hundreds of spectators. Mr. Meredith has distinguished himself on former occasions in a similar way.

Miss Reddick of Toronto secured several snapshots of the bucket brigade, composed of Mr. Chas. Starr of Toronto, Mr. Rice of Toronto, the Messrs Hyde, Montreal; Mr. Miller, Pittsburg; Mr. Meredith, Toronto; Mr. Rupert Dorell, Detroit, and a number of others.

Mr. Ackerman invited the fire-fighters to his beautiful summer residence for supper, but his kind invitation had to be refused on account of previous engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Fyler, Miss Fyler, Miss McCulloch and Mr. Grenfell Fisher of Toronto left on Tuesday after a pleasant holiday at Kilkenny.

Mr. E. W. Holat, of Boston, Mass., formerly of Peterborough, was a guest at Kilkenny last week.

Messrs J C and C E Hyde of Montreal left on Saturday after a two weeks' stay at Kilkenny. They are greatly missed by the young ladies.

The Lee party of Toronto are spending their annual holiday at Kilkenny.

Mrs. Tibbits, Miss Tibbits, Miss Campbell, Miss Smith, Miss Mabel Smith, Miss Todd and Miss Gange of Toronto are at Kilkenny.

Messrs. Louis Potvin and Will O'Brien of Peterborough are spending a few holidays at Kilkenny.

Through the joint efforts of Messrs. Dorell, Hyde and Moore, Mr. McCready's launch "Argo" has been put in good running condition.

Mr. Chas. Grylls of the American Camp caught two large lunge Saturday morning.

MANY PEOPLE GOING WEST

C. P. R. Will Run Additional Homeseekers' Excursions

"The North west provinces are attracting a big crowd of people this summer," said a visiting C.P.R. official, going on to say that in view of the volume of traffic his management has decided to run cheap round-trip excursions along into October, a decidedly new departure. That is to say, the well-known home-seekers' excursions will leave Toronto Tuesdays, Aug. 27, Sept. 10 and 24, as advertised, and also Tuesdays, Oct. 8 and 22. Second-class tickets will be on sale to Winnipeg and all important western towns at remarkably low rates, with a return limit of sixty days.

It should be kept in mind that these tickets are honoured in tourist sleeping cars, which are attached to each excursion train, and in which berths can be secured at low rates. On all the excursions this summer space has been at a premium, and to make sure of a berth it is advisable to reserve at least two weeks before one intends leaving. The local C.P.R. ticket agent is well posted, and will be glad to give anyone further information. 2d-1w

A HORRIBLE DISASTER

Examiner Special.

Mount Pleasant, Aug. 14. — The San Francisco "Call" of July 23, 1907, says:—"While churning its way northward through smooth water and under the mantle of a gallant summer night, the passenger steamship Columbia, bound from San Francisco to Portland, was rammed at midnight on Saturday, July 20, 1907, by the lumber-laden steamer schooner San Pedro. The Columbia sank within 11 minutes. There were 249 souls on board the Columbia when the colliers came together. The lives of 182 have been saved. Capt. Doran went down with his steamer. His last words were 'Good-bye, God bless you.' Of the 67 missing, Mrs. Jane E. Best, wife of the late David Best, is one of them. She was on her way to Grand Forks, Dakota, to visit her daughter, who lives there." Mrs. Jane E. Best spent many of her young days in Mount Pleasant, and was known before her marriage as Jane E. King, sister of Mr. King, a former resident of the city of Peterborough, who is now living in the Northwest. We desire to express our sympathy with the bereaved family. Her son, Dr. Best, and his wife were passengers on the Columbia. They are counted among the saved.

The Cavan swamp drain, or canal, is being pushed on rapidly. The steam digger cut its way through the gravel road on the middle line of Cavan on the 9th inst. On the day previous large numbers came from Millbrook, Omemee and the surrounding country to see the digger doing its work in opening the canal that may in the future form part of the great Trent Valley Canal. Russell, Brooks and Hilton, the contractors, are pushing the work along rapidly.

Mr. T. W. McLeur has returned from visiting Elmslee, Toronto and Niagara Falls.

Mr. John Gilmour Is Now Perfectly Well

Hope Township Man Who Suffered From Temporary Mental Derangement at Home Again and in Good Health.

THE REPORTS MISLEADING

Mr. and Mrs. John Gilmour of Hope Township are in the city visiting friends for a few days. It will be remembered that in June a report was published to the effect that Mr. Gilmour had become insane. His friends will be glad to learn that he has now completely recovered, and, in fact, was in the asylum only a few weeks. The story of the circumstances leading up to his confinement in the asylum, as told by persons in the neighbourhood and reported in the press at the time was misleading in many respects. It is believed that Mr. Gilmour's temporary derangement was the result of the shock following the realization of the attempted suicide on the part of his brother. There was no quarrel between the two brothers and no disagreement over property, as was suggested at the time.

Mr. Gilmour is now in perfect health, and all traces of his trouble, which was more in a nature of brain fever than insanity, have disappeared. His brother, Wellington, too, is in good health now.

Peterborough Preacher Took Sunday Services

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Conducted the First Service in New Pavilion at Crowe's Landing Sunday Night.

A SATURDAY CONCERT

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, Aug. 13.—Sunday is always a lovely day at Stony Lake, largely because of its quietness and the opportunities given for spending it in a way becoming to a Christian people. The Sunday service on Juniper Island, in the pavilion, is growing in popularity with the cottagers, and is looked forward to with great pleasure. Last Sunday's service was attended by the largest number of people this season. Though the day was very cool, yet the weather was ideal, and it was, therefore, no wonder that about 400 people were present. The pavilion was crowded, and a large number were sitting and standing on the rocks surrounding the pavilion. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt of Peterborough conducted the Church of England service and preached the sermon. His subject was "The Six Cities of Refuge," the names of which he interpreted as being the attributes and offices of Christ. The singing was very hearty. Miss Acton presided at the piano. Master Clarence Quarrington delighted the congregation with a sacred solo, entitled "There is a green hill far away." The offertory was a very liberal one and was given to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

On Saturday evening a concert was held at Juniper Island pavilion, which was attended by a large number of cottagers. It was held under the auspices of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association to raise funds for the purchase of a new piano, or the repair of the old one. Hon. J. L. Graham of San Juan, Porto Rico, was the chairman. The programme consisted of vocal solos, and duets, rendered by the Quarrington brothers of Toronto, and an instrumental duet on guitar and mandolin. After the concert a dance was held, which was patronized very largely.

At Crowe's Landing

The first service was held in the new pavilion last Sunday night, conducted by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, rector of St. Luke's Church, Peterborough. Although the pavilion is not quite ready for occupation, the seats being very primitive, and no lights as yet being put in, this lessened, in no wise, the attendance nor the heartiness of the service. A large attendance was present. The service was of a very informal nature, consisting largely of the singing of hymns. Dr. Langfeldt preached from Colossians III., 11: "Christ is all in all." Regular services will be held every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

WEDDING BELLS

HANRAHAN-FOLEY

A recent copy of the Rochester Democrat-Chronicle has a report of a wedding which took place in that city, and which will be read with interest in this county. It is as follows:

The marriage of J. J. Hanrahan and Miss Josie Foley, formerly of Lakefield, Ontario, was solemnized at the Cathedral yesterday morning, at eight o'clock, by Rev. Father Burns. The bride wore silk net over chiffon and a white hat, and carried a pearl prayer book and beads, the gift of the groom. They were attended by Miss Mary and William Foley, sister and brother of the bride. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Hanrahan left for Buffalo and Niagara Falls. On their return they will reside at No. 50 Elizabeth street.

FRISE-SHILES

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place this morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Frise, 176 McDonel street, when her daughter, Lily, became the bride of Mr. C. Everett Shiles, formerly of New Westminster, B.C., but now of the Statistical Department of Customs, Ottawa. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. P. Wilson of Belleville in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. J. C. Miller. Little Miss Ola Parker made a very charming flower girl. The bridesmaid was Alzena Frise, sister of the bride, and Mr. W. P. Hetherington assisted the groom.

The happy couple left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train for a honeymoon trip to the Pacific Coast.

J. J. Turner & Sons,

Gentlemen,—

The electric sign that I ordered from you some time ago arrived safely and has been placed in position. I regret that I have been unable to write you at an earlier date to tell you that I am very much pleased with it in every way, and thank you for the care and good workmanship that has been put upon it. I believe it will be a good advertising medium and help bring new business.

Yours very truly,

The members of these association feel that they are very much indebted to the proprietors of the steamer and for the success of the picnic.

The Foresters who trimmed the Hibernians in the tug of war have received a caddy of smoking tobacco as a prize. It was presented by the Empire Tobacco Co., of Montreal.

There's Danger in Every Cold

Once you come to realising the danger of neglecting coughs and colds you will not run the risk of depending on any cough mixture the druggist may choose to hand you out and will insist on getting a medicine with a reputation such as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Croup, bronchitis, asthma and coughs and colds are promptly and thoroughly cured by this treatment.

John McClary A Great Captain Of Industry

Formerly Owner of a Small Tinshop, Now Head of the Largest Stove and Tinware Concern Under the British Flag

To very few men is the privilege given of witnessing a celebration as that of which Mr. John McClary, of London, was the centre during the week that ended on July 13th. For during that week a series of splendid jubilations marked what was the sixtieth anniversary of the McClary Manufacturing Company. To only a few men is it given to see their business grow to such immense success as that achieved by Mr. McClary, but fewer still are granted the happiness of enjoying, with undimmed keenness of intellect, the celebration of its sixtieth birthday. This was Mr. McClary's pleasant experience, and in his enjoyment of it he has had the felicitations of his great army of employees and of friends from ocean to ocean.

This sixtieth anniversary is noteworthy, not only because it relates to the largest concern of its kind under the British flag, but because it has thrust before the attention of the people of Canada a man whose achievements make him one of the very greatest captains of industry this country has yet produced. John McClary is a Napoleon, but unlike the destructive leader of France whose career brought but desolation, he is a Napoleon of the arts of peace, who has made homes grow and brought prosperity and comfort to thousands of people.

To John McClary the past sixty years has meant a change from the control of a small tinship to the possession of the largest establishment of its kind in Canada. The Company's plant in London now covers two enormous blocks of land, while there are also important establishments in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Hamilton and St. John. Over 1,300 employees are on the Company's pay rolls, of whom over seven hundred are married men, supporting homes .More than $600,000 is paid in wages annually. These are a few figures which will give the reader an impression of the size of the plant as it is at present and of its importance to the community.

Mr. McClary has always been, and is still the guiding head of this tremendous business. He remains even at his present age a man of unusual and remarkable ability. A man of great business foresight and sound judgment, he was one of the first to see the approaching development of Western Canada and with it many years prosperity for all Canada. He early backed his judgment in this respect by planning to meet this development, with the result that nowhere in Canada is the name McClary better known than in the newly settled sections of the West. He has always been and remains one of the most enterprising business men in Canada; sparing no money or pains to attain an end that his judgment told him could be won. This is well illustrated in the magnificent advertising campaigns this Company has entered into in all the Canadian papers, which have made the McClary products known in all the homes from ocean to ocean.

Though the McClary Company is Mr. McClary's first care and its success his greatest gratification, it is not the only successful company that shares in the benefit of his business acumen and experience. He is also President of the London Life Insurance Company, and the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, and a Director of the London & Western Trusts Company.

It is not generally known that Mr. McClary is a descendant of one of the most famous families of the United States—the celebrated Adams family of Massachusetts, his grandmother having been a niece of John Quincy Adams, the second President of the United States and first cousin of the sixth President, also John Quincy Adams. Another ancestor, General Stark, fought for England against the revolutionists .It will thus be seen that he comes of stock which is used to the accomplishment of big enterprises.

Mr. McClary's general health is so good now that he will undoubtedly enjoy many years more watching the continued development of the business he started sixty years ago.

REGATTA AT UPPER STONY LAKE

First Event of This Kind Will Be Held Next Week—Dance on Friday

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, Aug. 14. — The first annual regatta of the Upper Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, will be held on Thursday of next week at Crowe's Landing, and promises to be a most interesting event. There will be a long programme of aquatic events, including sailing races, canoe and skiff events, upset race, tilting, tug of war, etc. The course is an ideal one, the sloping shore, the pavilion and Belvidere summer resort, making splendid points from which to watch the events, as every foot of the course can be seen from there.

In the evening there will be the presentation of prizes, and a grand masquerade ball. Arrangements are being made for a special boat service from the lower end of the lake.

On Friday of this week there will be "an old time dance" at the pavilion under the patronage of Mrs. A. Gibson and Mrs. LeBrun. An enjoyable evening is expected. Only the dances of years ago will be used.

The second concert of the season will be held in the pavilion on Monday next. A good programme is being prepared for the occasion.

Safest Medicine for Women's Complaints

Women certainly do neglect themselves. They work too hard—over-tax their strength—and then wonder why they suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex.

Most cases of female trouble start when the bowels become inactive—the kidneys strained—and the skin not cared for. Poisons, which should leave the system by these organs, are taken up by the blood and inflame the delicate female organs.

Fruit-a-tives

remove the CAUSE of these diseases. "Fruit-a-tives" sweeten the stomach—make the bowels move regularly every day—strengthen the kidneys—improve the action of the skin—and thus purify the blood.

"Fruit-a-tives" take away those distressing headaches, backaches and bearing-down pains, and make women well and strong. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices, intensified, with tonics and antiseptics added. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all druggists'—or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. n8

HIRED MAN STOLE THE OUTFIT

Was Working But Two Days and Stole the Horse and Buggy

SLIGHT TRACE FOUND

A farmer named Seabrook living at Fraserville, is minus a horse and buggy valued at least at $200.00, his hired man, Richard Graham, of Port Hope, having made away with it yesterday morning. Mr. Seabrook was without farm help and was anxious to get some one, when this fellow came along on Saturday morning and expressed himself as willing to work. He was hired by the farmer and worked all day Saturday and Monday, and was busy in one of the fields driving a scuffler on Tuesday. He broke one of the prongs about nine o'clock and Mr. Seabrook told him to jump on one of the horses and ride to the blacksmith's shop in Fraserville and have it repaired.

Nobody noticed him go away but when his prolonged absence was remarked, the horse and buggy were found to be missing and Mr. Seabrook himself went to the blacksmith shop to find out what was detaining him. He found out that Graham had left the piece of iron but had disappeared forthwith. Graham did not return and Mr. Seabrook's worst fears were realized. Many suspicions that he had but faintly entertained were now brought vividly home to him and he thinks the man is a regular horse-thief.

The farmer was in the city to-day and got busy on the telephone. Havelock, Norwood, Hastings and other places were notified, but Mr. Seabrook learned that a man answering Graham's description was seen on Aylmer street yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, going north, evidently making for Bobcaygeon, Lindsay or some northern town.

The buggy was a Tudhope manufacture without a top. It was rather old and unwashed. He was driving a bay mare which was distinguished by a white spot on the face and one white hind foot. Grdham claims Port Hope as his home. He was apparently 21 years of age, slightly stooped and with a lurking expression to his face.

INSPECTOR BALL CLOSES SPRING

Source of Water Supply at McCracken's Landing Poluted and Water Must Not be Used

Inspector Ball is making an official visit to Stony Lake to investigate the quality of the water supply for drinking and domestic purposes. As a result of his investigations he has directed the closing of the spring at McCracken's Landing. This spring has been regarded as the most sparkling and best tasting water on the lakes, but the proximity of a slaughter house and stable yard give suspicion, at least, of pollution of the water by organic matter.

YOUNG MAN BADLY BATTERED

Says He Was Struck Without Provocation by a Man He Was Treating

FACE AND HEAD CUT

An inexcusable attack was made on a man who was drinking with several others in one of the local hotel bars on Civic Holiday evening, and the guilty party should be punished for the offence. This man was in company with three others in the C. P. R. Hotel bar, so the report goes, and they had each treated, and it came his turn. He called for another, which was served, and he placed a dollar bill on the bar in payment. He received his change and put it in his pocket, when, without the least provocation, the man on his left, whom he knows, struck him twice on the face. In quick succession, he received a third blow on the right side of his head, just below his eye. This stunned him, and a fourth cut, which was inflicted on his forehead between his eyes, was sustained, so one of his friends say, by a kick.

The man was seen going up George street afterwards with his face covered with blood, and, as he said himself afterwards, there was blood even in his boots.

On his way to his bourding-house people saw his condition and followed him, it being in the centre of the city. The proprietor of the house came to meet him, and, without thinking, laid the blame on one of the crowd, and, catching hold of him, threw him into the street. By this time quite a crowd had gathered and the police were called. They dispersed the mob just as more trouble was about to commence.

The man who was the victim of the unwarranted assault in the hotel bar declined to take legal action, but, according to one of his friends, he will get even with those who did the deed, as he knows one of them and will find out the others.

A FINANCIAL CHAOS IS PREDICTED

John D. Rockefeller Replies to the Anti-Trust Campaigners.

MAKES OMINOUS PROPHECY

Will Not Name President Roosevelt—Present Policy Sends Business Interests to the Rocks — Oil King Says He Is Through With Business and Is Happier Than He Has Been For Many Years.

Cleveland, Aug. 14.—John D. Rockefeller's answer to President Roosevelt's anti-trust litigation campaign is a prophecy of financial disaster that will sweep the country from end to end.

Mr. Rockefeller had just finished his game of golf. Apparently he had thought over very carefully everything he said. He stood beneath the shade of a big beech tree. During a portion of the two hours that he talked with a New York World reporter he had his arm over the latter's shoulder. When he became particularly earnest he gesticulated by striking the palm of one hand with the index finger of the other.

"What, in your opinion, will be the effect on the country of the present policy of the President toward great business combinations?" Mr. Rockefeller was asked.

"The policy of the present administration," Mr. Rockefeller said earnestly and deliberately, "toward great business combinations of all kinds have only one result. It means disaster to the country, financial depression and financial chaos.

"The world already has a fair dose of this, since the extreme penalty imposed on one corporation, with a limited number of shareholders, has caused a loss of confidence, reflected in a falling stock market; a tightening of money, and a fear of the future. The newspapers are full of this slump, and reflect the feeling of unrest. They ascribe it to but one thing.

"What will be the effect when similar action is taken against corporations with myriads of stockholders scattered throughout the country, the investors, the widows, the orphans? There can be but one answer. The present situation will be intensified many fold. It does not require an expert to reason this out. The most superficial thinker can do it.

"I will go further and say to-day, that because of the administration with its reports every five minutes of new actions and of heavy fines, the country is already beginning to drift toward the rocks of financial depression.

"Confidence is gone, and confidence is the basis of all prosperity. With confidence established there can be no stopping of the wheels of progress. Without it all is at a standstill.

"I do not need your stock market report, your editorials, your predictions and forebodings to prove to myself the truth of my words. I have another way of knowing absolutely—a way which has never failed me in the long years of my business career. That is the way I am judging the financial situation—from the attitude of the financial world toward myself. Let me illustrate.

"There was a time not long ago before the present runaway, hit or miss, impulsive agitation began, that I would be called up on the telephone, say by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., say by Mr. Morgan's office, and in terms asked if I wanted to come in a syndicate, and a certain allotment of shares would be given to me, but I was also told that I would have to make immediate answer. If my reply was that I needed several days for consideration, the telephone receiver would be hung up in all likelihood. When I called several days later, and said I would go in the syndicate I would be curtly informed that I had lost my opportunity; that the syndicate had been completed.

"What is the situation now? I am called and asked to participate in many syndicates, but in none of them is the time for decision fixed on the instant. Instead of the former attitude, I know they are content to wait my decision, and I know there is no danger that I will be too late.

"I can judge in another way. Requests are coming to me to-day for money from quarters it was least expected would be asking for money some time ago. To-day I was offered the unprecedented interest of 7 per cent. for $1,000,000, or $2,000,000, or $3,000,000. The security was beyond all criticism. That would be impossible in this country if there was confidence enough to unlock the money vault of the country.

"I know that the railroads of the United States to-day are unable to borrow money for any length of time. Formerly they could obtain it for eight or ten years in great amounts. They are very well satisfied to take anything they can get now for a short term. Recently I was offered call trusts, one of the safest possible investments, at the rate of 6 3-4 to 7 per cent., and they were very glad to give that rate although there is a margin on the safety side of these loans.

"I judge of the conditions of the country by these things I have told you, and by others which come directly under my notice or under the notice of my personal representatives, my son, and others.

"It is really of no great moment to me. I am through with business. Loss or gain no longer affects me. I am content as I am to-day. I am in better health than I have been for many years. I am happier than I have been for twelve years or more.

"Why are men making these offers to me now? It is because of a lack of confidence. Not a lack of confidence in the resources of the country, not because there is any danger of foreign entanglements, not because of crop failures, nor of the monetary policy, nor of any social condition, but a lack of confidence in this administration."

Valuable Catch.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 14.—The schooner Vera of the Victoria sealing fleet, arrived here yesterday with a catch of 20 sea otter and 238 sealskins. The catch is the most valuable brought into the port for several years. Otter skins are worth from $900 to $1,000, and in addition the sealskins will bring the value to $26,000. The otter were secured in the vicinity of the Coppe Islands. The schooner Casco was reported July 31, with 18 otter.

Keys Lost

A gentleman left a bunch of keys in the Post Office drawer on Civic Holiday morning. Returning to get them again, he found that they had been taken out, evidently by some party, with the intention of leaving in the post office or police station, for the owner. The finder has evidently neglected this, and the inconvenience to to which the loser has been put is very considerable. If the party who took the keys will kindly return to the Examiner office, he will be conferring a special favour.

Direct Won 2:17 Class At The Race Meet Yesterday

Petawawa Horse Took Feature Event After Four Heats--- Most Successful Meet Ever Held in Peterborough ---The Results

The best meet in the history of the Peterborough Turf Club was brought to a successful close yesterday afternoon, when the second days' racing took place. There was a large crowd present and they were thoroughly satisfied with the programme provided. A strong wind blew straight down the stretch, making things decidedly disagreeable for drivers and spectators, to say nothing of the horses. Despite this handicap the time made in the different events was very fast.

Billy C., owned by W. Leith, of Millbrook, cleaned up the 2.30 class in straight heats, although Little Girl and Peggy gave him a good race for the money.

It took an extra heat to decide the 2.17 class, which was finally captured by Direct, owned by Van Woodruff, of Oshawa. Orillia Belle made things interesting during the first two heats capturing the first and finishing second in the next. There were some close finishes and the race was very interesting.

Marios Carlos and Cobourg Maid were the only entries in the half mile running race, and the local horse took the big end of the purse without trouble.

Following is the summary:

PROFESSIONAL RACES

Arrangements are now complete for the regatta at Chemong to-morrow, and the predictions, based upon circumstances which warrant them, are made that it will be in every respect the most successful in the history of this annual event.

The visiting ladies will be the guests of the Chemong ladies at tea, which will be served in a marquee.

In addition to the events on the printed programme, there will be a purse of $15 for Indians' single paddling races and another prize for sailing boats under 18 feet.

CHARGE OF INDECENT ASSAULT

James Finnie Appeared in Court Charged With a Serious Crime

HE WAS REMANDED

Mr. Jas. Finnie was arraigned before Acting Magistrate Adams at the police court this morning on the charge of having indecently assaulted a little girl under the age of 14 years. Finnie was in East City yesterday where the child says he made the attempt, and when the father took her to the police station last night she gave a description of the man. The father believed him to be at one of the East City hotels and asked the police to take his daughter over to ascertain if she could point him out. Chief Russel demurred at this, but sent P. C. Meharry with the father to find the guilty person if possible on the strength of the description given by the girl.

Their trip resulted in the arrest of Finnie, who answered to the description of the little girl and her brother who had been with her at the time.

Mr. Finnie pleaded not guilty to the charge and was remanded until Saturday morning, when he will appear before Magistrate Dumble. He is a middle aged man, is said to be a resident of Peterborough and a widower. His hair is gray and his moustache turning from dark to that colour and he is under the medium height.

The exact circumstances are not known, but the father of the girl declared that both his children recognized the prisoner last night. The most fortunate part of the affair is that the man who made the attempt was frustrated from carrying out his nefarious deed.

Over in Bohemia

about 52 miles from Prague, lies the town of Pilsen. It was at Pilsen that Pilsener beer was originated.

If you have travelled through that part of Germany, you probably recall with pleasure the delicious light beer which was served.

When you drink O'Keefe's "Pilsener" Lager, you will instantly recognise the delicious lager of Bohemia. It's brewed from the same formula used by the brewmasters of Pilsen. Being brewed here in Canada, of course there is no duty to pay on it. That's why it costs so much less than imported lagers, not as good.

All hotels, cafes and dealers have

TELEGRAPH WIRES WERE BUSY

During Latter Part of the Afternoon Messages Began to Come From Offices in the Strike Region

During the early part of to-day the local offices of the telegraph companies found difficulty in getting messages to offices in the strike zone, but later in the afternoon the wires began to get active, and messages which, during the early part of the day, had been scarce, came in bunches. Commercial messages were delivered as promptly and as satisfactorily as was possible under the existing conditions. The local operators are all at work still, and there is no danger of trouble here.

Terrific Gale Lashed Stony Lake Into Foam

Mr. Geo. H. Williamson and His Sister Had a Narrow Escape ---Were Rescued by the Alberta---Idaho Had a Perilous Voyage to Boschink

Special Staff Correspondent.

A fire which threatened to do considerable damage started Monday night on Big Island, Stony Lake, recently purchased by Hon. J. R. Stratton. A general alarm was sounded and Mr. Stratton's steam yacht, the "Alberta," was transformed into a fire boat, and gathered up the following fire-fighters: — Messrs. Clifford Cramer, Joe Hughes, C Leith Speiden, Albert Allen, Sherman McCracken, N E Bell, of the Victoria House; Bob Chalk, R C Eakins of Stearnall; Jack Davis, of Mount Julian; J Simpson, of Lakefield; John Hickey, of Strathormond; Arthur Piper, of Kimo, and Mr. Smith and two sons of Rochester, N.Y.

On reaching the scene of the fire the corps quickly lined up and the rapidity and dexterity with which the buckets were passed along was amazing. Mr. Smith held the nozzle and directed the stream in an efficient manner.

The fire had worked over the northern end of the island and had burned the underbrush and destroyed many fine trees. It was gradually eating its way towards the centre of the island against the wind. Had the wind been in another quarter nothing could have saved the island from being swept by fire from end to end. The fire boys worked like Trojans and after unnumerable buckets full had been poured on the advancing flames the progress of the fire was effectually stopped and it gradually burned itself out.

Late reports indicate a considerable fall in Stony Lake waters, but whether the large supply used to quench the flames on Big Island is responsible we are unable to say.

The fire was not without its humorous incidents. One of the volunteers was observed enveloped in a cloud of steam industriously throwing water all around him and yelling excitedly for more water. Several other members of the brigade run to the rescue, but upon investigation found that he was trying to put out a rock. At one place the buckets had to be passed up a sheer ascent of 25 or 30 feet and the manner in which the company of flame fighters did it was sufficient to make the Zonave wall climbers turn green with envy. During the proceedings one of the boys at the top slipped and the ones below received an unwelcome shower bath.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Several explanations were offered, but among the most plausible are a spark from a passing steamer, or a match, cigarette or cigar end, carelessly thrown by a visitor to the island. The underbrush is very dry at the present time and it easily ignited.

Big Island was not the only spot where bush fires have been raging during the last week. For three days a fire has been making rapid progress near Hurricane Point in the Burleigh Channel and from latest reports Fairy Lake Villa where Mr. S. R. Armstrong and family are summering was in great danger from the flames. Yesterday evening they had crawled out to the edge of the point and were within a few rods of the Villa on Mr. Wm. Irwin's island. It was also reported that if Fairy Lake Villa was burned nothing but a miracle would save Headlands Cottage from the flames. Large pine trees have been burned and have been seen falling in the boat channel a long distance away and gave fears are entertained for the safety of many cottages. The origin of the fires still remains a mystery.

Big Gale Yesterday

The lake was yesterday visited by one of the strongest gales of the season. There were few who ventured out on the troublesome water, and many of those who did were sorry for it and had to be assisted to again reach their summer homes. In the morning, Mr. G. H. Williamson of Peterborough, and his sister, Mrs. Wm. Dobie of Toronto, were hopelessly stranded on Majestic Island. They had left Sandy Point for some provisions at Juniper Island store, but the waves on Clear Lake prevented their return. The skiff was tossed about for many minutes before it finally rested on the western side of Majestic Island. The steam yacht Alberta happened along shortly after and rescued the two from peril. It would have been absolutely impossible for them to have reached Sandy Point in safety in such a terrific gale.

The gasoline launch Idaho carried a party from the Victoria House to Boschink also in the morning. On several occasions it appeared as if it would be enveloped by a monster wave, but nevertheless it always appeared on the surface again. The party reached Boschink with the loss of a lamp and other paraphernalia, which were blown overboard. Only a few of the more nervy ventured back again, the remainder being more content to pay their passage on the steamer Empress than to risk their precious lives in a return voyage.

The guests at the Victoria House spent last evening in a most pleasant manner. The lake being rough, only a few ventured across to the masquerade; but, through the kindness of the proprietors, the hotel was opened to a merry crowd of dancers, including the boys of the Eko Camp, the guests and their friends.

Personal Mention

Miss Mary McGraw of Toronto is visiting at the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford F. Smith of Toronto and Mr. Gordon J. Smith of Paris are at Shota.

Mr. A. P. Earle, manager of the Reliance Insurance Co., Pittsburg, is a guest at Springside cottage.

A party of Toronto and New York people are spending an outing on Mr. R. B. Rogers' house-boat, the "Lotus."

Mr. A. O. Meyers of Peterborough is spending his holidays at the lake.

Mrs. P. H. Pearce, Peterborough; Mrs. J. MacPherson and Miss Marjory MacPherson, Detroit, and Mr. Herbert Murray, Cobalt, are at Glen Oak cottage.

Miss Margaret Heffernan of Peterborough is a guest at South Beach.

Mr. J. E. Sullivan of Peterborough is at Young's Point for a holiday.

Sanitary Inspector George Ball is spending a few days at the various hotels looking after the condition of the water supply. He has ordered the closing of the spring at McCracken's.

The Eko boys are at Hendrin's cottage for a couple of weeks. The camp this year includes Messrs. J. Comstock, S., Caniff, R. H. Bradburn, John Gemmell, M. Comstock, B. Caniff.

To-day, further reports of the results in the junior teachers' examinations, qualifying the successful candidates to enter the Model or Normal Schools, are given. Those who were successful from this county are:—J E Barrie, P Barrie; S Burgess, honours; M. Clark, honours; J Q Coughlan, honours; W Falkner, K Heffernan, G Howson, A G Hunter, B S Knox, C W Lees, M I Miller; F G Niebel, honours; T S Prindle, I A Shea, M Sanderson, A Taylor, M E Throop, J Waddell, C Young.

The requirements are 40 per cent on each paper and 60 per cent. of the total number of marks. This higher standard has, of course, caused a larger number of failures than there used to be in the days of 50 per cent., but the results as a whole are satisfactory.

One of the successful candidates, Miss Carrie Young, is only 16 years of age, and her scholastic course has been a most brilliant one. She is a daughter of Mr. John Young of Emismore, and attended the Continuation Classes in the Emismore school, later going to Lindsay.

SKUNK EMPTIED THE THEATRE

These Animals Caused a Panic at Performance in Meridin Conn.—Audience Made For a Door

POLICEMEN POWERLESS

New York, Aug. 14.—A despatch to The Herald from Meriden, Conn., says:—A skunk wandered into the auditorium of the Hanover Park Summer Theatre last night, a woman screamed and the eight hundred persons in the audience leaped from their seats. Woman joined men in clambering over a high railing.

Policeman M. J. Kelly, unfamiliar with skunks, attempted to catch the animal, but retreated and, standing at a safe distance, opened fire with his revolver. He emptied it, but none of the shots took effect. Frank McNabb one of the spectators, cornered the skunk and killed it with a club. Then he went home by a circuitous route. The management announced to vacant chairs that the performance was called off.

THREE STUDENTS SUCCESSFUL

Results in the Senior Teachers' Examinations, So Far As They Relate to Peterboro' Are Given To-day.

SOME EXPLANATIONS GIVEN

The showing of the students from the Peterborough Collegiate Institute writing in the Matriculation and Junior Leaving examinations this year has not been considered particularly satisfactory. In fact, there are those who state that it has been quite unsatisfactory. Yesterday the names of those passing the junior leaving examinations were given and the discouraging fact was revealed that out of between twenty-five and thirty students writing only three from the Institute here were successful.

In the junior matriculation the percentage was higher, six being successful out of thirteen who wrote.

THE STABLE AND BARNS BURNED

Fire at Bridgenorth Saw Mills—Originated From Spark From Boiler

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock a fire started in the stables adjoining the Kelly sawmill at Bridgenorth, and before it could be extinguished had destroyed the stables and barns, together with ten tons of hay. The horses and other contents of the buildings were saved. It is believed that the fire originated from a spark from the smoke-stack on the mill, but fortunately the blaze was confined to the stables and barns, and the lumber and mill escaped.

A bucket brigade was organized and worked heroically, but their efforts were unavailing, so far as the stables were concerned.

OBITUARY

CHARLES BATES

Mr. F. W. Bates has returned from Cobourg, where he had been attending the funeral of his cousin, the late Charles Bates, who died on Sunday last, after an illness of some length, during which he suffered from Bright's disease. The deceased was 27 years of age, and had been in Canada only about two years, living part of the time in Lakefield, where he was well known.

FORMER PETERBORO' RESIDENTS CELEBRATE 50TH WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Battisby in Toronto, Surrounded by Entire Family, Live Again the Events of Fifty Years Ago

THEY LIVED IN THIS CITY

Mrs. W. J. Thompson, a Daughter, Was at the Celebration—Were Residents for Ten Years of Peterborough

A social event of more than usual local interest took place yesterday afternoon and evening in Toronto, when the golden wedding of Mr. and Mr. Wm. Battisby, until about a year and a half ago residents of Peterborough, was celebrated at the home of Mrs. M. A. Carl, one of their daughters, 1980 Queen street east, in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Battisby, both of whom are in excellent health, and all the members of the family. It is a pleasing circumstance that of the seven children born to Mr. and Mrs. Battisby, all are living and all married.

About forty persons participated in the festivities of the day, and a delightful time was spent. The house and grounds were prettily decorated, and refreshments were served by the French caterer on the lawn during the afternoon. The arrangement of the tables was such that the bride and groom of fifty years and the members of the family were seated at a table in the centre, the other members of the party surrounding them.

Congratulatory speeches were made and the health of the bride and groom heartily drunk, Mr. Battisby making a fitting reply. During the afternoon, photographs of the members of the family, still unbroken by the hand of death, and of the whole party, were taken. The respected bride and groom were the recipients of a large number of very valuable presents in gold, in addition to a substantial sum of money, also in gold.

Mr. Battisby was born in Kirkodbright, Scotland, in 1833, and in 1854 came to Canada, settling in Cobourg, where he lived for six months, afterwards moving to Baltimore, Northumberland county, where he lived for a year, and in 1856 moved to Port Hope, where he lived until twelve years ago, coming then to Peterborough, and living here until about a year and a half ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Battisby decided to remove to Toronto. During their residence in Peterborough they lived at 324 Water street.

On August 14, 1857, the marriage of Mr. Battisby and Miss Ellen Brankey took place at Port Hope, and that event they celebrated so happily yesterday. To them were born seven children, and a pleasing feature of the function yesterday was the fact that they were all present to join in celebrating their parents' golden wedding. The members of the family are—William, jr. of Chicago, Ill; J. J. of Toronto, Mrs. M. A. Carl of Toronto, Mrs. S. B. Laidlaw of Lindsay, Mrs. A. G. Shaw of Chicago, Mrs. R. A. Gledhill of Toronto, and Mrs. W. J. Thompson of Peterborough. Thirteen grand-children have been born, and all of these with one exception are living.

Mr. and Mrs. Battisby have many friends in Peterborough who will be deeply interested in the celebration of their golden wedding, and they will join in wishing them many years yet of happiness.

Unknown Man Drowns Taking A Lonely Swim

NEAR GOVERNMENT DREDGE

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, Aug. 15.—A pile of clothing on the lakeshore, and the absence of the owner thereof, led a fisherman to suspect an accident yesterday. A brief search of the water in the vicinity enabled him to locate the body of a man in about 12 feet of water, and he at once set off to give the alarm.

Mr. Taylor Parkin, Warden of Victoria County, who lives near Cameron, was one of the first to be apprised of the occurrence, and he sent a messenger to town for Dr. Wood one of the coroners for the county. The doctor drove out last evening, and under his directions the body was recovered from the water. The arms were bent and the fingers twisted, going to show that the unfortunate had been taken with cramps while enjoying a cold plunge.

Mr. Robin Anderson, a farmer who lives near the scene, informed Dr. Wood that he had met the stranger Sunday evening on his way to the lake at a point where the government dredge had filled in a road across the marsh, and heard him say he was going to enjoy a swim, having walked all one way, and that he had worked at Mr. Jamieson's, near Glenarm.

From New York City To Peterborough In An Auto

A Motor Party From Gotham is Visiting Friends in the City---Have Travelled 1100 Miles Since Tuesday Last

After having travelled 1,100 miles in an automobile, a party of New York people, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sherin and their daughters, Misses Gladys and Eloise, arrived in the city last night and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, 600 Water street, for a few days.

The party have had a most interesting and enjoyable trip so far, and splendid time has been made, although they encountered very rough roads in the Province of Quebec. Accompanied by their chauffeur, they left New York on Tuesday of last week, and they have made stops at Montreal and other places along the route. The party travelled from Kingston to Peterborough in six hours, which is fast travelling. Their car is a splendid one.

Mr. Sherin pays Peterborough a great compliment, stating that he had found it the most business-like and wide-awake city of its size the party had visited on their tour. It is the intention of the motorists to return to New York by way of Toronto and Buffalo, and they will have travelled over 2,000 miles in their car when they reach home.

PICTON PEOPLE HAD WARM WELCOME FOR TOURING BAND

Examiner Special.

Picton, Aug. 14.—The touring Silver Band of the Peterborough Salvation Army Corps was given a great reception here yesterday, when the musicians arrived by the steamer at noon. There was a big crowd on Main street as the band marched up from the wharf and the quality of the stirring martial music they played caught the fancy of the populace.

At the meeting held last night in the town hall Mayor Bearington presided, and paid a high tribute to the ability of the tourists. The hall was filled, and the concert was thoroughly enjoyed. This afternoon the band left by boat for Belleville, where a concert will be given to-night. The members are all in splendid health and spirits and are enjoying the outing immensely.

NEW YORK EXPERT LIKES SYSTEM

John F. Conway of Estimating Dept. New York Inspects the System of Automatic Telephones

CHEAPNESS IS A FEATURE

Speaking unofficially, and, judging from his observation of the operation of the automatic telephones in the system installed in this city by the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, Mr. John F. Conway, of the Estimating Department of New York City, expressed his opinion that the system left little to be desired in telephones. Mr. Conway was in the city to-day on a tour of inspection of the different systems of telephones, and the impression he has gained of the local automatic system is, judging by his statements, quite favourable.

In New York City the Bell Telephone Company has a franchise, another company claims to have one, and a third is applying for a franchise. In reaching a decision as to the policy to be pursued in this situation the Estimating Department was given instructions to make an investigation on the respective merits of systems and report. In pursuance of this task Mr. Conway is in the city to-day.

The strong feature of local conditions that appealed to him was the cheapness of the service. In New York the cheapest possible service costs about $60 a year, on a basis of 600 to 800 calls per year, about two a day. It will thus be seen that the prices charged here would naturally appeal most favourably to him. To be able to use the telephone only twice a day on an average, or be charged extra, would be considered a hardship by local users who have been accustomed to making as many calls as they wish, and, from the standpoint of the business man that number would be considered absolutely impossible.

Mr. Conway stated that in his conversations with local users of the machine system he had heard only words of praise for it, and his observation had led him to the belief that it was a satisfactory system for a city like Peterborough, at any rate, and, so far as he could judge, for a much larger city as well.

NOT ANTAGONISTIC

Mr. Bourassa's political campaign in Quebec, seems to be quite harmless, from the Liberal point of view. The fire-brand quality of his speeches was expected to represent something terrible, but they resolve themselves into very simple elements to which no exception can be taken. He has been making speeches in Quebec; so has the Liberal premier, Hon. Mr. Gouin; and it would be no violence to the position of either man, if parts of the speeches of one, were delivered by the other, except on a few points of critiolam of Liberal administration, by Mr. Bourassa. Hon. Mr. Gouin has been for years moving in the direction of the improvement of the conditions of popular education. Mr. Bourassa also makes a particular feature of this. The only point in this regard upon which they differ, is that Mr. Bourassa opposes a Minister of Education. In taking this attitude Mr. Bourassa should appeal to Mr. Whitney. That gentleman opposed a Minister of Education for Ontario, the justification of his contention being largely furnished, some will think, by the choice he has made of a Minister for this Department. Mr. Bourassa's attempt, if he is making one, to form a new political party in Quebec, is not very promising, since the platform he offers, differs in no material sense, from that upon which the present Liberal Government rests. In regard to administration, there are, perhaps, some things in respect of which Mr. Bourassa's position is somewhat justified. But that is not in respect to financial administration. Accepting Mr. Gouin's statements, his financial administration "shines like a good deed in a naughty world." He defies anyone to point to a single dollar of the forty-eight millions of public money disbursed in the past five years under Liberal rule, which has been misspent or improperly diverted from its legitimate purpose. In effect, Mr. Bourassa, instead of counteracting, is largely assisting, so far as his speeches in his present campaign go, in carrying out the policy of the Liberal Government of Quebec. The relative positions are not antagonistic.

LIBERTY OF DEFAMATION

(Bystander, in Weekly Sun.)

A questionable judgment surely is that in the Emmerson case, apparently countenancing newspaper attacks upon the private character of public men on the ground that they were made in the public interest. The public interest is very apt to mean, in reality, the interest or the animosity of a party and the circulation of a paper. As a general rule, it is surely desirable that private character should be spared in the political fray. Something, of course, depends on the nature of the charge. Is it of a kind directly affecting public integrity, as it would be, if, for example, it involved pecuniary fraud? Or is it simply a case of private licentiousness? Private licentiousness might have been charged against Somers, Walpole, Fox, Palmerston, and others, who are deemed to have served the public honourably and well. It is unquestionably true that, as a rule, private morality is the foundation of public integrity. The people will always do well in requiring a certificate of private character as the condition of public trust. But of all liberties, that which least calls for judicial enlargement in our state of political warfare, apparently is liberty of defamation.

"How's Your Stomach"

is the way people in China say "Good Morning." The greeting of almost every nation is an inquiry after health. The Chinese have the root of the matter. A strong stomach is the foundation. Look after this organ and the general health cares for itself. Man is so constituted it cannot be otherwise. It is the mission of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

to keep the stomach well, the liver active and the bowels regular. A CONTRAST

A comparison can hardly be fairly made of the record made by the Conservative and Liberal Governments of their respective administration of the timber interests of the Dominion — they cannot be compared, they must be contrasted. A glance at the following statement of the areas of timber berths granted in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and the bonuses received therefrom during the Conservative and Liberal administrations, will show clearly the difference between the two parties in their timber policy.

Whilst under the Conservatives, timber berths were recklessly given away, under the Liberals they were disposed of in the open market, under fixed conditions. As a result, Liberals have received over four times the amount for less than one-fourth of the area, as compared with what the Conservatives received, while the average per acre is nearly twenty times as much. Under Conservative administration, (1879 to 17th August, 1896,) the area dealt with was 29,322.20 square miles. The bonus paid amounted to $121,219.46, and the average per square mile was $4.13. Under Liberal administration, (17th August, 1896, to 31st May, 1907,) the area dealt with was 6,456.07 square miles. The bonus paid amounted to $528,878.80, and the average per square mile was $81.92.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Lord Alvinstone is interesting himself in prison reform in England. He may have a personal interest in the subject, for if he ever gives away any more Canadian rights and territory he will, or should, be looked up.

The Dominion Government has approved of the plans of the new million and a half dollar hotel the Grand Trunk Railway proposes to erect in Ottawa. The company is ready to let the contract as soon as the site is obtained.

The fact that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is, says the North Sidney, (N. S.) Herald, one of the principal advocates of the "all-red route" is sufficient inducement for the Conservative press and politicians to belittle one of the greatest prospects of modern times.

The Montreal Herald remarks that it is hardly worth while for the insurance people to get wrought up about the draft bill submitted at the same time as the Commissioner's report. When it comes to real legislation Mr. Fielding will be on hand to hear practical arguments. Legislation that he recommends to Parliament generally wears well.

Some Halifax Conservatives are credited with trying to get Sir Hibbert Tupper to re-enter politics, with the reversion of the leadership of the Conservative party in view. They think that Mr. Borden does not furnish "adequate protection" to Conservative party interests. Sir Hibbert, who only gave the Laurier Government, a year's lease of office, is not much of a prophet, but he is seer enough to see that the party he is asked to lead, cannot win at the next elections.

A man may be said to have the courage of his opinions, when, in order to exercise them, he seeks confinement in jail. The Great Northwestern Telegraph operators in Toronto and Montreal, have struck, in direct violation of the Lemieux Act of last session, which requires that before a strike or lockout is declared, the grievances claimed are to be submitted to investigation. Under the law any one may lodge complaint and by appeal to the courts, compel the strikers to return to work, or employers to reinstate locked out men.

Japan, it appears, can give "pointers" to older and longer civilized nations in the matter of management of its internal affairs. The display of patriotism, and self sacrifice, on the part of the people, has not ceased with the Russo-Japanese war. The people willingly submitted to an enormous increase of taxation to support the armies and navies of the Empire, by field and flood. The increase is continued to clear away the war debt, amounting to more than a thousand million dollars. This is more easily done, since of Japan's annual revenue, amounting to about two hundred and twenty millions, about sixty-five millions is derived from state-owned public utilities, such as railways, and the tobacco, sugar and salt industries. Japan is doing well.

DURHAM OLD BOYS TO ORGANIZE

Proposal to Form Association in City—Many Natives of Durham County in Peterborough

A branch of the Durham Old Boys' Association in Peterborough. This is a proposal which sprang from the recent annual outing of the Association, to Niagara Falls, and which, by reason of the fact that provision was made for Peterborough residents was attended by a large number of Durham Old Boys at present living in this city.

An estimate has been made and it is asserted that there are at present living in Peterborough three or four hundred former residents and natives of the county of Durham. On the occasion of the recent excursion under the auspices of the Toronto Association the proposal to organize a branch in Peterborough was seriously discussed, and it is probable that in the not distant future active steps in this direction will be taken.

Messrs. T W and James McLean, of Mount Pleasant, were on the last trip of the Old Boys' and express themselves as greatly pleased with the character of the outing.

SIX MONTHS IN THE CENTRAL PRISON

Ernest James Given a Severe Sentence—Has Been Working Until Injured

If everyone who committed a breach of the law acted as did Ernest James, the police would have but little trouble. Yesterday a man took him to his home to give him a meal. James being rather hard up, and seeing a pair of eye-glasses close at hand, he picked them up and pocketed them. His next move was to go to a second-hand store, where he pawned them for a dollar. With the money, he went to several hotels and spent it, and then, with a feeling of remorse for his ingratitude, he walked over to the police station, asked for a night's lodging in one of the cells, and then related his part in the theft. This was easy for the police, who brought him before Acting Magistrate Adams this morning.

James acknowledged that he was idle at present, but that it was due to a poisoned finger. He has been in Canada sixteen months. He worked with one farmer for one year and four months with another. He was neat in appearance, and did not look like a loafer. Magistrate Adams considered that he needed a little more work, and sentenced him to six months in the Central Prison, at hard labour.

The men who were fighting on Civic Holiday night on George street, near Brock street, were found guilty of being disorderly and were fined $2 and costs, amounting to $4.60.

Missionary Makes Serious Charges Against White Men

Rev. Geo. Dunkey States That They Go to Hiawatha and Give Indians Whiskey, and Engage Them to Paddle and Fish on Sunday.

A VERY SERIOUS OFFENCE

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — Please favour us with space in your highly-valued journal, for the following:

I deeply regret that it is my painful duty to inform you and your readers, that white men are, and have been in the habit of coming on the Sabbath day from Peterborough to Hiawatha, and bringing intoxicating liquors with them, and not only using it themselves, but also giving it to the Indians, thus making them drunken as well as themselves. Other white men employ our Indians on the Sabbath Day to paddle on the lake to catch fish, in defiance of the law of Almighty God, and of the laws of Ontario.

The Indian Act speaks very strongly on these matters. On pages 39 to 42, Chap. 81, Section 135, it says:

"Everyone, who by himself, his clerk, servant or agent, and every one who in the employment, or on the premises of another, directly or indirectly, on any pretence or by any device, (a) sells, barters or gives to any Indian or non-treaty Indian, or to any person, male or female belonging to a particular band or following the mode of Indian life, or any child of such a person, any intoxicant," —(d) "shall on summary conviction before any judge, police magistrate, stipendiary magistrate, or two justices of the peace, or Indian agent, be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or less than one month, or a penalty not exceeding three hundred dollars, or less than fifty dollars, with costs of prosecution.

2. A moiety of every such penalty shall belong to the informer or prosecutor.

Page 41, Section 140 — "The keg, barrel, box, package or receptacle from which any intoxicant has been sold, exchanged, bartered, supplied or given — brought into or upon any reserve —house, tent, wigwam, or place of abode, of any Indian — may be searched for under a search warrant in that behalf granted by any judge, police magistrate, stipendiary magistrate, or justice of the peace, or Indian agent if found declare the same forfeited, forthwith destroyed, and the possessor shall pay a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars, or less than fifty dollars and costs, or imprisonment for six months, or not less than two months, unless the cost is sooner paid."

GEORGE DUNKLEY,
Missionary.
ALFRED CROWE,
Chief.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE AS AN AID TO SOBRIETY

Editor Examiner.

In your post-card correspondence of Friday last, "Wayfarer" seems inclined to throw mud on the doctrine of Christian Science. It is evident that he does not know whereof he speaks, nor of the great good that this peculiar doctrine (as he calls it) is doing in redeeming the sinner, as well as relieving the sufferer. One of the principal objects of Christian Science is to make mankind better and happier. To this end, I beg the favour of using your paper as the Good Samaritan, by publishing the enclosed testimonial, given in a public meeting in Galt, Ont., and published in the Daily Reporter of that town. It might bring a ray of hope to other wayfarers. We know that Christian Science is the right way, because we have proven it.

According to Scripture, "Wayfarer," though a fool, need not err therein.

Hoping you can make room, I thank you in advance,

R. J. TODD.

Four years ago last October, while in Missoula, Mont., a lady in whose home I was then rooming handed me a copy of Science and Health, asking me if I would like to read it. I looked at the title of the book and replied that I did not care to do so, but as she seemed anxious that I should, and not wishing to be discourteous, I said I would take it to my room and look it over. The first night I read about fifty pages, the next about the same number, and the third evening I had reached the one hundred and fiftieth page. I then asked the lady if she would let me keep the book long enough to read it through. I read it from cover to cover in about two weeks, and can truthfully say that no book I had ever read stirred me as did that one. Old beliefs began to vanish as I read on, and when I had reached the last page I was living in a new world of thought. Before reading Science and Health, I had used very profane language, but from the first hour that I opened this blessed book I ceased to swear.

I am now coming to the point at which Mrs. Eddy's grand book did for me what all other remedies I had tried had absolutely failed to do. For more than twenty years I had been a periodical drinker, the last term of which the burden was awful to bear. But the dream is over! I am now free, free as the birds that fly in the air. I shall never forget the fervency with which I prayed to God, before coming into Christian Science, to be delivered from bondage to the awful monster that seemed to hold me in its inexorable coils, but I did not pray aright. I did not know God then as I know Him now. I had not been reading Science and Health more than three months when the desire for strong drink left me. I did not take Christian Science treatment for the habit, either. The reading of "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy, did the work and did it effectually, and I wish to say right here that language does not furnish words to tell how grateful I am to that grandest of women. I have been emancipated from the thraldom of what I consider the greatest evil that ever cursed the civilized race. I refer to the drink habit. The smoking habit was not as readily destroyed as was the drink habit, but in about nine months from the time I began to read Science and Health it also yielded to the power of Truth.

I did not take up the study of Christian Science for physical healing, but in the past four years joyous health has come to me that I never enjoyed before. I used to be troubled with very severe periodical headaches, but now when the symptoms appear I am able, even with my slight understanding of Christian Science, to destroy them in their incipiency. When I had been studying our text-book about three months one of those headaches came on, but with the gleams of the truth that had at that early date come to me, I was able to destroy it. Up to that time I had been a slave to medicine, but from that day to this I have not taken a drop of it.

I am a commercial travelling man, and as such am frequently thrown among strangers, being therefore subjected to greater temptations than the man who is always among acquaintances and friends, and surrounded by home environments; but this truth is my shield-and-buckler. Christian Science is especially the true friend of the travelling man. Now, instead of going down town evenings and vainly searching for pleasure in the haunts I used to frequent, I find it between the covers of my Bible and in Science and Health. To be "out with the boys" no longer appeals to me.

To be cured of the drink habit, after it had gotten such a hold on me is wonderful, but that is as nothing compared with the spiritual uplift I have experienced since coming into Christian Science. The fights I waged against the drink habit were sometimes really pathetic. And right here is where the grandeur of Christian Science came in, for the habit is scientifically destroyed, absolutely wiped out of my consciousness, and I no longer have to fight it. If this testimony shall be the means of leading even one man away from the saloon, I shall be glad.

I wish to say that I am thankful to God, and also to Mrs. Eddy, for pointing out the path which has led me to sobriety, health, harmony and happiness.

Eczema is Baby's Enemy

CAUSING KEEN DISTRESS FROM THE DREADFUL ITCHING—SOMETIMES LASTS FOR YEARS—CURE EFFECTED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The first indication of eczema is a red pimple, or blister-like eruption. The points run together, and make a moistened patch, which "weeps" at first, and then dries into a crust.

The intense itching of eczema of the face and scalp is very hard for the little one to bear, and the result is scratching until free bleeding takes place, and recovery is further retarded. Besides the suffering from the distressing itching, the child is restless and sleepless.

When left to itself, eczema runs on indefinitely, covering the body with sores, but fortunately there is positive cure in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation which by its marvellous soothing and healing powers, brings quick relief from itching and heals up the sores.

Mr. William Crafts, jr., Burk's Falls, Ont., writes: "Our little boy, aged three years, broke out with eczema all over his face, hands and back, and we had a terrible time trying to relieve his sufferings. It was so bad that when he scratched it would almost make the blood flow. The use of Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly brought relief and made a thorough cure, as there has never any return of the disagreeable ailment. We always keep Dr. Chase's medicines in the house and find them very useful."

Mrs. M. McCann, 4 Short street, St. John, N. B., writes: "My little girl, three years old, had her face covered with eczema and it was beginning to spread all over her body. I tried many different ointments, and the doctor could not do her any good. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and she was completely cured by one box. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment enough for the good it has done her."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven especially successful in the cure of baby eczema, as well as the prevention of this torturing disease, when used for chafing and skin diseases, in which eczema finds its beginning. Sixty cents a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 12

Stock Down Five Points But Broker Predicts That It Will Not Go Any Lower

The Toronto Star of last night said: Canadian General Electric sold at 108 and 107, a drop of five points from the last previous sale on Monday. There has been some idle speculation as to the possibilities or probabilities of there being a shake-out in General similar to what has just occurred in Sao Paulo. "It's very unlikely," said a broker. "The two stocks are in a vastly different position. We have only 100 shares of General on margin in the office, and our office is typical of the others, whereas Sao Paulo, as everybody knows, has been widely held on Margin. Besides, there is practically only one market for Sao Paulo, and that's here. No, General Electric has had its break."

CATARRH CAN BE CURED

Many people who have suffered with catarrh for years, naturally think that they cannot be cured, and become discouraged.

The reason they have failed of cure is because they have not treated the disease with the local remedy, Hy-o-mei, which is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, so that its healing, medicated vapor, reaches the most remote air cells, kills all the catarrh germs, and restores the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, to a healthy condition.

Catarrh is really a local disease and to cure it it must be treated by a remedy which reaches every spot in the nose and throat, where the disease germs lay. Hy-o-mei does this and gives relief from the first day's use.

A complete Hy-o-mei outfit costs but $1 and Mr. Mordill gives a guarantee with every package to refund the money unless it cures.

A bylaw was also passed, levying the sums required by the trustees of the several school sections.

The reeve was instructed to take legal proceedings against W. G. Johnston if the large stones placed by him on the road allowance between lots 4 and 5, west of the Communication road, were not removed before October 1 next, and also to take similar action against H. When last seen on the Ops bridge by Mr. Jos. Robertson, he was barefoot. The child left his home at eight o'clock, and may have gone to some friends of the family in the country. Board Of Health To Investigate The Spring

The Water Supply of McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake Receives Attention of Board---London Street Terrace Question Up Again

The condition of the water supply at McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake, was the principal matter that came before the Board of Health at its meeting this morning, and, as a result, the chairman and Sanitary Inspector were instructed to investigate the matter, and take such steps as are considered necessary, and within the jurisdiction of the board. If necessary, the assistance of the provincial Board of Health will be called into play, as it is considered that the problem is a most serious one, not only to the people of Stony Lake, but to local people as well, inasmuch as the water of the lake, it is said, is liable to be polluted from the spring.

Inspector Ball, who came down this morning from Stony Lake, where he has been investigating health conditions for the past few days, was present, and gave a report of the spring, and its surroundings. He had found, he said, that there was no illness on the lake, except in the district in which the people had been using the spring at McCracken's for drinking purposes. All the sickness could be traced to the spring, which was now closed, although the water was still making its way into the lake.

With regard to the matter, he said that on the hill, on the left of the road, there was a spring which was polluted by a large number of cattle, and he was of the opinion that the water from this spring leaked into the spring near the lake, from which people obtained their drinking water.

The chairman said that the matter was a most serious one, and that if the water from the spring was going into the lake, he was of the opinion that the board should take action.

The rest of the board were of the same mind, and the chairman and inspector were empowered to investigate and take such action as considered necessary.

A communication was read from Mr. J. H. Burnham, in connection with the terrace on London street, belonging to Mr. S. Edwards. It will be remembered that at the last meeting Mr. Edwards was given until May 1st next to connect with the sewer. Mr. Burnham's letter advised the board that the Police Magistrate had stated that he would take an information from him against the owners of the property for maintaining a nuisance, at the end of a month provided that before that they did not take steps to have the terrace connected with the sewer.

A petition objecting to the property was also read from owners of property in the neighbourhood.

The Medical Health Officer, Dr. Bingham, said that he had visited the premises erecently and had found no unhanitary conditions. Garbage barrels were being used, and the pits were kept clean.

The Sanitary Inspector had visited the property some time before, and had found the conditions far from sanitary. Garbage had also been thrown on the vacant lot at the rear.

The board decided to have the City Solicitor notify the owner of the property that he must close up the closets in question before September 15.

There were present, Messrs. Wm. Eyres, chairman; R. Neill, Dr. McNulty, Dr. Burnham, Sanitary Inspector Ball and Dr. Bingham, M.H.O.

Forest Fires Raging In Northern Part of County

Considerable Damage Being Done by Forest Fires Which Have Been Burning Several Days—Big Island Again on Fire

RAIN IS BADLY NEEDED

Forest fires on the islands of Stony Lake and on the Harvey Shore during the last few days have sent volumes of smoke over the city, and, at times have obscured the sun. Yesterday Buckhorn was envaloped in a cloud by by fires which were raging with considerable strength in Harvey.

Efforts have been made to extinguish them, but up ti the present these have failed and it is now believed that nothing short of a heavy rain will have the desired effect.

The fire on Big Island, Stony Lake, which it was thought had been extinguished on Tuesday afternoon, has again been revived and last evening with the sweeping winds the lake was covered with smoke and the fire blazing with more force than previously. Unless rain soon comes it is more than probable that the whole island will be run over with fire. It is said a camp dinner fire was started on this island by fishing parties on Monday and that the fire spread with great rapidity.

Hurricane Point was ablaze on Monday and Tuesday but on Wednesday it was extinguished. The fire has not the same scope here as on Big Island, and is not so difficult to overcome.

Lively Doings Reported From The South Beach

The Popular Summer Resort in The Highest of Season's Gayety —Social Events are Recorded

A BIG LIST OF GUESTS

Special Staff Correspondent.

South Beach, Aug. 14.—The season of 1907 will, after all be kind to the summer resort landlord. In the early part of the season the cool, backward, windy weather was the cause of a good deal of apprehension to the man who was keeping a house at the summer resorts. And how to account for the crowds of pleasure-seekers which have found their way out to South Beach and the rest of the waters of the Kawartha Lakes, most people are at a loss to explain. Certain it is that the season has been, and is still, the most successful ever experienced around Clear and Stony Lakes. During the whole of July, South Beach Hotel was rushed with tourists from Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto, and other cities. August is following suit with a record-breaking influx of guests. Every room is filled for this month and well into September. As a consequence teh face of the summer boniface is wreathed in smiles. As new guests come crowding in every day he is consoling himself with the thought that, when the rush is over and he finds time to count up the generous profits of his summer work, he will have come off far better than he expected.

Your correspondent has promised to say as little as possible about it at present, but there's going to be some "doin's" here of a rather lively nature after the steamer hooks away from her wharf on Thursday. A bunch of bright young fellows from Pittsburgh and vicinity are awaited with eagerness. They compose a rollicking party who made a very favourable impression here last year for their social qualities.

Miss Jessie Bonstiel, the popular Buffalo actress, and her party, are booked for a two weeks' season at South Beach summer resort, commencing Aug. 21st.

The weather here during the past two weeks has been all that the most ardent tourist could desire. While the continued absence of rain has contributed to the enjoyment of holiday seekers—especially the enthusiastic followers of Isaac Walton—the crops and grass are suffering badly. Yesterday a high wind started in and is continued to-day, but it does not interfere with the varied pleasures of the guests who indulge in outside amusements on the lawn, round the bathing beach, boating, fishing, strolling, reading, etc.

The other evening after dinner, Miss Lightfoot of the office staff of the Lakefield Cement Works, with her sister and a friend, went out in a row boat opposite the hotel, and in less than ten minutes returned with a fine maskinonge, and threw it down, still alive and kicking, in front of the guests on the verandah. By this catch Miss Lightfoot wins a wager of five dollars.

A most interesting series of musicales is being enjoyed in the dancing hall here every evening. Among the numerous lady guests at South Beach are several excellent musicians, and these have kindly volunteered their services for these occasions. Mrs. C. G. Hooker, a professional vocalist of Rochester, has contributed many favourite selections, which the guests have thoroughly enjoyed. Miss M. McCabe, pianist, of Peterborough, always a favourite here, has also assisted in keeping up the pleasure of the evenings by her excellent performances on the pianoforte.

The crowds at South Beach are characterized by a feeling of good will and social pleasure among each other. There is an absence of little cliques and private parties which detract from the pleasure and harmony which should be the aim of every guest. The host and hostess are untiring in their efforts to make the management successful. Special credit is also due to Miss M. Kearney, who fills an important post in looking after some of the arduous internal duties connected with the house. And so, with—

A paddle, a row, a sail,
With always a fish for a mid-day meal,
And plenty of Adam's ale;
With song and laugh, and with kindly chaff
We startle the birds above,
Then, rest, tired heads, on our drowsy beds,
To dream of the ones we love."

Following are the names of the guests registered since August 3:

Miss May Law, Brooklyn; Miss Maud Breman, Brooklyn; J H Smith, Gertrude Young, Mollie Young, Thos J Reilly, Pearl Haskill, Fred Haskill, Mr and Mrs R E McKee, Peterborough; Mrs A B Herbert and children, and Miss B Costello, Rochester; H J Kenfield, Cleveland; F W LePine and wife, Rochester; Hart H Lincoln and wife, Buffalo; Geo C Jeany, Rochester; Mr and Mrs A G Justice, Buffalo; Miss Culver, Simcoe; M F Fitzpatrick, Enniamore; J P Murphy, Ottawa; F C Fenn, E R Fenn, F W Fenn, of Merino Savings Bank, Rochester; Miss H Foley, Toronto; C G Hooker, wife and family, Rochester; L J LeClair, Kingston; F E Sails and wife, Toronto; A L Felion, Miss Isabel Menzies, W. PRINCIPAL NOT YET ENGAGED

Mr. M. J. McDonell, in the Employ of Sun Life Insurance Company.

The St. Peter's School is for the present without a principal, Mr. M. J. McDonell, who has acted in that capacity during the past few years, having resigned .Mr. McDonell has accepted a position with the Sun Life Insurance Company, which offered better opportunities than that of teaching. The trustees of St .Peter's were in communication with Mr. J. McGinnis, but that gentleman has received another appointment so it now remains for them to secure a good teacher before the term opens. Mr. McDonell was successful in the local Separate School and stood high in the opinions of the pupils and their parents. His brother Mr. Chas. McDonell, is a teacher and may be engaged for the position.

SINCERE THANKS IS EXTENDED

To those who Tried to Rescue Willie Barr, on Sunday Last.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I ask a small space in your paper in which to publicly thank, on behalf of our family, the gentlemen, who so nobly endeavoured to rescue my brother, Willie, from the Otonabee on Sunday last, and also to thank those who laboured for the recovery of the body when all hope of life was gone. We were deeply moved by the many tokens of the esteem in which our Willie must have been held by those who knew him and also by the many expressions of sympathy extended to us in our bereavement and deep sorrow.

Yours sincerely,

Milk Inspection By-law Is Considered a Farce

By The Trades and Labour Council---Matter Was Discussed At Regular Meeting Last Night---That London Street Terrace

The regular monthly meeting of the Trades and Labour Council took place last evening in the Labour Hall, with President Alexander in the chair, and a good attendance of delegates.

Mr. T. J. Begley was elected to the position of corresponding secretary, the delegate occupying that position having left the city.

Winnipeg Convention

The question of sending a delegate to the Trades and Labour Congress, which convenes in Winnipeg in September, was considered, and it was decided to name the delegate at the next meeting, and also to communicate with the local unions in reference to the matter.

Milk Inspection Bylaw

The milk inspection bylaw came up again last evening, and it was the consensus of opinion that the bylaw was considerable of a farce. It was argued that what the consumers of milk desired to know was what milk vendors were selling pure milk, and how much of it was "doctored." The names of the vendors, it was contended, should be published, as well as a statement regarding the quality of the milk offered for sale, and the sanitary condition of the dairies. The statement was made during the evening that "doctored" milk was being sold in the city, and better results would be achieved if the inspector would secure samples of milk when being delivered to customers, have it tested, and give results of tests to the public.

Sewer Connection

The action of the Board of Health in granting a citizen a years' time to connect a terrace with the sewer also received attention, and it was argued that this action established a dangerous precedent. The feeling of the meeting was to the effect that the City Council should enact legislation with the object in view of having all residences connected with the sewer wherever possible. One delegate stated that on the east side of Aylmer street, between Murray and McDonel street, only two houses had sewer connection, and another delegate pointed out that on Downie street, between McDonel and London streets, was a row of houses having closets over the creek.

The Council adjourned until the next meeting in September.

Tenders Being Called For Section One Of Canal

Work at the Lake Ontario End Will be Commenced Soon—Tenders Received Up to October 10th.

WORK AT BOTH ENDS

Tenders are now being called by the Department of Railways and Canals, for the construction of Section No. 1, of the Ontario - Rice Lake division of the canal. This is the section immediately connecting with Lake Ontario at Trenton, and tenders will be received until Thursday, October 10th, for the work, plans for which may be seen at the office of the Superintending Engineer, Mr. Alex. J. Grant, here, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department, at Ottawa, as well as in the office of Mr. J. B. Brophy, Division engineer, at Trenton.

The fact that the contract for the section is to be let at once, indicates that work is to be commenced at both ends of the division between Rice Lake and Lake Ontario, and it would seem that it is the intention of the Government to push the work as rapidly as possible.

Tenders have already been called for the work on the second section below Healey's Falls.

HIRING SHANTY MEN FOR WINTER

Considerable Activity in These Circles is Being Experienced—Many Men for New Ontario

At the present time the hiring of shanty men for the coming season is going on actively among the local employment agents, and there is apparently a good demand for men for this work. The wages, which are about the same as those paid last year range from $28 to $35 per month, the lattter, however, being the wages paid to expert log-makers. At these wages the men are free to quit in the spring, but if an agreement is entered into to remain during the drive a higher rate of wages prevails.

Nairn Centre and Spanish River firms are taking a large number of men, and the Algoma Commercial Company have sent an order for 500 men to work in the woods taking out pulpwood and pulpe for the mills at the Soo. A number have already been engaged from here.

PURE WHITE BIRD WAS FOUND

Mr. Herb. Foster Makes Interesting Discovery—White Bird Had Red Eyes

Mr. Herb Foster, of North Monaghan has a feathered freak, a white bird, with red eyes. A couple of days ago while cutting grain Mr. Foster noticed a young pur white bird trying to fly in the grain. He caught it and in order to preserve it from being run over by the binder put it in a box and brought it to the city yesterday to find out, if possible, to what species it belonged, but he was unable to learn, none of those to whom he showed it apparently having seen a white bird before. The mother bird, which was flying around at the time the young one was caught, resembled a common grey bird.

TWO FIELDS OF STANDING GRAIN BURNED YESTERDAY

A ten acre field of oats on the farm of Mr. Towns in Douro, near Buckley's Lake was burned yesterday, the cause of the fire is reported to have been a spark from a locomotive on the Cement Company's line to Lakefield. The oats were practically ripe and the fire spread rapidly with the brisk wind that was blowing at the time.

The loss will be heavy. Another disastrous fire is reported from Smith where a field of peas, on the farm of Mr. Jacob Snelgrove, near Selwyn was destroyed by fire. The origin of this blaze is not known.

BURLEIGH FALLS HOTEL PROPRIETOR MAKES STATEMENT

Mr. Thomas Darcey, of the Burleigh Falls Hotel, to-day called up the Examiner over the long distance telephone, in reference to the disturbance created by the Chemong Indians on Monday night, and made the statement that he was prepared to take an affidavit to the effect that he had not sold liquor to Indians. He was in the bar himself on Monday night when the steamer arrived at Burleigh, and states that he was, as a consequence, in a position to know what was transpiring there. He wished it understood that he could not control the actions of white men who might buy a bottle of whisky and re-sell it to the Indians. So far as he was personally concerned, however, neither he nor his employees, he stated, were guilty of selling to the Indians.

CHILDREN'S NARROW ESCAPE

A Horseman Speeding on Water Street, Almost Brought Disaster to Youngsters Yesterday

A resident on Water street informed the Examiner that last night at 7 o'clock two young children had a narrow escape from serious injury if not death.

It appears that, according to the information furnished the xEaminor, a horseman was speeding on Water street, when two young children, who were on the street and did not notice the horse, which was, it is stated, going beyond the regulation speed were knocked down, but fortunately they escaped unhurt, except for a few bruises. It is stated that this street is being made a speedway for horsemen, and that frequently children narrowly escape being run down.

FIFTY BUSHELS A GOOD RECORD

Fall Wheat in Brant County Reported to Have That Yield Per Acre—Can Peterborough Beat It?

The Brantford Expositor thinks that that county is the king-pin of them all when it comes to raising wheat, and says:

Brant county reports a yield of fifty bushels of wheat to the acre from a twenty-two-acre field. What has been done in Peterborough county Little fall wheat threshing has been done in Peterborough county this year yet, but possibly there is someone hwo can produce as good a record as that which the Expositor crows about.

WEDDING BELLS.

BROWN-WHITTAKER

A quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. Jas. Ross at the home of Mr and Mrs. F. Ferguson, 607 Concession street, East City, on Wednesday, Aug. 14th, the contracting parties being Miss Pella Whittaker and Mr. James Austin Brown, both of Emmeneath, where they will reside.

Quaker City Residents Welcomed The Moulders

Mr. Hugh Robertson Tells of the Convention of Moulders of North America Recently Held in Philadelphia

WAS A GREAT GATHERING

After having spent three weeks in Philadelphia, attending the convention of the Iron Moulders' Union of North America, Mr. Hugh Robertson, the delegate from the Local Union, has returned home, and reports having had a pleasant, as well as a profitable, visit. There were 550 delegates in attendance at the convention, which was in every way a gratifying success. Considerable business of importance to the trade was transacted, a full report of which Mr. Robertson will give at the next meeting of the Union here.

The organization was found to be in a flourishing condition, reports having been given showing that since the last convention, which was held in Toronto in 1902, $1,250,000 had been paid out in benefits to members of the North American Union, which numbers 95,000 members, and is the strongest on the continent.

The people of Philadelphia gave the visitors a royal welcome. The decorations which the city had used for the Elks convention, just prior to the arrival of the Moulders, were made to do duty for them, and Mr. Robertson stated that he had never seen such elaborate or such beautiful decorations. It was reported that the city council and the citizens between them spent over a million dollars in preparing for these conventions.

The Moulders of the Quaker City were generous in their entertainment of the visitors, and trips to Atlantic City, Cooney Island, Washington Park, and a moonlight trip on the Deleware were among the outings provided.

An interesting feature of the gathering was a visit which was paid to the grave of the first president of the Union, who was a resident, and was buried in Philadelphia. It was in this city that the first Moulders' Union was organized, and the hundreds of visiting moulders paid their respects to the memory of the founder.

It is a significant fact that of the 550 delegates, more than 200 were members of the Oddefllows' Order, and their brother Oddfellows in the city made their stay a pleasant one.

The next convention will be held in Milwaukee in 1910. Rochester was a strong contestant for the honour, but, in view of the fact that it had been held in the East twice, it was decided to go West for the next gathering, and the western city was chosen.

DISASTROUS FIRE ON A RIVER BOAT

Hudson Steamer Found to Be Ablaze at Midnight.

2,000 PASSENGERS IN PERIL

Crew Worked Bravely — Vessel Was Run on to the Beach—Flames Were Get Under, and Boat Went On—Defective Electric Wiring the Cause—The Damage in Staterooms Mostly by Water.

Newburgh, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The steamer Adirondack of the Albany & New York line was discovered to be on fire at midnight Tuesday as she was passing Newburgh. The fire gained considerable headway and the officers finally beached her north of Boscton.

As soon as the boat struck, the crew attacked the blaze, which was soon extinguished. The passengers, numbering not far from 2,000, were inclined to be excited, but were calmed by the officers, who assured them there was no danger. Most of them then quietly returned to their staterooms. The vessel was in a bad predicament, her bow being high and dry on the mud bank.

Signals of distress were given and the steamer Green Port of the Citizens' Line of Troy ran alongside and took off several hundred passengers who were anxious to quit the boat. Some of these were landed at Poughkeepsie. While the Green Port was taking off the passengers other assistance arrived. The City of Hudson of the Hudson-New York Line, the propellers Marlborough and Newburgh of the Central Hudson Line, made fast to the Adirondack and finally pulled her off.

The Adirondack, seemingly little damaged, steamed on up the river. The fire was confined to the hurricane deck and burned briskly for a short time. The greater damage was done to the staterooms by water.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The Adirondack reached here about 8 a. m., under her own steam, showing few external signs of her mishap, and with a majority of her passengers still on board.

About 15 staterooms on the hurricane deck are out of commission, the damage being chiefly by water. General Agent Shaffer believes the fire may have been due to defective electric wiring; no other cause is apparent.

$700 IN FINES.

New Mayor and Council of Latchford Make Things Lively.

North Bay, Aug. 15.—An interesting story comes from Latchford, which recently blossomed into a full-fledged town with mayor and councillors. Like many of the northern towns, Latchford has been invaded by a detachment of the demi-monde army, which is increasing so rapidly in the district that vicious dives are to be found even north of McDougal's shute.

Mayor McNeil, and the councillors of Latchford determined that their first official act would partake of the nature of a housecleaning.

Each member of the town parliament was duly sworn in as special constable, and accompanied by Provincial Constable Lefebvre, eight houses of ill-repute were raided, and inmates, frequenters and proprietors given summary trial, with the result that the sum of $700 was collected in fines.

BLEW UP PEER'S HOUSE.

Poachers Exploded Bomb In Lord Ashtown's Residence.

Cloonmel, Ireland, Aug. 15.—Lord Ashtown had a narrow escape from death at his residence, Clonabiry Lodge, yesterday. He was asleep in a room on the ground floor, when a terrific explosion, caused by a bomb, shattered one of the walls of his apartment and destroyed most of the furniture. The explosion did not injure Lord Ashtown, who only arrived at the lodge Tuesday night. The gamekeepers recently had trouble with poachers on the estate and the outrage is attributed to them.

Lord Ashtown has also been threatened by political agitators. At the recent Galway Assizes, a local politician, who is a justice of the peace, was charged with inciting others to murder Lord Ashtown. The politician was, however, acquitted.

FLOUR FOR SPAIN.

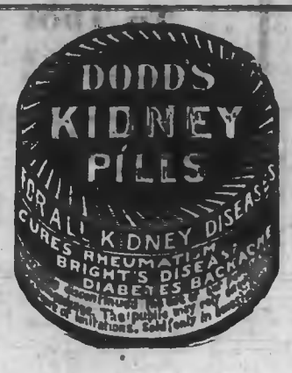
Excess Duty on United States Product Removed.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The Spanish Government has ordered the removal of the excise tax on importations of American flour.

It is expected that the result will be a large increase in the export flour trade with Spain, as there is a considerable shortage in the cereal crop in that country this year.

Buildings in Danger.

London, Aug. 15.—Acting Mayor Gillean yesterday decided to send to Toronto for the Provincial building inspector, as several large buildings in the city are said to be in a dangerous condition and a repition of the Reid disaster is feared.



DROVE TROOPS OUT OF THE TOWN

Tribesmen Capture Outpost From French Soldiers.

HUNDREDS WERE KILLED

Charged French In Hail of Shrapnel —Desperate Fight With Bayonets— Outpost Recovered After a Sharp Encounter—Arabs Looting Mazagan—Europeans Hemmed In —Situation at Fez Critical.

Tangier, Morocco, Aug. 15.—Several thousand fanatical Moors rushed the outposts at Casablanca Tuesday night, drove out the French and Spanish defenders of one of the stations and held it against the foreign troops for over an hour.

Only the most desperate fighting by the soldiers enabled them to regain possession of the outpost which was finally carried by a bayonet attack.

News of the fight reached here yesterday. Hundreds of the Moors were slain or wounded during the fighting and the troops likewise lost several men, according to the message.

The attack of the Moors was made shortly after midnight. Mounted on their fleet horses, the natives charged directly against the guns, unmindful alike of both the rifle fire and shrapnel.

The outer defences were rushed, the soldiers being compelled to withdraw. The Moors established themselves there.

The Moors were repulsed at other points and driven off. Reinforcements were rushed to the force which had been driven out of their earthworks and several charges were launched against the Moors occupying them.

The French swept over the rifle pits, driving the Moors before them. The natives fought bravely, but were unable to cope with their trained adversaries. Many Moors were cut down beside the guns they refused to surrender alive.

Reinforcements are beginning to arrive in Casablanca in response to calls for more soldiers. The transport Oasis has arrived with men sent from Algiers and Oran.

The Spanish cruiser Rio del Plata has also arrived and landed a force of marines. Three hundred Spanish infantrymen and several troops of cavalry are on their way to Casablanca from Cadiz.

Paris, Aug. 15.—Despatches from special correspondents at Tangier received here yesterday confirm the reports of engagements between the Moors and make plain that the situation is more alarming than is generally appreciated.

Two hundred horsemen have forced the gates of Mazagan and are plundering the European section of the city. Few Europeans made their escape.

The situation at Fez is critical. The population threatens to rise against the Government which is in no position to defend itself.

Europeans cannot leave the city, which is hemmed in by tribes.

A French cruiser has restored calm at Rabat by threatening to bombard the neighboring holy city of Sali. The tribesmen have left the city to join the besiegers at Casablanca.

The bombardment of Fort Fedala, where the natives have a reserve supply of arms and ammunition, is regarded as an immediate necessity.

Gen. Drude proposes to occupy successively Ben Rechid, Casa Mediouna and Settat, which are the centres of the wild tribesmen.

News from Morocco City is bad. Tribes in that region have offered the Sultanate to Tony Hafid, whom they have invited to lead them to Fez. It is feared Hafid's loyalty will not be able to withstand the temptation.

The apparent reluctance to send reinforcements to Gen. Drude is regarded here as being a great mistake.

Sir Harry Not Free.

Tangier, Aug. 15—It has been learned that Caid Sir Harry MacLean, the Englishman in the service of the Sultan of Morocco, who has been a prisoner of the bandit Raisuli, since early in June, has not been set at liberty as previously reported.

The British Legation here yesterday received a communication from Raisuli, threatening that unless his terms are accepted immediately he will remove MacLean to a place whither all the armies of Europe, if united, could not follow.

It seems that Raisuli, upon hearing of the bombardment and occupation of Casablanca, succeeded in taking MacLean back from the Kmass tribesmen and removed him to a strategic position in the neighborhood of Ben Iarous.

MacLean is well, but he has been deprived of his tent and compelled to occupy an ordinary soldier's tent of small size. He is subsisting upon black bread.

Explosion in Store.

Sydney Mines, N. S., Aug. 15.—An explosion in Weddleton's candy kitchen occurred yesterday. Miss Josephine Oram was standing behind the counter, within two feet of a soda fountain cylinder charged to 150 pounds pressure, which suddenly exploded, sending glassware, candy, bottles and other paraphernalia flying in all directions, and destroying a wooden partition. Miss Oram's escape was miraculous. Outside a bad fright she escaped without injury.

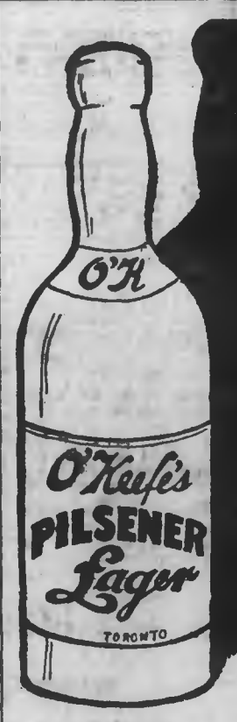
Betrayed by Finger Print.

Elizabeth, N.J., Aug. 15.—Traced by finger prints, discernable in an ink impression of a black hand signed to a letter received by Father Feremi of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, in which the priest is threatened with death unless he turns over $800 by Sept. 1, Michael Venzio, an Italian barber, was arrested as the writer of the letter.

Mosquitoes Stop Mails.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 15.—Mosquitoes are playing havoc with the delivery of the mails along the shores of the Delaware Bay in Central Delaware.

It is learned that a dozen rural carriers who start from Dover have been made ill by attacks from the pests.



"Imported" Does Not Mean "Better"

There is a fascination about the word "imported," that some men can't resist.

They think that because a beer is imported, it must be good.

In the case of lager, "imported" simply means "higher prices," on account of the excessive duty.

This Canadian brew—on which there is no duty to pay—is

TIME NOT YET COME FOR CANADA

Earl Grey Denies Report of Recent Speech at Halifax.

HELP FOR BRITISH NAVY

Governor-General Says He Did Not Appeal to Canada—The Dominion Should Not Contribute Anything at Present—Must Increase Her Own Strength Now—But Must Assist Britain In the Future.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 15.—Addressing the Canadian Club here yesterday, Earl Gray, Governor-General, said he had been quoted in certain journals, particularly those in Halifax, where he spoke last week, as making an impassioned appeal to Canada to contribute to the support of the British navy.

It was time, he said, that, with her small population, as compared with that of Germany or the United States, the United Kingdom could not be expected permanently to keep up the greatest navy in the world without the support of Canada, but he did not believe the time had come for Canada to contribute anything, and he had never said so.

There were other ways for Canada to expend her present wealth. She should concentrate it on what will increase her strength, for, some day, they will have to help keep up the British navy.

2,500 Quit Work.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—The strike is on at the Montreal Cotton Co.'s mill at Valleyfield. The company increased the operators' pay, but they demand 10 per cent. additional. At a conference held yesterday it was decided to close the mill rather than to give any further increase. The number of operators who quit work yesterday is 2,500.

SAYS THIS IS BEST

A leading health journal in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood?" prints in a recent issue the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion one ounce;

Compound Salatone, one ounce;

Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, four ounces.

Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This mixture will clean the blood of all impurities. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Salatone and Extract Dandelion, works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid, and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

Discouraging Outlook For Ontario Farmers

THE CORN DOES WELL

Under the caption, "A Lean Year for Ontario," the Weekly Sun says: Roughly, we have nine million acres devoted to the various field crops grown in Ontario. Of this total, about three million acres are in hay, and two and three-quarter millions in oats. Thus, well over 60 per cent. of the entire acreage given to field cultivation is in these two crops, and these two main crops are the poorest in many years. Hay will not give over two-thirds of the tonnage per acre this year that has been harvested in recent years—probably not over half. Oats are likely to be nearly 35 per cent. below the average yield, and this is equivalent to cutting off twenty-five million bushels on this one crop alone.

On the other hand, the hay which has been harvested has been exceptionally well saved, and corn, which can be largely substituted for hay, has of late been making splendid progress, while the area in this crop is larger than usual. There is only about one-sixth the acreage in corn that we have in hay, but the tonnage per acre is six times as great in one case as in the other. If we have an open fall, thus permitting of the full maturity of the corn, the increased yield in this crop may pretty well offset the shortage in the other coarse fodder.

Peas, which had been steadily declining in acreage up to 1904, have since shown a rapid increase, and the area in this crop in the present season will probably be one-fourth greater than that of three years ago. At present, the promise is for an excellent yield in peas. Barley again, of which we will probably have 800,000 acres this year, seems as if it will go somewhat above the average in yield per acre. If the season had been a normal one for fall wheat we would probably have had eight hundred thousand acres in this crop, but a great deal of the land intended for the production of fall wheat has been drilled in with barley, and this, while it means a shortage in flour, will add considerably to the available supply of feed-stuffs. But after all allowances are made, there will undoubtedly be a material shortage in feed in 1907, compared with recent years.

So far as grain is concerned, Ontario will, as our correspondent, "Vim," said in last week's issue, have practically none for export this year. Our dependence in products for sale will have to be on butter and cheese, bacon and beef cattle, and the cost of making these will be higher than usual because of the high values which will undoubtedly be placed on feed-stuffs.

On the whole, this will be a lean year for Ontario farmers.

COSTLY LAWN FOR LAKEFIELD MAN BEING PLANNED FOR

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, August 15. — This town is to have one of the finest lawns and gardens in Ontario. Mr. E. Bravender, manager of the Lakefield Portland Cement Company, has let the contract for the work to a Lindsay man, and the work will be carried out regardless of expense. It will be planted with the finest ornamental trees and shrubbery. Mr. Bravender is an American gentleman, and he has decided to spend a large sum of money in making the grounds surrounding his Lakefield home compare, when completed, with anything in the province.

Ball Team Won An Exciting Game Yesterday by 8 to 7.

A team representing the Peterborough baseball club journeyed to Lindsay yesterday and administered a trimming to the team of that place by a score of 8 to 7 after an exciting game of ball. The teams were on even footing with seven runs each at the end of the eighth, but Peterborough managed to squeeze one in in the ninth and it was enough to win the game. The contest was an interesting one and was witnessed by a large crowd. It was a benefit game for a well know Lindsay player who is in hard circumstances.

POOR OPINION OF LOCAL SPORTS

Port Hope Guide Thinks They Were Afraid to Back the Peterborough Team in Game on Saturday

The Port Hope Guide has the following well:

The Peterborough press evidently has a small opinion of Port Hope's financial standing. It claims to have taken a lot of money from Port Hope on Saturday's game, leaving the town almost bankrupt.

At the very outside figure, Peterborough did not carry away more than $75, although their chances were good to take a lot more. One Peterborough sport was relieving himself of an overdose of surplus air upon the merits of his team, and was hailing over the crowd to get up a bet. A Port Hoper flashed 50 long greens at him and he quit like a dead one. Peterborough, as a rule, don't bet more than $5,000 on $6,000 (?) at a time; just a couple of winters ago Belleville made them all back up at 2 to 1 on the Belleville hockey match.

CRICKET

Dr. W G Grace, the Grand Old Man of British cricket, celebrated his fifty-ninth birthday at Chesham, Bucks, recently, by scoring 65 runs in ninety minutes in a cricket match against an eleven captained by Mr. William F. Lowndes. The doctor showed surprising nimbleness, and so well did his side bat that Mr. Lowndes' eleven were kept in the field the whole day. Dr. Grace's team ran up the enormous score of 427, of which 163 were made by Mr. T. G. Robinson, a South African.

BASEBALL

The longest game of the season was played yesterday between the Johnstown and Reading teams of the Tri-State League, Johnstown winning by the score of 4-3 after twenty-one innings. Bumpus Jones, pitcher of the Johnstown team, established a record heretofore unknown in baseball by pitching eighteen consecutive innings without a player of the opposing team reaching first base. — Newark News.

FOLLOWED HER MOTHER'S EXAMPLE.

AND KEPT DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY IN THE HOUSE.

Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Tessier, Sask., tells of her experience in the following words: "I wish to tell you of the good I have found in DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. Last summer my little girl, aged two years, was taken ill with Summer Complaint, and as my mother always kept DR. FOWLER'S in the house, when I was a child, I seemed to follow her example, as I always have it also. I at once gave it to my baby as directed and she was at once relieved, and after a couple of doses were taken was completely cured."

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY imparts a healthy tone to all mucous surfaces, corrects and heals all forms of canker and counteracts all tendency to pain and inflammation, while it gives tone to the debilitated system when weakened by exhaustive discharges and fluxes of whatever nature, thus making it the best and safest remedy for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Pain in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all Summer Complaints.

ENTERED SISTERHOOD OF ST. JOSEPH

Twelve Novices Took Final Vows and Four Postulants Were Made Novices

WAS BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY

The beautiful Chapel of Mount St. Joseph, was the scene of a sublime and impressive ceremony this morning, when four young ladies became Novices, renouncing the world, and entering a new life, which they devote entirely to Almighty God.

More important was the ceremony in which four Novices, who have been on probation for about two years made their final vows, and are now Sisters of St. Joseph, in every sense. This is the largest number that has ever entered the service of God here at one time, and the chapel was thronged with relatives and friends of the young ladies, who were present to offer their congratulations that they had been found worthy to be called to the Sisterhood of St. Joseph.

The Chapel was very pretty in its ivory, white and gold effects, with floral decorations, artistically arranged by some of the Sisters. The two ceremonies were performed by His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, during a Low Mass which he celebrated Ven. Archdeacon Casey of Lindsay, and Rev. Father McColl, were deacons of honour to His Lordship, and assisted in the sacrifice of the mass. Rev. Dr O'Brien, as Master of Ceremonies, had many duties to perform.

The four Postulants, who have been on probation for some months, and who became Novices this morning, are:

Miss May Lalonde, of Cornwall, who received the Sisterhood name of Sister Wilfred.

Miss Lena King, of Thessalon, Sister Mary Francis Xavier.

Miss May Kennedy, of St. John's, Newfoundland, Sister Mary Francis Borgia.

Miss Mamie Dalton, Newcastle, N. B., Sister Mary Florence.

The ceremony by which these Postulants were made Novices is not only sublime, but it is pathetic. These young ladies appeared in full nuptial attire accompanied by maids of honour. During the service they were questioned by His Lordship, and expressed the desire to enter the Sisterhood. Soon after they left the Chapel and returned in the humble dress of a Sister of St. Joseph, and were accepted on probation of several years, when, if they are still filled with the holy desire, they take their final vows.

The second ceremony was that in which twelve Novices took their final vows of obedience, chastity and poverty. Following is given the names by which they were known to the world and those by which they are known in the Order.

Miss Bridgat Ryan of Renfrew, Sister Mary Celestine.

Miss Mary Casey of Peterborough, Sister Mary Marcella.

The maids of honour were Misses Ellen Warrington, Mary Galvin, Emma Cook, Marie McCarthy, Florence Giroux and Gertie Condon.

The visiting clergy were Ven. Archdeacon Casey, of Lindsay; Rev. Father Heenan, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; Rev. Father Frank O'Sullivan, of Port Hope; Rev. Father Brennan, of St. Marys; Rev. Father McDonell, of Alexandria, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Ennismore.

The Sermon

Rev. Father Heenan, of the Redemptorist Order delivered the sermon at the conclusion of the mass. He said that the occasion was one of great rejoicing and justly so for not only men but the very angels looked upon it with admiration and wonderment. They had witnessed 16 young ladies who would have filled positions of honour in the world, had had been called to receive a greater honour, that of devotion to God. They had renounced all the attraction of the world and had separated themselves from their relatives and friends to take the three holy vows of obedience, charity and poverty, which bound them to God for ever. The reverend speaker referred to the scene in the Gospel in which the Master had taken his favourite apostles, James, Peter and John, to the high mount, and Peter in ecstasy of love had cried out "Lord it is good for us to be here. Let us make three altars, one for Thee, one for Moses and the third for Elias." Father Heenan said that the sacrifice which the twelve sisters had made to-day the vows they had taken, was more pleasing to God than that which Peter wished to give Him. After speaking in the highest terms of the religious vocation of the beautiful generous characteristics that are associated with the sisters, Rev. Father Heenan congratulated the parents of those who had entered the sisterhood and also the Bishop, who is the spiritual father and director of the sisters of St. Joseph. He congratulated those sisters who had just entered upon the service of God, and also the happy quartette that to-day had laid aside their bridal dress and ornaments to assume the holy and lowly garb of a sister of St. Joseph. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor also addressed words of praise and encouragement to the young ladies and gave every one his blessing.

After the ceremony the sisters were congratulated by their friends and relatives and by the other sisters. Each of the newly-made sisters received a crucifix, the three nails representing the three vows they had taken.

SMALL PROPORTION OF LOCAL STUDENTS PASSED

Local students taking ther examinations in the Departmental Examinations, the results of which are being published, are not meeting with the success anticipated, the disconcerting fact being published that only a small proportion of those taking the examinations have been successful.

The results so far as the County of Peterborough is concerned, of the senior teachers' examinations are printed below. This examination qualifies for admission to the professional course in the faculty of education, and is the lowest academic standing accepted for first class public school teachers and high school assistants.

In accordance with the provisions of regulation 43 (3), the board of examination has changed the standard in physics and has made due allowance for the unexpected nature of the paper.

Candidates who are completing their senior work under the provisions of circular 50, in order to secure their standing; must have entirely fulfilled the requirements of said circular.

Honour matriculation results are not here published, but will be sent principals with the certificates and marks. These will be issued as soon as possible, the junior probably by the end of the week, and the senior a few days later. Those passing from Peterborough are:

Ingenious New York Woman Captures a Young Burglar

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Aug. 15.—Not content with catching George Martesi, eighteen years old, of No. 459 East One Hundred and Forty-Ninth street, who broke into her house at First street adn Havenmeyer avenue, Westchester, early yesterday Mrs. Margaret Bossman tore his shirt into strips, made a rope of them and tied him securely. When the police arrived some time later they found Marthesi done up in a neat package all ready for delivery.

Mrs. Bossman thought she heard a noise in one of the rooms shortly before daylight. She listened and when she made sure she started for the room, only to be confronted by Marthesi, who is stockily built. Although an elderly woman, her courage did not desert her. Without an instant's hesitation she grabbed the intruder and started pummelling him.

THE OPERA HOUSE OPENS NEXT TUESDAY

First Attraction Will be "A Wife's Secret" Tuesday Aug. 20th.

The Examiner of yesterday contained an announcement of the opening attraction at the Grand Opera House, stating that on "Tuesday, August 7," "A Wife's Secret" would be the play given. The date was, of course, a mistake. It should have read "August 20." Next Tuesday, this popular play house will open its doors to the Peterborough public for the first time this season, and the opening attraction is reported to be an excellent one.

EXCITING SCENES ON NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

COUNTRY GOING TO DOGS

New York, Aug. 15.—The slaughter of prices on the Stock Exchange went on again this morning, with gilt-edged securities showing losses of from 1 to 4 1-2 points.

Wall Street was filled with all sorts of alarming rumours, and the situation was furthot strained by the news from London, where the Bank of England had raised its discount rate from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent.

There seemed to be no hope for anything. Everybody was convinced that the country was going to the dogs, not slowly, but at once.

The scheme on the Stock Exchange was of the wildest description. Nearly every trader seemed to have lost his head, running madly up and down the board room floor, crying, "Sell, Sell, Sell."

Visitors who crowded the gallery thought they were looking down upon a mob of maniacs, and so they were for a few moments. Brokers who kept their heads could have been counted on one's fingers.

They stood there facing a frenzied mob, who threw over their holdings without regard to rythmo or reason, and bought stocks at prices which would have been treated as a joke only a few months ago.

Encouraging Reports From Western Crops

Alberta Wheat Yield Will be Satisfactory this Year—Prospects Daily Growing Brighter

LATE RAINS HAVE HELPED

Winnipeg, August 15.—The weather to-day is very unfavourable for growing grain; raining and cool at many points, while the crops now require only sunshine and high temperature.

Bounteous Harvest

Macleod. — A special says the prospects in Southern Alberta every day grow brighter. At no time during the whole summer has there been any doubt as to the result of the yield, but recent rains have made it certain that there will be a bounteous harvest this fall.

For some two weeks the weather was very dry, and some misgivings were felt by some as to what the effect would be on the grain, which was then in milk. On the night of August 8th and all day on the 9th, water fell in great quantities, drenching everything and leaving standing pools all over the country. The farmers now say that nothing but disaster can prevent great crops.

Binders at Work

Already the hum of the binder can be heard in many quarters, and there can be seen several large cut fields of what was a few days ago, waving grain.

Fall wheat is being cut in many places, and in others the binder either is, or should be busy severing the crops from the soil and converting real property into personal property.

The Spring Crop

The spring crop is excellent and with the recent downfall of rain it is safe so far as drought is concerned. Farmers in Letellier, Man., district, will cut wheat next week.

The following is a report of the crop conditions along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Alberta and western Saskatchewan, compiled by General Superintendent R. R. Jamieson, from reports received from the railway company's agents at different points.

Pincher.—Crops doing well; weather first part of week ideal, but cooler during the latter half.

Gleichen. — Weather cool and showery; no damage to the crops; cutting will be general in a few days.

Strathmore. — Crops doing fairly well; weather cool and showery.

Red Deer.—Crops doing fine.

Millet. — Crops still doing well; a hail storm covered a small area, but did little damage to crops.

Strathcona. — Rainy weather has prevented the grain from ripening very quickly but if dry and warm this week, good progress will be made. Good crop is expected.

Swift Current. — Weather past week favourable; some barley being cut; wheat cutting will be general about the 25th.

Prosperity Ahead Of The Mines In East Peterboro'

Revival of That Industry Indicated by Activity Recorded Recently —Gold and Iron Properties will be Worked

WELCOME ANNOUNCEMENT

(Examiner Special.)

Havelock, August 15. — It is very likely that there will be a great revival in the mining industry in East Peterborough. At least indications point to it. First comes the opening of the iron mines at Blairton, then the iron mines at Preneveau, and now there are indications that the gold mines at Cordova will open up.

Cordova, up to a few years ago, was a prosperous and lively little village and would have continued so, had not the company operating the mine gone under. The power to run the machinery was obtained from a large falls at Deer River, about two miles from Cordova. There were some two hundred men employed by the mining company, and the number was constantly increasing. The employees began to buy lots and build houses for themselves, and thus there are a large number of men who own houses and land in Cordova, which they cannot sell, as there is no demand for property. The village was lighted by electric light before Havelock had them installed. Many of the houses were supplied with water works. In the village there was a church, a school, a drug store, several grocery stores, a blacksmith shop, and several other industries.

There is a good percentage of gold in the rock comprising the company's property, and if they had not been dragged under by the failure of another mine owned by the same company the directors would likely have been rich men now.

There are several things that indicate the opening of this valuable property. Contractor Jas. Scott, of town, with a large gang of men, commenced repairing the long flume at the air compressor plant at Deer River a couple of weeks ago and is now making good headway. The abutment which holds up the immense flume has crumbled away, allowing a part of the flume to fall in. It is also stated on good authority that a Peterborough electrician has been given the contract for repairing and renovating the electrical machinery at the mines.

The news that the mines may be opened is causing considerable excitement among the citizens of Cordova for almost everyone who lives in the village, which is still a busy little place, owns property.

The citizens of Havelock are also wishing that the good news may be true, because it will cause much more business to be transacted in Havelock.

NAIL DRIVEN THREE INCHES INTO IRON WORKER'S SKULL

(Examiner Special.)

New York, Aug. 15.— When the surgeons in the Williamsburg Hospital made an examination yesterday of William Albright, an iron worker, who fell from the new elevated railway at the Brooklyn plaza of the Williamsburg bridge Monday afternoon, they found under his hair the head of a nail flattened against his skull.

Surgeons took out the nail which was three inches long, and found it had driven a hole into Albright's brain.

The physicians believe that the nail was upright on the pavement when the iron worker fell. The surgeons could not see that he had been injured, but they were puzzled that the iron worker did not regain consciousness. They say he cannot recover.

FELL UNDER WHEELS OF TRAIN

Painful and Serious Accident to Youth Near Port Hope

The Port Hope Guide says:—Fred Wood, a young man of about 21 years of age, residing between Cobourg and Baltimore, met with a bad accident last Wednesday night, August 14, at the G.T.R. station. He had come from Oshawa, and as a freight pulled out from here for the east, he attempted to board it. He missed the step, however, and his right foot went under the wheels and was badly crushed. The leg will be amputated between the knee and the ankle.

NATIONAL THIFT

A statistical investigation shows that throughout the world 91 million thrifty persons have deposited to their credit in the postal and other savings banks, the enormous sum of 11,891 millions of dollars. The figures come from a United States source and the claim is made that while the depositors are fewer in number in the United States, the average amount on deposit per head—$433.79, in the United States—is much larger than the amount per head in the United Kingdom or France. The population of the United States is almost double that of either country, while the deposits are individually about four times greater, the savings per head being $133.79 in the United States, as against $85.24 in Great Britain and 75.60 in France. The number of depositors in the two latter countries is about twelve million each. Arguing superficially it may be claimed that the United States is much more prosperous because the amount of individual saving account is much larger. That is not true reasoning. The real measure of national prosperity is the general distribution of wealth. We know that in the United States there is great concentration of wealth in comparatively few individuals, and the same condition obtains among the people; boast is made of the larger amount of individual savings, while in England and—notably—France, the boast can be made of the much greater number of small savers. The United States with double the population, has only a little more than half the number of savers. So that in France there is greater national thrift and greater personal prosperity. That individual prosperity widely distributed is the measure of national thrift, Japan furnishes a notable instance. It was pointed out in these columns yesterday how successfully Japan was handling the tremendous obligations incurred by the war. This is, in large part, no doubt, due to the prevalent thrift of the people. The mass of the people is thrifty, saving and therefore comfortable, and therefore contented, and therefore patriotic. And this patriotism of the people leads them to make sacrifices, in paying extra imposts, which the practice of petty savings as a principle of living, has rendered easy. The United States as a country is a very rich country, but its great wealth is centralized, not distributed among the masses of the people, who are, in a sense, the hewers of owod and the drawers of water, to the multi-millionaires. The stupendous wealth accumulated, acquired or stolen, as may be decided, by the few men representing the Standard Oil Company, has been made by the levy of an unrighteous toll, upon every home in the land. The general distribution of wealth in a country is a true measure of popular prosperity.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Has the busy bee joined the leisure classes? The honey crop is reported to be a failure.

In 1867 the gross public debt was $28 74 per head of the population. In 1904 the gross debt per head was $65 11. In 1906 the gross debt per head was $60.89, a decrease per head of $4.22 in two years.

During the month of June, the public debt of the Dominion was reduced $2,233,248 and interest upon this large sum ceased to accrue. The policy of the Liberal Government is to reduce the public debt and to relieve the people of the payment of interest.

Rockefeller claims that the war now being waged in the United States will bring financial chaos and destroy the value of the investments of widows and orphans. It is so to be hoped. The Standard Oil hold-up has been robbing widows and orphans in all the homes of the land to the tune of millions, by compelling them to invest in the form of increased prices for oil in the funds of the trust. Few, except the chief robbers, will care how these investments are ruined.

The statistics of Canadian immigration for the four years from 1898 to 1902 show as a particular feature a large increase of immigrans of Anglo-Saxon strain—from Great Britain and the United States. The figures for subsequent years bear a similar character. For the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1906, the immigrants from England and Wales numbered 65,932; from Scotland, 15,184; from Ireland, 5,018; from the United States, 57,919; from all other countries, 44,349. That is, out of a total of 189,064 immigrants reaching Canada in 1906, 144,715 ,or 69.5 per cent. were of Saxon strain, and decidedly desirable new citizens.

The Postoffice Department of the Dominion furnishes a marked contrast or great difference in results of administration by Conservative and Liberal Governments. In 1896 after eighteen years of Conservative rule, the post office deficit was $781,152. In 1906 after ten years of Liberal rule, after one-third reduction in the rate of domestic postage and the establishment of Imperial penny postage, the post office revenue showed a surplus of 1,011,000. At the time Sir William Mulock announced a reduction of the rate of letter postage from three to two cents, the Conservatives predicted that this reduction would result in at oss of a million dollars a year in revenue.

BLUE DEVILS

Get Rid of Indigestion and Things Will Look Bright and Joyous

Until the prescription known as Mi-o-na stomach tablets was put up as a popular form as a safe and effective cure for sick headache, indigestion and stomach troubles, the "blue devils" made everything look dark, gloomy and depressing.

After a few days use of Mi-o-na the sick headache, dizzy feeling, ness, bad taste in the mouth, distress after eating—all these are symptoms of a weak stomach—will disappear, and with perfect digestion there will be a jouous and beautiful outlook.

Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets are sold only in a neat metal box convenient for the vest pocket and cost 50 cts. Mr. Madill has seen so may cures made by Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets, that he gives a guarantee with every box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction.

JOKING LEADS TO TRAGEDY.

Barber Killed In Fist Fight at Sault Ste. Marie.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 16.—As a result of a drunken row in the Windsor Hotel last night, Edward Hynes, a barber employed at the hotel, is dead, and Thomas Ryan, a blacksmith, who has lived in the Soo for years and is generally respected, is in the cells, and will probably have to answer to a charge of murder.

The row started in the barber shop, Ryan had had his hair cut in the shop some days ago, and last night quizzed Hynes about it, saying that he was not satisfied.

Words followed, and spectators say that Ryan asked Hynes to go out into the yard and settle the matter. Hynes complied, and the two men left the shop, Hynes locking it. Neil McDougall, proprietor of the hotel, went to call a policeman, and, not seeing one, returned to the rear of the house, presumably to put a stop to the fight.

As he reached the yard Ryan was mounting the steps to leave, and Hynes was lying upon the ground dead.

Ryan was located at his home soon after and expressed surprise that Hynes was dead.

Hynes was 38 years of age, and came to the Soo from the American side in June, formerly conducting the grand saloon in the American Soo. He was single and had been regarded as inoffensive. Ryan is about 40 years of age, married, and has a family of three children.

Fire In Ottawa Suburb.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—There was a nine thousand dollar fire in Janeville, a suburb of Ottawa, yesterday afternoon. It started in Proulx paint shop, which was destroyed, together with a dwelling and shed belonging to the same man. The buildings were valued at $4,500 and were insured for $900. The fire spread and destroyed a house belonging to Eugene Favard and a house and stable owned by Jos. Desjardines. In the stable was a valuable bull, which was burned. The fire was controlled with great difficulty. At one time it looked as if the whole village would be destroyed. The efforts of those who were engaged in saving property were embarrassed by a gang of looters, who made off with articles from the burning house, and those in the vicinity of the fire. A valuable gold watch, belonging to Mrs. Desjardines, was among the articles stolen.

Took Paris Green.

Mt. Forest, Aug. 16.—Wednesday afternoon, while some women were picking berries near the river, about five miles from Mount Forest, they came upon the body of a man about 26 years of age, lying in the berry patch, and identified it as that of William Davies, a young Scotchman, an employe of James Shaw of Arthur Township. By his side was found an empty bottle, which showed traces of having contained paris green. No cause can be assigned for his rash act.

C. Q. WOO AND FUN MOLESTED

Assailant Fined Four Dollars—A Drunk and Vagrant Disposed Of

Magistrate Dumble was in his accustomed chair this morning and had to deal with several cases. John McCoy pleaded guilty to having been drunk and disorderly in a public place yesterday. He has been behaving well in this respect for a year or more, and was discharged with the advice to keep sober.

An old gray-haired man with gray beard answered to the charge of vagrancy. He is a human wreck, old, infirm, deaf and lame, and such is the result of the best days of his life. Now he is left high and dry on the shore of charity, where it will be only a matter of a few short years when all energy will depart from the old hulk, and time finally obliterate it. He is only one of the many who pass through the local police court. This old man was given a term in Castle Nesbitt.

Gearm Wright pleaded not guilty to having assaulted C. Q. Woo and Chu Fun last night near their store at the corner of George and King streets. The two sides to the story were somewhat at variance, but the main fact was that the prisoner struck the two Orientals with a stick. C. Q. Woo said that he had gone out of his kitchen, which was very warm, to get cooled off, and Wright was just passing. The latter told him to go inside, but he refused. Prisoner had a stick and chased them in, and struck Woo and his pham, Fun. Wright said that Woo tried to hit one of his spaniels and that a bull-dog rushed out of the back door of the restaurant and jumped on the little dogs.

His Worship said that the China men were generally peaceable, unless interfered with, and fined Wright $1, saying that he had gone out out of his way to strike Woo and Fun.

Violent Form of Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist minister at Belleville, Ont., writes, "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses gathered and I suffered great pain. A single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am now an entirely different man.

Sir,—Like your correspondent who complains of bad language, I am puzzled. The other day at the races a boy was calling out, "Cigars, one nickel." I offered him a nickel, but he said, "We don't take them." I was given the coin at a store in the city. It is hard on a poor immigrant.

Dinghby Race The Feature Of The Chemong Regatta

Mr. A. A. Hollingshead Won In Sensational Finish---The Regatta Was Most Successful on Record---Splendid Races, an Enormous Crowd and Ideal Weather

The Chemong regatta, the last of the three big Kawartha Lakes aquatic meets, was held yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Chemong Yacht Club, when all records in point of success and interest were eclipsed. Splendid races, a programme that was not too long, and sufficiently varied to be always interesting, an enormous crowd representative of the population of the different points of the Kawartha chain, and ideal weather conditions, all contributed to the success of the affair, which was, indeed, gratifying to those in charge.

The crowd was probably the largest in the history of the event. The steamer Esturion brought about 250 people from Sturgeon Point, and nearly 200 came from Stony Lake on the steamer Stoney Lake. In addition, the fact that it was the usual week ly half holiday in Peterborough made it possible for a very large number of local people to be present, and the result was that during the early part of the afternoon the road leading to the park was thronged with all kinds of vehicles heading for Chemong. The course, which was the same as last year, is an ideal one for contestants and spectators alike. The start in most of the paddling events was made at Mr. Horwood's island, and the finish took place in front of the club-house. Every foot of this course can be seen from the lofty banks of the park, which were thronged with people all afternoon, while many others watched the events from the club-house balconies.

They are a yachting community at Chemong, and therefore the sailing races were the events that caused the most interest, especially the dinghy race for the Kawartha Lakes Challenge Cup, won last year by Mr. Merritt of Chemong. The race was the feature of the regatta, and was marked by the most sensational finish in the history of the event. The two old rivals, Milne Hamilton and A. A. Hollingshead of the Chemong Yacht Club were the two contestants for the honours. There were seven other entries, but they were never in the race after the start.

The nine boats got away almost together, when the last gun was fired, but on the first leg of one mile, Hamilton's "Sam Pan" and Hollingshead's "Venda" began to draw away from the others, and it was soon seen that the race was between the two. On the first three miles of the race there was never but a little space of open water between the two boats. Hollingshead on the Venda turned the finishing buoy for the second round of three miles a short boat's length ahead of the Sam Pan, but the latter crept up, and before the first stake was reached was leading by about the same distance. They kept the same positions down the second leg, and when they turned the second buoy and headed for the finishing line a mile away, with a straight run before the wind, Hamilton was still ahead. He kept his lead to within a few yards of the finish, but the Venda had been creeping up slowly but surely, and as this fact became evident to the crowd there was the greatest excitement. Finally, Hollingshead got close enough to blanket his opponent, and the two sailed slowly side by side for the line, only a few feet away. The excitement was intense. "It's a dead heat," was the cry, and it certainly looked as if it would be, but a few feet from the finish the Venda gained her nose ahead, and won literally by a nose. It was the greatest finish ever seen on the Kawartha Lakes.

The wind was from the west and very light, at times dying down to a mere zephyr.

The open sailing race was comparatively easy for Robt. Shaw of Stony Lake, the winner of similar events at Sturgeon Point and Stony Lake. He led all the way around the six-mile course and won by a good margin from J. S. Knapman's "Cygnet" from Stony Lake, sailed by Harry Hall. A number of dinghies entered this event, and there was a special prize given for the first boat 18 feet and under to finish. This was won by Milne Hamilton, with A. A. Hollingshead, destined to beat him afterwards, second.

The most exciting of the paddling races was undoubtedly the men's fours, in which there were four entries, two Sturgeon Point and two Bridgenorth crews battling for supremacy. The Sturgeon Point quartettes took first and second after a most bitter contest. The four canoes came down the course almost abreast, but near the line the two Sturgeon Point boats drew ahead and won by a narrow margin, only a few feet separating the two leaders.

The ladies' tandem canoe race furnished another interesting struggle, the battle being between Miss Flavelle and Miss Knowlson of Sturgeon Point and Misses Helen and Gwen. Hall of Stony Lake. For almost the entire length of the course the two were side by side, but the Sturgeon Point pair spurted at the finish and won by half a boat length.

The Sturgeon Point entries carried off the honours in both races for gasoline launches. In the contest for launches of three horse-power and under, Hopkin's "Viking" won without trouble, with Wilson's "Roy II." second. There were two other entries, but the Sturgeon craft went ahead from the start. The race was one of three miles.

In the six horse-power and under class, Wilson's "It" beat the Wabasha, owned by Mr. Bull of Chemong, the only other entry. The two made a pretty race for the first mile, but Mr. Bull threw off his switch and the accident lost him all chance of winning, "It" getting the honours without trouble.

The other events were well contested and very interesting, especially the gunwale and crab races.

The fine showing made by the Sturgeon Point entries greatly delighted the people from that popular resort. It will be seen from the summary below that they carried off the majority of the prizes. The Bridgenorth entries did well in the paddling events, carrying off the doubles and singles, Fred Jopling winning the latter after paddling a splendid race.

The Summary

Ladies' Tandem Canoe Race—1, Miss Flavelle and Miss Knowlson, Sturgeon Point; 2, Misses Helen and Gwen. Hall, Stony Lake.

When Your Health Fails--What Then?

BETTER TO GUARD AGAINST SUCH AN EMERGENCY BY KEEPING VITALITY AT HIGH-WATER MARK BY THE USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

In these days of strenuous life and keen competition there is no place for tired brains and weak bodies.

Success is for the strong and alert for those whose blood is rich and whose nerve cells are filled with vigour and energy.

It is not pleasant to contemplate what might happen with failing health, and for this reason it is well to heed the first symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as brain fag, headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, failure of memory and loss of power to concentrate the mind.

While Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has succeeded in curing many cases of partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and the most severe forms of nervous prostration and exhaustion, it is not well to delay treatment until these stubborn and dangerous diseases set in.

At the slightest indication of waning nerve force, begin the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and with a few weeks' treatment you will be able to restore the vitality of the body to high-water mark, remove the cause of nervous disorders, and prevent serious results.

Miss Mary Leitch, Coulson, Simcoe county, Ont., writes: "When I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my nervous system was all run down, and I suffered terribly with nervous headache and sleeplessness. Sometimes I could not sleep for three or four nights in succession. By the use of several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food these troubles were entirely overcome, and I consider the preparation an excellent nerve tonic." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 5 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

LINDSAY NOW HAS A BURGLAR

Drug Store Broken Into and Till Rifled and Goods Stolen—It Creates a Sensation

THE DETAILS ARE TOLD

The Lindsay Post says: Yesterday a rumour spread around town that a hardware store had been burglarized the previous night. The Post rang up McLennan's store, which had been mentioned. For some reason, Mr. W. McLennan evaded the question and refused to state whether it was his store that had been entered or not, and as the remaining hardware stores had no knowledge of any goods being stolen, it was inferred that our information that the McLennan store had been entered was correct.

Later, it was stated that Dunoon's drug store had been broken into by thieves, and on investigation this was found to be the original robbery. The thief or thieves entered the drug store from the rear through the fanlight. Evidently, they were on to their job and thoroughly acquainted with the premises, ingress being effected over a shelf lined with bottles without one being broken. The fanlight is at a considerable distance from the floor.

The thief moved freely around the store. The till was rifled of its contents, which was very little, the proprietor removing the cash every night. A certain class of goods was taken, which may denote that the robber had a special purpose. These goods can be easily identified by the owner, and a clue may be had in this way.

SOME NORWOOD LADIES' EXPERIENCE

A Saturday Afternoon Paddle Almost Resulted Disastrously

Two young Norwood ladies had a very unpleasant experience last Saturday afternoon. While strolling about the pond at the north side of the village they came across an old punt and thought they would like to go for a sail. They got in and shoved out some distance from shore when the old craft began to fill with water, and sank before they could regain the shore. The timely arrival of Mr. John Rogers, who was sailing in a canoe some distance from them, saved them from almost certain death, as they went down several times and were almost exhausted when taken out of the water.

THE CHEESE MARKET IS QUIET

Though Prices Remain Firm—Quotations From Recent Sales

Montreal, Aug. 16.—The cheese market continues very quiet and the business passing is reported of only fair volume. The enquiry over the cables has decreased to a very noticeable extent, due to the high prices which rule for the Canadian goods.

The English buyers are evidently determined to combat these prices, and will not buy until the figures are lower. The sales in Ontario yesterday did not result in any lower prices, and the quotations to-day are:—Quebecs, 11 1-8c; Townships, 11 1-4 to 11 3-8c; Ontarios, 11 1-2 to 11 5-8c.

The local receipts were 19,163 boxes, against 19,160 for the same day last year.

Peterborough Lady Was Shown High Honour

Mrs. W. H. Gibbs Elected to the Office of Grand Conductor of Grand Rebekah Assembly at Oddfellows Meeting in Orillia

LOCAL DELEGATES BACK

Honours came Peterborough's way at the recent meeting of the Grand Lodge of Oddfellows held in Orillia. Last night the Peterborough delegates to that gathering returned to the city, and report a most successful and pleasant session. There were 719 railway certificates signed by the secretary, and other Oddfellows came by other means of transportation the total attendance being estimated at 1500.

The people of Orillia, the returned delegates report, were exceedingly hospitable to the visitors, and a thoroughly delightful time was spent.

Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, the delegate from the local Rebekah Lodge, was elected to the office of Grand Conductor of the Grand Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, and she was also appointed District Deputy Grand Master for the Rebekahs of this district. When it is recalled that Mrs. Gibbs has been a member of the order only about nine months, it will be seen that her promotion has been rapid.

Col. Miller, who was one of the thirteen candidates for the office of Grand Warden, was the eighth to drop out of the race, and stood fifth. Mr. D. Derbyshire of Brockville, was the successful candidate for the honour, and now stands in line for the Grand Mastership, which will, no doubt, come to him in due course.

St. Thomas was selected as the next place of meeting, although it was only after a hard fight that the Railway City succeeded in securing the meeting, stubborn fights being put up by Ottawa, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and the Soo.

A large number of the Ottawa delegates and those from other places in the east were in the city last night on their way home, many of them coming in by the Grand Trunk and remaining over until the departure of the midnight train. They were taken in hand by the local members of the Order, and their few hours stay in the city was made pleasant.

Belleville People Like Touring "Silver Band"

The Peterborough Salvation Army Band Captures the Bay City—Appearance and Musical Ability Impress Residents

A SPLENDID ORGANIZATION

The Belleville Intelligencer of yesterday, referring to the visit to that city of the Peterborough Salvation Army Band, says:

"The Salvationists of Peterborough have excellent reason to be proud of their band, which is now on its first summer tour and which last night gave a concert in this city. Thirty-five in number, neatly uniformed, and all playing silver-plated instruments (with the exception, of course, of the drums and string bass). Band-master Greene's boys (and girls) made a decidedly fine appearance. And they didn't stop at looks. They had the musical goods, all right, and delivered them in large quantities. To begin with, the instruments were in perfect tune, which is more than can be said of all bands. The effect would have been better had the concert been given in a larger hall, for the volume of sound last night was rather deafening at times. However, when the band struck upon the first number, 'Prize March No. 2,' listeners knew at once that they were up against the real thing in brass band music (The Peterborough Salvation Army Band has no reeds). The different numbers were given with a dash and swing that strongly reminded one of the famous Black Dyke Band; the different soloists handled their parts in a surprisingly clever way; the tone colour, though, with reeds intermixed it might have been more melodious, was full, round, and very harmonious; in attack and precision the band showed itself well night the equal of many much more pretentious organizations which have visited Belleville; they were alert to every movement of the decidedly clever conductor, Mr. Greene — in short, the band showed up as a really excellent musical organization. It would no doubt be a treat to hear them in 'Zampa' or 'William Tell.' Brigadier Hargrave was the chairman. Some vocal solos were nicely rendered, and the pianist, Mr. Hamilton, deserves more than a passing word of praise.

"The Band played on Front street at noon to-day, and gives a concert in Victoria Park this afternoon."

Increased Capital For The Canadian General Electric

Shareholders Yesterday Decided To Increase the Capital Stock to $8,000,000—The Company is Most Prosperous

IS $5,000,000 OF WORK

Toronto, Aug. 16.—At a special meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian General Electric Company yesterday, the capital was increased from five million to eight million dollars.

About thirty-five shareholders were present, and $4,000,000 of the capital stock was represented by proxies.

Mr. Frederick Nicholls, second vice-president and general manager, read the bylaw authorizing the above change. Of the new issue, 20,000 shares were to be seven per cent. preferred stock. Each holder of the old preferred stock was given the option of selling his holding, or of having it redeemed with the new issue of this description of stock. Mr. Nicholls said that the company had had an uninterrupted share of prosperity, and the last annual report contained every balance sheet of the the corporation for the past sixteen years. At present their company, he said, had $5,000,000 worth of work on hand, and $5,000,000 in liquid assets. The directors wanted to apply for letters patent to increase this stock and they could finance it in several ways. The company might stop taking orders for a time, and its $5,000,000 liquid assets would thus be worked up. He thought it would be wiser to increase the capital than to give business to the competitors of the company. The profits last year were over $800,000, and this year it seemed that they would be equally good or better. With profits of $853,000, the company was left $713,000, after the payment of deferred dividends.

Mr. J. K. Kerr said that on the new preferred stock the holders could not get more than seven per cent. a year.

Mr. Nicholls observed that the proposed increase was much in the interest of the common stockholders.

Mr. Nicholls had received an offer from England for the whole amount of the preferred stock at par, but he thought that the shareholders might want it. The present issue of preferred stock had to be redeemed and the directors desired power to do it.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

CORPORATION SEWER GANG MADE AN INTERESTING FIND

At the present time a sewer is being constructed on Downie street, from London street north. Yesterday, while Foreman Neary's gang of dusky Italians was excavating some seven or eight feet below the surface the pick-axes came in contact with what appeared to be the remains of some prehistoric building. Shovelful after shovelful of brick, some full-size, and good shape, other fragments, and still others ill-shapen, were thrown to the surface, until a large heap had accumulated. The brick had apparently been buried a long time, as it was almost black from age and the action of water. Speculation was rife as to how the brick came to get there, until it was recollected that about half a century ago there was a brick factory in operation in a field directly north of the presen line of Downie street, and that the find was probably the refuse from that brickyard, which had been used to fill in a troublesome gully on the road, which was probably the most direct road to the then village.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the deseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

GOOD PROGRESS BEING MADE WITH CAVAN SWAMP DRAIN

The Millbrook Reporter of this week says:—

A number from town drove out to the Cavan Swamp on Friday last to see the dredge doing its work in opening up the big ditch. They were crossing the middle road, having come so far about two miles from the west point of starting. Messrs. Hilton & Co., who have the contract seem to have invented the proper machinery for doing the work as it lifts the muck exceedingly well and throws it away to the side. It is on the same principle as a lake dredge, the boat floating along as the ditch is excavated. It is to be hoped that this ditch may accomplish all that its promoters desire and expect.

Juvenile Crime Is Still Rampant Among Clique

Same Boys Again in Trouble—Kindness and Moral Suasion has no Effect on Them—Authorities Facing a Difficult Problem

THEY BROKE INTO STORE

What is to become of those small boys between the ages of 8 and 12 years who have been so frequently connected with criminal actions of late, and were let go each time with the understanding that they would not repeat their offences? Magistrate Dumble said this morning that he was at a loss to know how to solve the problem. The boys have been unchecked and unpunished since infancy and they are now beyond the parents' control.

Mr. Gordon who appeared for two of the lads said that by sending them to a Reformatory they would be only made worse for they would meet boys more educated in crime than themselves.

Mr. R. E. Wood was present this morning and declared that it was about time some steps were taken to at least check the depredations of those boys who have proved themselves public nuisances.

The first thing done to-day was to pay to John Doig the money which the court awarded him in the case of two of the "bad" boys stealing his horse. Next it was learned that Mr. John Hill, who keeps the store formerly occupied by Mr. J. Giles, had not received any of the $4.50 which four of the boys stole a week ago after breaking into the store. These were old charges and there was a fresh one on which four of the boys had to appear to-day. Last Sunday in the afternoon they were playing at the rear of a Hunter street grocery store and one of them kicked a box which was found to be the only protection to a window giving easy admission to the store. One of the boys was left on watch and the other three went into the store. About 40 cents was in the till and the boys took it. Mr. Gordon said that the grocer had left his premises in this way to find out if anyone was stealing from him. Three of the boys who were engaged in this operation are regulars, that is, they have been connected with a great many thefts which have been committed of late. The other boy is a stranger and this was his first offence, so Magistrate Dumble discharged him with a warning which it is hoped the lad will take to heart and not be like the others with whom moral suasion went in one ear and out the other. The The other three boys in the case were remanded until to-morrow morning. Only two of them were in court, the real ringleader and scamp having gone to the regatta at Chemong Park yesterday and no trace of him has been since heard.

It is no wonder the authorities are in a quandary as to what they are going to do about the future of these boys who have already committed more crimes in their childhood than would be expected to an ordinary lifetime.

TOOKE BROTHERS LIMITED MONTREAL-CANADA

WAS WORTH $90,000 BUT TOWN KEPT HIM

Miser Who Asserted That He Had Wealth Became Charge of Town

Fresno, Cal., August 15. — Although he asserts that he is worth $90,000, W. H. O-Lynn, 90 years of age, fell unconscious from starvation and excessive heat at his shanty in this city, where he has mended umbrellas for eight years. O'Lynn had lived alone and had subsisted on coffee for some time. He would sun himself in front of his place of business. A doctor told O'Lynn that he would have to go to an hospital, but O'Lynn retorted that he had $90,000 and refused at first to go to the institution. He finally became too weak for further opposition and will be given medical attention at the expense of the county.

CONSTABLE'S MIDNIGHT TRIP RESULTED IN GOOD CAPTURE

Constables Moore of this city, and Cullen of Bridgenorth, made a midnight trip to the Indian Village last night—or rather early this morning—and the result of their visit was the capture of Jonas and David Jacobs and Alex. Knott, three Indians who will have to stand trial for having created a disturbance on the steamer Esturion on Monday night, on the way from Stony Lake. The Indians were unaware of the pending visit of the constables, and during the early hours of this morning, when the two men drove into the village, everyone, including the three men they were after, were "in Slumber-land."

No trouble, however, was experienced, and the three men were secured, each in a different house, and brought to this city, and direct to the home of Magistrate Edmison, where they were remanded, and were taken to the county gaol to await their preliminary hearing.

It is anticipated that at the trial of these men something will be learned as to the source of the liquor supply.

WEDDING BELLS.

KECK-LOUCKS

A very pleasing and interesting event took place at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, August 14, at the residence of the groom's uncle, Mr. P. C. Brown, 26 Main street, North Bay, when Miss Genevieve Loucks, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Loucks of 304 Smith street, Peterborough, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. George W. Keck, of 714 East Twenty-fourth street, Erie, Pa. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Johnson, pastor of McIntyre street Methodist Church. The bride looked charming in a gown of cream duchess satin trimmed with lace and chiffon. She wore the bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of cream roses. The bride was assisted by Miss Nellie Brown of Ottawa, cousin of the groom, who was gowned in white silk trimmed with lace and chiffon, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was assisted by Mr. Ernest F. Cole, of 1124 Queen street west, Toronto. After the nuptial knot was tied, about sixty guests sat down to the sumptuous repast, which was prepared for the occasion. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring, to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent, and to the groomsman a pearl tie pin. The presents to the bride and groom were very numerous and costly, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The bride's travelling dress was of blue lady's cloth, with hat to match.

The happy couple left on the 7.05 train for points east, amid showers of rice and good wishes. On their return they will spend a few days in Peterborough with the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Keck will reside at 24 Sussex avenue, Toronto.

Some Troubles Met With; Livery Horse The Cause

Young Peterborough Man Had His Own Trouble to Identify a Horse He Had Driven in the Afternoon at Chemong Park

WAS AN AWKWARD SITUATION

The inability of amateurish and inexperienced drivers, to distinguish a horse which they had driven behind from Peterborough to Chemong in broad daylight yesterday, was the cause of some confusion and resulted in the expression of some opinions which would not look well in print, last night at the hotel stables in Chemong, following the regatta.

A young man from the city engaged a livery rig and, accompanied by a friend, spent the afternoon at the regatta. When they decided to return home, however, the trouble came. The young fellow referred to went to the stable to get his horse, but when asked to describe it, was unable to give the man in charge of the stable any information which would lead to the indentification of the animal. Here was a nice "kettle of fish"—fifty or seventy-five horses and buggies of kinds, and nobody knew which of all these outfits was the one the young fellow wanted! Of course he recognized that it was an impossibility for the man in charge of the stable to remember each individual's horse and buggy. If the one who drove it could not identify it, how could anybody else be expected to do so?

To say that the situation was desperate was putting it mildly. It was simply intolerable. And the worst of it was that there seemed to be no remedy. The young city man could not remember whether his horse was a brown or black animal, and even had he known that, there were dozens of others of those colours, and that would not help any. Finally, one of the employees of the stable from which the outfit was hired, happened on the scene, and after some fifteen minutes' search found the missing animal.

AN EXHIBITION SNAKE FRIGHTENED EXPRESSMAN

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Men at work about the Canadian Pacific depot are still talking of the peculiar consignment that came through Montreal yesterday on its way to Toronto. It should have been transferred at North Bay, but someone blundered, and so it came as far as Montreal. A couple of expressmen stepped into the car in which the consignment lay, and proceeded to clear it out. Suddenly one of them gave a yell, and with his hair on end and his eyes popping out, jumped for the door. His companion shouted a question after him and turned to do the work alone, when he, too, stared intently for a brief and fleeting second into a corner of the car, after which he emitted a yell worse than the other one and tried to climb up the side of the car in his terror. The fact of the mattter is, the men saw a snake. The snake had escaped from the box in the course of its trip to Toronto, where it is to be used for exhibition purposes.

Would Appoint Commission For Collegiate Institute

Unsatisfactory Showing of Local Pupils In Recent Examinations Gives Rise to a Suggestion to This Effect

SEAT OF THE TROUBLE

The fact that only three out of more than twenty-five students of the local Collegiate Institute passed their examinations for Junior teachers' certificates was the subject of a discussion with a member of the Board of Education to-day, and he stated his opinion that the situation was one which called for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the conditions prevailing in the institute. That such a small number of candidates should have been successful was not encouraging, and the condition was one which was hardly tolerable. There was, apparently something wrong. The examinations were either too difficult or the scholars were not sufficiently trained. There was little doubt that the examinations were somewhat more difficult than usual, but it was pointed out that in other places the percentage of successful students was higher, in many cases than in Peterborough.

He favoured the appointment of a commission, whose duties it would be to institute an inquiry into the whole question of the Institute and the method of teaching and the conditions under which the work was being done.

So far as he was concerned he did not profess to know where the difficulty was, but it was apparent that things were not as they should be. It was for the purpose of ascertaining a knowledge of the facts that he advised the appointment of the commission.

SHOULD SUPPORT THE FAIR

Church Paper Urges Popular Support For Industrial Exhibition

Referring to the Peterborough Fair and to the efforts of the energetic President of the Society, St. Luke's Parish Magazine says:—

The Peterborough Exhibition promises to be the best ever held yet. Our enterprising friend, Mr. R. H. Leary, who is the President of the Exhibition, as putting his whole energy into making this year's Fair a great success. Whatever Mr. Leary takes in hand he is bound to put through. All he needs is the support and co-operation of Peterborough citizens, who shou'd take a pride and a greater interest in their Fair. Especially the farmers should help to make it a truly "Agricultural Exhibit" by exhibiting their products, which after all are the "raison d'etre" of a Fair.

Brigade Called Out to Banks' Sporting Goods Store

This morning about 8.30 o'clock, smoke was seen issuing from the basement of Bank's sporting goods store on George street, and the fire brigade was called out. The slight blaze was extinguished before they arrived, and it was found unnecessary to use the hose. No damage was done. The fire is supposed to have originated from a cigar or cigarette stump.

MR. T. H. BROOKS CALLS ATTENTION TO SIDEWALK

Is in a Very Bad Condition and Menace To Pedestrians

Mr. T. H. Brooks, grocer on Smith street, is indignant about the condition in which the board sidewalks are in his vicinity at present. For a long time, boards have been loose and missing, and walking is a veritable hardship. Last night he was returning home with his wife, when he stumbled into a place where a board was missing, and it was found by the side of the road. Mrs. Brooks was badly shaken up and bruised, and had a narrow escape from suffering a fracture to her leg. The residents in the neighbourhood are not pleased with the sidewalks on Reid street, and are looking forward to considerible repair work to remove the traps.

HOG MARKET WILL BE MUCH BETTER

Plenty of Hogs Among Farmers but the Price is Weak

This morning several of the local cattle buyers were present at the market, when some fifty hogs were brought in by farmers. Speaking of the situation, one of them said that the present price of hogs, live weight, is $6.50 per cwt., and that the prospects are that this will become lower. The farmers have a large number of them, and the time is close at hand when they will be ready for sale. The market is rather poor just now, hence the low prices and since the supply is good the tendency is for a decrease in the present price.

THE MASSACRED VICTIMS ARE BURIED

Europeans Who Were Massacred in Casablanca.

THE SITUATION IN MOROCCO

Moorish Sultan Awakens to Seriousness of Act—Severely Blames Governor For His Inaction Which Led to the Trouble—Tribesmen Preparing For Another Attack—War Vessels Patrol Coast.

Tangier, Aug. 16.—The European victims of the original massacre at Casablanca were buried Wednesday with impressive ceremonies. The foreign consuls, Gen. Drude, commander of the French expeditionary force; a detachment of troops, and Europeans to the number of 500 followed the hearses to the graves. The funeral oration was delivered by the French vice-consul.

The bombardment of Casablanca has produced a deep impression at Fez. The Government received the news well, and at once provided guards for all European residents, urging them not to leave the city, where it guarantees their security.

Advices received here from Fez say that the grand council called by the Sultan to consider the situation at Casablanca has agreed that he shall use all his influence in the direction of peace.

The Sultan's proclamation, counselling universal calm, in the country's great crisis, is earnestly supported, so far as his public affirmations are concerned by Sherecf El Ouisan, who is a notorious fanatic and hater of Europeans.

The Sultan has begged the Europeans not to leave Fez, as he would not be responsible for their safety if they depart from the capital.

Reports from Casablanca yesterday indicate that the Kabyles are gathering reinforcements, as if preparing for a final effort to capture Gen. Drude's camp outside that city.

Paris, Aug. 16.—The Casablanca correspondent of The Figaro telegraphs that Muley Amin, the military governor of Casablanca, has received a letter from the Sultan, bitterly reproaching him for his inaction, which the Sultan says was partially responsible for the trouble, and blaming him for not having foreseen and repressed the disturbances.

Vice-Admiral Philbert, telegraphing Wednesday, reported isolated attacks on Casablanca, which the troops easily defeated, being assisted by the shell fire of the French cruiser Cloire.

The cruisers Forbin, Galilee, Cassini and two torpedo boat destroyers are now used in a systematic patrol of the coast of Morocco.

TWO YEARS—THIRTY LASHES.

Exemplary Sentence on Young Man For Criminal Assault.

Belleville, Aug. 16.—A tale of swift justice comes from Trenton, near this city. A young man named Malcolm Graham was caught in the act of criminally assaulting Annie Greenfield, a young immigrant girl. The offence took place Wednesday night. Three men, attracted by the girl's screams, went to the scene and caught Graham. Yesterday morning he was taken before Magistrate O'Rourke, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and thirty lashes. He was brought to the jail here for safe-keeping yesterday afternoon.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 16.—A destructive fire at Blind River early yesterday morning did $150,000 damage to the plans of the Dominion Lumber Co., Moore & McDonald, Moulthrop Lumber Co., Hope Lumber Co., Morgan Lumber Co., White Pine Lumber Co.

The fire started from an unknown cause at the extreme end of the tramway on the waterfront. The services of the Soo brigade were requested by wire.

The docks held about 7,000,000 feet of lumber, nearly half of which was destroyed.

The firemen were compelled to remove a portion of the tramway with dynamite and throw the lumber into the river.

Belfast War Ends.

Belfast, Aug. 16.—The negotiations between the arbitrators and the leaders of the strikers resulted yesterday in a settlement of the labor troubles here.

The agreement is in the nature of a compromise. The men return to work to-day at a slight increase in wages and with fixed hours, while employers are left entirely free to employ either unionists or non-unionists.

To Try and End Strike.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—Lewis Simpson, manager of the Montreal Cotton Co.'s mills at Valleyfield, is in Ottawa, and had a long conference yesterday with MacKenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, in respect to the strike of his 2,500 operators.

An official of the Department will probably proceed to Valleyfield and make an effort to bring about a settlement.

RESOLUTION AT THE HAGUE

M. Beernaert Thinks American Proposition Doomed—Will Be No Court of Arbitration—The British Delegates Push Forward Question of Disarmament—Hebrews Must Accept Zionism or Bankruptcy.

The Hague, Aug. 16.—To all intents and purposes, as a result of a sitting of the committee, the throwing of explosives from balloons and airships is forbidden.

M. Beernaert left yesterday afternoon for Brussels, whither he goes holding highly pessimistic views concerning the peace conference and believing that the American proposition for the establishment of a permanent international court of arbitration is doomed.

The British delegates have received instructions to act with vigor, and are doing so. They are pushing forward the American proposition and also arranging the delicate matter of disarmament, which can only be put forward as a wish at the closing session.

A feature of the opening of the Zionist conference here yesterday morning was a grand speech by Dr. Max Nordau. Among other things he said that Zionism was the Hebrew reply to all antisemitism and the persecution of the Hebrew race throughout the world. It was a vital question for Hebrews either to accept Zionism or submit to national disgrace or bankruptcy.

The Anglo-Jerusalem scheme he declared was progressing favorably and would become the banner under which Hebrews would flight, showing the world the power of their civilization. Every Hebrew had two countries—that of his adoption and the Holy Land, and he must be faithful to both.

PILING UP EVIDENCE.

Inquest on Essex Explosion Will Be Warm Time For M. C. R.

Windsor, Aug. 16.—Crown Attorney J. H. Rodd claims that evidence is piling up fast against the Michigan Central Railway people in connection with the explosion at Essex last Saturday.

Provincial Detectives Mahoney and Campau are at work securing a quantity of evidence which, it is proposed to use at the adjourned inquest on Aug. 23.

The most significant occurrence within the past few days is the resignation of Conductor Barry, in whose nominal charge the car containing the dynamite is supposed to have been. Barry, who has sufficiently recovered from his injuries to be discharged from the hospital, has no explanation to offer at this time as to why he chose to resign, but it is understood that the prosecution will call him as the star witness when the case comes up again. Agent Stimers and Fireman Madigan, the other victims of the explosion, are still in the hospital, but are mending slowly.

REDMOND AND SINN FEIN.

Nationalist Leader Says Their Policy Is Absurd.

Wexford, Ireland, Aug. 16.—John E. Redmond, leader of the Nationalist party in the House of Commons, made an address in this city Wednesday night in reply to a resolution conveying to him the freedom of the City of Wexford, in recognition of his Parliamentary work for Ireland, in the course of which he discussed freely the present conflict between the Nationalists and the members of the Sinn Fein Society.

He described the critics of the Irish party, as actuated by jealousy, or similar motives, and said the members of the party were the choice of the constituencies and not his nominees. They were honest Nationalists, and far less amenable to British influences, and far more independent of the British parties than some of their critics.

Stand In No One's Way.

No invitation to William O'Brien to join the party was needed. He had been asked repeatedly, but he was unwilling to be bound by the party pledge. The position of Timothy Healy, Mr. Redmond continued, was different, but if the National directory or the convention wanted him back he, Mr. Redmond, would not stand in the way.

The policy of the Sinn Fein Society, Mr. Redmond then declared, in withdrawing the members from Westminster was absurd, and found support nowhere in Ireland.

"The cranks and the doubters," Mr. Redmond said, in conclusion, "have had their innings for the past few weeks, but they will get their answer from every quarter of Ireland before the harvest is saved."

Negroes Can't Vote.

Georgia, Ga., Aug. 16.—By a vote of 159 to 16 the House Wednesday passed the negro disenfranchisement bill, which was previously adopted by the Senate. The lower branch of the Legislature made a few minor additions to those concurred in by the Senate.

PEACE OF EUROPE IS ASSURED

Meeting of King Edward and Kaiser Will Strengthen It.

INVITATION TO THE EMPEROR

Another Stage In Relaxation of European Tensions—Results of Visit Is Far-Reaching—Germany Is Satisfied and French Interests Are Preserved—Reconciliation Between Sovereigns Complete.

Paris, Aug. 16.—French opinion generally regards the meeting between King Edward and Emperor William at Wilhelmshohe Wednesday as marking another stage in the relaxation of European tensions.

Like the Swindemunde meeting and the approaching interview between King Edward and Emperor Francis Joseph at Ischi, the papers think it may principally be important in calming the sensibilities of Germany concerning the series of agreements Great Britain has been completing, and that from this standpoint it will strengthen the peace of Europe.

Moreover, Wednesday's meeting is contrasted with the handshake between the King and the German Emperor last year at Krenberg, and there is a disposition to consider the Wilhelmshohe meeting as being something in the nature of a genuine reconciliation between the two sovereigns, whose relations heretofore have been notoriously cool.

So far as French interests are concerned, the impression prevails that they cannot be prejudiced by what occurred at Wilhelmshohe, and that they may be advanced, especially should circumstances later necessitate a broadening of the mandate which France and Spain received at Algeciras.

Cassel, Aug. 16.—King Edward left Wilhelmshohe shortly after midnight. His visit with Emperor William was of short duration, but nevertheless it is regarded as most important, and it is stated in well-informed political circles that in the course of the conversation between the two monarchs the political situation was discussed in the most friendly terms.

Prince Von Buelow and Sir Charles Harding also had a long and earnest conversation, and it is the general opinion that the results of the visit will be far-reaching, and place the relations of Great Britain and Germany upon a better footing.

The toasts at the dinner in the palace were most cordial. Emperor William thanked King Edward warmly for his visit, which, he said, he regarded as an expression of the most friendly feeling. He then referred to the good relations which always had existed between the two countries during the reigns of King Frederick and Queen Victoria, and concluded with saying he considered that King Edward represented the English nation, and that his visit was an expression of the desire for a good understanding between the two nations.

King Edward replied that his dearest wish was to see good relations between the German and the English peoples, and he assured the Emperor that on the occasion of his coming visit to England he would receive a most hearty and popular welcome.

'Frisco Reformers Win.

San Francisco, Aug. 16.—The primary election in this city resulted in a sweeping victory for the Republican League, or Ryan ticket, which stood for earnest support of the bribery and graft prosecution and the present mayor and board of supervisors. The opposing faction, led by Postmaster Fiske, made a sorry showing, electing not more than 19 delegates to the party convention, which consists of 149 members.

Joachim Is Dead.

Berlin, Aug. 16.—Joseph Joachim, the celebrated violinist conductor of the Royal Academy of Music, Berlin, and music director of the Royal Academy of Arts, died yesterday.

He had been suffering for a long time from asthma and had been unconscious for several days. He was born in 1831.

Ald. Phelan Elected To Attend C.M.B.A. Convention

Important Gathering of Members of That Order to be Held Next Week in Montreal—400 Delegates

MR O'CONNOR GOING TOO

Ald. Phelan is the delegate representing the local lodge of the C.M.B.A. at the triennial convention of the Order in Canada, which will be held in Montreal next week. It will be attended by over 400 delegates from all parts of the Dominion. Ald. Phelan will in all probability be accompanied by Mr. T. P. O'Connor, who is also a prominent member of the C.M.B.A., and together they will go to Toronto on Saturday, and will take the boat trip from that city down Lake Ontario.

One of the most important questions to be discussed at this convention is that of the proposed admission of women to membership in the association, which counts a large membership all over the Dominion.

It is altogether likely that an amendment will be proposed to have a separate organization for women, but the results of the deliberations are still problematical.

Stanley Hall has been chosen as the place of meeting of the C.M.B.A., and the first meeting will take place there to take part in the procession which will proceed to St. James' Cathedral, where Pontifical High Mass will be celebrated by His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi, while Rev. Father Thomas F. Heffernan will deliver a sermon in English, and Rev. Abbe Richard one in French.

Mr. Frank J. Curran is chairman of the local committee on arrangements, and is assisted by Dr. A. A. Germain and Mr. T. J. Finn as vice-presidents, and Messrs. J. B. Quesnel and J. J. Costigan as secretaries.

Mr. M F Hackett, K.C., of Stanstead, grand president of the C.M.B.A., will preside at the deliberations. The other officials are:—J J Behan, of Kingston, grand secretary; Rev. A E Burke, P.E.I.; W J Chisholm, of Halifax; Geo. V McInerney, of St. John, N.B.; Dupont Herbert, of Three Rivers, and George L. Stanton, the grand councillors.

The committee on laws are: John A Murphy, of Cayuga, Ont.; Hon. P A Landry, of Dorchester, N.B.; and F J Curran of Montreal. F E Ryan M.D., of Kingston, is medical adviser; Hon. Frank R Latchford, Ottawa, grand solicitor.

On the evening of the 27th, the visiting delegates will be entertained by the local members of the association. They will be taken for a car drive all over the city, and will visit Dominion Park.

PETERBOROUGH PLAYERS GENTLEMEN

The Lindsay Post Pays This Tribute to Ball Team

Referring to the baseball game played in Lindsay on Wednesday evening between the Lindsay and Peterborough teams, the Post says: Peterborough brought up a fairly fast team to play the Lindsay nine a game for a benefit to go to an injured player. They had three intermediates and the rest Midland League players. Lindsay had but three of the old Midland League nine, the rest being all Town Leaguers with little experience. The locals were far from the best, the hard usage many of them got Monday at Collingwood taking the ginger out of them. Gray and Burridge were the opposing pitchers, and came off with about even honours, the former having one more strike-out. Burridge was not blessed with a numerous assortment of curves, but had speed to burn, and used his complete thinking attachment for all he could get out of it. He is an all-round and gentlemanly ball player.

BOWLING

A number of games were played yesterday in the different competitions.

The executive is very anxious that all players should have their games in the Scotch doubles and singles competitions played by the 20th, as it will take some time to finish the other draws.

Frost Trophy Series

Scotch Doubles

Dr McClelland 11	W F Talbot 26

Singles

W E Talbot 13	W O'Brien 10
R M Glover, 13	R J Soden, 6.

BASEBALL

The Peterborough baseball team will likely meet the Lindsay team here on Thursday afternoon next. The two played a great game in Lindsay on Wednesday, Peterborough just winning out in the ninth, and a good contest may be looked forward to next week.

• • • •

If Torontos keep up the present winning streak much longer, they will have the pennant cinched. They took the fifth straight game from from the Skeeters yesterday while Buffalo went down before Newark, giving Toronto a lead of 42 points, which they should maintain as they go against Providence next in a four game series. The Clam Diggers should be easy for the Maple Leafs.

Varicose Ulcers Cured

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 20 Sheridan avenue, Toronto, states, "About eight years ago I hurt my leg near the ankle, and the result was what the doctors called varicose ulcers. I was treated in two Toronto hospitals, and sent away without being cured. From the very start Dr. Chase's Ointment helped me and by persistently use it has entirely cured me."

Here's the Point

You want to send away a number of the "catchiest" views of Peterborough for the smallest possible price for views and postage. The new Photograph Post-card is just what you want. It contains 16 folding views, and only costs 10c, and 1c for postage, at the Peterborough Bookstore. A. H. Stratton & Co.

A Big Grand Stand Show

The show to be given at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, this year in front of the Grand Stand will be the most costly and most varied ever provided at an open-air show in Canada. All the best acts now before the public have been engaged. In fact, the whole programme consists of high class features, many of which have not been seen previously in America outside of New York.

An Explanation

In regard to the rumoured "trouble" among the employees of the Canadian Canoe Company, a former employee explains the situation from his point of view. He states that the foreman previously employed—said to have been 17 years in the employ of the company—12 years as foreman—was replaced by a man of less experience. This action seems to have been objectionable to the employees and eight or ten of them, it is alleged, quit work as a protest. It is also stated that the men were told that they might go back under the new conditions, but that they decline to do so, most of them, it is alleged, having secured other employment.

CHILDRENS' NARROW ESCAPE

Baby and Boy Under Horses Feet On Simcoe Street Sidewalk

INJURIES ARE NOT SERIOUS

An accident occurred on Simcoe street this morning at eleven o'clock which fortunately was not attended by any serious results, but from its nature might easily have been fatal for the children, who met with it. Mr. A. Hunter, milkman, of North Monaghan, was driving out of Cavanagh's Hotel yard when a baby carriage containing a little girl in charge of her elder brother, ran into the horse as it was crossing the sidewalk. The carriage passed under the horse and the little boy tried to pull it out but the animal became frightened and the carriage was overthrown. The little boy was drawn under in his unsuccessful attempt and one of the wheels passed over his legs. The younger child was picked up by Mr. Harry Kingdon, who came to the rescue and Dr. Greer was called. The little one had several bruises about the face and head and fortunately escaped the horse's feet. The two children were taken to their home in a 'bus, their injuries not being serious.

A LOCAL PLAYER FOR WESTMOUNT

Report That Senior Rugby Player Will Be Seen There This Season

What senior rugby player from Peterborough will be seen playing with the Westmount team this season? The following story appeared in the Montreal Star yesterday:

The Westmount football people are very indignant at the rumours which have gone about to the effect that the best of their players will go to other clubs, and that the club itself will break up.

"With our new grounds," said one of them to-day, "we are going to make a greater effort than ever before for the championship. Some of our old reliables, like Shearer, Hannaford and others, will play again, and we will also have a senior from Peterborough with us.

"The rumours are utterly malicious. I have no doubt some of the other players would like to divide our players among them, but they will not get a chance."

THE SONGSTERS GAVE A CONCERT

An Interesting Programme Given Last Night in S. A. Barracks

Those who attended the service at the Army Barracks last night appreciated the splendid programme given by the Songsters. While only lately organized, under the leadership of Mr. J. Dawson, they are making splendid progress, and promise in the near future to be a great help to the work of the local corps. Each number was well rendered. The programme was as follows:

Opening Song—"We Shall Win."
Full Chorus—"Trusting."
Solo—"I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go"—Mrs. C. Gadd.
Full Chorus — "Through Darkest Night."
Duet—"A Clean Heart"—Miss N. Leader and Mr. J. Dawson.
Full Chorus—"Oh, Come, Let Us Thank Our Lord."
Duet—"Your Mother Still Prays for You"—Misses G. and F. Whiffin.
Saxophone Solo—"Glory for Me" — R. Brown.
Solo—Mrs. Whiffin.

The piano accompaniments were played by Miss E. Card.

Throughout the entire programme there was a good display of musical ability.

Winnipeg's Splendid Street Railway System; Its Growth

How a Progressive Company of Capitalists Have Developed the System Keeping in Touch With City's Growth

THE POWER SUPPLY THERE

The Inauguration of the Service Described—A Problem Which Furnished Many Difficulties

(Reproduced from Winnipeg Free Press.)

On the 12th of June, 1882, the first bylaw relating to the construction and maintenance of a street railway system in Winnipeg was passed by the city council. During the intervening years the city has made wonderful progress, and from the first it has been a struggle for the transportation companies to keep pace with the traffic. It is the aim of this article to set forth the early attempts at a car service, the history of the various companies engaged in the work and the different phases of the car service since the year 1882.

Many who object vigorously to the various points in the present system remember well when they were obliged to walk, take the old horse cars, or even the electric cars, which were poor in comparison with the present cars.

Previous to the year 1882 any citizen who could not afford a cab or livery rig was compelled to walk to the different portions of the city where his business or pleasure lay, and in those days the mud was of the genuine variety, which old-timers like to tell us about, and walking was no sinecure.

In the year 1881 there was an attempt made to secure some kind of street railway system, but it was not until May 29, 1882, that a bylaw was introduced. On June 12 it became law, and the Winnipeg street railway was authorized to construct and operate within six months a line on Main street, from Broadway to Point Douglas. The agreement was to extend over 20 years, but did not specify that another company should not build within that time. This caused some trouble when the present company began operations some 15 years ago.

A couple of interesting clauses of the agreement might be mentioned: Clause 10, which stipulated that the cars should not be driven faster than six miles an hour, and that the fare should not exceed 10 cents. This was changed for some time, but was subsequently reduced.

Inauguration Ceremony

The inauguration took place on October 21, 1882, and no better account can be given than extracts from an article published in the Winnipeg Free Press of October 22. It is headed as follows:

Street Car Service

"It will be a surprise to most of our citizens to learn that the Winnipeg street railway opens its regular traffic this morning and the portion of the track now completed from Fort Garry to the city hall. Mr. Austin, the general manager, has been urged to place some of the cars on this route, although his own preference would have been in favour of delaying the opening until the road was completed as far as the C.P.R.

New Open Car With Air Brakes.

Lac du Bonnet Works.

vantages possessed by the cars are patent life-brakes to prevent persons being dragged by the wheels, gates to keep people from entering or leaving the car at the front, and the patent drawhead, by which the car can be started without jerking. . . . Trips are to be made every five or seven minutes, four cars being necessary when the track is completed, two only being now in use. Next spring, Queen street and Broadway will be added to the route."

Stopped at Government Buildings

The Queen street mentioned in the above article is now known as Portage avenue. The tracks, however, were not extended along Broadway, but reached the Government buildings by way of Portage avenue and Kennedy street, at the corner of which the old car barns stood until torn down in 1903. The old cars then coming to light when the building was removed were a curiosity to those who were used to the electric line.

Or one of these cars the sign was printed—12 tickets for 25 cents—which was a reminder of the days when the rival lines carried on a rate war.

At that time on these cars there was only one official in charge. He was teamster and conductor, and a few of his duties were as follows:—Drive, watch out for passengers, make change and see that the proper fare was collected. No transfers were given, and he had to watch for passengers at transfer points. The number alighting were signalled by his fellow driver, who raised his hand and extended his fingers to the number.

It was comparatively easy to board a ride as it was impossible to tell whether a man had paid his fare or not when he mingled with a crowd that had just alighted.

To add to the conductor's worries he had no protection from inclement weather except a projecting roof, not unlike the modern delivery rig. The cars were warmed by a stove set in a galvanized iron casing, which was well forward in the vehicle.

The schedule was as follows at this time: Round trip on Main street fifteen minutes, the same time on the St. John's line, and on the Portage avenue thirty minutes were taken.

When the winter held the city in its grip, the company was allowed by a clause in the charter to run their cars on sleighs, and this was done on several occasions when the track could not be cleared. The cars were light and easily derailed, but had the advantage of being easily lifted on again by the passengers, who were always willing to assist.

In an interview some years ago, one driver recalled a time when he had on board a contingent of the 90th regiment. Twice the car was derailed on the route and on both occasions the soldiers alighted and lifted it on again.

What the Service Was Like

When all the lines were in operation there was a good service on Main street, a car passing each way every five minutes; a twenty minute service on Portage avenue, and a fifteen minute service on St. John's—on the Kildonan line—as it was then called.

In addition to these cars already described, the company had a number of horses, the remains of which can still be seen around the present power house. They were large, black affairs, capable of accommodating about ten persons, and were chiefly used to carry persons to the outlying portions of the city, and were also rented for outings.

They were the usual mode of transportation to Silver Heights, which was then as popular a place of amusement as it has been of recent years.

These horses were also in great demand when the exhibition used to be held in St. Boniface, but one can hardly imagine enough of these antiquated vehicles to carry an exhibi-

A STORY OF LOVE AND ADVENTURE

BY BERTHA RUNKLE.

Copyright by The Century Co.

The handsome secretary whom I had taken for the count stood in the doorway looking askance at us. He knew me at once and wondered.

"You cannot enter, Vigo. M. le Duc is occupied."

He made to shut the door, but Vigo's foot was over the sill.

"Natheless, I must enter," he answered unabashed, and pushed his way into the room.

"Then you must answer for it," returned the secretary with a scowl that sat ill on his delicate face.

"You shall answer for it if it turns out a mare's nest," said Vigo in a low, meaning voice to me. But I hardly heard him. I passed him and Lucas and flew down the long room to monsieur.

M. le Duc was seated before a table heaped with papers. He had been watching the scene at the door in surprise and anger. He looked at me with a sharp frown, while the deer hound at his feet rose on its haunches growling.

"Roland!" I said. The dog sprang up and came to me.

"Felix Broux!" monsieur exclaimed with his quick, warm smile—a smile no man in France could match for radiance.

I had no thought of kneeling, of making obeisance, of waiting permission to speak.

"Monsieur," I cried, half choked, "there is a plot—a vile plot to murder you!"

"Where? At St. Quentin?"

"No, monsieur. Here in Paris. In the streets to-night when you go to the king."

"How, in God's name, know you that?"

"You have been betrayed, monsieur. Your plan is known. You leave the house to-night near a quarter of 11 to go in secret to the king. You leave by the little door in the alley"——

"Diable!" breathed Vigo.

"They set on you on your way—three of them—to run you through before you can draw."

"But, ventre bleu! Monsieur is not alone."

"No; he walks between you and M. Lucas."

Not one of them spoke. They stared at me as if I were something uncanny. I, a raw country boy, disclosing a perfect knowledge of their most intimate plans!

"How know you this?" monsieur demanded of me. But he was not looking at me. His keen glance went first to Lucas, then to Vigo, the two men who had shared his confidence. The secretary cried out:

"You cannot think, monsieur, that I betrayed you?"

Vigo said nothing. His steady eyes never left monsieur's face.

"No," answered monsieur to Lucas, "I cannot think it." And to Vigo he said: "I shall accuse you when I accuse myself. But—none knew this thing save our three selves." And his gaze went back to Lucas.

"It is not likely to be he," I said, impelled to be just to him though I did not like him, "for they meant to kill him as well."

Lucas started, then instantly recovered himself.

"A comprehensive plot, monsieur," he said with a smile.

"Then who was it?" cried monsieur to me me. "You know. Speak."

"There is a spy in the house—an eavesdropper," I said, and then paused.

"Aye?" said monsieur. Who?"

Now the answer to this was easy, yet I flinched before it, for I knew well enough what monsieur would do. He feared no man and waited on no man's advice. And if he was a good lover he was a good hater. He would not inform the governor and await the tardy course of justice that would probably accomplish—nothing. Nor would he consider the troubled times and the danger of his position and ignore the affair, as many would have deemed best. He would not stop to think what the Sixteen might have to say to it. No; he would call out his guards and slay the plotters in the Rue Coupjarrets like the wolves they were. It was right he should, but—I owed my life to Yeux-gris.

"His name, man, his name!" monsieur was crying.

"Do you know his name?"

"Yes, monsieur, I know his name, but"——

Monsieur looked at me in surprise and frowning impatience. Quickly Lucas struck in:

"Monsieur, I have grave doubts of the boy's honesty."

"Doubts!" cried monsieur with a sudden laugh. "It is not a case for doubts. The boy states facts."

He seated himself in his chair, his face growing stern again. The little action seemed to make him no longer merely my questioner, but my judge.

"Now, Felix Broux, let us get to the bottom of this."

"Monsieur," I began, struggling to put the case clearly, "I learned of the plot by accident. I did not guess for a long time it was you who were the victim. When I found out that I came straight here to you. Monsieur, there are four men in the plot, and one of them has stood my friend."

"And my assassin!"

"He is a black-hearted villain!" I acknowledged. "For he swore no harm was meant to you. He swore it was only a private grudge against M. Lucas. But when one of them let out the truth I came straight to you."

"That is likely true," said Vigo, "for he was ready to kill the men who barred his way."

"You were in a plot to kill my secretary!"

"Ah, monsieur!" I cried.

"You—Felix Broux!"

I curled with shame.

"M. Lucas had struck me," I muttered; "I thought the fight was fair enough. And they threatened my life."

Monsieur's contemptuous eyes shrivelled me as flame shrivels a leaf.

"You—a Broux of St. Quentin!"

Lucas, who had watched me close all the while as they all three did, said now:

"I believe he is a cheat, monsieur. There is no plot. He has learned of your plan through the eavesdropper he speaks of and thinks to make credit out of a trumped-up tale of murder."

"No," answered monsieur. "You may think that, Lucas, for he is a stranger to you. But I know him. He was a fool sometimes, but he was never dishonest. You used to be fond of me, Felix. What has happened to make you consort with my enemies?"

"Ah, monsieur, I love you, I have always loved you," I cried. "I am not lying now nor cheating you. There is a plot. I learned it and came straight to you, though I was under oath not to betray them."

"Then, in heaven's name, Felix," burst out Vigo, "which side are you on?"

Monsieur began to laugh.

"That is what I should like to know. For, by St. Quentin, I can make nothing of it."

"Monsieur," insisted Lucas, "whatever he was once I believe him a trickster now."

Monsieur bent his keen eyes on me.

"No; he is plainly in earnest. Therefore with patience I look to get some sense out of this snarl of a story. Something is there we have not yet fathomed."

"Will monsieur let my speak?"

"I have done naught but urge you to do so for some time past," he answered dryly.

"Monsieur, you know my father would not let me leave St. Quentin with you three months back. But at length he said I should come, and I reached Paris last night, and, since it was late, lodged at an inn. This morning I came to your gate, but the guard would not let me enter. I was so mad to see you, monsieur, that when you drove out I sprang up on your coach step"——

"Ah," said monsieur, a new light breaking in upon him, "that was you, Felix? I did not know you. I was thinking of other matters. And Lucas took you for a miscreant. Now I am sorry."

If I had been a noble he could not have spoken franker apology. But at once he was stern again.

"And because my secretary took you in all good faith for a possible assassin and struck you to save me you turn traitor and take part in a plot to set on him and kill him! I had believed that of some hired lackey, not of a Broux."

"Monsieur, I was wrong—a thousand times wrong. I knew that as soon as I had sworn. And when I found it was you they meant I came to you, oath or no oath."

"There spoke the Broux!" cried monsieur with his brilliant smile. "Now you are Felix. Who are my would-be murderers?"

We had come around in a circle to the place we had stuck before, and here we stuck again.

"Monsieur, I will tell you all before you could count ten—tell you their names, their whereabouts—everything—were it not for one man who stood my friend."

The duke's eyes flashed.

"You call him that—my assassin!"

"He is an assassin," I was forced to answer; "even monsieur's assassin—and a perjurer. But—but, monsieur, he save my life from the other at the risk of his own. How can I pay him back by betraying him?"

"According to your own account he betrayed you."

"Aye, he lied to me," I said brokenly. "Yet, monsieur, if it were your own case and one had save your life, were he the scum of the gutter, would you send him to his death?"

"To whom do you owe your first duty?"

"Monsieur, to you."

"Then speak."

But I could not do it. Though I knew Yeux-gris for a villain, yet he had saved my life.

"Monsieur, I cannot."

The duke cried out:

"This to me!"

There was a silence. I stood with hanging head, the picture of a shame-faced knave. Shame so filled me that I could not look up to meet monsieur's sentence. But when I remembered the good hater in monsieur I should have remembered too the good lover. Monsieur had been fond of me at St. Quentin. As I waited for the lightning to strike he said with utmost gentleness:

"Felix, let me understand you. In what manner did this man save your life?"

Now that was like my lord. Though a hot man he loved fairness and ever strove to do the just thing, and his patience was the finer that it was not his nature. His leniency fired me with a sudden hope.

"Monsieur, there are four of them in the plot. But one cannot be as vile as the others, since he saved my life. Monsieur, if I tell you will you let that one go?"

"I shall do as I see fit," he answered. Felix, will you speak?"

"If monsieur will promise to let him go"——

"Insolence, sirrah! I do not bargain with my servants."

His words were like whips. I flinched before his proud anger, and for the second time stood with hanging head awaiting his sentence. And again he did what I could not guess. He cried out:

"Felix, you are blind, besotted, mad. You know not what to do. I am in constant danger. The city is filled with my enemies. The Leagues hate me and are ever plotting mischief against me. Every day their mistrust and hatred grow. I did a bold thing in coming to Paris, but I had a great end to serve—to pave a way into the capital for he Catholic king and bring the land o peace. For that I live in hourly jeopardy and risk my life to-night on foot n the streets. If I am killed more than my life is lost. The Church may lose he king and this dear France of ours e harried to a desert in the civil wars!"

I had braced myself to bear monsieur's anger, but this unlooked-for appeal pierced me through and through. All the love and loyalty in me—and I had much, though it may not have seemed so—rose in answer to monsieur's call. I fell on my knees before him, choked with sobs.

Monsieur's hand lay on my head as he said quietly:

"Now, Felix, speak."

I answered huskily:

"Would monsieur have me turn Judas?"

"Judas betrayed his master."

It was my last stand. My last redoubt had fallen. I raised my head to tell him all.

Maybe it was the tears in my eyes, but as I lifted them to M. le Duc I saw—not him, but Yeux-gris—Yeux-gris looking at me with warm good will, as he had looked when he was saving me from Gervais. I saw him, I say, plain before my eyes. The next instant there was nothing but monsieur's face of rising impatience.

I rose to my feet and said:

"Kill me, monsieur; I cannot tell."

"Nom de dieu!" he shouted, springing up.

I shut my eyes and waited. Had he slain me then and there it were no more than my deserts.

"Monsieur," said Vigo immovably, "shall I go for the boot?"

I opened my eyes then. Monsieur stood quite still, his brow knotted, his hands clenched as if to keep them off me.

"Monsieur," I said, "send for the boot, the thumbscrew, whatever you please. I deserve it and I will bear it. Monsieur, it is not that I will not tell. It is something stronger than I. I cannot."

He burst into an angry laugh.

"Say you are possessed of a devil and I will believe it. My faith! though you are a low-born lad and I Duke of St. Quentin I seem to be getting the worst of it."

"There is the boot, monsieur."

Monsieur laughed again, no less angrily.

"That does not help me, my good Vigo. I cannot torture a Broux."

"There monsieur is wrong. The lad has been disloyal and insolent if he is a Broux."

"Granted, Vigo," said M. le Duc. But he did not add, "Fetch the boot."

Vigo went on with steady persistence. "He has not been loyal to monsieur and his interests by refusing to tell what he knows. And if he goes counter to monsieur's interests he is a traitor, Broux or no Broux. He has no claim to be treated as other than an enemy. These are serious times. Monsieur does not well to play with his dangers. The boy must tell what he knows. Am I to go for the boot, monsieur?"

M. le Duc was silent for a moment while the hot flush that had sprung to his face died away. Then he answered Vigo:

"Nevertheless it is owing to Felix that I shall not walk out to meet my death to-night."

The secretary had stood silent for a long time fingering nervously the papers on the table. He had forgotten his presence, when now he stepped forward and said:

"If I might be permitted a suggestion, monsieur"——

Monsieur silenced him with a sharp gesture.

"Felix Broux," he said to me, "you have been following a bad plan. No man can run with the hare and hunt with the hounds. You are either my loyal servant or my enemy, one thing or the other. Now I am loath to hurt you. You have seen how I am loath to hurt you. I give you one more chance to be honest Go and think it over. If in half an hour you have decided that you are my true man, well and good. If not, by St. Quentin, we will see what a flogging can do!"

CHAPTER VIII.

Unpleased but unprotesting Vigo led me out into the anteroom. Those men who judged by the outside of things and, knowing Vigo's iron ways, said that he ruled monsieur, were wrong.

The big squerry gave me over to the charge of Marcel and returned to the inner room. Hardly had the door closed behind him when the page burst out:

"What is it? What is the coil? What have you done, Felix?"

Now you can guess I was too sick-hearted for chatter. I had defied and disobeyed my liege lord; I could never hope for pardon or any man's respect. They threatened me with flogging; well, let them flog. They could not make my back any sorer than my conscience was. For I had not the satisfaction in my trouble of thinking that I had done right. Monsieur's danger should have been my first consideration. What was Yeux-gris, perjured scoundrel, in comparison with M. le Duc? And yet I knew that at the end of the half hour I should not tell; at the end of the flogging I should not tell. I had warned monsieur; that I would have done had it been the breaking up of a thousand oaths. But give up Yeux-gris? Not if they tore me limb from limb!

"What is it all about?" cried Marcel again. "You look as glum as a Jesuit in Lent. What is the matter with you, Felix?"

"I have cooked my goose," I said gloomily.

"What have you done?"

"Nothing that I can speak about. But I am out of monsieur's books."

"What was old Vigo after when he took you into monsieur? I never saw anything so bold. When monsieur says he is not to be disturbed he means it."

I had nothing to tell him and was silent.

"What is it? Can't you tell an old chum?"

"No; it is monsieur's private business."

"Well, you are grumpy!" he cried out pettishly. "You must be out of grace." He seemed to decide that nothing was to be made out of me just now on this tack, and with unabated persistence tried another.

"Is it true, Felix, what one of the men said just now, that you tried to speak with monsieur this morning when he drove out?"

"Yes. But monsieur did not recognize me."

"Like enough," Marcel answered. "He has a way of late of falling into these absent fits. Monsieur is not the man he was."

"He does look older," I said, "and worn. I trow the risk he is running"——

"Pshaw!" cried Marcel with scorn. "Is monsieur a man to mind risks? No: it is M. le Comte."

I started like a guilty thing, remembering what Yeux-gris had told me, and I, wrapped in my petty troubles, had forgotten. Monsieur had lost his only son. And I had chosen this time to defy him!

"How long ago was it?" I asked in a hushed voice.

"Since M. le Comte left us? It will be three weeks next Friday."

"How did he die?"

"Die?" echoed Marcel. "You crazy fellow, he is not dead!"

It was my turn to stare.

"Then where is he?"

"It would be money in my pouch if I knew. What made you think him dead, Felix?"

"A man told me so."

"Pardieu!" he cried in some excitement. "When? Who was it?"

"To-day. I do not know the man's name."

"It seems you know very little. Pardieu! I do not believe M. le Comte is dead. What else did your man say?"

"Nothing. He only said the Comte de Mar was dead."

"Pshaw! I don't believe it. You believe everything you hear because you are just from the country. No; if M. le Comte were dead we should hear of it. Oh, certainly, we should hear."

"But where is he, then? You say he is lost."

"Aye. He has not been seen or heard of since the day they had the quarrel."

"Who quarrelled?"

"Why, he and monsieur," answered Marcel in a lower voice, pointing to the door of the inner room. "M. le Comte has been his own master too long to take kindly to a hand over him; that is the whole of it. He has a quick temper. So has monsieur."

But I thought of monsieur's wonderful patience, and I cried:

"Shame!"

"What now?"

"To speak like that of monsieur."

"Enfin, it is true. He is none the worse for that. But I suppose if monsieur had a cloven hoof one must not mention it."

"One would get his head broken."

"Oh, you Broux!" he cried out. "I have not seen you for half a year. I had forgotten that with you the St. Quentins rank with the saints."

"You—you are a hired servant. You come to monsieur as you might come to anybody. With the Broux it is different," I retorted angrily. Yet I could not but know in my heart that any hired servant might have served monsieur better than I. My boasted loyalty—what was it but lip service? I said more humbly: "Pshaw! it is no great matter. Tell me about the quarrel."

"And so I will if you're civil. In the first place, there was the question of M. le Comte's marriage."

"What! is he married?"

"Oh, by no means. Monsieur wouldn't have it. You see, Felix," Marcel said in a tone deep with importance, "we're Navarre's men now."

"Of course," said I.

"I suppose you would say 'of course' just like that to Mayenne himself. You greenhorn! It is as much as our lives are worth to side openly with Navarre. The League may attack us any day."

"I know," I said uneasily. Every chance word Marcel spoke seemed to dye my guilt the deeper. "But what has this to do with M. le Comte's marriage?" I asked him.

"Why, he was more than half a Leaguer. Perhaps he is one now. Some say he and monsieur were at daggers drawn about politics; but I warrant it was about Mlle. de Montluc. They call her the Rose of Lorraine. She's the Duke of Mayenne's own cousin and housemate. And we're king's men, so of course it was no match for monsieur's son. They say Mayenne himself favored the marriage, but our duke wouldn't hear of it. However, the backbone of the trouble was M. de Grammont."

"And who may he be?"

"He's a cousin of the house. He and M. le Comte are as thick as thieves. Before we came to Paris they lodged together. So when M. le Comte came here he brought M. de Grammont. Dare I speak ill of monsieur's cousin, Felix? For I would say, at the risk of a broken head, that he is a sour-faced churl. You cannot deny it. You never saw him."

"No, nor M. le Comte either."

"Why, you have seen M. le Comte!"

"Never. The only time he came to St. Quentin I was laid up in bed with a strained leg. I missed the chase. Don't you remember?"

"Why, you are right; that was the time you fell out of the buttery window when you were stealing tarts and Margot got after you with the broomstick. I remember very well."

He was for calling up all our old pranks at the chateau, but it was little joy to me to think on those fortunate days when I was monsieur's favorite. I said:

"Nay, Marcel, you were telling me of M. le Comte and the quarrel."

"Oh, as for that it is easy told. You see, M. le Comte and this Grammont took no interest in monsieur's affairs, and they had very little to say to him and he to them. They had plenty of friends in Paris, Leaguers or not, and they used to go about amusing themselves. But at last M. de Grammont had such a run of bad luck at the tables that he not only emptied his own pockets but M. le Comte's as well. I will say for M. le Comte that he would share his last sou with any one who asked."

"And so would any St. Quentin."

"Oh, you are always piping up for the St. Quentins."

"He should have no need in this house."

We jumped up to find Vigo standing behind us.

"What have you been saying of monsieur?"

"Nothing, M. Vigo," stammered the page. "I only said M. le Comte"——

"You are not to discuss M. le Comte. Do you hear?"

"Yes, M. Vigo."

"Then obey. And you, Felix, I shall have a little interview with you shortly."

"As you will, M. Vigo," I said hopelessly.

He went off down the corridor and Marcel turned angrily on me.

"Mon dieu, Felix, you have got me into a nice scrape with your eternal chanting of the praises of monsieur. Like as not I shall get a beating for it. Vigo never forgets."

"I am sorry, I said. "We should not have been talking of it."

"No, we should not. Come over here where we can watch both doors and I'll tell you the rest before the old lynx gets back."

We sat down close together, and he proceeded in a low tone to disobey Vigo.

Will be continued next Saturday.

INTENSIFIED FRUIT JUICES AN IMPROVEMENT ON NATURE

A Discovery that is Revolutionizing Medicine.

Remarkable Success Attends the Finding of a New Medicinal Compound by Combining the Juices of Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes.

Fruit helps to keep one healthy. Fruit, in itself, will not cure disease. The medicinal principle—or that part of fruit which has a curative effect—is in such infinitesimal quantities, that it is unable to overcome a diseased condition of the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys or skin.

Just here is where science stepped in. An Ottawa physician did what nature could not do. He first found that some fruits were stronger medicinally than others—and that apples, oranges, figs and prunes contained all the healing properties of other fruits. There are two principles in fruit juices—bitter and sweet. After extracting the juices of the four fruits mentioned, this physician succeeded in replacing one atom of the sweet principle by one of the bitter. This resulted in an entirely new combination being formed. This new compound was many times more active medicinally than the fruit juices. Where eating fruit only helped to keep one well, this compound actually cured disease.

To make it more valuable still, this physician added the finest tonics and antiseptics, and then, by evaporating the entire compound to a powder, made it into tablets.

This, in short, is the method of making "Fruit-a-tives"—these wonderful tablets — the most reliable cure for Constipation, Biliousness, Stomach Troubles, Kidney and Bladder Disease and Skin Affections. Being made from fruit, "Fruit-a-tives" may be taken by women and children without fear of ill-effect.

Don't take a substitute. If your druggist does not handle them, send 50c for a box to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Has your teaching been at fault or are you familiar with all the new loose leaf systems and modern office devices which are used by up-to-date business houses?

The directors of Business Systems, Limited, who are closely in touch with business houses all over the country where modern methods have been installed, are continually being asked to recommend competent office men.

This gave them an idea, and the result is that arrangements were made for the opening of Business Systems Commercial School.

Business Systems Commercial School teaches practical methods such as are actually in use in commercial houses, instructing only by expert teachers who have had practical business experience and aiming at the highest standards of education.

Business Systems Commercial School teaches retail as well as wholesale business methods, and for those now occupying positions and who desire to improve themselves, there are special night courses.

Inasmuch as the directors of the school are now in demand by the largest business houses in the country, to devise new systems and improve present accounting methods, every student has an opportunity to thoroughly acquaint himself with the latest improved systems and most modern office devices.

By this it is not meant that the work of Business Systems Commercial School is confined to the forms manufactured by Business Systems, Limited. The course includes all modern accounting ideas, going into the matter so thoroughly that every graduate is capable of filling the best positions.

And the men who fill the best positions are the men who draw the largest salaries.

Is that the kind of a position you want to fit yourself for, and is that the kind of salary you want to draw? If so, write for further particulars and booklet on the courses. Fall term begins Tuesday, September 3rd.

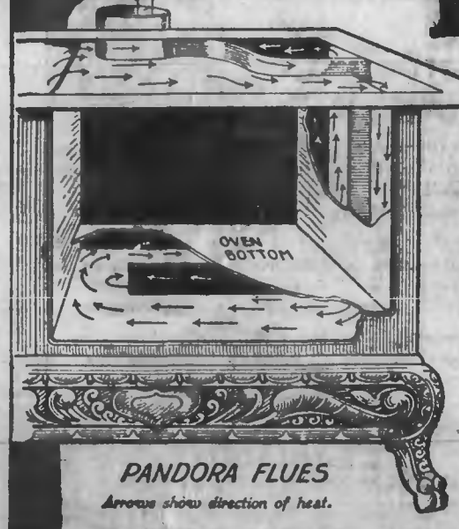
PANDORA RANGE



PANDORA FLUES
Arrows show direction of heat.

The Pandora Flue System is an Immense Improvement

While we don't desire to say that the usual flue construction is not good, for it is considered good, still we do say that the Pandora flue system is an immense improvement.

In the ordinary range the flues conduct the smoke and heat by the shortest route to the chimney (as shown by illustration in lower corner). The heat does not pass directly under all pot holes, nor around all surfaces of the oven.

In the Pandora (illustrated in upper left hand corner) when the draft is set for baking, the heat, by means of a curved flange, is made to pass under and heat every pot hole except the back inner one, before it is drawn down the outer half of the back end flue and under the oven—a dividing flange under oven bottom prevents the heat from short cutting, and forces it to travel, first under the outer half of oven, then under the inner half.

The result is that the heat is spread uniformly over the oven. And every loaf of a whole batch of bread will be done equally well on all sides.

From under the oven bottom the heat travels up the inner half of back end flue, and passes under the back inner pot hole before disappearing up the chimney.

Thus it will be seen that all the heat circulates around the oven twice and under every pot hole before it goes up the chimney—that the draft for baking is also the best for cooking.

And, as the heat is made to perform a double duty by this improved system, the fuel bill is greatly reduced.

The most economical as well as the most improved range on the market to-day bears the name Pandora. It's a name worth remembering when buying a range.

If your local dealer does not sell the Pandora, write direct to us for free booklet.

WHEN YOU CATCH A COLD

Always Take a Few Doses of Pe-ru-na It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

Mr. George A. Nicholas, 76 Wellington street, Launceston, Tasmania (Australia), is a prominent grocer, having been in the business about 18 years. He writes as follows:

"I have on several occasions, when afflicted with a cough or cold, used Peruna with the best of results. I believe it to be a splendid remedy for such ailments."

MR. GEORGE A. NICHOLAS.

A cold produces congestion of some internal organ. The congestion at last becomes chronic and organic disease is the result.

When an organic disease becomes thoroughly established, it is absolutely incurable. Thus it is dangerous to neglect a cold.

There is no better remedy in the world for this purpose than Peruna, which has been in use for a great many years.

It has been the standby in a multitude of homes as a remedy for colds, coughs and catarrhal ailments of summer and winter.

We will give a few specimens of the many testimonials we have received from different parts of the world as to the efficacy of Peruna as a remedy for colds:

"I contracted a severe cold, and became afflicted with a bad cough. I began taking Peruna. In a short time my cough and cold were gone."—Mr. Louis Monpetit, 251 St. Elizabeth Ave., St. Henry, Montreal, Canada.

"I have received great benefit from Peruna, and hope to see it in my country, Cuba. The home protected by Peruna is free from catarrh."—Mr. Jose I. Soler, President Cuban Fruit Co., 2018 Jerome Ave., New York, N. Y.

"As soon as I get a cold I send for Peruna, and it drives it out of my system."—Mr. L. Clifford Figg, Jr., 2329 E. Marshall street, Richmond, Va.

Daintily dressed in the finest of clothes, a baby girl was abandoned in London under dramatic circumstances the other night. At a comparatively late hour a young man entered the West Strand post office. Taking a telegram form he hastily scribbled a message and intimated that he wished to send it by express letter. A good looking brunette accompanied the man, and while he was seeking for an envelope she had hailed a cab and got it drawn up to the kerb. After handing the letter over the counter and seeing it registered, the man lingered a second, and then a young man in uniform appeared. The messenger was then helped into the cab, and with the explanation that it had to go with the letter, the baby was a moment later placed in his arm. The letter was addressed, "Matron, City of London Lying-in Hospital, City Road." The man and woman both kissed the baby passionately, and then the vehicle started, drawing up at the hospital just before midnight. "Please take in baby until to-morrow; am writing," ran the message, which the astonished night nurse received. The nurse intimated that the child could no be cared for there, and the infant was taken back to the post office, then to the police station. Finally it was consigned to the Strand Workhouse.

A woman on discovering that she had become sober while in the care of the Salvation Army, held up her hands in horror, shrieking, "Take me away from here quick, or I'll lose my reputation!" This story was told by General Booth while preaching on his motor tour at Ware recently. "It's a true story and illustrates how absurd is some of the antipathy which now exists against us," said General Booth. "Some people whose prejudices we have to overcome, look upon drunkenness as no stain upon their character, but think their reputations are besmirched if they attend a Salvation Army meeting. I can tell you another story. An old drunken sot fell into our hands. We looked up his record and found that he had been drunk so long he didn't remember much about himself. At last we discovered that he had deserted his wife. After much trouble we located his wife, who lived in a distant town, so we sent her this telegram: "We have found your dear husband." In a few hours the answer came back: "You can keep him."

Lancastrian shrewdness is not flattered in the account of an amusing cofidence trick, which resulted in a sentence of three months' imprisonment for a man named James Moseley recently. His victim believed that by paying ten shillings to Mosely he would become a member of a "renowned Scottish Sporting Club.— Thereafter Mosely was alleged to have made Groves a "star" member—on payment of one pound extra—pronouncing a ritual over him as he knelt on the floor. Star membership carried an allowance of half a crown a day for life, the order of "High Lieutenant for Scotland," and free entry to all sporting enclosures. Groves was relieved of the necessity of being burned on the body as a smybol of membership, because he had a mark on the nose which would do as well. eH was also relieved of his bird business which Mosely got him to transfer until Mosely should be paid the large sum of money due to him as the winner of 122 prize-fights.

Sentence of death was passed recently by the Lord Chief Justice at Chester on Thomas Parrett, aged 16, for the wilful murder of a fellow farm servant named Birtles. On the day of the tragedy Parrett met Mr. Astles, his employer, and told him that burglars had broken into the farm house. On the place being searched by the police it was found that Birtles was missing, and his body was subsequently found in a brook practically riddled with shot. Parrett was arrested and confessed and confessed that he and Birtles had not been on good terms. Birtles, according to Parrett's statement, threatened him with a fork, and he then raised the gun and shot him, not thinking the shot would reach so far. The jury returned a verdict of wilful murder; with a strong recommendation to mercy. This was acted upon by the home secretary, who commuted the sentence to imprisonment for life.

"I am ill; you must relieve me at once!" These were the last words of Robert Elgin, a signalman at Sheffield Midland Railway Line signal box, shortly before one o'clock the other morning to a comrade who had responded to a violent ring on the alarm signal bell. These words, with the hurried instructions as to the state of the line and the work required to be done immediately at the levers had hardly been uttered when the brave man, who had stuck tenaciously to his post while very ill, fell at the foot of the signal levers. He had carefully pulled up a goods train at a siding to keep free the main line for the northern express which was due at that moment and when help arrived he was seen with his left hand on the lever and his right hand placed to his forehead. He died shortly afterwards.

A collision in which an engine and two carriages of a passenger train, carrying twenty passengers, were hurled down an embankment and came to rest in a wood with wheels in the air, and in which no one was seriously injured, was the extraordinary event which occurred on the Great Central Railway between Sheffield and Worksop, one night recently. The passenger train was travelling from Sheffield to Retford and collided with a good train which had become derailed near Waleswood. The driver and stoker escaped by jumping from the engine. Of the passengers only one was injured. He was thrown through a window and had his ankle sprained.

A representative of a firm of land and estates agents in Birmingham, England, recently had an experience the remembrance of which will never leave him. The difficulties that beset the collectors of rents of slum property can only be appreciated by those who have tried it. Knocking at the door of a house where he got the rent now and again, a number of voices bade him enter. Several persons were clustered around the table and when they saw their hated enemy, the rent collector, they stepped aside at the same time whisking off the table a sheet, which he had not noticed before, saying, "Here's your rent!" disclosed the dead body of the tenant.

A man named Mark Jervis, who was recently arrested for feloniously assaulting a little girl at Deepfields, Staffordshire, caused remarkable scenes at Cosely, when it was rumoured that a revolting outrage had occurred in the field The women residing in the vicinity were greatly incesed, and assisted the police in searching for the offender, who was alleged to have committed an offence on a girl, who was badly injured. The man was eventually found asleep, and he was assailed by the women, and but for police interference they would certainly have lynched him, the women expressing a determination to kill him.

SCOTLAND

While a Glasgow tramcar was going eastwards along Argyle street, near Gray street, one night recently, the passengers were thrown into a great state of alarm by the conduct of a man named James Murray, and a woman whom he accompanied, named Sarah Bonar. Murray was in a quarrelsome mood, and, after using threatening language, he produced a revolver and brandished it before the passengers, who became panic-stricken and made a rush to get off the car. As the car was travelling along at the time both doors were shut, and the passengers had some little trouble before they made their escape, greatly excited, on to the street. In the meantime, the conductor, who had been on top of the car, came down and seized Murray. While they were wrestling, the female accused caught hold of the revolver and threatened the guard unless he let go of Murray. Both were arrested, and it was then found that the revolver was empty, but that the man had a box of cartridges in his possession.

The German SS. Marie Marchmann, from Wyborg to Alicante, with wood, which has arrived at Leith, recently, reported having been struck by a waterspout. The vessel left Wyborg July 13, and had got about thirty miles into the North Sea, when a waterspout appeared on her port side, and nearly capsized her. The steamer's sails and part of her deck cargo were carried away, and the engine room was flooded to a depth of about fifteen feet. Immediately afterwards she was caught in a whirlpool, which threatened to engulf her. The fires were extinguished and the steamer was in a helpless condition for some hours, it being found impossible to reach the coal to re-light the fires in consequence of the water in the engine-room. Part of the steamer's cargo of wood had to be utilized until the coal could be reached, when the steamer proceeded to Leith for repairs.

On a recent afternoon, anglers in the mid and lower reaches at the river coming down in a big flood in almost a single minute, the rise being no less than three or four feet in that brief time. They had, consequently, to leave the river. It appears now that the rise was caused by a waterspout in Eskdalemuir, 15 miles above Langholm. Eskdalemuir is a hill parish devoted to pasture, and lying high. It has been aptly termed the roof of Dumfriesshire. The rain came down there in such a deluge that in 20 minutes the roads were like rivers, and those out with carts or carriages were afraid they would be washed away, as the water was up to the axles of the machines.

A young cow on her way to the market recently rebelled against her fate, and for an hour raced through Glasgow streets. Barricades were made to check her course, but she eluded them and scattered her enemies. A messenger boy was the first victim, followed by two men, who were all tossed, but not seriously hurt. Having wrecked a tobacconist's shop, the cow entered the Athenaeum, ascending the steps into the vestibule. After cantering up and down the corridors for some time without meeting anyone, the invader discovered that the members had taken refuge in the reading-room. She had her feet on the top step outside the reading-room door, when a gunner, arriving with a gun, closed the episode.

An unfortunate accident befell a Mrs. Jas. Grant of Dundee, recently. The lady was holidaying at Machrihanish, the well-known watering-place and golf resort in Kintyre, Argyllshire, and it was on the golf course that the accident occurred. A player, whom Mrs. Grant was watching, was driving off a ball, which instead of going straight ahead, took a sideward flight. With a great deal of force, the ball struck the lady on the eye, inflicting a serious wound. Medical aid was hastily procured and the eye temporarily attended to. Mrs. Grant some time later was removed to Dundee. An operation was performed, but there was no chance of saving the eye, and the sight is permanently lost.

An exciting incident was witnessed by a number of people at the Bay of Nigg recently, a small boy having a narrow escape from drowning. The boy visited the Bay of Nigg in company with some friends, and went in to swim, and one of his feet became fixed between two rocks, with the result that he could not get clear. The tide was coming up at the time, and although the boy shouted as loudly as he could, it was some time before a woman heard his cries. She at once waded in to where the boy was fixed, and after a few minutes succeeded in getting him clear. When the woman reached the boy the water was almost up to his waist.

A sad boating fatality occurred on the river Tear Berwick-on-Tweed recently, when four men lost their lives through the capsizing of their boat while changing cars Altogether there were eight in the boat, and one of the surviving four, a man named Purves, gallantly saved the lives of John Gibbons, a brother-in-law of one of the drowned men, and the two sons of Lambert, another of the lost One of the men, named Wakenshaw, who was drowned, belonged to the Berwick Rifles, and served in the Boer war, afterwards receiving the freedom of Berwick

A peculiar drowning accident occurred recently on the River Spean, near Highbridge, in Inverness-shire Mr Godfrey Buxton, while fishing, hooked a salmon, and, in "playing" it, his foot slipped He fell into the water and was carried down stream by the current, and drowned He was a son of Mr F. C. Buxton of Dunston Hall, Norwich, who, with his daughter, witnessed the tragedy, but were unable to render any assistance

IRELAND

Whilst some children of Mr. T. Fryday, of Clone, Gooldscross Co. Tipperary were playing on the banks of Clone River recently, his little daughter May fell in, and was being carried into deeper water when her brother Thomas, a little boy of six years, who was some distance away, heard her screames and pluckily jumped in, and by hard work managed to hold on to her and kept her from being carried away by the current. By calling loudly for help he attracted the attention of his mother, who was in teh house, some 200 yards away. She running to the spot, was horrified to see her little girl in an exhausted condition and her brave little son struggling hard to save her. She managed to reach them in time to rescue them from their perilous position.

An extraordinary occurrence took place on the road near Clonmellon, Co. Westmeath, on a recent Sunday, about half a mile from the town .It appears half a mile from the town. It appears that Mrs. Ellen Dunne, a respectable woman, residing in the district of Newtown, was proceeding along the road to mass, when a man suddenly stepped out of a boreen and presented her with a letter, which he desired her to read, and the contents of which, it is understood was a demand that she would immediately give up a piece of land which she had lately bought from a neighbour, or otherwise that she would suffer. Having read the letter Mrs. Dunne stoutly refused to give up the land, whereupon the man fired two shots over her head and quickly decamped.

Thrilling scenes were witnessed at a fire which occurred at Athy, Co. Kildare, recently, when eight houses and some extensive stores were destroyed. The fire was discovered at the back of the residence of a Mr. Jackson, hardware merchant. Mr. Jackson found his room full of smoke, and it was only with difficulty that he made his escape, leaving some valuable jewellery behind. A servant was rescued just in time and four men who tried to save the property found their egress cut off by the flames. Fortunately there was a rope in the room, by means of which they let themselves down through the window, amid the intense excitement of a large crowd. The roof of the building collapsed immediately afterwards.

A serious situation has arisen in connection with the management of Maryborough Convict Prison, which is one of the largest in Ireland, and considerable difficulty has been experienced in maintaining discipline. Conflicts are alleged to have taken place between several convicts and the warders. In case of more serious developments, and the fact that the civil authorities may find themselves unable to cope with the situation, and require the aid of troops to assist in quelling teh disorder, Major-General Sir Herbert Plumer, who is in command of the division at the Curragh, has been directed upon receipt of intimation from the Governor to despatch troops by teh first available train.

Near Mooncoin, Co. Kilkenny, two brothers named Holden were engaged in snap net fishing for salmon from a small boat in the river Suir the other day, when they succeeded in trapping a 40-pounder. The fish's struggles, however, upset the craft, the men being thrown into the water. Michael, the elder brother, encumbered by his heavy clothing, sank at once. Boats put out to the rescue of the brother, who was entangled in the net, and he was taken to the shore in an unconscious condition, the fish being also secured . Skilled treatment restored animation in the case of the younger Holden, but Michael was drowned before help could arrive,

The motor launch belonging to the yacht Petronella, on her maiden journey from the Clyde to Lough Swilly, recently, had an unenviable experience. Owing to the racing of the screw, consequent on heavy seas, the shaft broke off Innishowen Head. The crew rigged up temporary sails and succeeded in reaching Lough Swelley after night, to find that a practice of heavy guns, with search lights, was taking place, and for some time the launch was in great peril, one shell splashing quite close to the bow.

A sharp exchange of shots occurred between the police and moonlighters near Ruan one night recently. A farmer named Michael Casey was returning home, followed by a police escort, when a body of men, concealed in a wood opened fire on them, and the police promptly returned the fire. Neither Casey nor the police were injured, but there was no opportunity of finding out if any of the assailants were hurt .The outrage is associated with a local agitation about the division of a farm.

At Fermanagh Assizes recently Hugh B. Lindsay, a Magistrate for County Fermanagh, and formerly chairman of the Enniskillen Board of Guardians, was sentenced to nine months imprisonment for embezzlement. Accused was appointed receiver of a local loan fund after its dissolution, and received certain sums on account from creditors which he failed to account for. The trial created great interest, owing to the prominent position occupied by the prisoner.

THE RECORD ADMIRAL FURNACE

Has a fire pot so constructed that every rib or corrugation forms a brace for the other corrugations, making it impossible for any two ribs to warp or crack at the same place. The square bottom of the fire pot, giving a full sized grate surface, permits rapid clearance of ashes, and gives the quickest radiation of heat, while the top being a complete circle, allows the largest possible amount of heating surface. The sides of the "Admiral" fire pot are almost perpendicular, and thus its life is very greatly lengthened.

Winnipeg's Splendid Street Railway System; Its Growth

For ten years Winnipeg was served with horse cars and in 1890 Mr. Austin constructed the first electrical line. It ran from the Main street to Fort Osborne, by way of River avenue and Osborne street. The Park Line was built in the summer of 1891, and was formally opened on July 1, the occasion of a large picnic which was held in River Park.

Great crowds gathered at the bridge to take a trip on an electric car, but they were not all accommodated, some being taken out by the N. P. and M. Railway.

This was a memorable day to many as the afternoon brought a terrific rainstorm and as there were only two motors and a trailer on each the time taken to carry the large crowd back was considerable.

The old company made proposals to the city council to electrify their lines, bu an agreement could not be reached. The present company was also negotiating with the city council, and after considerable discussion it was given a franchise extending over a period of 35 years.

The new electric line was opened ed on July 27, 1892, and again we refer to the Free Press of the following day for a description of the opening.

Description of the Opening

"At about ten o'clock yesterday, a large crowd gathered on Main street, north of the C. P. R. to witness the opening of the new electric railway. The management was sharp on time, and as the power was turned on a cheer was given by the crowd. The first car contained the guests of the day, and carried the Mayor, aldermen, exhibition board, members of the board of trade, and press representatives.....After a trip over the road Mayor Macdonald expressed his complete satisfaction at the successful opening of the road. His Worship then moved a vote of thanks to the manager, Mr. Campbell, for the energy he had displayed in opening the line, which motion was seconded by Ald. Black..... The trams will run regularly during exhibition week, making the trip every fifteen minutes. Two motors and four trailers will be brought into use and will no doubt prove ample accommodation for those desiring to visit the exhibition."

Two motors and four trailers would now experience considerable difficulty in handling the forty to fifty thousand people who pass through the gates on Citizens' Day, in exhibition week.

On Sept. 3, 1892, the Main street line operated by the newly formed company was opened, and for nearly two years the rival lines, horse cars and electric cars competed for traffic on the main thoroughfare.

The old company claimed that they had exclusive running privileges over the streets on which they had tracks, until the expiration of their charter in 1902.

On July 27th they filed the bill against the new company, and on Oct. 3 of the same year they made application for an injunction to prevent the electric company from running cars and from proceeding with construction.

The period of litigation extended over a year and a half, finally reaching the privy council, where an adverse decision was given against the plaintiffs. During this time a vigorous rate war was waged by the two rival companies. The electric road was faster and more serviceable than the other, which began cutting prices. The electric company retaliated, and for a considerable time street car fare was the cheapest that it has ever ben in Winnipeg. Twelve tickets were given for a quarter, or fifty for a dollar, was the usual charge on both lines.

Bankruptcy Faced Them

In 1894 it was seen that the existing conditions would soon render both lines bankrupt, and a proposition was advanced by the electric road on or about May 1st of that year, and their offer to buy was accepted. The price was never made public, but it is supposed to have been in the neighbourhood of $200,000. All of the property belonging to the Austin company, except Elm Park, was taken over, and the amalgamation of the two systems thus effected.

The prices of tickets was immediately restored to the old figures, although both systems were operated for some four weeks after the purchase.

On Monday, May 28, 1984, at a regular meeting of the city council, the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway Co. was allowed to cease operating the lines of the old company and to remove the tracks. It was required to assume a share of the special assessment for street paving.

Thus passed the first street railway company to hold a franchise in the city of Winnipeg, and its passing was but another of the milestones which mark the progress of the city.

At the time of the amalgamation the old company had fourteen horse cars, one flat car, six motors and six trailers. These were used by the present company for many years, and one is still on the reserve list of the railway.

This car differs very materially from those of the present day, and is now entirely out of date. When first placed on the route this style of car with its Sprague double reduction motor, resembled a water wheel in the noise it made on its trips. All these cars were subsequently fitted with the Edison motors.

One of the chief arguments used by the opponents of the electric line when the scheme was broached was the bother anticipated from snow in the winter.

The powerful rotary sweepers now in use and the rotary plough for suburban lines have fully demonstrated that even the past winter, acknowledged to be the worst in a quarter of a century, the lines were never impeded beyond a few hours, if at all.

Since the formation of the present company, and the taking over of the system by it, wonderful progress has been made in equipment, mileage, number of cars and better power facilities.

Present Company Organized

The Winnipeg Electric Railway Company as it is now known, was organized in 1901, under the laws of the province of Manitoba and was formed by a merger and consolidation of the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway Company and the Western General Power Company. This company now controls the street railway, gas, electric power and commercial lighting for the city of Winnipeg and the town of St. Boniface.

Besides controlling these interests within these civic limits company has suburban lines extending west to Headingly, north to Selkirk, and this year a line is to be run several miles to the south. It will be seen that as everyone is obliged to avail himself of some of the utilities controlled by the company this growth would serve as a reliable guide to the development of the city.

At present the paid-up stock of the company is about $5,000,000, and the price of its stock and bonds have increased in value, until to-day they are among the highest on the list.

The growth of the company's plant and equipment has also been rapid. In 1908 operations were started on the new and modern hydraulic plant on the Pinnawa channel of the Winnipeg river. For a beginning it was purposed to develop 15,000 horse power, but this was later changed, and 30,000 horse power was developed. Many miles from Winnipeg on the river bearing the same name as the city, after a very large expenditure, the falls have now been successfully harnessed and over sixty miles of wire transmit to the city all the electrical energy required. The plant was formally opened in July, 1905, when the power was switched on. The transmission lines, each carrying 60,000 volts of electricity are carried to the city on high steel towers, a cut of which is here reproduced. The power is received at the sub-station on Mill street, where it is transformed for commercial use.

Reduced the Cost

As soon as the directors of the company established the success of this undertaking, they reduced the cost of power for lighting and manufacturing fully 50 per cent., which brings this source of energy within reasonable reach of th consumer.

The number of employees has risen rapidly during the last few years, until there are now over 400 motormen and conductors on the pay roll, while the engineers, linemen, firemen, inspectors, etc., make a couple of hundred more.

During the year 1906 the total number of passengers carried was 17,229,554 against a little over 3,000,000 in 1900.

The value of the company's property was last year placed at $11,165,159, and a dividend of 8 per cent, was declared.

From cars seating 20 to 30, the type first used, there has becen a gradual increase in size until to-day the newest type recently turned out of the company's own shops are splendid in size and finish and equipped with air-brakes to render their management still more efficient.

On the corner of Assiniboine and Main streets stand the power house and central car barns, the former structure of late months displaying less of the activity which formerly characterized it since the opening of Lac du Bonnet power works.

The central car barns are models of efficiency and will shelter some 60 cars. The tracks are all run on a steel framework so that workmen may pass directly beneath each car for cleaning and repairing purposes. The equipment of the barns here are as up-to-date as possible, and are capable of repairing any of the minor troubles which may be necessary on short notice.

More recent construction having been opened only a few years ago. They are situated just on the border of the old city limits, but are now included since the addition of Lincoln Park to the city.

Repair and Manufacture

In the southern portion of the city some distance north of River Park are the shops for the repair and manufacture of cars. There is every appliance for the carrying out of the work including trip hammers and other modern appliances.

The power house is now only used as a reserve in case of an accident at the Lac du Bonnet plant. Nevertheless the old power house with its two tall chimneys belching forth volumes of black smoke, and at night shedding an unusual brilliance around owing to a multiplicity of electric bulbs, is still a place of much interest.

Here was formerly generated all the power to run cars, light the houses of the city and some of the power was sold to manufacturers throughout the city.

Here is still seen the speedless engines huge and imposing with their wonderful fly wheels and huge driving belts. All are of a late type and despite the rapid increase in electrical consumption, the company has added gradually to the number of engines, and here is always a reserve ready to be turned on at a moment's notice.

For many years wood was used exclusively as fuel, but four years ago a change was made to soft coal, which was found to be effective. Fifty cords of wood a day was the usual rate of consumption before coal was used.

The directors of the company are Mr. William Mackenzie, president; Mr. William Whyte, vice-president; Mr. E. Morton Morse, secretary-treasurer, and Sir William Van Horne, A. M. Santoms, D. B. Hanna and D. D. Mann. Mr. Wilford Phillips is the superintendent of the whole system, and is largely responsible for the manner in whih thes wwork of the company is carried on.

It will thus be seen that while the growth has been rapid and the expansion marked, that it has only been in accordance with the development of Winnipeg. As yet tthe system is not complete a further projection of suburban and urban lines are being planned this summer, and the company is pushing all resources to the utmost to place in commission a sufficient number of cars to handle the daily growing number of passengers which it is called upon to do.

FELL SIX FEET AND DIED SHORTLY AFTER

New York, August 15. — After spending the greater part of his life in climbing tall steeples and flagpoles, William Anderson, 52 years of age, a steeplejack, was killed yesterday by a fall of six feet. He was employed to gild the ball on top of the flagpole on the Belmont hotel, 42nd street and Park avenue. The pole rises from a small deck house, on the roof of the building. Anderson climbed to the top of this deck-house, and, losing his balance, fell to the roof a distance of six feet. He was picked up unconscious and died on the way to the hospital.

WISE PARENTS

Guard Their Children's Health by Giving Them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The health of the growing boy or girl should be carefully guarded. During the growing time there is a danger of the blood becoming poisoned and the health seriously impaired. The blood should be kept pure and the child will grow strong, healthy and active. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for the young. They never fail to bring colour to the pale cheeks and strength to the growing body. To a reporter of L'Avenir du Nord, Mr. Jos. Provost, of St. Canute, Que., tells how these pills saved his daughter Marie from a life of misery. He says: "A year ago my daughter, a girl of thirteen, was very weak. She was so ill that I feared she was going into consumption. Though I tried remedy after remedy she remained in this weak state for several months and I began to think she never would get better. I read of the good Dr. Williams Pink Pills had been in a case of anaemia, so got some for her. Soon she began to improve her appetite returned, she grew strong, colour came into her cheeks and to-day she is as healthy as any young girl could be. I frimly believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved her life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are equally as successful in bringing those of mature age back to health as they are in building up the young. They make pure, red blood — that is why they banish anaemia, rheumatism, St. Vitus' dance, heart palpitation, indigestion and the secret ills of girlhood and womanhood. But you must get the genuine bearing the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around each box. All other so-called Pink Pills are imitations. If your medicine dealer does not keep the genuine pills they will be sent at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

EXCLUSION OF JAPS IMPORTANT PLANK IN CONGRESS PLATFORM

Mr. Allan Studholme, M.P.P., of Hamilton, Here In Interests of Trade Congress, Which Will be Held in Winnipeg Next Month---Discrimination in Immigration Is Urged

SOME LESSONS TO BE TAKEN FROM NEW ZEALAND

Assimilation of Canadians and Asiatics Impossible---Important Questions to be Discussed by Representatives of Labour at Winnipeg Congress

To prohibit the importation of Asiatic labour into Canada

To regulate the immigration from Continental Europe and set a standard up, to which everyone desiring to enter Canada must measure before he can be admitted

These are the important questions which the National Labour Congress, which will open in Winnipeg on September 16, will deal with, and which Mr Allan Studholme, M.P.P., is trying to educate the Trades and Lasbour Councils throughout Canada on in the meantime.

This newly-elected member of the Legislature from Hamilton—the supporter of the cause of labour in that body—is in the city to-day on an official visit to the local Trades and Labour Council, and gave his views on the important matters which will form the basis of considerable discussion at the forthcoming sessions of the Congress, to which the local trades unions will in all probability appoint a delegate.

"In my travels through Ontario I have seen during the last few months hundreds of my fellow countrymen walking the streets unable to procure work, and I dread to think of what will happen when the cold weather of the winter comes." In these words Allan Studholme, M.P.P., of Hamilton, gave expression to his opinions on what he termed the "Dumping System" employed by a society formed in England for the purpose, according to the prospectus, of colonising and emigrating British subjects, but which, as a matter of fact simply dumps them down at convenient points in Canada and lets them shift for themselves, entailing hardship on the new-comers and imposing burdens upon the Canadians.

Mr. Studholme believes in immigration—he stands—but believes, too, that it should be done discriminately, and that quality should be considered as well as quantity.

In pursuance of this principle he is opposed to the importation of Japanese and Chinese to Canada, and it is mainly in the enunciation of this principle and to accomplish this end that Peterborough owes to-day the honour of his visit.

Mr. Studholme is here on an official visit, for the purpose of inducing—in case any inducement is necessary—the local central trades union body to send a delegate to Winnipeg to attend the annual Trades Congress, when the most important matter to be dealt with will be the question of the enforcement of the Exclusion Act, passed by the British Columbia Government, and providing for the exclusion of undesirable Asiatics.

The question of sending a delegate to the Congress has already been under consideration, and it is understood that the object of Mr. Studholme's visit has largely been anticipated.

The doughty exponent of trades unionism is working towards an ideal condition similar to that at present prevailing in New Zealand, which he describes as the most democratic country in the world, and his ideal of what a country should be.

He is, too, eloquent in his exposition of the advantages which Australasia has over Canada, and, while he admits that the conditions here will, of necessity make the result for which he is working difficult of attainment, he is confident that in time Canada will reach a condition approaching that at present prevailing in New Zealand. The happy position in which the people of that island find themselves, he attributes to the wise policy adopted by the late Premier Seddon who, after the country had become practically bankrupt, called the two conflicting interests, the capitalists and labour men, and formed a government, which, during the eight years since its formation, has, according to Mr. Studholme, wrought wonders.

Woman suffrage prevails in New Zealand, and he stated that in a great many cases the women gave evidence of better judgment in their exercise of the franchise than the men. The—to Canadians — unusual spectacle of mothers going side by side with fathers to the polls, and of sisters with bothers voting is seen in New Zealand, and the result of extending the rights of the franchise to women has resulted beneficially to all the interests of the country.

The legislation, he declares, is for the people, who own and operate all the railways of the country, and the land is held for the use of the individual. A person wishing to ranch or farm is given land, and if he is going into sheep ranching the government stocks it with the sheep, the first clip of wool going to pay for them. Afterwards the land is paid for in instalments, so that it becomes a matter of comparative ease for a man to own a farm or ranch there in a few years ,provided he is industrious. And one has to be willing to work in New Zealand—they adopt prompt measures there to make everyone earn his keep. They have no use for vagrants and if they do run across one who will not work he is placed in a house of correction where he is compelled to do enough work to earn all he eats.

The strong feature which commends Australia and New Zealand to Mr. Studholme is the fact that they will admit none but white men as immigrants. They go farther than that, too, and no transportation companies which draw a subsidy are allowed to carry Asiatics on their steamers.

The result of the exclusion of the class characterized by Mr. Studholme as undesirables is that all classes of the population assimilate and there is no friction.

AWFUL CRIME OF AN INSANE MOTHER

Attacked Her Three Children With Knife and One of the Trio is Dead—The Others May Live

HER SECOND ATTEMPT

Examiner Special.

London, Eng., Aug. 16.—A shocking domestic tragedy occurred at Warwick, the wife of a journeyman tailor named Alfred Southam cutting the throats of three of her children in an upstairs passage.

The youngest child was killed outright, the second, a girl aged three and a half years, was terribly gashed but is expected to recover, whilst her sister, aged about five, succeeded in escaping into the back yard with blood streaming from severe wounds on her face, the door being opened for her by her eight-year-old brother.

The children's frantic cries quickly brought neighbours to the scene, and almost immediately afterwards the mother rushed out with a carving knife in her hand, begging for someone to kill her. The baby which was killed was born only two months ago. It is stated that the woman is of weak intellect.

Three years ago she was tried at Warwick Assizes for the attempted murder of a child, but was acquitted.

The Doctor's First Question

Almost the first question a doctor puts to his patient is in reference to the action of the bowels. By keeping the bowels regular you avoid the serious derangements of the liver and kidneys and can defy colds and contagious diseases. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ensure prompt movements of the bowels, and by their action on the liver thoroughly cure constipation.

CANADIAN BOYS AND GIRLS ARE MAKING GOOD IN POSITIONS OF RESPONSIBILITY IN UNITED STATES

Canadian boys—and girls, too, for that matter—are given the preference over the native Americans by the large employers of labour on the other side of the imaginary line which divides the United States from Canada. This was the statement made by Mr. G. G. Pratley, who to-day returned to Clinton, Mass., after spending a week's holiday with friends here. Mr. Pratley has charge of the office of the Victor Manufacturing Company, one of the largest industrial establishments in that city of 13,000 people, and his progress since he left Peterborough bbears out the truth of his statement quoted above.

The reason for this preference to Canadians is, he states, because usually they are better workers—steadier and take their work more seriously—the industrious habits which are formed early in life by the great majority of Canadians standing them in good stead when they enter into serious competition with the American youths.

THE CANADIAN BANK DEPOSITS HAVE INCREASED 900 PER CENT PER HEAD OF POPULATION IN THIRTY-SEVEN YEARS

The growth of the material interests of Canada is shown by the fact that in 1868 the deposits in the savings banks, Government and post-office, was only five millions of dollars, increased to eighty-five millions in 1904, or more than two millions a year. At Confederation, the savings deposits were $1.59 per head of a population of 3,500,000, and, in 1904, the deposits represented $15.21 per head of a population of 5,800,000. Thus, while in thirty-seven years the population of the country has increased 65 per cent., the savings deposits per head have increased about 900 per cent.

YESTERDAY'S RAIN SECOND IN SIX WEEKS; UNTOLD BENEFITS BEING DERIVED

"The rain of yesterday and last night will do thousands of dollars worth of good to the country."

This is the statement of a prominent agriculturist to-day. The rain was needed badly. Wells were running dry, pastures were becoming burned and parched, and the whole country was in need of moisture.

Yesterday's precipitation was the second in six weeks, so that it can be easily understood that the land needed it. Between yesterday morning and this morning .90 of an inch of rain fell. It will be a benediction, and the root crops and the pastures will be refreshed. The dairymen were beginning to fear a shortage in the milk supply, and, as a matter of fact, in many places, the grass had become practically dried up. This rain will revive it.

Remarkable Scenes at Presentation to Rev. J. J. Rae

PICTON PEOPLE HONOR HIM

Purse of $1000 Was Raised in Six Hours and Many Others Wanted Opportunity to Contribute

Examiner Special

Picton, August 17. — Rev. J. J. Rae, who for three years has been pastor of the First Methodist church here, will leave at the end of the present month, and prior to his departure his congregation made him a presentation which, in many respects was the most remarkable event that has ever taken place in this town. Over $1,000 was given Mr. Rae by his parishioners, and a feature of the event, worthy of notice, is the fact that the canvassers report that in exactly six hours the whole sum was raised, and it was necessary to refuse further offers from persons outside the congregation who wished to contribute, the policy adopted being that of accepting them only from members and adherents of the church over which Mr Rae had charge.

Addresses were given at the gathering by the prominent members of the church, and these, and the presentation, Mr. Rae acknowledged in a masterly address, assuring his hearers that the many acts of love and kindness showered on him during the last few weeks, had made them the happiest of his life, and this, the crowning act, was almost beyond his comprehension.

A Swedish insurance company recently paid the well known painter, Lindstroem, then residing at Bostroem, $25,000 upon the death of his wife. Subsequently upon examining the death certificate it was found to be irregular. An order was made for the exhumation of the body, and it was found that the coffin contained three sacks of sand. Lindstroem and his wife are supposed to have gone to America.

A DANGER

Cribwork Along the Creek North of Hunter Street Unsafe

SERIOUS RESULTS FEARED

A Citizen Points Out That Bridge on Hunter Street May be Rendered Unsafe Unless Cribbing is Repaired

A citizen has called the attention of the Examiner, to what he considers the dangerous condition of the cribwork along the creek, between the Hunter street bridge and the dam at the tannery.

He pointed out that many of the timbers forming what was at one time an effective cribwork, have become so rotted that they are practically useless for the purposes for which they were intended, and it is his belief that with the first freshet in the spring they will be washed out, and with the water working behind them the results are likely to be serious to the building and and foundations of the bridge across the street.

He stated that the same conditions prevailed on both sides of the stream, and it was his opinion that in the interests of the city the proper authorities should take cognizance of the fact that the work was in a dangerous condition.

A new concrete deck, costing considerable money, had been recently placed on the bridge over the creek on Hunter street, and, should the cribwork above it not be repaired before next spring, it was his opinion that the foundations would be practically ruined, and the money that has already been spent would be wasted.

YANKEE CONSULS ARE KEPT BUSY

Have Five Times as Much Work to do as Formerly

The United States consuls in Canada have five times as much work to do now as formerly. Those now in office had to undergo a severe examination test of their knowledge of matters connected with this work.

Within the past year the duties of the consuls have been greatly increased. Those on the border have been asked to look into the question of smuggling from Canada, particularly of furs, of which large amounts go from this district. They have also now to pay attention to the registration of United States citizens of their districts, and see that such citizens' claims are genuine.

FARMERS DISPLAY INTEREST IN FAIR

Indications Point to Biggest Success on Record

That the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition this year will be the best in the history of the society, seems evident from the interest displayed in the exhibition by the farmers of the district. President Leary is wearing a hopeful smile at the way in which the farmers are enquiring about the show and at the number of prize lists that are going out. They are being eagerly sought for,

Providing for School Needs of Peterboro

Great Improvements being Effected in the Educational Facilities of this City. Separate and Public Schools will re-open with increased accommodation. Some details of work done.

On Tuesday, September 3rd, the scholars throughout the city will return to their schools after two months' holidays, and although the children as a rule regret the termination of their vacation, they will find in almost every case that their surroundings have been made more pleasant and agreeable. The movement in this respect is quite general, the people having recognized the fact that the educational institutions should be modern in every respect, and that to cultivate the aesthetic in the pupils their enviornment should be as neat and beautiful as possible. The Board of Education has been devoting considerable attention to the accommodation of the scholars, but the opening of the school year will not be attended by the opening of any of these buildings. The Separate School Board has been looking after their institutions especially the Lake street school which has been enlarged by two rooms and improvements of a general nature have been made throughout the building.

Lake Street School

An addition has been made to this school on the south side two fine large rooms being secured to relieve the other rooms which have been overcrowded. This gives the school an appreciable increase in accommodation which should meet all requirements for several years to come. There were four rooms in the old building with a staff of four teachers, but the addition affords two more rooms necessitating two extra teachers. They are Sisters of Mount St. Joseph, they having been for years under their care. Sister Patricia is in charge of the teaching, making the school very efficient.

The two new rooms are being equipped with the latest style of desks and fine blackboards and are well lighted. In fact provision has been made in every room to have the light coming from the left and windows have been enlarged or added to increase the light. The ceilings in all the rooms are of metal and new floors [illegible] throughout the building. [illegible] a handsome addition and the trustees [illegible] been built between the old and new parts and a cloak room has been provided for each room. These changes in themselves are radical and the building is practically a new one. Blackboards of standard quality have replaced all the old ones and other interior fittings have been supplied.

A large furnace of the Pease Company's manufacture has been installed and should adequately heat the building. It is a steam heating furnace and with it the company also installed their system of ventilation. From the above it will be seen that the Lake Street School has been given the whole attention and the trustees [illegible] if it had been built at the same time. Ample provision has been made for lighting, and the rooms are of the average size. The exterior work is finished, and Mr. C. A. J. Duranceau is engaged in installing the plumbing system. The purpose of the enlargement is to answer the requirements of the Normal School students who will use it for teaching with the Public School pupils. The work is not being pushed too rapidly, since the Normal School building will not be completed until next spring. Thus it is probable that the North Ward School will be thrown open when the Normal is opened, which, it is expected, will not be before next summer.

North Ward School

The North Ward School formerly of four rooms has been enlarged by an addition of six new rooms and the building is now one of the most imposing of the city schools. The work on the front is precisely the same in appearance as the old part, and with the main hall between the two parts, the whole in a few years will appear [illegible] with Rev. Father MacColl and His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, have stinted nothing in their endeavour to make it on par with St. Peter's School.

King Edward School

This new school in the south end is completed, except for the interior fittings, desks, etc., but will not be opened for some time, not until January, it is believed. The sewer connections have not proved satisfactory, and it is likely that temporary closets will have to be built to be used until the sewer is working. The Board of Education has not discussed this matter recently, so that it is not definitely known what will be done.

The South Central School is in good condition, and required no improvements, except painting and general work of that character. The West Ward School has also been under the painter's brush, and presents a fine appearance. This school must accommodate the children of that section of the city for years to come, and for that reason should be equipped like the other school buildings.

Normal School

The work on the Normal School is progressing favourably, and it is now well advanced, and, when completed, will be one of the best educational buildings in the city. It is close to the North Ward School, and both are situated in one of the finest parts of the city. The new Collegiate Institute building is being rapidly pushed forward and, of course, will be the grammar educational institution in the city.

All these buildings should accommodate the scholars in the city for some years to come, and those in charge of the education of the young have apparently planned with foresight for every emergency. In 1908, some new schools will be opened, and the present George Street School will be closed. The old Collegiate building will be devoted to Public School purposes, and the additional rooms in the North Ward School and the new King Edward School will accommodate the re-division of the scholars, so that the attendance will be evenly proportioned. Peterborough may well claim to be an educational centre, and the citizens may be proud of the fine institutions which have been provided for the teaching of the children.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

There seems to be a disposition to criticise with more or less superficial consideration, the results of the departmental examinations in relation to the candidates offering from the Collegiate Institute, of which the opinions expressed in yesterday's issue are an example. Is not judgment rather hastily formed? Are not the data insufficient to permit of a fair comparison with the work of other institutes throughout the province? Till these results are tabulated and put into a form admitting of fair comparison, condemnation and hasty judgment should be withheld. It is to be remembered that the papers set were of an absurdly difficult character. This may largely account for what appears to have been a pretty general slaughter of the innocents. Besides it is unfair to take the results of one year as a test. There are numerous modifying circumstances affecting the work at examinations of any one year's class of candidates—unduly stiff and unfair papers, a predominating number of "nervous" candidates, not in a condition to have full control of their faculties and consequently unable to fully express what they know of the subject of examination. Besides, again, a single examination is not to be accepted as a legitimate test of the student's capability and knowledge of a given subject any more than one day's weather would constitute a standard for characterizing the climate of a country. It would require a series of examinations, and even then the relative scholarship of a class of candidates would not be determined. Many a student who could not "pass" the average examination might easily possess many times the useful knowledge of a student whose self-confidence, coolness and crammed smattering of a given subject would enable him to pass with honours. There are a score of considerations which suggest a suspension of judgment pending larger knowledge, in regard to the work of the Collegiate Institute as reflected in the results of the departmental examinations. The best students are by no means those who may hold honour certificates. Various causes, as mentioned, tend to affect the success of a well grounded student, who has absorbed knowledge and not been crammed, as some students are, to the point of slopping over—who must be relieved to cure a smart attack of intellectual indigestion.

THE PULPWOOD PROBLEM

The fact that a firm of Boston, U. S., paper brokers can send their agents to Peterborough and sell papers of all kinds at from one to two cents per pound less than Canadian manufacturers can or will do, involves a matter of international importance. This firm is a middleman, and handles paper made from Canadian pulp, which has to pay long carriage freight charges. This paper can be sold in Canada, with the middleman's profits added, at a figure that will permit the Canadian purchaser to pay 25 per cent. duty and freight charges, and then get his paper from Boston at a much less figure than he can buy it in Canada. This condition brings up the wide question of dealing to the best advantage with the pulpwood areas of this country. The Toronto Globe has for some time been publishing a series of articles, written by a commissioner whom, with its usual enterprise, it has sent out to investigate the general subject of our pulpwood interests. In this way, a flood of light has been thrown upon the subject, and in this way the action of The Globe represents a national benefit. But the great mass of information is, necessarily, undigested, and The Globe would agreeably complete its work by furnishing a succinct summary of the information gathered, and the conclusions which it involves—in a word, what it all means.

The information thus gleaned and made available, will be of much assistance to the Government in dealing, as it very evidently must do, with the pulpwood situation in Canada. Outside of the facts, there is the question of policy to consider. The action of the Liberal Government of Ontario, in providing that no pulpwood should be permitted to leave the Province in an unmanufactured condition, was a step in the right direction—in the direction of assuring to this Province a fuller measure of profit in connection with the exploitation of our pulpwood resources. Whether that provision, extended to the other provinces of the Dominion, is enough to meet the demands for action, or whether or not the principle of it should be extended so far as the levying of an export duty, raises questions that demand very careful consideration. Whatever may be the better, or best, course to pursue, it is evident that Canada is not deriving the full measure of advantage which her possession of immense pulp wood resources makes possible.

If, as is claimed to be the fact, the United States are dependent, or imminently dependent, upon Canada for her pulp wood supply, it naturally follows that that country is dependent upon Canada for pulp wood products, including the ultimate manufactured form, paper. An expert had tabulated facts which go to show what Canada is losing by the export of raw pulp wood, or what it loses by not having our pulp wood finished in Canada:

1

Returns to Canada from one cord of pulpwood cut from private lands and shipped to the United States:—

Average price per cord delivered at railway	$3 80
Loading on cars	20
Freight to average United States boundary line (5c per 100 lbs.)	2 15
	$5 95

2

Returns to Canada from one cord of pulpwood cut from government lands and shipped to United States:

Stumpage paid government	$ 65
Contract for making and placing on river bank	2 10
Driving, sorting, boom and slide dues, etc.	1 00
Cutting, preparing and loading for shipment	60
Freight to average United States boundary line	2 15
Interest on wood preparing plant ($75,000 6 per cent. capacity 24,000 cds., 6 mos.)	20
	$4 70

Revenue to Canada if converted into paper here at home, figured on a basis of one ton paper consuming 1 1-4 cords wood.

Average capitalization of largest paper companies in United States and Canada, $25,000 per ton development: Interest per ton on property	$ 4 84
Average cost to manufacture ton news print	23 00
Average freights	4 54

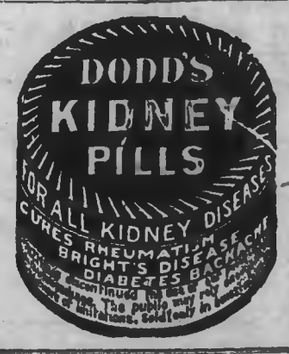
In 1905 Canada exported across the borders raw pulp wood to the commercial value of $2,600,814, and it is, perhaps, a reasonable estimate to place the actual value to Canada of this export at 12,000,000, if it had been manufactured into paper in in this country. It is stated that the output of a single Canadian paper mill, representing wages, supplies, etc., is $2,500,000, the equivalent of the value of our total export of pulp wood for a year. Besides it required 433,000 cords of raw pulp wood to realize $2,600,000, while less than 70,000 cords, made into paper, would realize a like sum. It is plainly evident that by permitting the export of our pulp wood, Canada is failing to derive the full benefit from our great resources. How far this should be taken to justify the imposition of a prohibitory export duty, is a subject for the consideration of our responsible statesmen.

A skunk—mephitis Americana—wandered into a Meriden summer theatre the other day. The audience melted away as suddenly as if one of Hanna's whisky detectives—mephitis Whitmyerus — had joined the throng.



EDITORIAL NOTES

years, all the disputes arising between capital and labour having been settled by arbitration.

These are, in brief, the ideal conditions which the Member for Hamilton wants to see in Canada, but he asserts that they cannot possibly be brought about if the Japs and Chinese are to be allowed to come into the country. Of these people and Canadians there can be no assimilation; they must forever remain distinct and separate, while it is possible that in time, if the children are allowed to attend the same schools as Canadian children, the descendants of the people coming here from Continental Europe may become equal to us. He does not believe, however, that these conditions will be reached so long as they are allowed to settle in colonies and remain by themselves and not associate with the other races in the country.

As a step, in the direction of securing for Canada conditions which, in his opinion make New Zealand the most favoured country in the world, Mr. Studholme is now working to induce the powers that be to prevent the continued importation of Asiatic labour, and in this connection he is working to secure a full representation of the labour men of the Dominion at the Congress, to be held next month. In his tours through the Province Mr. Studholme states, he has been met with encouraging responses, and he expresses himself as hopeful.

A BAND FESTIVAL ON MONDAY

Touring Salvation Army Band Will Give a Concert on Return

The Salvation Army Band is drawing large crowds at each band concert given in the towns visited. On Thursday night they gave an excellent programme at Campbellford, and the largest hall in the town was packed.

The band returns home next Monday, and will give a band concert that evening in their hall, which should be largely attended by the citizens and well-wishers of the band. Brigadier Hargrave, who is travelling with the band, will be in charge of the band festival Monday evening here.

THE WEATHER

The gently-falling yet copious showers of yesterday and last night should be of incalculable value to the country, though perhaps of temporary inconvenience to some. The rainfall amounted to .90 of an inch. Conditions are not settled yet, and some further showers are likely. Lowest temperature yesterday, 47 degrees; highest, 70 degrees; barometer, 29.36 and falling.

Ocean "Road-making" For The British Empire

The scheme for connecting the United Kingdom directly with Canada, by the fastest possible steamship service—as the first step; the improvement of the Canadian trans-continental lines—as the second step (a purely Canadian matter); and, finally, the linking-up of Canada with Australasia; such is the scheme known as the "All-Red Route." To work it out in detail requires, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier said on his return to Canada, much though'. It is not to be supposed, therefore, that the scheme will be accepted or rejected in a moment; details have to be carefully considered, and in a large and complicated business of this kind, involving many interests, details always mean difficulties. But it makes all the difference in such matters whether a proposal is approached with a determination to overcome difficulties, or with a desire to find them.

There are some Liberals who adopt the latter attitude towards the All-Red Route. They are so prejudiced against the scheme that (as we heard one of them say the other day) they regard the Ministers, who solemnly pledged themselves to favour the proposal, as "no better than Tariff Reformers." Such a remark betrays a curious ignorance of the history of the question. The idea of making links of Empire by improving means of communication has for some years past been in the minds of Liberals who have given thought to the matter. They have advocated it, not in secret sympathy with the policy of Preference, but as an alternative policy and more excellent way.

An Economist's View

The consensus of opinion in this direction among economists and politicians of divers schools is very remarkable. Here, for instance, is what that able economist and experienced administrator, Sir Robert Giffen, wrote when preferential schemes were being talked of in connection with the Colonial Conference of 1902:—

I would next suggest as a help towards commercial union and as being, in fact, a union of that nature as far as it goes, the formation of an intimate postal, telegraph, and communication union, independent of, though not opposing postal and telegraphic agreements with foreign countries. The means of communication between different parts of the Empire should not only be promoted in common, but as much as possible the general direction should be the same. As far as postal and telegraphic communication is concerned, it may be assumed, all will be agreed, but the question embraces much more than merely posts and telegraphs. Railways in certain directions—as, for example, between South and North Australia, or the Cape to Cairo Railway, or the Canadian Pacific Railways—are of interest to the whole Empire. In the same way, I believe, it is an Imperial concern that shipping communication between the different parts of the Empire, not only for mails, but for the conveyance of goods and passengers should not be left mainly to chance—as is more practically the case. Steam-shipping subsidies are too exclusively settled as mail subsidies from the departmental view of the Post Office, whereas there are other considerations of a vital kind for the Empire that should not be overlooked. If we are to be a united Empire, the whole body should be knit together by lines of steamers under the Imperial flag, which omit no port of consequence, present or prospective, in their route—direct lines of steamers, for instance, between East and South Africa and India, Australia, and Canada.—"Nineteenth Century," May, 1902.

In pointing out this better way, Sir Robert Giffen rejected the notion of a Zollverein as "impossible," and most strenuously denounced the notion of Preference as "economically and politically dangerous." In his evidence before the Select Committee on Steamship Subsidies (1903) Sir Robert, speaking as an old official for over twenty years at the Board of Trade, dwelt again upon the importance of "maintaining in a proper manner the communication between the different parts of the British Empire"; and urged that direct communication between Canada and the United Kingdom was too much looked "at as if it was the business of the Canadian Government alone, whereas it was really a very important matter for the United Kingdom and the whole Empire." The provision of such direct communication was, he said, "one of the important lines which the Government ought to consider."

Subsidies, Good and Bad

The provision of direct and swift means of communication is indeed an elementary function of Government. It is not surprising, therefore, to find that so staunch a Free Trader of the straitest sect as the late Sir Spencer Walpole drew a sharp line of distinction between subsidies to bolster up trade and subsidies for Imperial value secured. "Where Imperial interests come in," he said to the Select Committee, "I think that his Majesty's Government would be perfectly right in dealing with it in the way I have indicated."

If it was a matter of Imperial interest to maintain a fast communication, say with Canada, would that justify any Imperial Government grant, should you say?

Yes, if Government thought it was desirable to send our mails direct to Quebec instead of through New York, I think they would be quite justified in employing a line of steamers to do the work.

In fact, would you place any limit on the sum to be expended in that way?

No. I should advise the Government to carry out that policy as cheaply as they could, and to find out what they could get the work done for. When I say as cheaply as they could, I mean as cheaply as they could, fulfilling all the conditions of speed and calls which they might think necessary in the Imperial interest. I do not mean by "as cheaply as possible" getting it done in the slowest possible manner.

That is a case, is it, in which you think a subsidy in that sense of the word might be justified?—Certainly.

His Majesty's Government has, in the most definite terms, resolved that it is a matter of Imperial interest to establish a direct communication with Canada. Fortunately, Sir Spencer Walpole's limitless expenditure by his Majesty's Government will not be necessary, for whatever we contribute, the Canadian Government will contribute equally.

A Fabian "Way Out"

At an opposite pole of thought, in some ways, to that of economists like Giffen and Walpole, stand the Fabians. They agree in being Free Traders; and agree also, as it is very instructive to find, in supporting the policy of improving inter-Imperial communications. In 1904 the Fabian Society issued a pamphlet on "The Fiscal Question; an Alternative Policy." Here are some extracts from it (under the heading "Another Way Out"):—

It is fortunate that tariff manipulation is not the only active course open to us. . . . The notion that the forces making for disintegration can be neutralised by ten per cent. preferential duties is not worth discussing; indeed, the raising of the fiscal question seems at least as likely to reveal our commercial antagonisms as our community of interests. And the huge distances will be mighty forces on the side of disintegration unless we abolish them.

Ocean Road-Making

How is this to be done? The Fabian policy is, in essence, so far as practicable measures are concerned, the same as Sir Robert Giffen's. "Distance," we read, "are counted in days, not miles." And what Sir Wilfrid Laurier's scheme would do is to shorten the distance between the United Kingdom and Canada by two days. "It is really only a question of ocean road-making." Just as the Romans had their roads from the capital to the provinces, so should the British have their direct ocean-roads from state to state. We need not agree with the Fabian theories, but it is most instructive that their "other way out" should proceed on the same lines as are reached by other economists.

Sir Edward Grey's Plan

The consensus among progressive politicians of different shades is equally clear. The present Foreign Secretary is supposed to represent the more "moderate" Liberals. It is remarkable that, at the outset of the fiscal controversy, the political instinct and sagacity of Sir Edward Grey led him also to advocate the improvement of inter-Imperial communications as the more excellent way:—

Liberals thought that these ideas of Mr. Chamberlain's were mischievous, and they meant to resist them to the end. But were they there to sit still, and see no change in the relations between ourselves and our Colonies? He thought not. Continuity of policy was needed, and it should be worked on the lines of improving the facilities of communication. The obstacle was not Free Trade, but space; and the Empire could be united better by ships than by tariffs. (Speech at Oxford, May 29th, 1908.)

The difficulty to which we must address our minds in uniting the British Empire is the difficulty of space. Would it not be well for the different governments to consider what are the best means of overcoming the difficulty, and how, if ships were to be the links to bind together the different parts of the Empire, they might also be made to guarantee that the trade-routes between the different parts of the Empire were the widest, the smoothest and the quickest possible? (Speech to the British Empire League, July 30, 1903.)

This is precisely the policy to which the Government pledged itself at the Colonial Conference.

It is also the policy of the Labour party, as recently expounded in a published volume by Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, M.P.:—

Preferential trade is the proposal of individual capitalists (who desire to make profit out of our Imperial connections; the Imperial organization of trade routes and facilities is the proposal of the Labour party, which desires the establishment of an efficient means for the exchange of material and intellectual productions throughout the Empire. (Labour and the Empire," 1907, p. 97.)

"All Red-routers Now"

The Government, in pledging itself at the Conference (by the mouths of Mr. Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George) to the principle of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's scheme were not acting, then, on any sudden impulse, or adopting any new-fangled and indefensible position. The idea commended itself, when first the policy of Preference came forward to be refuted, as a positive and advisable alternative. It has been preached by Free Trade economists and Progressive politicians of the most diverse schools. Indeed it would almost seem (to parody Sir William Harcourt's phrase) as if "we were all Red-Routers now." All, except those who, from insufficient consideration, are still in bondage to prejudice and bogeys; including some who—while they hotly advocate the subsidising of steamboats on the Thames, in order to create a new route and a new business, in the municipal service—yet, by some inscrutable obliquity of thought, denounce the same policy when it is extended to making new ocean-roads, in the service of the Empire.

Happily, his Majesty's Government is more enlightened. It has pledged itself, most emphatically, as we showed in our previous article, to the principle of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's scheme. In so doing, it is pledged also to strain every nerve to surmount difficulties and reconcile conflicting interests. The Government was not bound to declare any alternative policy to Preferencer. It chose, however, to do so, and it chose wisely, for to have no constructive policy would have been bad. But there is another thing which would be worse; namely, to pretend to have such a policy to send the Colonial Premiers away with the belief that you were committed to it, and then, at the first touch of difficulty or difference of opinion, to run away from it.

Stomach Troubles Of Long Standing

WHEN DOCTORS' TREATMENT FAILED THIS SEVERE CASE WAS ENTIRELY CURED BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Doctors failed to cure Mr. De Courcey because they were satisfied to treat the stomach instead of getting at the cause of trouble in the liver and bowels.

The most complicated and deep-seated digestive troubles yield to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. We are continually receiving such letters as the following in regard to the failure of mere stomach treatment:

Mr. Patrick De Courcey, Midgell, lot 40, P.E.I., writes: "For some time I had stomach trouble, and was scarcely able to do anything at all. I was treated by doctors, but they did not seem to do me any good. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I did so, to very great advantage, for my old trouble has disappeared, and, though past middle age, I feel young and hearty again. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's medicine."

Another interesting case of liver derangements and stomach troubles is that described in this letter:

Mrs. James Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe County, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and horrible sick headaches, and have found that they are more effective than any treatment I ever tried. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches, and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthful flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and ensure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

Grain on Fire

Great excitement was caused on Tuesday when the alarm was given that fire had started in a grain field of Mr. Charles Morgan. There was a strong wind blowing, and but for the timely arrival of a good crowd of men and women, who worked hard hauling water from the nearby creek, a great deal of damage would no doubt have been done. The grain was in sheaves, and a number of these were burned. It is feared that if the drought continues the fire will again break out.—Harold correspondent to Stirling News-Argus.

Facts About the American Indian's Healthy Hair

The American Indian, accustomed from time immemorial to go bare-headed in all kinds of weather, is never troubled with falling hair or never troubled with falling hair nor baldness.

The close atmosphere caused by our "civilized" head-gear is conducive to the breeding of infinitesimal germs which dig into the scalp and thrive on the sap of the hair root.

This true cause of baldness is of recent discovery and explains the non-success of all hair-tonics which treated baldness as a functional disorder.

Newbro's Herpicide is a direct exterminator of the germ. It destroys the cause and permits the hair to grow as nature intended.

LORD ROSEBERRY DENOUNCES SCOTTISH LAND BILL IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS

LORD ROSEBERY

A London, Eng., despatch says that Lord Rosebery made another of his meteoric appearances in the House of Lords, and delivered an able speech against the Government. With great rhetorical brilliancy, he denounced the Government's Scottish small land-owners' bill. The rumour had gone forth that Lord Rosebery was to speak, and the House was filled to listen to a Liberal Peer outstrip a Liberal Cabinet.

Lord Rosebery declared that he wished the Government well, but he ridiculed its efforts to legislate for Scotland. His complaint was that the bill in question would "crofterize" Scotland. In the most soothing manner, and with an abundance of dramatic gesticulation, the speaker declared that he would not be a party to the introduction into the healthy body politic of Scotland of the "poisonous bacillus of the Irish-American system."

The Conservative Peers were delighted, and cheered Lord Rosebery to the echo. His speech was the event of the evening, but the Conservatives themselves doubt whether it will have much practical effect.

A CHERRY PICKING TRIP THAT HAD SOME SERIOUS RESULTS

A South Verulam correspondent to the Bobcaygeon Independent, sends the following report of an accident, in which a Peterborough lady participated:

"There was a bad wreck a short time ago, but no one was seriously hurt. Two ladies from South Verulam came to George White's to get some cherries, for Mr. White has a very fine lot of English cherry trees, sixteen or twenty of them. They had a new buggy, and Mrs. Russell of Peterborough, joined them. Driving to the cherry orchard a pig near Millage's frightened the horse, and shying to one side upset the buggy, and all the occupants were thrown out. The top of the buggy was broken, and all the harness badly damaged. It so happened that no men were within reach, and only women could come to help. However, they managed to get back to Mr. White's and he fixed them up so that they could get home."

BROKEN NOSE A RESULT OF COLLISION

Mr. Cecil Williamson Injured in Bicycle Mix-up on George Street

Mr. Cecil Williamson, of the office staff of the Quaker Oats Company, met with a painful accident on Thursday night on his way home from work. He was wheeling behind a street car, and, turning out, did not notice another bicyclist coming in an opposite direction. The result was a collision in which Mr. Williamson was injured, his nose being broken. The injuries will be painful, although not serious.

A YOUNG BRAKESMAN'S SAD DEATH

G.T.R. Brakeman Killed by Falling in Front of Moving Train

While shunting at Waubaushene yesterday morning at 9.30 Philip Mitchell, a young brakeman, well known in Peterborough, fell off the front of a car while it was in motion, and was run over, death being instantaneous. Deep sympathy is felt for the young fellow's relatives, who live in Midland.

The remains were taken to Haliburton, where interment took place to-day. Details of the tragedy are not to hand as yet.

WEDDING BELLS.

BIBBY-BREEN

A wedding of considerable local interest took place on Tuesday, Aug. 6th, in St. Columbus church, Buffalo, when Mr. William Bibby, General Roadmaster of the Northern Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, a former resident of Peterborough, was married to Miss Kate Breen, also well known in Peterborough, where she has frequently visited. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Crowley, in the presence of many of the friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was dressed most becomingly in cream voile over white satin, and wore the customary bridal veil, and carried a bouquet of roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Breen, while the groomsman was Mr. J. Egan of St. Thomas.

Following the ceremony the bridal party and guests drove to the residence of the bride's mother, 428 Swan street, where the wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Bibby left on an early train, on a tour which embraced Detroit, Chicago, Pittsburg, New York and other cities. They returned to Barrie, and spent a few days there before going to their new home in Barrie.

Mrs. Bibby was the recipient of an unusually large number of valuable and handsome presents. She was at one time, and until the removal of the family from Lindsay, superintendant of the Ross Memorial Hospital of that town, and was well known there, as well as in Peterborough.

In her profession as a nurse she was acquainted with a large number of the medical profession in Buffalo, and that she was held in high esteem by them, was evidenced by the presents representing them.

An Informal Banquet By S.P.S. Graduates And Students

School of Practical Science Boys Had Delightful Time Last Night at Banquet in Oriental Hotel

QUEEN'S STUDENTS GUESTS

A number of the graduates, undergraduates and intended students of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, gathered at an informal banquet last night in the dining-hall of the Oriental Hotel. There is a number of these young men in the city, and this enjoyable affair was arranged as a re-union of the congenial spirits who have attended the School and who have gathered around the festive board on many occasions before they entered upon their professional careers. The guest of honour was Professor Louis B. Stewart of Toronto S. P. S., who at present is spending his holidays at Stony Lake. His presence with the young men was a remembrance of the old times spent at the School, and was greatly appreciated by them. The other guests were Messrs. Webster and G. Greer of Queen's University, Kingston. The S. P. S. boys were Messrs. C E Sisson, Hamilton Munro and Reid Munro, J H Carter, G S Stewart, D E Eusson, R Young, Iler, Mowbray, McCordick, E Jamieson, H Wilkie, E Doidge, W G Hall, and Graham. Mr. R. Hall and Max. Cameron were unable to attend.

A section of the dining-hall was used, and the tasteful decorations were the work of Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons. The banquet was prepared and served by the hotel staff and was of their usual excellence.

After ample justice had been done to the appetizing spread, a list of toasts was proposed and responded to. To Mr. C. E. Sisson, who acted as toast-master, fell the honour of making the opening speech, and of proposing the toast to "The King." He expressed the pleasure that the occasion had given him to be together with some of his fellow-students and one of the faculty, besides the undergraduates, and those who intended to take the course. He referred to the happy times spent at S. P. S., and the good fellows that had attended, and who have invariably succeeded in the practical work.

The toast list was then as follows:—

"Canada"—Proposed by Mr. D. E. Eusson; responded to by Mr. E. Jamieson.

"The School and Faculty" — Proposed by Mr. R. Young; responded to by Prof. L. B. Stewart.

"The Profession"—Proposed by Mr. Iler; responded to by Mr. H. Munro and E. Doidge.

"The Graduates"—Proposed by Mr. McCordick; responded to by Mr. G. R. Munro.

"Other Colleges"—Proposed by Mr. Stewart; responded to by Messrs. G. R. Wright and Garnet Greer.

"The Under-Grads." — Proposed by Mr. J. H. Carter; responded to by Mr. Mowbray.

"Prospective Students" — Proposed by Mr. H. Wilkie; responded to by Mr. W. G. Hall and Mr. Graham.

A very pleasant evening was closed by the singing of the National Anthem, and the young men separated with friendship cemented and old times recalled.

Music and Drama

"A MESSAGE FROM MARS"

It does not require the scientific wisdom of an astronomer to point out the humour that abounds in the comedy-drama, "A Message from Mars," although the chief text of the play relates to the visit of an inhabitant from the planet Mars to the earth for the purpose of transforming, as it were, the most selfish man found on this planet to that of one who is made to see the error of his ways, and is disposed to show a generous heart towards those less fortunate than himself. "A Message from Mars" is the product of Richard Ganthony, who for several years was a well-known newspaper writer in various cities throughout the country, principally in the West and South. When presented here upon a former occasion it proved so entertaining and attractive that theatre-goers are still talking about it. It will be presented by a good company at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, August 22.

A Fenelon Falls Man Had A Narrow Escape

Thomas Jenkin Owes His Life to the Fact That Friends Rescued Him From Position Which Would Have Resulted in His Death

UPSET UNDER A WAGGON

Examiner Special.

Fenelon Falls, August 17. — Thos. Junkins met with an accident a few mornings since, which might easily have cost him his life, and which undoubtedly would have resulted fatally had not willing hands been on the spot at once to rescue him from his perilous position.

He was driving a creamery wagon, with several cans thereon, to the Falls, and when opposite the residence of his brother, Mr. John W. Junkin, by some means — accounts differ as to how it happened — the wagon was upset into the ditch at the roadside. Mr. Junkin fell face down on some gravel in the ditch, and the edge of the platform of the wagon rested on his back. Fortunately the horses did not attempt to move, although one of them, a colt, was somewhat fractious just before the accident. Mr. Junkin was released by his nephew, Randolph, and two or three others; and Dr. Graham, who is attending him has hopes that he is not seriously injured, although he complained of a good deal of pain in his chest and his left thigh, upon neither of which however is there any external marks. His face was badly scraped and punctured by the gravel into which he was forced; there was a cut above his nose, and another cut behind one of his ears, and both arms were bruised and blackened, and were bleeding from wounds above the wrists, but these hurts are of no importance.

Toronto Dragoons Return From Petawawa Camp

Regulars Who Marched Through Peterborough Returned Last Night---Men Are not Sorry Although They Say The Training Was Splendid

THE TRIP THERE SAID TO HAVE BEEN A ROUGH ONE

B Squadron, Royal Canadian Dragoons, passed through the city this morning on a special C.P.R. train shortly after 1 o'clock, on their way home from a month's training at Petawawa Camp. It will be remembered that these cavalrymen came through this city on their way to camp, the squadron marching from Toronto to Petawawa. They were here on July 3, and camped for the night at the Exhibition Grounds. To an Examiner reporter who was at the station this morning when the troops passed through, some of the squadron stated that they had found the roads north of here in a terrible condition, and that they had walked their horses nearly all the way. They could not understand how the artillery got through at all with their guns, over such rocks. B Squadron accomplished the feat of going from Toronto to Petawawa in thirteen marches [illegible] though the going was, they had enjoyed the trip.

At Petawawa they were in the saddle at least six hours every day, and the work was somewhat hard, although, as one of the troopers remarked, it was great training.

"We are not sorry to get back to civilization," he added, and the few others who were awake were of the same opinion. Most of the men were asleep when the station was reached.

The entire outfit of the squadron was on the train, horses and transport wagons, as well as the men themselves.

A GREAT RECEPTION FOR BAND

Touring Salvation Army Band Received Ovation at Campbellford—Biggest Hall in Town Filled

IT WAS A SUCCESSFUL TRIP

Campbellford, August 17. — The demonstration tendered the touring Silver Band from the Peterborough Salvation Army corps, was in many respects the most remarkable of any experienced on this tour. The largest hall in the town was filled to overflowing and the amount taken as admission was the largest for one meeting on the trip to date. The music was thoroughly enjoyed, and many people who had never been at a Salvation Army meeting before, were at the meeting. The members of the band were received very kindly at every place on the trip, and have made many friends.

To-day the band left for Napanee, and after spending to-night there, they will go to Tweed, and will return home on Monday.

BAND CONCERT HAD TO POSTPONED CONCERT

Owing to the Inclement Weather—The people Dissappointed

For the first time this season, the weekly concert of the 57th Band in Victoria Park had to be cancelled last night owing to the rain. The necessary postponement of the concert was much regretted by the citizens generally, who look forward each week to the entertainment. It was the intention of the band to have given one of the four programmes which they have prepared for the Toronto Exhibition, and this would undoubtedly have been a decided treat. It will, however, be given next week.

GREAT APPLE CROP IS ASSURED

Northumberland County Farmers Are Rejoicing

Cobourg, August 16. — Mr. P. J. Carey, Dominion fruit inspector, reports the apple crop as generally good quality as far as present indications show. The great bulk of the crop has already been purchased by the local dealers at prices that should leave a handsome profit to the growers. Mr. Carey reports a general improvement all along the line in the care of orchards. To what Mr. Carey has said with regard to the apple crop may be added that Mr. Fred Purdy, of Murray township, sold his apples for $2625, and that Mr. John Graham of the same vicinity has sold his for $900. Mr. Coffee, of Eddystone, Haldimand township, has sold his orchard, it is said, for $800. Davidson Bros., of Hamilton township, have ordered one thousand barrels, and intend picking and packing their own crop. It looks as if the apple crop of Northumberalnd county would be a record one.

Most housewives judge the purity of a flour by its whiteness. White somehow signifies purity. But while pure flours are always white, white flours are not always pure.

Royal Household Flour is the whitest flour that is milled. It is also the purest. You may think the flour you are using is about as white as flour can be. Yet if you place it beside Royal Household Flour it will look yellow by comparison. Ask your grocer for Royal Household, and make sure that he understands that you mean it.

EXTENSIVE MARKET OPENING FOR HOME-GROWN BARLEY

Peterborough county farmers, who benefitted by the establishment here of the Quaker Oats Company's mills, where a large market for oats was opened, will be glad to learn that this year this company will purchase not only oats but barley. This grain will be used in the manufacture of the celebrated Quaker Stock Food, for which a big demand has been created.

It was learned at the office of the company to-day that there was practically an unlimited market for barley at the mills here, and that the highest price would be paid.

No new grain has been received at the local mills yet, but it is expected that in the course of a few days it will be coming in.

A PRESENTATION TO MISS CURTIS

Honoured by Fellow Members of Miss Might's Girl's Class Last Night

A HANDSOME RING GIVEN

Last night the members of Miss Might's Study Class in connection with the George street Methodist church, gathered at her home on George street, to say farewell to one of their number, Miss Mabel Curtis, who is leaving the city probably next week, for Hazelton, B.C. During the evening Miss Curtis, who has been most popular with the members of the class, was presented with a handsome dull gold ring with "Mizpah" inscribed thereon, and an address. The presentation was made by Miss Edna Armstrong, while Miss Amy Crafts read the following address:

Dear Mabel,—It is with feelings of mingled joy and sorrow that we meet as a class to say good-bye to you, who have been such an inspiration to us all.

We are thankful that in this call you are realizing one of the desires of your heart, to go where the need is greatest, to the ripened fields where "harvesters are few."

We shall miss you in our class—we shall miss your bright, cheerful smile, your strong helpful experience, the sympathetic touch of your helpful hand. We shall miss you in the Sunday school, in the League and in the prayer meeting. Nevertheless we rejoice with you that you have been called to move to the front because God needs you. As the cloud of Jehovah's presence glorified the tent in the wilderness, so His presence abiding wioth you, shall glorify your life, and make all your work divine.

At times you may be discouraged, perchance homesick—Was not the Master so? He will bear the burden, for He is strong—It will still the sigh and awake the song.

"We shall pray that from your life may flow
Some gladsome music, soothing, sweet and clear
As from a fine strung harp, to reach the ear
Of struggling men;
To bid them pause awhile and listen, then,
With spirit calmer, stronger than before,
Take up their work once more.
When all working days are o'er for thee,
May the rich music of thy life flow on eternally."

Signed on behalf of the class,
EMMA MIGHT,
DAISY HANNAH,
IDA KIRK.

Peterborough, Aug. 16, 1907.

A very pleasant time was spent with music and games, and many regrets were expressed at Miss Curtis leaving the city.

BOYS HAVE UNSURPED KINDNESS

Must Behave Themselves In Future—Norman Lebar Sent to Industrial School

FOR AN INDEFINITE TIME

Norman Lebar was committed to the Industrial School at Mimico for an indefinite term, not to exceed five years, by Magistrate Dumble this morning, and thus His Worship has put the lid on the gang of young boys who have been delving in petty crimes. Other lads should take example from this and behave themselves in future. This boy has appeared on at least four charges during the past few months, and it was evident that kindness had no effect on him. There are other boys in the city who want to be on their good behaviour henceforth, as the juvenile crime must be stamped out.

DUMMER BOARD TOOK ACTION

They Dealt With the Water Supply at McCrackens

Warsaw, Aug. 17. — The Dummer Board of Trade has taken prompt action in reference to the water supply at McCracken's, and before the Peterborough Board of Health's officials had visited the place, had done all that was possible under the circumstances. There is some feeling here that the local authorities are capable of handling the situation, which, while it is unfortunate, is not by any means beyond their control. They were cognizant of the condition of the water and had it analyzed some little time ago with a view of ascertaining its quality.

NIAGARA FALLS HAS A WRECK

Four Cars Loaded With Meat Plunge Into the Gorge.

ALL THE TRAINMEN ESCAPE

Second Accident Within the Month—Freight Train Left Rails on Steel Arch Bridge—Some of the Cars Smashed to Pieces—Others Sunk In the River—The Cause of the Accident Is Not Known.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 17.—A Grand Trunk freight train was wrecked early yesterday on the lower steel arch bridge over the Niagara Gorge. The bridge was damaged and four cars dropped into the Whirlpool Rapids. Traffic over the bridge was blocked until 11 a. m.

A heavy train of 35 loaded refrigerator cars was going from the G.T.R. yards on the Canadian side to the Lehigh Valley yards on the American side. There was an engine at each end of the train, as there is an upgrade from the bridge to the Lehigh Valley yards. About the middle of the train a car mounted the rails at the switch near the Canadian side.

The heavily loaded cars tore along over the ties for a short distance, cutting them badly, and, in fact, for probably 25 yards breaking them through between the two tracks. Four cars rolled to the north side of the bridge, and, leaving the tracks, shot into the chasm below. Three struck the water and disappeared instantly, the —— struck on the rocks near the water and was smashed into kindling wood. The cars were all Swift's, loaded with fresh meat.

The front engine pulled away from the wreck with 13 cars attached, but left one disabled at the American side of the bridge. The local wrecking crew was at once called out and the Hamilton derrick was sent for.

It seems a very peculiar thing that two wrecks have occurred on this bridge within a few months, when it is remembered that the first that ever occurred was this spring. Only on Wednesday of this week was a new railing put up to replace the sections carried away in the last wreck.

TO PRESERVE THE BUFFALO.

Rangers May Be Appointed to Protect Them From Poachers.

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—Inspector A. M. Jarvis, who was sent north in June into the Mackenzie River country, reports that the destruction of buffalo is done by poachers, who have headquarters at Smith Landing, about 400 miles north of Athabaska Landing, and recommends that the whole Mackenzie River district be patrolled in order to prevent this slaughter.

Col. Fred White is of opinion that the best method would be to set aside a reserve and employ trained rangers to gradually drive the buffalo from the north down into this reserve, where they could be easily protected.

The total number of buffalo in the district is estimated at 300. They are of the long-haired kind, known as wood buffalo, and their skins are very valuable, while a buffalo head is now worth upwards of $250.

G. B. Shaw Has Close Call.

London, Aug. 17.—(C. A. P.)—According to The Daily Mail, George Bernard Shaw has had a narrow escape from drowning.

He was swimming off Llanbord, Merionethshire, with a friend, when the current carried them away and prevented them from returning to the shore.

After a long time they were landed on a distant sand bank, whence they were rescued.

Mr. Shaw was utterly exhausted, and had given up hope of returning to the mainland alive.

He says he only kept swimming to postpone the unpleasantness of drowning as long as possible.

ALL RUN DOWN
Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Ladue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Miss Bawden Given A Kingston Appointment

Domestic Science Teacher Who Was in Charge of Department in Y.W.C.A. to Teach It in the Kingston Schools

HER QUALIFICATIONS

Miss Bawden, who organized and conducted, with such success, the Domestic Science Department in connection with the local Y.W.C.A., has been appointed to the position of directress of the Domestic Science Department in the Kingston schools, a new department to be opened in September next. Miss Bawden has been engaged at a salary of $500 a year to take charge of this branch of education in the Limestone City. She has not, however, been given the appointment without some discussion among the members of the Board of Education. The Whig of yesterday, reporting the meeting at which she was given the appointment, says:—

Trustee Mirlit, chairman of the management committee, said that there were two other applicants, but that their qualifications were practically about the same. Miss Bawden, he said, had been recommended by Inspector Kidd. She had organized a domestic science system in Peterborough, had been successful in the work, and the committee had considered itself fortunate in securing such an able teacher.

The secretary was then called upon to read the other two applications which had been received. One application was from Miss Helen McDonough, at present in charge of the domestic science department of the Y.W.C.A. in this city, and a graduate of the McDonald Institute at Guelph. The other application came from Miss Helen S. Graham, of Toronto, a graduate of the Toronto University.

The application of Miss Bawden was also read, which showed that she had taken a course of domestic science in the Boston School of Domestic Science, and that she had also been awarded a diploma by Fanny Farmer, the authoress of Farmer's Cook Book.

According to the statement of Inspector Kidd, there was evidently a misunderstanding. Trustee Martin stated that the inspector had recommended Miss Bawden for the position, but this the inspector denied.

"I remember that someone recommended Miss Bawden," said the inspector, "but I did not."

Trustee Martin said that he could remember very distinctly the inspector making such a recommendation, whereupon Mr. Kidd said that he was satisfied to let the matter stand at that.

The Toronto People Have Discovered Comet At Last

Daniel's Comet Which Local Astronomers Have Seen For Some Time is Now Visible in Toronto

THEY RISE EARLY THERE

That comet, which local astronomers found some months ago, is now being looked by the star-gazers in other cities. Last night's Toronto Star had the following reference to it:—

Daniel's comet (d-1907) was observed through a six-inch telescope at the observatory this morning at 4.45. Its hazily appearance of a very bright nucleus, with a tail about six or seven degrees long.

Its approximate position at that time was 17 degrees 5 hours and 50 minutes north inclination, and six hours 45 minutes Right Ascension.

It is probably approaching the sun, and will soon be lost in its rays. It is decreasing in brightness and is just visible to the naked eye if the observer knows just where to look, but can be readily seen through a pair of opera glasses.

The approaching full moon will greatly obscure its viability, and after going around the sun it will be easily visible to the people of the southern hemisphere, where it will appear as a bright object in the western sky after sunset.

Toronto people may see this comet by arising about 3.30 in the morning and scanning the eastern sky at an elevation of about 15 or 20 degrees.

The Inland Revenue Returns Have Doubled

In the Last Eight Years Since Mr. Wm. Rudkins Took Charge—Figures Which Indicate Progress of the City

A COMPARISON IS MADE

The growth in the inland revenue returns during the last few years is a strong proof of the progress the city is making. It will no doubt be interesting information to learn that in the last eight years the returns have been more than doubled. Mr. Wm. Rudkins took charge of the local office in 1899 and the returns for that year amounted to $34,030.66. For the year ending July 31st, 1907, the returns were $70,479.80, a remarkable increase which indicates the rapid growth of the trade of the city.

The monthly returns for the years 1899 and 1907 furnish an interesting comparison. They are as follows:—

1899.		1907.
$3,191 99	July	$5,334 01
2,760 54	August	4,081 63

Dummer's Oldest Resident Has Been Called Away

Late Mr. Hugh McFee at the Age of 92 Years and After a Few Days Illness Passed Away

HE WAS HIGHLY RESPECTED

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, Aug. 17.—The oldest resident of Dummer and one of the earliest settlers passed away yesterday in the person of Hugh McFee, who, after a short illness, died at the ripe age of 92 years. The late Mr. McFee had been in good health—unusual health, when his age was considered—until a very few days ago, when he contracted bronchial trouble, and this resulted in his death.

Few residents of this township were more widely known and none more highly respected that the late Mr. McFee, who had lived in Dummer a great many years, coming here with the earliest settlers and living here ever since. He was a native of Canada, but removed to Canada in his early youth, and was one of the men who helped to build up this township.

He was a Presbyterian in religion, and was a member and an elder in the Warsaw Presbyterian Church, a church which had during his long life been made the object of his tender solicitation. In politics the deceased was a Liberal.

There are left to mourn his death five sons and two daughters, four of the sons, James, Andrew, William and David, living in the Canadian West, and the fifth, George, in Dummer. The daughters are Mrs. Yourex of Meyersburg, and Miss Kate, at home. Mrs. McFee died about three years ago.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the family residence, about two miles south of this village, and interment will take place in the Warsaw cemetery.

Varicose Ulcers Cured

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 20 Sheridan avenue, Toronto, states, "About eight years ago I hurt my leg near the ankle, and the result was what the doctors called varicose ulcers. I was treated in two Toronto hospitals, and sent away without being cured. From the very start Dr. Chase's Ointment helped me and by persistently use it has entirely cured me."

EXAMINED AS TO COMPETENCE

Mrs. Eddy, Head of Christian Science Church Submitted to Questions Put by Experts

THE RESULT OBTAINED

Examiner Special.

Concord, N. H., August 16.—Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy, head of the Christian Scientist Church, underwent a mental examination yesterday, by the masters who had been appointed to determine her competency in business matters. The examination was made at Mrs. Eddy's home, Pleasantview, in this city, by Judge Aldrich, Dr. Jelly and Attorney Park, one of the masters. The only other persons present were General Frank S. Streeter, Mrs. Eddy's counsel in the case; Wm. E. Chandler, counsel for the "next friends," and a court stenographer.

Mrs. Eddy received her visitors in her private sitting room, and by arrangement with her counsel she answered a series of questions asked of her by the three masters, who took turns in the examination of her upon various poonts.

Judge Aldrich began the interview by assuring Mrs. Eddy of his intention to make the call as agreeable as possible to her. Mrs. Eddy thanked him, adding: "My only difficulty is a slight deafness. I can see to read common type, but I can't hear distinctly without some difficulty."

Judge Aldrich, saying that he had some life insurance coming due, asked Mrs. Eddy's advice as to how to invest the proceeds.

Not understanding him at first, Mrs. Eddy replied that she put no money into life insurance. "God insures my life," she said. Then, thinking that Judge Aldrich desired information as to her own investment, she described the trusteeship created by her in March, saying that it was entirely her own idea.

In reply to questions by Dr. Jelly, Mrs. Eddy started to describe the development of Christian Science. She said that she was an invalid from childhood, and that she became interested in treating herself. She studied homeopathy, and from the most diluted of the attenuated medicines used by homeopathists she proceeded to prescribe pellets containing no medicine, and used them successfully in the treatment of cases of disease. Then she said to herself: "Now, you don't need any medicine. You can go without it." This was her description of the science of mind.

Mrs. Eddy was going on to speak of her investigation into spiritualism, when the masters withdrew from the room, explaining that they thought she was growing weary. Returning after a brief interval, They heard Mrs. Eddy describe in answer to questions from Attorney Parker, her method of life. She said that she wrote or dictated all letters pertaining to her business, but later qualified this with the remark: "Unless I don't know what they write."

Again discussing Christian Science, the aged leader said:

"A Christian Scientist can no more make a person sick than be a sinner and a Christian Scientist. All the power they have comes from on high. We have no other power and no faith in any other power."

HOLY JUMPERS FOR NEW YORK

Members of This Strange Sect Reported to be Preparing to Invade Gotham With Their Novel Methods

THEY ARE AFTER CONVERTS

Examiner Special.

New York, Aug. 16.—New York City is threatened with an invasion of the "Holy Jumpers," despite the sad fate of the Dowie commune which seemed to have been forgotten. There is a colony of the "jumpers" at a place which they call Zarepath near Somerville, N. J., and "the Rev." C. W. Birdwell, who presides, says that he is going to bring his forces over to Brooklyn, just as he took them into Denver.

"Yes, we dance and make a big demonstration in the streets,' said the leader. "I am aware that we are classed as fanatics, and derisively called holy jumpers, but we do not care what people say or think about us and keep right on our way. Our religious dance is neither that of a whirling dervish, nor a society two-step, but it is the exultant hope of one inspired with due religious fervour."

Of course, the jumpers will seek converts. Every person who joins their society must turn over all of his earthly possessions and devote his life to their peculiar work. Birdwell said that he feared he'd have a hard time in New York, "because," he said, "we believe in the sacred bond of matrimony, but not in divorce."

LOCAL OFFICERS ARE PRAISED

Good Work of District Deputy Hill and Special Representative Tully Eulogized by I.O.O.F. Grand Lodge Officers

SERVICES ARE APPRECIATED

At the sessions of the Grand Lodge of Oddfellows, held in Orillia this week, reference was made in two of the Grand Officers' reports to the work performed during the past year by local members of the Order occupying official positions. The Grand Master, in his report, spoke of the services of Mr Wm. Hill, who during the past year has occupied the position of District Deputy, in the following terms:

"Bro Wm. Hill, D D G M, Peterborough District No 32, occupies a high place in the long list of active D D G M's for the year. Like many others, he rightly values too responsibilities of his office as well as the honour, and his reports show great care, energy and enthusiasm in the work. His district has been increased by one new lodge, Mystic No 378, at Marmora, and the affairs of all the lodges may be said to be in good condition. Assisted by a good staff at installations, which includes joint and public ceremonies, and no ritual in sight."

A high tribute was paid by the Grand Secretary to the splendid work performed by Mr J. A. Tully in connection with the Relief Department of the order. The paragraph referring to it is as follows:

"In connection with the very gratifying increase in the number of lodges, as well as in membership, no small degree of credit is due to Bro J. A. Tully, representative of the Oddfellows' Relief Association. All the work reported by him has been most thoroughly and systematically performed, and he is to be most heartily congratulated on the success that has attended his labours, which has resulted in greatly increasing the numerical strength of the Order in Ontario."

Some Qualifications For Choosing a Church

In the last issue of "Words and Works" St. Luke's Parish Magazine, the editor gives some advice to those who are about to make a choice of a church with which to affiliate. He says:—

In this age of "many churches," any person who is convinced of the truth of the Christian religion, and wants to obey Christ and walk in His steps, must make a choice and determine with which Christian body he will unite.

If I were placed in that position, the Church of my choice would be one that would, in all its essential features, answer the following requirements:

1. Is it the Church that Christ Himself established? I would much prefer Christ's Church to any man-made church.

2. Its creed should recite great facts and express belief in great truths—not a lot of opinions that anybody can dispute.

3. It should foster the free and continual study of the Bible.

4. Its sacraments should be administered by those who have a right—a delegated right—to administer them—a right that no man has a right to assume, and take upon himself.

5. Its discipline and the teachings of its catechism should be so practical and helpful that they can be the guide of my life.

6. It should be a church linked to the past, and at the same time be able to adapt itself, without sacrifice of its principles, to all present conditions, religious, political, intellectual, or social.

7. Its manner of worship should be reverent, devout, simple, scriptural, reasonable.

8. Its spirit should be manifested in an earnest preaching of the Gospel in the pulpit, and an equally earnest desire in all its activities to reach the souls of men.

To such a church I would give my hearty allegiance, and in living its life and breathing its atmosphere of religious truth, and taking part in its activities, I would find the help my soul needs—the aids necessary to build up and strengthen my character, and prepare me for the life to come.

In all modesty, and yet with all confidence, we ask the reader to study the position of the Church of England, and examine her claims, and study her history, and search out her spirit, and see whether she does not answer every one of these requirements. Apply the test.

The Belated Confession Of An Unfortunate Spouse

London, Eng., Aug. 16.—A confession of misconduct, after a lapse of nineteen years, made by Mrs. Caroline Bertha Getty, a Christian Scientist, was the evidence upon which her husband, Mr. William Getty, a cotton merchant, was granted a degree nisi in the Divorce Court.

The marriage took place in 1885. Three years later the wife left her husband, and he lost sight of her for some years. In December, 1904, he received the following letter from her:

My dear William,—I am a Christian Scientist. I became interested in the science from the healing of Bro's husband, who was supposed to have an incurable disease.

I believe God is the Divine principle, Life, Truth and Love. I want to possess the consciousness of Truth, but cannot do so while I am not truthful. I was unfaithful to you nearly nineteen years ago, and I bitterly regret the wrong I have done. This statement sounds bold, but it is too ugly to dress up in [illegible] Yours sincerely, Caroline B[illegible]

In a subsequent letter Mrs. Getty stated that she desired to make over the property to which she was entitled under the marriage settlement. She was then asked to give the name of the person with whom she had misconducted herself, but steadfastly refused to do so.

Mr. Justice Bucknill said if that was all the evidence he doubted whether he could grant a decree of divorce.

Mr. Barnard, K.C., for Mr. Getty, submitted that the confession was one which could not be doubted. It had been repeated over and over again.

Evidence was then given by a solicitor who saw Mrs. Getty with the object of obtaining the name of the man with whom she had committed misconduct. The witness said the lady refused to divulge the name, because she feared that it might do the man a serious injury.

Mr. Justice Bucknill said that the evidence of the last witness put entirely a different complexion on the state of affairs. He came to the conclusion that all reasonable ground of suspicion as to any [illegible] the parties. [illegible] petitioner a decree nisi.

FAST DRIVING CAN NOT BE PROVED

Cobourg Young Man Has Reminder of Excursion to Peterborough

A case that occupied the attention of the police court this morning was that in which Mr. Douglas E. Wark, of Cobourg, was charged with immoderately driving a horse, on George sreet, on August 8th, the day of the excursion from the lake town. The charge was dismissed, there being nothing to show that the young man was guilty of a breach of the bylaw concerning fast driving. Mr. Gordon appeared for Mr. Wark, and Mr. Kerr represented Mr. Samuel Hooper, who suffered an injury to his horse by that which Wark was driving running into it.

The accident occurred just about opposite the storehouse of T. Kinnear, south of Dalhousie street. Mr. Wark was accompanied by two other Cobourg young men, named Cockburn and Bowan. He was driving south on west side of the street, and Mr. Harper who had a team drawing a load of crushed stone was on the same side coming north. According to Mr. Wark Mr. Harper made an effort to cross to the east side, but got no farther than the middle of the street railway tracks. Mr. Wark went to crosss to the east side, but came back again and just as his horse was opposite Mr. Harper's it became frightened at a paper or something and plunged towards the team striking one of the horses. It bounded away and became unmanageable, running into a post just at the short road to the wharf.

Mr. Harper, Mr. Jas. Frith and Mr. W. Lillie testified that the horse was going rather fast. Mr. Jos Guerin who was an eye witness of the affair, said that Mr. Wark was driving at a moderate rate, but that a paper blew across the street in front of the horse and frightened it.

Magistrate Dumble dismissed the case as there was no definite evidence to show that the driving had been immoderate.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE SHELTER

Carter's Shelter Painted and a Telephone Installed

The carters' shelter now presents a much improved appearance, and largely through the efforts of Mr. H. Edmondson a considerable sum of money has been expended in improvements to the interior as well as the exterior of the building. The shelter has been painted and a new sign, with a picture of Mr. Edmondson, which is quite life-like adorns the front of the building. IS CHURCH MANAGER'S CONDUCT CONSISTENT WITH HIS PROFESSION?

Pastor of St. Andrew's Church Makes Statement That One Was Seen Drinking in Bar at Burleigh

THE SUNDAY EXCURSIONS

Rev. J. G. Potter's Strong Denunciation of Conduct of Church Members—Are They Consistent?

That a man occupying the position of manager in a local church, was seen drinking in a hotel bar, in Burleigh Falls, and that in view of this fact it could not be expected that Indians would think it any harm to drink, if they could secure it, was the statement made last night by Rev. J. G. Potter, in the course of his sermon at St. Andrew's church, the theme of which was the inconsistency of members of the church, and the consequent effect upon persons who were not identified with the church, but who were doubtless influenced in their action by their observations of the habits of life and conduct of those who were church members, and who occupied positions in those bodies.

In the sermon, which created a sensation among the congregation, he stated that a few weeks ago an excursion was run down the river on Sunday, and there were on it members of the church, who conducted themselves while on the trip in a way which they would not dare, were they in the city.

In explanation of his statement in connection with the charge of a church manager being seen drinking at Burleigh Falls, he stated that the man he had reference to was not a member of St. Andrew's congregation, so that those who heard him, and were members of that church, were assured that they were not being referred to.

Mr. Potter's statements, and his strong denunciation of the action of members of his own denomination, created a decided impression upon those who listened to the sermon.

Young Douro Man Was Found Dead In His Bed

Sudden Call for Mr. Michael James Mahoney, Who Died From Heart Failure on Sunday Morning.

WAS HIGHLY RESPECTED

Douro, Aug. 18.—The people of this township were startled yesterday morning to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Michael James Mahoney, who, after retiring in apparent good health on Saturday night was found dead in his bed, by other members of the family yesterday morning. When he did not rise at the usual time he was not disturbed, on account of it being Sunday morning, but later, when he still did not appear his room was entered and his lifeless body was found lying in bed.

A doctor was called at once and, after an examination it was found that death had been caused by heart failure, and he had apparently died in his sleep.

He had been in excellent health Saturday, working as usual, and retired at the usual time. He was 26 years of age, and was the eldest son of Mr. Michael Mahoney. He was born in Douro and lived in that township all his life. Besides his parents he leaves to mourn his loss two brothers William and John and one sister, Kate, all of whom live in Douro, at home.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, from the family residence on the 5th concession, to the Roman Catholic church and Douro cemetery for interment.

Local Capitalists Are In Prosperous Lead Mine

Mr. Matthew Smith, of Pittsburg Gill County Lead and Zink Company, in the City on a Visit, Tells of Rich Mine.

IS A VALUABLE PROPERTY

Mr. Matthew Smith, president of the Pittsburg Gall County Lead and Zinc Company, has been in the city during the last few days on business in connection with the company, which his about fifty shareholders in Peterborough. Mr. Smith was for some time a resident of this city, prior to going to Cleveland, where he now makes his home. He is enthusiastic over the prospects for the future of the lead and zinc industry, and particularly with the future in store for the company of which he is president, and with which many Peterborough capitalists are connected. Lead, mined at the property of the company, sells at $88 a ton, and the supply is apparently unlimited at the mines owned by this company. Mr. Smith intended to remain in the city several days longer, but was called home by a telegram, and left this morning on the 11.45 train.

Horse Thieves In Vicinity Of Bridgenorth Village

Reported to Have Held Up the Feminine Occupants of Farm Houses and Helped Themselves.

CHASED BY MR. GEO. BELL

Bridgenorth has apparently, during the past few days, been the rendezvous for a couple of persistent horse thieves who on two occasions were caught before they succeeded in their attempts to get away with the goods. According to reports they have entered a number of houses at Bridgenorth and with the ease and grace of an accomplished robber, requested the ladies to be very quiet and they would not be molested. They then helped themselves to whatever their wants demanded and left as mysteriously as they had entered.

The latest intelligence of their actions has been supplied by Mr. Geo. Bell of that village, who on Friday night arose from his bed just in time to stop the two men from getting away with his horse, buggy and harness. The horse had been sick the day before and Mr. Bell was giving it some medicine during the night at regular intervals. Shortly after midnight he went out to the barn and found the animal hitched to the buggy in the yard. The unknown thieves wasted no time in getting off the premises so that their identity is yet unknown.

On another occasion they were stopped at the gate of a farm house with a stolen outfit. They were successful in getting away, but fortunately they made good their escape without the horse and buggy.

A number of the young Bridgenorth men are on the look out for the bandits and if they are caught there may be an interesting session before they are handed over to the law.

LABOUR IS TO BE RE-ORGANIZED

As a Result of Mr. Allan Studholme's Recent Visit to the City

THE ORGANIZER COMING

Mr. Alex. Studholme, M.P.P., of Hamilton, who was in the city on Saturday in the interests of labour, will in all probability visit the city at an early date. Together with Mr. T. J. Bagley, secretary of the local Trades and Labour Council, the condition of affairs in the city from the labour standpoint were carefully considered on Saturday, and the necessity of prompt, aggressive organization work pointed out. Mr. Studholme was anxious to have a rally of labour men on Saturday evening, but it was felt that the time was too short in which to give sufficient notice. He was pleased to think that a delegate would be sent from the local Trades and Labour Council to the Trades Congress in Winnipeg. As a result of Mr. Studholme's visit, it is understood that an organizer will visit this city after the Winnipeg convention, and will spend several weeks in organizing all unorganized trades. It is further understood that at the Winnipeg convention an effort will be made to have an organizer appointed for the eastern portion of the Province.

MR. BORDEN'S PREDICAMENT.

The Supreme Court of Nova Scotia has ordered that the Halifax election petitions shall be set down for trial on September 3. This looks a good deal like one of the little ironies in which the law sometimes indulges.

For months and months past the Conservative press and Conservative leaders have been complaining that there had been unusual delay in the hearing of the petitions against the return of Messrs. Roche and Carney, the Liberal members for Halifax, and have been clamouring that the trial should go on forthwith. Now they have gottheir wish; but, unhappily, there is a big-sized fly in the ointment.

When the petitions were lodged, the Liberals retorted by filing cross-petitions against Mr. R. L. Borden and his running mate, Mr. Mullin, and have expressed their determination of pressing them to trial when the other petitions were pushed.

Unfortunately for Mr. Borden, the Supreme Court has ordered that these cross-petitions shall be tried on September 3, after those against Messrs. Roche and Carney. Now, Mr. Borden had arranged a political tour which was to extend from Halifax to Victoria, and according to his itinerary was to have been in Quebec on September 3, and was to have begun his tour of Ontario on September 7.

What will he do now? Will he abandon his trip, or will he obey the judgment of the court and await the trial of the cases in Halifax? It is certainly a sad predicament for the Opposition leader to be placed in, for if the petitions against Messrs. Borden and Mullin ever come to trial there will need to be a revision of the leaders' famous speeches on electoral purity—if half that one hears from Halifax is confirmed by the evidence.—Ottawa Free Press.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Sir Hibbert Tupper is coming to the rescue of Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition. Sir Hibbert Tupper may be a bird in politics, but Mr. Borden wants to watch out that he doesn't prove to be a cuckoo.

The English mails by the Empress of India, were delivered in Ottawa on Friday, less than seven days from Liverpool. This is very like a record which will be superseded when the air-rad line shall be in operation.

The Toronto News is talking hereesay—it declares that the Conservative party in Ontario is lacking in "men of eminence" to assist Mr. Borden. If the News claims this as a discovery so could a man who has found out that there is such a thing as sunshine.

The disfranchisement of the negro citizen by the State of Georgia makes the terrible cost of the freedom of the American slave a useless sacrifice of money and life. There should be another amendment to the United States Constitution, which declares all men "free and equal."

Canada may not yet be ready to contribute in cash to the defence of the Empire, but she is doing pretty well when our every-day Canadian volunteer artillerymen can out-shoot a picked team of British artillerists at big gun shooting. Accurate shooting counts greatly as a means of defence.

The British Government cannot very consistently refuse to contribute to the All-Red Line subsidy, which is intended to more closely unite the most important component parts of the Empire, when it subsidizes the Cunard Line, which plies from a British to a foreign port—from Liverpool to New York.

The West is likely to do better than the average mortal, and learn from its experience of last winter's fuel famine. The Alberta Government is reported to have persuaded the coal companies of that Province to extend credit to coal dealers to enable them to stock up before the hard weather comes.

The supplement to the last Canada Gazette contains returns from thirty-five chartered banks for the month ending June 30, 1907. In only four of these do the authorized subscribed and paid up capital correspond. The total of paid up capital is $96,362,130, the total of reserve funds is $69,556,685. The total amount on deposit is $89,450,889 and the total liabilities amount to $781,075,503.

The Toronto News, in a plea for the discussion of the All-Red project apart from political considerations, pays this compliment to Hon. Clifford Sifton: "Some attack is directed toward Mr. Sifton, although it is said that between Lord Strathcona and Mr. Sifton there is a complete understanding, that both are actuated by purely public considerations, that neither desires to give the project a partizan character, or aims to profit, personally, by the enterprise. It cannot be doubted that Mr. Sifton has great constructive ability. No one is more eager to contribute to the growth and prosperity of the country. Few men have more courage and resource in handling a difficult situation. It may be that he has here the opportunity to perform one of the greatest services which have been rendered to the country, and that he will approach the task with intelligence and discretion cannot be doubted."

AN UNSATISFACTORY MARKET

Henry Clewes Reviews the Present Situation on New York Stock Exchange

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

Referring to the present stock market situation, Mr. Henry Clewes, in his weekly market letter, says in part:

We have had another week of general and drastic liquidation. Since the opening of the year there has been a shrinkage in values estimated at approximately $3,000,000,000. That such a tremendous shrinkage, in a little over seven months could take place on the New York Stock Exchange without bringing on panic and universal disaster, is almost beyond belief, and had any prophet the foresight or the courage to have predicted such results last December, he would have been treated as a fit subject for the asylum. Nevertheless the fact remains true, that Wall street has endured a shrinkage in values far exceeding that of any panic on record, and this without any serious failures thus far. The fact that these losses have been endured without disaster, is remarkable testimony of the strength in the financial situation. Losses have fallen upon those best able to bear them, and the causes are now beginning to be understood. General excesses, such as the over-extension of credit, over-issue of securities and over-confidence have been the main and the natural reasons for recent reaction. Of course with the market in a hyper-sensitive condition, investors and speculators alike are naturally more or less frightened at the anti-corporation crusade. There have been some rather indiscreet official utterances concerning the Government's policy in prosecuting corporations, and the anti-railway feeling displayed in many of the states is naturally disturbing at this time. Nothing, however, that the administration could have said or done at this time could have checked the recent downward movement. Liquidation from natural causes was inevitable. It has been predicted in these advices for months past as the only means of righting the money, and security markets. Whether the cure is complete or not remains to be seen. It is doubtful if liquidation has yet run its full course, and if not, still lower prices must be anticipated; although we may have a fair temporary recovery.

The outlook for the market is still unsatisfactory. Prices are very low, and there are plenty of good stocks which are really very cheap from the investor's point of view. The monetary situation, however, has not yet fully righted itself, and further liquidation seems more than probable, with intervening rallies of more or less importance. Such being the case it is inadvisable to go too heavily into debt. Saturday's bank statement ought to show a considerable contraction of loans as a result of recent liquidation. Should the money situation become acute, Secretary Cortelyou will no doubt aid the money market to the extent of about $50,000,000, but while call money continues as abundant and as easy as at present, there is no necessity for immediate action. A considerable short interest will naturally at times be created and the market in consequence will frequently be in a position for occasional sharp rallies, whenever conditions favour; quick in and out turns in the market will prove very profitable to alert traders in the immediate future.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. SHEARER FACTORY'S GOOD RECORD

In Report of Cow Testing Association 114 Cows Gave an Average of 777 Pounds of Milk of Good Quality

INTEREST OF DAIRYMEN

The Dairy Commissioner's Department has issued an interesting bulletin on the work of the Cow Testing Associations recently formed by that department, and in it reference is made in the summary to the result of the testing in the Shearer factory in this county. In the test made on July 24, 114 cows gave an average of 777 pounds of milk, which tested 3.2 and 25.6 pounds fat.

The interest taken by the dairy farmers in the work of the cow testing associations organized by the Branch of the Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, Ottawa, is steadily increasing. Evidence of this is seen in two or three ways. The milk record sheets being tabulated daily, show a larger number of cows whose milk is being weighed and sampled six times a month, and, better still, there is an increase in the yield. That is to say that the second and third tests in the various localities show a marked improvement on the first. This will have been noticed in the summaries of the tests published from time to time. The Dominion officials are doing valuable educational work on their rounds, for the custom is increasing of farmers dropping in while the testing is in progress to ask many questions about the test, the work of the associations, improving herds, feeding, churning at home, and, in fact, on every phase of dairy work.

The importance of succulent feed is well illustrated by the yield of a herd in the St. Prosper, Que., association. On June 5, the yield of 11 cows was 286 lbs. milk; they had been on dry feed, and pastures were backward. On June 25 the same 11 cows gave 371 lbs. milk. At a moderate estimate that herd could easily have given 1200 lbs. more milk during the month if succulent feed had been available. What applies here applies to hundreds of other herds. There would be an enormous increase in the general flow of milk and a vast improvement in our dairy herds if provision were made for green or soiling crops, ensilage and succulent feed generally to tide over backward seasons and dairy hot spells. Have you built a silo yet? There is still time this season. Feeding ensilage almost invariably means making more money from the same number of cows.

RADIATOR COMPANY CHANGES NAME

In Future the Peterborough Radiator Company Will be Known as the Canadian Boiler and Radiator Co'y

In the last issue of the Ontario Gazette notice is given that the name of the Peterborough Boiler and Radiator Company, incorporated some time ago, has been changed to the Canadian Boiler and Radiator Company, Limited. This is the concern which at first intended to locate its works in Peterborough, but which later accepted the offer of Hastings to give some concessions in order to secure the establishment for that town. It is composed largely of local capitalists.

The pipe was in working order on Saturday night, and there was a refreshing absence of the stagnant water below Hunter street.

HALF TAMED STEER ON WATER STEET

Had to be Towed to the Market Square by Carter

An exciting scene was witnessed this morning at the post-office corner, where a half-tamed steer ran amuck and frightened a few of the by-standers. The animal was purchased from Mr. Jno. Connors of Douro by Mr. G. Thompson, and apparently had not been accustomed to city streets. Coming down Water street, the steer ran over several lawns and became uncontrollable. Victoria Park was trampled upon also, and had it not been for the dexterity of Mr. W. A. Stabler, who happened to be at Hunter street, some damage might have been done.

Mr. Stabler caught the animal by the horns, and held him fast until a rope was fastened around them and tied to the axle of a carter's wagon. The steer was then forced to the market against its will, and its bellowings could be heard several blocks away. It only weighed about 800 pounds, but, judging from its activity, it was much stronger than its appearance would indicate.

Prince Rupert No Place For Unemployed Men

The Empire, of That Town, Advises Men Looking for Work to Remain Away From It Unless Specially Engaged.

THE PRESENT CONDITIONS

A number of Peterborough young men have intimated their intentions of going to Prince Rupert in the spring, and, in view of this fact, some advice from the Prince Rupert Empire may be of interest.

In its first issue, the Empire advised mechanics and workingmen not to come to Prince Rupert unless they were specially employed before starting. Conditions have not changed, and the advice is repeated in this, the second issue. While a topographic survey has been made of the land that will be in the townsite, and a general plan made for its sub-division, no sub-division has been made of lots or blocks, therefore no lots have been sold or offered for sale. The only construction work going on is for the G.T.P., and most of those employed are hired direct by the local representative of the company. All others are employed by the United Supply and Contracting Company, or by the Pacific Stevedoring & Contracting Company. The first named company is erecting two large buildings to be used for boarding and lodging houses, and the last named has the contract for extending the wharf, and both hire their own men.

Money Stolen From A Residence In Otonabee

Seventy Dollars Missing From Mr. Jno. Honbidge's House— Suspicious Characters Hanging Around.

FAILED IN OTHER ATTEMPT

Residents of Otonabee township are at present suffering from robberies supposedly committed by strange, meandering individuals, whose educations, so far as work is concerned, have been sorely neglected. Some money thefts, one of which was committed in broad daylight, have been reported, and suspicions rest upon tramps who have been recently seen wandering about below the Locks Pridge and in the more southern parts of the township.

Mr. John Hanbidge, who resides in the Stewart Settlement, was the heaviest loser. He left $80 in bills in a box, over a week ago, and on going to the money receptacle a few days later to pay an agent, found that a burglar had been there before him. Of the $80, only a ten-dollar bill remained, indicating that the robber did not care to spend too many minutes around the premises. It is believed that the robbery was effected a week ago yesterday, as that was the only day of the week on which the whole family were absent.

The residence of Mr. W. B. Stewart, township councillor, was also visited by would-be robbers. One of the doors was partly taken off, but the money-seekers must have been frightened away before an entrance could be secured.

Suspicion rests upon certain poorly dressed and disreputable looking characters, who have been seen hovering about the Otonabee roads. One of them spent a night in the Cold Springs Sunday school hall.

As a result of these depredations, Otonabee residents have recently been barring both doors and windows, and some even sleep with guns at their bedsides.

A Message for Pile Sufferers
FROM TWO LADIES WHO HAVE BEEN CURED OF EXTREMELY TORTURING CASES OF PILES BY
Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mrs. Geo H. Simser, Grant, Russell county, Ont., writes:—"Eleven years ago I began to suffer from piles, and as they caused keen distress, and became worse, I doctored for them, but with little or no avail. They were bleeding, itching and protruding, and oh! the torture suffered at times can never be described. It was with suffering that the bowels moved, and, as nothing brought relief, I could only endure the misery with an aching heart and without hope of cure.

"Finally a lady friend told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment curing piles, and to my surprise I felt relief at once on using this ointment; the little tumors soon disappeared, the ulcers healed, and the bowels became regular. This was five years ago, and I have never been troubled with this terrible ailment since, a thousand thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mrs. Capt. Ollanasmith, Salvation Army, Essex, Ont., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to you in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Two years ago I was taken with a severe attack of protruding piles, and became so bad that I had to keep my bed, and could lie in no position except on my stomach. Doctors could give me no help, and the various oils and ointments used proved of no avail.

"One Saturday night, when I was suffering untold agony, my husband went to the drug store, for a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I had heard of as a cure for piles. Although I had almost given up hope, to the wonder of those around me, I was able to be up and on my feet by Monday, and have had no difficulty from piles since. As a treatment for all kinds of sores and burns, Dr. Chase's Ointment works like magic."

To persons who have given up looking for a cure of piles or hemorrhoids, this letter should bring new hope. There is, we believe, no more effective treatment for piles than Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OSTEOPATHIC DOCTOR VISITED HERE

Former Otonabee School Teacher in City After Twelve Years' Absence

Dr. Albert Ovens, of Mason City, Ill., formerly a school teacher at the Cold springs Public School, Otonabee, visited in the city last week after a twelve years' absence, and was greatly surprised at the rapid advances made in the building line. Dr. Ovens, after leaving here, attended the School of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., U.S.A., where he graduated, and has since practised osteopathy in Illinois. This form of medical treatment, Dr. Ovens states, is rapidly increasing in the United States, but that up to the present it is practically unknown in Canada. He is, however, considering crossing the line again, and, if so, he will locate in Peterborough, as he believes it to be one of the finest little cities he has visited in his extensive travels.

Dr. Ovens left on Saturday for his native home in Campbellford, and intends taking a journey out through the Canadian West.

LIGHTNING KILLED MR. M'CRACKEN'S COW

Severe Electric Storm at Stony Lake on Friday Evening

Mr. Robert McCracken, of McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake, was the loser of a valuable cow, on Friday night through the effects of lightning. A severe electrical storm passed over the lake about seven o'clock, and although the dead animal was not found until Saturday afternoon it is supposed that the destructive fluid got in its deadly work about that time.

The cow was found after a long search on Saturday beneath a tree in Mr. McCracken's woods, where she had gone for shelter from the storm. The loss is estimated at between $40 and $50 and is covered by insurance.

The Upper Stony Lake Regatta On Thursday

Should Be One of the Events of the Season---Many Dances are Being Held in the Pavilion---Other News From the East End

Examiner Special.

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, Aug. 19. — Things have been lively at this point during the past week, and will continue so for a few more days at least.

On Friday night an old time dance was held, which, in spite of the decidedly disagreeable weather, was a great success. The old fashioned dances were used and the affair proved one of the most enjoyable and amusing affairs of the season.

A hop is held nearly every night and the pavilion is being greatly appreciated by the young people.

On Monday night the second concert of the season will be held in the pavilion. A very enjoyable programme has been prepared, and a good time is looked for.

Divine service was held in the pavilion last evening, by the Rev. John Gibson, and it was largely attended.

The first annual regatta will be held on Thursday afternoon and from the interest being evinced in the affair it should be a grand success. The course will be off Crowe's Landing, and there will be a complete programme of sailing, paddling and rowing races. Mr. John Finlay, M.P., has offered a handsome cup for the open sailing race, and no doubt a large number of the fast white wings will take part.

In the evening there will be the presentation of prizes in the pavilion followed by a masquerade. A special boat service is being arranged from the lower end of the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrell and family of Peterborough, are occupying Mr. Grubbe's cottage at Eel's creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Drury and daughter, Miss Olive, of Toronto, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mitchell at Sunnyside, returned home on Saturday.

Grasshoppers Work Havoc To Crops In Many Places

Peterborough County Farmers Report That Grain is Being Destroyed by This Pest—Eat Off Heads.

A REMEDY IS SUGGESTED

Farmers are making complaints that this year the grasshoppers are particularly plentiful, and that in some sections they are making serious inroads upon the crops with serious results. Grain that has been cut and left standing in stooks is said in many cases to be partially ruined, the grasshoppers eating off the stems, and the result is that the heads of grain fall to the ground and are lost.

In some cases, in places where these pests are more than usually plentiful the loss will be very heavy, and the farmers who are being affected are at a loss to know what steps to take to rid themselves of the troublesome insects.

It is stated that one remedy is to plow up the pastures which have been sodded for a number of years and which provide a breeding ground for the 'hoppers, and in the sections affected the most seriously farmers who have sod are being urged, in their own interest and in that of their neighbours to plow it up, in the hope that while of course, it is too late to do anything this year, the result will be the partial extermination of the insects for next year.

A New Steamer For Next Season At Stony Lake

Stoney Lake Navigation Company of Young's Point, Have Decided on This Scheme—Boat Will be About 90 ft. x 17 ft. in Dimensions.

MAJESTIC FOR TOWING

The business of the Stony Lake Navigation Company, of which Mr. Frank Young, of the steamer Stoney Lake, is the manager, has increased so rapidly during the past few years, that it has been decided to build a new steamer for next season's passenger traffic. The company already own the steamers Stoney Lake and Majestic, the latter this season having completed a good many successful years on the upper lakes, for the benefit of the thousands of tourists who have visited Kawarthadom during that time.

The Majestic will therefore be, replaced next year by a large and commodious boat, which will be a credit to Stony Lake, and to the wide-awake operators of the steamers that the Stony Lake Navigation Company now own.

Although the plans have not yet been drawn up, the company expect the steamer will be in dimensions about 90 feet long, with a 17 foot beam. These figures represent a considerably larger boat than the Majestic, but a somewhat smaller one than the Stoney Lake, which was constructed for excursion purposes, as well as for regular passenger traffic. The estimated cost of the steamer will be $11,000.

The plans will be made out this autumn, and tenders will be called for afterwards. The boat will be built next spring and the company expect to have it in operation about the middle of June. The Majestic, when the proposed new boat is built, will then be used solely for towing purposes, and in this work she has in the past proven to be one of the best tugs on the upper waters.

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, Aug. 19. — Although the end of the season is not far away, there is little sign of it in the gayety and activity of life on the lake. People still continue to flock here, hotels and boarding-houses are full up, and yet they come. The next two weeks will no doubt see a decrease in the population of Kawarthadom, although the backward weather earlier in the summer may cause some to stay longer than usual.

Mr. J. D. Collins came up the lake on Saturday.

Rev. John Gibson preached at Viamede in the afternoon, and in the Crowe's Landing pavilion at night. Both services were attended by large crowds.

One of the down-passengers this morning on the steamer Majestic, a well-known railway man, had a narrow escape from serious injury. He was endeavouring to reach the top deck of the steamer from a wharf, when his foot slipped and he fell between the steamer and the dock, managing, however, to retain his grip on the railing. He was in great danger of being crushed, but was rescued unhurt. Several of the cabin windows of the boat were shattered.

WAS PRESENTED WITH A PURSE

Miss Mabel Curtis Honoured by Friends of George Street Church

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Curtis, Aylmer street, previous to the departure of their daughter, Mabel, for the mission field, British Columbia. A number of her friends belonging to George Street Methodist Church assembled for the purpose of presenting her with a well-filled purse. The presentation was made by Mrs. Geo. Syer, and the following address was read by Mrs. Mann:

To Miss Mabel Curtis,—

Having learned that you intend leaving us and going as a missionary to British Columbia, we desire to express our appreciation of your efforts to advance the Kingdom of Christ. As you go on His errand, provided with His seed, directed by His unerring wisdom, to your place in the mission field, we feel sure of His co-operation in giving sun and shower and rain, and pray that you may receive more and more of His fulness, more love and light, more, above all things, of His Holy Spirit.

We earnestly pray that our gracious Lord may daily and hourly bless you with His presence and keeping, as you begin to bear the burden of souls, and look upon serving and saving your fellow-men as the highest honour.

We will miss you, dear girl, in many ways: your influence among the young people has been most uplifting, and your ready acceptance of any duty placed upon you is a lesson to us all. Your cheerful and sunny disposition has been a noticeable feature of your character.

We ask you to accept this purse (which would have been doubled but for the short notice), and hope at some future time to be able to give a more tangible proof of our love. Our thoughts and prayers will follow you in your career.

Miss Walsh, head dressmaker at the Turnbull Company has opened her department for the season. 2d-41

THE WEATHER

Although we have had a number of chilly nights this summer we have not previously had as low a reading as that of last night, when 41 degrees was marked by the self-registering thermometer. Though we have heard no mention of frost it is quite possible that such occurred in low-lying places, as the sky was clear and the air was calm.

UNCLE OF LOCAL LADY DIED

Mr. Edwin Boxall, of whom Mrs. F. Dover is Niece Passed Away under Distressing Circumstances

CAUSE OF HIS DEATH

A copy of the Sussex Daily News, England, has the following in reference to the death of Mr. Edwin Boxall, uncle of Mrs. F. Dover, city:

Mr. Edwin Boxall, one of the oldest solicitors in Brighton, and a member of a greatly respected Sussex family, passed away yesterday under very sad circumstances. Mr. Boxall, who was 81 years of age, was the only surviving son of Mr. William Boxall, who was a deputy Lieutenant for Sussex and High Constable for Brighton, and the late Mr. Wm. Percival Boxall, J. P., was a brother. Mr. Edwin Boxall had practiced for nearly 60 years, latterly in partnership with Mr. Kempe. He was famous throughout the country as a conveyancer, having a specially extensive practice in this department of legal work. He entered the profession in the Trinity Term of 1848, having served his articles with a leading firm at Reading. He married into another very old Sussex family, the Faulkners, of West Sussex, and had a country residence at Coombe Croft, Henfield. It was there on Sunday evening, that Mr. Boxall met with an accident that led to his passing away yesterday morning.

A Lamentable Accident

The circumstances of the accident were particularly distressing. A nephew, Mr. W. P. G. Boxall, K. C., Recorder of Rye, had driven over with his wife from Cowfold, in his carriage, on a visit to his uncle, and the vehicle was taken into a meadow adjoining the house. Here Mr. Edwin Boxall entered the carriage to rest while conversing with his nephew, who stood by the carriage door, Mrs. W. P. G. Boxall meanwhile entering the house with Mrs. Edwin Boxall. Suddenly the horse stung by a wasp from a nest close by, bolted around the meadow. As it was making for the gate Mr. W. P. G. Boxall made an attempt to seize the reins and stop the animal, but the horse swerved sharply, causing the carriage to overturn. Mr. Edwin Boxall was thrown from the vehicle and sustained injuries to the neck and head, which made his recovery almost hopeless from the first. The seriousness of the accident naturally caused great grief to Mr. W. P. G. Boxall. Medical and other assistance was obtained without delay, and Sir Charles Boxall, K.C.B., and Baron Boxall, were advised of the lamentable accident. All three nephews were present yesterday at the inquest, which was conducted at the residence, Coombe Croft, by Mr. W. F. Butler, coroner for West Sussex. Mr. W. P. G. Boxall stated that the horse had the character of a particularly quiet animal. Mr. F. Lewis, medical practitioner detailed the injuries received, the most serious of which was a fracture of the base of the skull. The deceased gentleman never regained consciousness, and passed away about seven o'clock yesterday morning. The jury returned a verdict of "accidental death," and conveyed their sympathy to the family.

Referring to the funeral, the News has the following:

The remains of Mr. Edwin Boxall, whose death as the result of an accident at Henfield, excited widespread sympathy among those who had known him, whether in his professional career as a solicitor at Brighton, or as a resident of Henfield, were laid to rest in the old Hove churchyard yesterday afternoon. The body was brought by road from Henfield, the mourners accompanying it being Mr Gratwicke Boxall, K. C., Sir Charles Gervaise Boxall, K.C.B., and Baron Boxall, nephews; Mr. W. P. G. Boxall, jr., Mr. Caryl Boxall, Mr. E. H. Kempe, partner of the deceased gentleman, Sir Berry Cusack Smith, Dr. Lewis, Henfield, and the Rev. W. Wakeford, vicar of Henfield. Inside the gates of the churchyard many representative members of the legal profession, and other townsmen, had assembled to pay a last tribute of respect. Among these were:

Alderman W. Botting, J. P., Mr. W. H. Blaber, Mr. W. H. Cockburn, Colonel C. Somers Clarke, Mr. Rashleigh Gray, Mr. T. P. Harker, Mr. Frederick I. Jones, Mr. A. H. Lainson, Mr. C. N. T. Jefferies, representing Mr. Hugo Talbot, town clerk; Mr. J. Martin, J. P., Lieut.-Col. Cecil Parsons, Major E. J. Reeves, Mr. A. Rollings, representing Messrs. Holmes and Johnson; Mr. J. Roe, Mr. H. Welsford Smithers, J. P., Mr. T. Simpson, Dr. Sherrard, Bloomsbury-place, Brighton; Mr. H. Montagu Williams, President of the Sussex Law Society, and Mr. Westbrook, and Mr. Owen from the office of Messrs. Boxall and Kempe.

The body was carried into the church where the first part of the burial service was read by the Rev. W. Wakeford, who also completed the service at the graveside. The coffin bore the inscription "Edwin Boxall, died July 29th, 1907, in his 82nd year." Many beautiful floral tributes were laid around the grave. They included the following

"With fondest love from his devoted wife; soon to meet again;" Sir Charles and Lady Boxall; Baroness Boxall; Mildred and Dorothy; Miss Caroline Percival Boxall; Sir Berry and Lady Cusack Smith; Dr and Sherrard; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Kempe; Mrs. Wickenden and family; Mrs. Carruthers; Mr. John Roe; Miss Holt; the office staff at 63, Ship street, Brighton.

Insure Against Serious Colds

Of the many forms of insurance probably that which protects you against the serious results of colds is the most valuable at this time of the year, when so many are becoming victims of la grippe and pneumonia. License Department To Institute Investigation

The Case of Selling Liquor to Indians at Burleigh Will be Taken Up by That Deprrtment.

NO REPORT MADE YET

A Toronto despatch says: — The Provincial License Department will make a thorough investigation into the reports of the disturbance on the steamer Esturion on Stony Lake on August 13, when, it is alleged, a party of about two dozen Indians became drunk and terrified all the passengers. Mr. Eudo Saunders, Chief of the license branch at the Parliament buildings, has already received a number of complaints from some of the passengers on the boat, which was plying from Stony Lake to Buckhorn. Among those on board were a Police Magistrate and County Crown Attorney Wood. It is thought the Indians obtained the liquor near Burleigh, where a stop was made. In the complaints it is stated that a missionary named Potter fought singlehanded with the drunken Indians and succeeded in knocking several of tehm out. The place where the offence occurred is in the riding of East Peterborough, but so far no report has been received from the License Inspector in charge there.

The punishment for selling liquor to the redmen is a fine from $50 to $300 and from one to six months imprisonment.

SNOWDEN HOUSE REPORTED SOLD TO A LONDON MAN

A rumour was circulated to-day that the Snowden House has changed ownership. Mr. Wm. Snowden, the present proprietor, could not be seen this afternoon to confirm the rumour, but it was learned from other sources that the house had been sold to Mr. D. Fraser of London. It is known that Mr. Fraser has been here for some time negotiating with Mr. Snowden, and it is believed that the change will be consummated some time to-day, if it has not already taken place.

Mr. Fraser is quite a young man with a number of years' experience in the hotel business. His father, it is learned, owns a large house in London which he has managed for some years. His brother is the proprietor of another in Brantford.

The Salvation Army Band Home From 10 Days' Tour

Report a Very Successful Trip to Neighbouring Towns—A Great Reception at Tweed.

WELCOME HOME TO-NIGHT

The tour of the Salvation Army band concluded with last night's concert at Tweed, and this morning the members arrived back to the city on the early C. P. R. train. The band has been greatly delighted with the trip and intends extending it to two weeks next year when it will probably tour through the Ottawa Valley.

After giving a concert in Campbellford the band went to Napanee on Friday. Although the day was rainy and the weather a hindrance to a large crowd, the barracks at Napanee were well filled by an enthusiastic audience. From Napanee the band went by private car to Tweed, where on Saturday night and twice on Sunday the opera house was overflowed. Extra seats had to be brought in to accommodate the three audiences which greeted the band on these occasions. Financially, too, the concerts were great successes, the opera house managers stating that no previous organization had taken in more money. The band speaks in the highest terms of its treatment at Tweed, and their welcome there was certainly a warm one.

To-night a welcome home concert will be held in the barracks, beginning at eight o'clock, when between 700 and 800 people are expected.

Former Local Couple Will Celebrate In New York

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rackett, Fifty Years Married on August 29th —Led the 57th Band at One Time.

BRIEF HISTORY OF LIFE

In the early sixties the band of the 57th Regiment was led by Mr. A. H. Rackett, and among the older portion of the community there will be many persons interested in learning that Mr. and Mrs. Rackett, who are now living in New York will celebrate their golden wedding in a short time. During the time that the late Lt.-Col. Poole was in command of the regiment Mr. Rackett was in charge of the band and resided here for a number of years, his family, many of whom have since become famous on the stage receiving their early education in the schools of the city. The personnel of the band has, of course, changed since the time it was led by Mr. Rackett, but there are in the city several musicians who were members of that organization at the time that he was the bandmaster. After leaving Peterborough Mr. Rackett went to Kingston, leading the band in connection with the Royal School of Gunnery.

Referring to his approaching golden wedding the New York Clipper of recent date says:—

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rackett will celebrate their golden wedding on Aug. 29. They had a family of six sons and five daughters, but one son and two daughters are dead. Mr. Rackett was a Canadian bandmaster in the '60's, an original member of Carncross & Dixey's Minstrels (cornet soloist), at the Eleventh Street Opera House, Philadelphia; bandmaster A Battery, Royal School of Gunnery, Kingston, Ont., Canada, from 1872 to 1880. He was father of the Rackett Family Orchestra and Band (Sextette.) They were, season of 1882, orchestra of the Twelve Jolly Bachelors' Opera Co., and orchestra of different theatres up to the year 1889, in the following cities: Quincy, Ill.; Wheeling, W. Va.; New Orleans, La.; Louisville, Ky.; Cincinnati, O.; Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Rackett is the father of the Three Rackett Bros., Rackett and Hazard, the Lemoines, and Two Racketts. He is a veteran of the Crimean War, with two medals won in the same.

Mr. Halpany will spend some time in Peterborough now and will work in connection with Court Peterborough. At the last meeting of that court six applications for membership were received.

FITZ THE STAR OF THE GAME

Local Boy Distinguished Himself on the Diamond at Spencefort

The members of the old T.A.S. team of the Kawartha League team seem to be distinguishing themselves. A Rochester paper has the following to say about "Ned" Fitzgerald, a local boy, now in Spencerport, N.Y.:

"Before the biggest crowd of the season, Craw let the Rochester Y. M. C. A. team down with three hits to-day. The locals knocked Honan out of the box in the fifth. Fitzpatrick's steal of home was a feature."

"Fitz," who played second base for Spencerport, made two runs and two hits, one of them a two bagger, and fielded perfectly.

On Thursday morning at 11 o'clock Mr. W. H. Darcy of the Burleigh Falls Hotel will appear before County Magistrate Edmison here, on a charge of selling liquor to the Indians who raised such a disturbance on the steamer Esturion last Monday.

When that case has been disposed of the five Indians will be tried for disorderly conduct on the same occasion. Three of the redmen are now lodged in the county jail, and Constable Archie Moore went to Chemong to-day for the other two.

The trial promises to be an interesting one as several prominent local men will be called as witnesses.

The Magistrate has altogether 11 informations to dispose of during the next week, which promises to be one of the busiest in many years.

The East End Regatta Is Now An Assured Success

A Splendid Programme for the First Aquatic Sports Under Auspices of New Association.

SOME VALUABLE PRIZES

The first regatta to be held under the auspices of the cottagers of the east end of Stony Lake on Thursday, next, promises to be an event of more than usual interest. Rev. F. D. Roxborough, of Smithville, the chairman of the Regatta Committee was in the city to-day making final arrangements and purchasing the prizes which are valuable. For the yacht race Mr. John Finlay has donated a silver cup, of considerable value, and this event will, no doubt attract a large entry. For the dinghy race Mr. John Davidson will give a silk pennant, and for canoe races medals are being given by Mr. Alex. Gibson and Mr. H. LeBrun, the former being for the open canoe sailing and the latter for paddling. Other races on the programme are ladies' skiff, men's skiff, ladies' tandem canoe, ladies' and gentlemen's tandem canoe, men's boys' and girls' swimming races, upset, tug-o'-war, crab, tilting and boys tandem skiff.

The prizes will be presented at the new pavilion at night when a masquerade ball will be held. The course, over which the races will be sailed is one of the best on the lakes. The banks which slope gradually from the water afford an opportunity for fully three thousand persons to see the races in comfort.

Arrangements have been made with the steamers and special trips will be made to Burleigh and other points on the lake, leaving Crowe's Landing at six o'clock. Prof. Harcy Ford, of Washington, D.C., is the secretary of the Regatta Committee, and he, with the other officers and members of the committee is working energetically for the success of the event, which now seems assured.

During his stay in the city Mr. Edwards inspected the telephone system installed by the Machine Company and picked up some pointers in connection with telephone matters which will no doubt be beneficial to him in his administration of his department. The fact that Edmonton is at present installing a system of automatic phones of the Lorimer system, Mr. Edwards' visit of special interest and significance.

FOOLED TREASURY OFFICIALS

Secured Order For 65,655 Roubles—Got Money From Bank — 'Phoned For Conveyance Privates—Made Off With the Larger Part of the Cash While the Soldiers Guarded the Silver.

New York, Aug. 19.—The Sun correspondent at St. Petersburg sends the following cable despatch: The fame of the cobbler of Koopenick seems to have penetrated as far away as Harbin, Manchuria. A few days ago a man in an officer's uniform presented himself, armed with power of attorney, at the treasury of the Trans-Amur division and demanded 65,655 roubles, the estimated expenditure of the First Brigade for the month.

The papers were in perfect order and the supposed officer received a check on the Russo-Chinese Bank for the amount, which was duly paid. Part of the money was counted out in silver coin, which seemed to annoy the officer, but as the bank had a legal right to make part of its payments in silver he consented grumblingly to take the heavy stuff, but telephoned for a convoy of three privates, who escorted him to the railway station.

There the supposed officer ordered the men to stand guard over the bags of silver and left, carrying off the rest of the money himself. The guard kept watch for 24 hours without any relief coming and would probably still be there had not the garrison commander made inquiries from the staff of the First Brigade, where nothing was known about the officer, his mission or the money.

DRUNKARD'S DARING STUNT.

Pranced on Cornice of Hospital Building Three Storeys High.

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 19.—An intoxicated man named George E. Wood pranced about on the cornice of the Misericordia Hospital, three storeys from the ground, while in a state of drunken frenzy. Wood has been under treatment in the hospital for quinsy, and having sufficiently recovered to go down town, was permitted to do so. While out of the hospital he imbibed too freely of intoxicants and returned to the infirmary the worse of liquor. He retired to bed peacefully enough, but soon panted for air and freedom. Going out on the cornice he paraded in brief costume like a sentinel on watch until he finally decided to orate to an imaginary crowd below from the vantage position of the tower on the corner of the building.

All attempts to induce him to return to the hospital from his perilous position were vain till a bottle of whiskey was procured. When this was exhibited to his view he immediately retraced his steps, and when once inside was confined to the building till his senses were restored. The occurrence is remarkable, because it would be difficult for an experienced acrobat to make the same trip when sober that Wood did when under the influence of booze.

PAID OUT TOO MUCH.

Bank Teller's Mistake Leads to Arrest of an Italian.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—The teller of the Bank of Montreal here paid out $500 too much one day last week, and as a result Sim Patrakos, a Greek, is under arrest, charged with having obtained the money. Patrakos presented a check for six hundred and fifty dollars, signed by M. J. Neville, local druggist. On discovery that the cash was five hundred short, Teller W. J. Rapsey claims that he positively remembered that he gave Patrakos ten one hundred dollar bills and thirty fives, thinking that he was giving him fifties instead of hundreds. Patrakos denied that he had the extra money, and the bank placed him under arrest. Saturday in court Patrakos pleaded not guilty, and was remanded for eight days.

Suicide at the Falls.

Niagara Falls, Aug. 19.—When Edward Brennan and Frank Thom were walking along the river in Prospect Park, opposite the foot of Falls street they saw a man sitting on the rocks close to the edge of the water. When they spoke to him he jumped up, glanced around and then plunged into the rapids and was swept over the Falls. Peter Landrigan of No. 470 Eighth street, a foreman in the Niagara Folding Box Co.'s factory, is missing, and it is believed the suicide was he.

Englishman Drowned.

Rosseau, Aug. 19.—William Lovell, one of the crew of the Muskoka Lakes Navigation Co.'s steamer Nipissing, while canoeing near here yesterday, was upset and drowned in about 40 feet of water. The body was recovered shortly afterward. Lovell was about 20 years of age, and lately out from England.

BALATA GUM SEIZED BY BRITISHERS

Alleged Invasion of Venezuela by British.

MAY LEAD TO COMPLICATION

Capt. Calder Said to Have Entered From British Guiana — Compelled Commissioner to Surrender Balata at the Point of Revolver — Retaliation Is Feared at British Headquarters.

Georgetown, British Guiana, Aug. 19.—Much excitement has been caused here by the invasion of Venezuelan territory by Capt. Calder, in command of a small frontier force from British Guiana, and the seizure of a quantity of balata (the gum of the bulet tree, used for insulating wires, etc., which, it is alleged, had been collected on British territory).

Capt. Calder's force went down the Barima and crossed the boundary into Venezuelan territory, where Capt. Calder, at the point of a revolver, demanded that the Venezuelan commissioner surrender to him 4,000 pounds of balata. The commissioner was unable to resist and gave up the gum. He had made a protest to President Castro and the British consul here against the seizure of the balata and the invasion of Venezuelan territory.

Fears are entertained of the retaliation at Morawhanna, the British frontier headquarters.

There has been much trouble over the balata trade for some time, and the British officials have made strong attempts to prevent illicit trading in the gum.

SHIPBUILDING LOCKOUT.

Strike of Calkers Precipitates Trouble In Allied Trades.

New York, Aug. 19.—The Sun has received the following cable despatch from London: Notices have been posted in all the northeastern shipyards ordering a lockout next Saturday. Twenty thousand members of the boilermakers' society and also the platers, riveters, calkers and unskilled laborers incidentally employed by them, in all approximately 50,000 men, are affected by this order, which has been issued by the Shipbuilders' Employers Association and is posted in the shipyards at Barrow, on the Tyne and on the Clyde, in Belfast and other centres.

The notification is the result of a strike by the calkers in the yards of the Armstrong-Whitworth Co. at Newcastle. They struck without notice in connection with a dispute relating to apprentices doing man's work. The boilermakers' society made the situation worse by refusng to order the Armstrong-Whitworth calkers to return to work.

Barrow-in-Furness, Eng., Aug. 19.—By order of the Employers' Federation 1,200 boilermakers were locked out of the shipyards of Vickers, Sons & Maxim Saturday morning, owing to the strike of calkers on the east coast.

$30,000 BLAZE AT DASHWOOD.

Whole Block Destroyed—Several Had Narrow Escape.

Exeter, Aug. 19.—A bad $30,000 fire at Dashwood, broke out about 11 o'clock Saturday night. Fire was discovered in the Hartleib brick block of three storeys, occupied by the general store of William Schrumms, and in a short time the whole block, a frame store and stable were in ruins.

Some persons barely escaped in their night clothes. The cause of the fire is unknown. The loss is partly covered by insurance. No. 1 fire engine of Exeter was sent to their relief, but the fire was under control when it arrived. There is no water supply at Dashwood.

Don't Fear Spread.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Five cases of bubonic plague, four of which have resulted in death, have been reported to the health department within the last week. The patients with one exception were of the poorer class of foreigners dwelling in the neighborhood of Chinatown.

The exception was a foreign sailor from a coastwise steamer. Prompt repressive measures were taken by city, state and federal officers, and a spread of the disease is not feared.

The infested steamer was ordered into quarantine with her passengers, and will remain secluded until released by the health department. The two shacks inhabited by the other patients were fumigated, locked up and sealed. The bodies of two Mexicans, an Italian and a Russian Pole, who succumbed, were destroyed in quick lime.

Wede Light Opera Singer.

London, Aug. 19.—According to a published announcement, Capt. Hon. John Reginald Lopes Yarde-Buller, heir of Lord Churston, is married to Miss Denise Orme, an actress, prominent as a singer in light opera. The marriage is said to have taken place on April 24 last.

DYNAMITE IN THIS CONFLAGATION

Serious Explosion During Blaze at Kingston, N.Y.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $200,000

Thousands of Lives Endangered—Fortunately Nobody Was Hurt — The Freight Office, Sheds and Forty Cars Destroyed—The Shock Was Felt From One End of the City to the Other.

Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The explosion of a car of dynamite endangered the lives of thousands of persons who were watching a fire here Saturday night, which destroyed the West Shore Railroad freight office, sheds and forty cars, causing a loss of over $200,000.

The shock of the explosion was felt from one end of the town to the other and windows were shattered within a radius of several blocks. The dynamite was enclosed in cases, most of which exploded separately, and to this is largely due, the firemen say, the escape of the spectators from serious injury.

So far as known, beyond a few bruises, no one was hurt.

Many of the cars contained oil, which, together with the frame sheds and the inflammable nature of the freight cars, made the fire unusually stubborn. It was four hours before the entire fire fighting force of Kingston, 15 companies, could subdue the blaze. During this time, all passenger and freight traffic was held up.

CONVICT'S PATHETIC APPEAL.

Hon. J. Bureau Promises to See What Can Be Done.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—"You are Minister of Justice. I know you are. You can do anything you want for me. Just fix a limit to my imprisonment, so that I can look forward to its end and know that I can die in liberty."

This pathetic appeal was made to Hon. Jacques Bureau, Solicitor-General, while he was making an official inspection of the cells of St. Vincent De Paul Penitentiary.

The man who spoke the words was ex-Constable Cowes of Quebec, who was condemned to imprisonment for life for having killed his wife during the winter of 1903.

The Solicitor-General was evidently touched by the appeal, for he turned to Warden Beauchamp and enquired as to the manner in which the convict had conducted himself since his arrival in the prison. The answer was to the effect that the prisoner's conduct has been ideal.

"We will see then," said the Solicitor-General, turning to the convict, "if something can be done for you."

SCHOONER MAY BE LOST.

"Fleetwing" of Belleville Missing For Some Time.

Belleville, Aug. 19.—It is believed here that the schooner Fleetwing, which is owned in this city, has met with some mishap on Lake Ontario. Three of her crew are Belleville men, namely, Captain Clark Taylor, William Babcock and John Gibson.

The Fleetwing left Charlotte Aug. 6, laden with coal for South Bay, and has not been heard of since, though it is rumored that on Aug. 13 she was seen on the lower part of the lake under full canvass. There was a very heavy blow that night, and it is feared that, during the storm, the schooner either went ashore or foundered.

The Fleetwing is an old boat. Mrs. Clark Taylor, wife of the captain, is making every effort to find the whereabouts of the vessel, but so far without success.

Military Returns.

Kingston, Aug. 19.—The members of "A" battery are home from Petawawa camp. They arrived by a special train Saturday. The men are well tanned from their outing, and, although the camp has been most profitable and also a very healthy one, they are very glad to get back to the city.

The horses are in fine condition, far better than on their return from the camp a year ago. It is stated that the facilities for the camp this year were far better than last, and taking it altogether, the camp has been one of the best ever held at Petawawa.

WAR BUDGET LIMITATION.

dified British Proposition Adopted at The Hague.

The Hague, Aug. 19.—The Peace Conference Saturday afternoon held its fourth plenary session, which has been termed "the funeral of the limitation of armaments question."

The following resolution, proposed by Sir Edward Fry, was unanimously adopted:

"This conference confirms the resolution adopted by the conference of 1899 regarding the limitation of military burdens, and as military burdens have been considerably augmented in almost all countries since 1899 it declares it is highly desirable to see the Governments earnestly resume the study of this question."

When the resolution was put it was received with a good salvo of handclapping, especially from the Chinese delegates and those from some of the younger republics.

Sir Edward Fry, the head of the British delegation, in a speech proposing the resolution pointed out that the expenditure of European countries and the United States, excluding Turkey and Montenegro, for armies and navies had increased from £251,000,000 sterling in 1899 to £320,000,000 sterling in 1906. Lamenting this fact, he said: "Such is Christian peace in the civilized world in the twentieth century."

It is moderately clear now that the conference is practically at a deadlock. The projected convention for arranging that five years hence the signatory powers should draw up a program to be dealt with by the next conference in 1914 has been abandoned.

The question, therefore, remains open, and affords fresh evidence that the practical sense of the conference has no trust whatever in the present institution. Many hope that if there is another assembly it will be held without the assistance of any naval or military delegates, that it be definitely an international law conference based on the principles of arbitration. They point out that resolutions on armaments, a side question, and the conduct of warfare are so utterly platitudinous as to prove the uselessness of the military element, which has naturally put its professional faith in its own arms above any shadowy restraints that can be accepted here even as international law.

POWER TANK EXPLODES.

Two Killed and Five Injured on River Motor Boat.

Tiverton, R. I., Aug. 19.—A gasoline tank in a motor-boat in the Seaconnet River exploded last night, causing the death of two persons and serious injuries to five others. The boat was a 30-footer, owned by Joseph Chouinard of Fall River, and contained 14 young people who had been on a trip to Newport from Fall River and had stopped at Tiverton on their return.

The Dead.

George Antuys, 18 years of age.
Lydie Mercier, 17 years of age.

Seriously injured are: Joseph Chouinard, aged 20, badly burned about the head and arms; Joseph Bernier, Rose Durand, Marie Moreau and Albertina Durand, all suffering from severe burns.

Ambulances were summoned from Fall River to convey the injured to the hospital in that city.

KABYLES CAUSE ANXIETY.

Show Signs of Restlessness and May Give More Trubla.

Paris, Aug. 19.—Special despatches from Tangier say the inhabitants of Fez believe that the Kabyles tribesmen have been victorious at Casablanca, and that the Government is encouraging this belief in order to control the bandits.

The tribesmen in the more remote regions seemed better informed as to the true situation, and are giving anxiety because of their restlessness.

One tribe has thrown off the Sultan's authority and driven out the district governor. Two French postal couriers have been killed between Rabat and Fez and their letters destroyed.

Mill at Dundalk Burns.

Dundalk, Aug. 19.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning Dundalk citizens were awakened by the alarm of fire, when it was discovered the planing mill owned and operated by George Wood & Son was on fire. The flames had made such headway that none of the valuable machinery or other contents could be saved, and the efforts of the fire brigade were directed towards saving adjoined buildings.

In this they were successful. Wood & Son's loss on building, machinery and lumber will be about $6,000, insurance $1,000.

Brakeman Killed.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 19.—John Parker, aged 30, unmarried, a Michigan Central Railway transfer brakeman, while stepping from the top of one car to another when the train was in motion, fell between the cars in Montrose yards and had both legs badly crushed and his spine injured. The man was taken to the General Hospital, where he succumbed to his injuries.

Two Forts Threatened.

Toulon, Aug. 19.—Great forest fires are blazing on all sides of this place and two forts are threatened. Troops are making desperate efforts to control the fire, but thus far with little result owing to a high wind.

Plague In Manchuria.

Harbin, Manchuria, Aug. 19.—The bubonic plague has broken out in South Manchuria and 16 deaths have been reported. Travelers proceeding into North Manchuria are being medically examined at Kangchingtzu.

REBATES TO LARGE FIRMS.

Freight Manager Denies Preference Before Beef Commission.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—On Saturday afternoon the Beef Commission sat for the purpose of hearing Mr. Moncrieff's decision with regard to divulging the name of the anonymous writer of a letter in The Tribune newspaper.

A. J. Andrews, B. L., by whom Mr. Moncrieff had been consulted, stated that he had not had time to advise his client whether to answer the question or not, and asked for an adjournment until Tuesday. He also wished to address the commissioners.

On advice of their counsel, Mr. Haggart, the commissioners denied counsel had any locus standi and should not be heard. Mr. Moncrieff then stated that he could not answer until his lawyer had advised him, and he was given until Tuesday morning to finally decide.

F. W. Peters, assistant freight manager of the western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, gave evidence as to the charges made to shippers by his company. He denied most emphatically there was any preference shown to large shippers, over what was extended to the small men. He denied there were any rebates allowed to big firms and also said there were the same facilities for small as for large consignments. Stock was never delayed in transit where it could possibly be avoided.

AUTOMOBILE AND TRAIN.

Collision Cost Three Lives — Whole Family Nearly Wiped Out.

Great Barrington, Mass., Aug. 19.—A large automobile containing a party of five persons from Bristol, Conn., collided with the New York-Pittsfield express at Ashley Falls crossing, six miles south of this village, yesterday, with the result that three of the motoring party are dead and the other two are suffering from injuries which may prove fatal.

The Dead.

Charles J. Root, an automobile manufacturer of Bristol, instantly killed.

Mrs. Root, his mother, who died from her injuries while being removed to Pittafield by train.

Miss Roberts, sister of Mrs. Root, instantly killed.

The Injured.

Miss Mary Root, daughter of Chas. J. Root, removed by train to the hospital at Pittafield, where her condition was reported as critical.

Miss Katherine Root, aged 14, niece of Mrs. Root, brought to Great Barrington in an unconscious condition, with severe bruises and cuts about her face and body, and internal injuries of an uncertain nature.

FIRE ON STEAMER "UTICA."

Russian Sailor Burned to Death—Others Badly Injured.

Buffalo, Aug. 19.—Five men were trapped in the forward hold of the steamer Utica Saturday evening and frightfully burned. The fire started from an explosion.

John Roman, a Russian, was taken out of the hold dead.

Others burned were:

Michael Reilly, foreman, fatally burned.

Ignaiz Wozeniak, fatally burned.

Thomas Mahany, face and hands terribly burned.

Following a puff of flame which shot through a hatchway Mahany came scrambling up from below. His clothing was a mass of flames. He jumped into the harbor and was fished out by the freight handlers. The other four men were too far from the hatchway and could not get out at the first alarm. The freight hoisting tackle was lowered into the hold, and the crew on deck cried out to the imprisoned men to get hold of it. Reilly and Krieger succeeded in doing so and were hauled on deck.

Wozeniak and Roman were taken out after the compartment had been flooded with water.

Little Girl Killed.

Fort William, Aug. 19.—A little girl, 13 years old, named Masson, was instantly killed by a Canadian Northern switch engine in Westfort. She was playing on the tracks when the engine rounded a curve and struck her. The curve at this point is very sharp and has no protection or any kind of signal. A coroner's jury is making an investigation.

Committed for Bigamy.

Guelph, Aug. 19.—In the Police Court Saturday David Cook, the alleged bigamist of Drayton, appeared before Magistrate Saunders on a charge of perjury preferred by Crown Attorney Peterson.

Cook was first arrested on a charge of bigamy, but this is being held over in the hope of hearing of his first wife, who, he says, is dead, but who is believed to be living in Indiana. Cook also appeared on this charge Saturday morning before Magistrate Woodman of Drayton, but was remanded until to-day.

The charge of perjury arises out of the falsely sworn marriage license, which was issued in Elora and upon which he was married to a 17-year-old Barnardo Home girl. The statement by Cook was that he was 25 years of age, while he was really 38, and the girl was also younger than he swore. After the examination of some other witnesses Cook was committed for trial on the charge.

Another Monster Fine.

New York, Aug. 19.—The Sun has received the following cable despatch from its correspondent at Willemstad, Curacoa: A despatch from Caracas, Venezuela, says that in the case of the Government against the New York & Bermudez Co., which is charged with assisting the Matos revolution, the Court of First Instance has adjudged that the defendant pay 24,178,638 bolivars, about $5,000,000, in reimbursement of the expenses incurred by the Government in quelling the revolution, and also upward of 9,000,000 bolivars for other losses to the country from the revolution. The defendant will appeal.

Fight Among Sailors.

Quebec, Aug. 19.—There was a row yesterday morning amongst some of the crew belonging to the S. S. Empress of Britain, and one of the men, named Thomas Finerty, was so badly beaten that he is not expected to survive. He was removed in an ambulance to the Hotel Dieu Hospital. Arrests will be made this morning. The authorities are waiting for the ante-mortem deposition of the victim.

Child's Escape From Death.

London, Aug. 19.—Losing her balance, as she leaned over a screen in the window of the third storey of Mr. Gilmour's house on Adelaide street, Grace M. Ewen, seven years old, plunged head downwards and fell a distance of forty feet to the cement sidewalk below. She sustained a fractured leg and badly injured back. Her escape from instant death was little short of miraculous. Dr. John Wilson says she will recover.

Fire Spoils Game.

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 19.—Fire swept the amusement grounds at Steeplechase Island yesterday, causing $60,000 damage and creating something of a panic upon the 20,000 visitors. No one was seriously injured. Six structures were burned, including the grandstand and bleachers on the baseball diamond, where 8,000 persons had gathered for the Chicago-Bridgeport game. The greater part of the loss falls upon George C. Tilyou, proprietor of the amusement grounds, whose steeplechase park at Coney Island was burned a few weeks ago.

Aeronaut's Fatal Descent.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 19.—Theodore French, 20 years of age, an aeronaut, met instant death Saturday by falling upon the roof of a factory in West Haven, after a drop of 150 feet.

French was on the program to make a double parachute drop at Savon Rock, a nearby resort. The first drop was successful, but on the second the parachute failed to open. Several thousand people saw him drop to his death.

Faintly.

A Modern Fair

The Central Canada Exhibition directors are certainly up-to-date. It is no easy task to secure attractions that will please the many people who annually patronize Ottawa's big fair, and who have seen the finest that money could engage. Yet once again, the Directors have come to the fore with a novelty that will undoubtedly thrill and interest every visitor to the fair. This is the Knabenshue ship. Knabenshue has been secured to make daily flights, returning to the starting point, during the fair. It is understood that this attraction alone costs thousands of dollars, and no doubt, the patrons of the fair will appreciate the efforts of the Directors. The Exhibition dates are September 13th to 21st.

CARRICK TO TWIRL FOR COBOURG

Newark Twiler Will Do the Pitching —$400 Has Been Raised

GREAT GAME ON SATURDAY

The best and most exciting game of baseball ever seen in Peterborough will be played on Saturday afternoon next, when Cobourg and Peterborough will clash in a Midland League game at Riverside Park. Both teams need the win to tie with Port Hope for the championship, and a loss means down and out, so that the excitement will be at fever heat all the way during the melee. Rumour comes from Cobourg that "Slick" Mulhall's bunch will be strengthened by three or four recruits from the land of Uncle Sam, and one story has it that Carrick, the star twirler of the Newark Eastern League team, will be at the heaving station. It is certain, however, that their line-up will be a mystery until Saturday afternoon, and perhaps even after that. Peterborough will have on their strongest line-up, and the game will be worth going miles to see. It will be the piece de resistance of the baseball season, and the fan who does not see the game should quit doping the ball scores.

It is stated on good authority that Cobourg is circulating a subscription list for the purpose of getting a team to beat Peterborough, and that already $400 has been subscribed. It is the intention to win the championship, no matter what the cost. They will have to spend more than $400 to get a team to beat Peterborough on the form the locals have been showing lately.

A BASEBALL GAME ON THURSDAY

Lindsay's Senior Team Will be Here for a Game With the Local Nine That Afternoon

The shop-keepers and others who have to be at business on Saturday afternoons and who have not, as a result been able to see the Peterborough baseball team in the games this season will be glad to learn that for next Thursday a game has been arranged for their benefit. Manager Johnston has completed arrangements with the Lindsay senior team to play here that afternoon, and the Rosskins will come down with full determination to wipe out the defeat administered by the Peterborough team in Lindsay last week.

The game will be called at three o'clock, and it should be one of the best of the season.

PETERBOROUGH BOYS CLUNG TO AN OVERTURNED CANOE IN RICE LAKE FOR ALMOST NINETY MINUTES

While Waves Rolled Mountains High About Them—Young Clancy and Conroy Have Exciting Experience.

NEAR GORE'S LANDING

Persons on Shore Attracted by Boys' Cries Put Out to Their Rescue—A Narrow Escape From Death in Lake.

After hanging to a capsized canoe for an hour and a quarter in a half gale that swept across Rice Lake on Saturday night, two Peterborough men, Messrs. Conway and Clancey, were rescued when their strength was almost exhausted and hope of rescue gone. Had help been delayed a few more minutes a double drowning would have had to be recorded, instead of a very narrow escape.

The two men were paddling from Jubilee Point to Gore's Landing, and, although the lake was very rough, they managed to get as far as Black Island in safety. The wind grew worse, however, and suddenly, about 8 o'clock, the canoe was capsized, throwing the two men into the water. At first they felt little alarm. Both men managed to catch hold of the canoe and tried to swim to the south shore of the lake with it. Darkness had fallen by this time, and although the men shouted for help, their cries were apparently not audible to those who might have come to their rescue.

At last, people at Gore's Landing heard their cries, and the steamer Monarch put out to look for them, but it was not until after 9 o'clock that they were finally located and rescued in the nick of time from their dangerous predicament. The men could not have held on much longer. They were utterly exhausted by their battle with the waves in the darkness, and would undoubtedly have been drowned in a few minutes more.

WAS NORMAN FRAME HORSE-THIEF?

Belief in Port Hope That the Man Who Took Horse From Fraserville Farmer Was Also Forger

IDENTIFIED HIM AS THE MAN

Mr. Seabrook, the Fraserville man, whose loss of a horse and buggy was recorded in the Examiner a few days ago, probably owes to Norman Frame, the Toronto cheque forger, his loss. A Port Hope despatch today, says:

Mr. Seabrook, of Fraserville, who had his horse and rig stolen on Tuesday morning last, was in town on Saturday, informing Chief Bond, of the facts of the case. While working on Tuesday he broke one of the prongs of the scuffler and left by horse and rig for a blacksmith shop to have the prong repaired and forgot to return.

Mr. Seabrook gave Chief Bond a description of the man and the Chief is satisfied that it is Norman Frame, a smooth fellow who passed the worthless cheques on John Curtis, and J. B. White, and later escaped from the Cobourg jail. The description tallies exactly with that of Frame, and he told Mr. Seabrook about the same story as he gave Chief Bond when arrested here.

PETERBOROUGH MAN IN ROCHESTER

Mr. Daniel Belleghen Guest of Deputy Postmaster and Masons

The Rochester Times in a recent issue, referring to the visit to that city of a Peterborough gentleman, says: Daniel Belleghem, a furniture manufacturer, and a member of the Masonic fraternity, of Peterborough, Ont., was a guest yesterday of Deputy Post-Master Joseph Crane. Mr Belleghem is well known to Rochester members of the Craft, and spent several pleasant hours while here renewing old acquaintances at the Masonic Club.

UNPRECEDENTED TRAFFIC ON THE RAILWAYS; EXPRESS BUSINESS HEAVY

Nearly every night the C. P. R. midnight train is run in two sections. At the present time the express business done on this line, especially in fruit, is very heavy, and one section is made up largely of express cars and sleepers for Ottawa, the passenger traffic to the Capital lately having been more than usually heavy.

MOTHER FOUND SON BATHED IN BLOOD FROM BULLET WOUND

Startling Discovery Made by Manilla Family Returning From Church---Young Man, 25 Years of Age, Found Dead in the Stable

HELD A WARM REVOLVER IN HIS HAND

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, August 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Grant living near Manilla, were horrified on returning from church on Sunday to find their son, Andrew, a young man about 25 years of age, lying in the stable, bathed in his own blood. Near by was a revolver, still warm, with one discharged cartridge in its cylinder. The unfortunate young man was still breathing, but died before medical aid could reach him.

The victim of the fatality had but recently returned from Cobalt. The other members of the family had driven to church, leaving him alone. He was well known in the neighbourhood. Dr. Grant, of Beaverton, Dr. Grant, of Woodville, Mr. Dan Grant, reeve of Woodville, and Mr. Hugh Grant, farmer, of Lornsville, are uncles of the deceased.

That the revolver was accidentally discharged while Grant was cleaning it, is a theory advanced by many. The youth had no cares or worries that would be likely to lead to suicide. Much sympathy is felt for the family, and the whole neighbourhood is in gloom.

MANY NEW STYLES IN WINTER WEAR FROM THE FOREIGN MARTS

Mr. S. Dickson Hall, in Interesting Interview, Tells of the Predominating Decrees of Fashion for Fall Season.

WHAT THE TRIP REVEALED

Many New Creations — Some of the Distinctive Features Which Will Characterize the New Goods.

Mr. S. Dickson Hall who, with Mrs. Hall, recently returned from a trip to England, France and Germany, in which Mr. Hall did extensive buying for the store, of which he is one of the proprietors, gave the Examiner to-day an interesting interview, in the course of which he gave some valuable information in connecton with the new styles to be seen this season in ladies' wear.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall sailed from Quebec on the Empress of Ireland, and returned via New York on the big Baltic of the White Star Line, with a big cabin list, including many returning Americans.

The weather was splendid and everyone seemed to enjoy the trip, especially the day of the athletic games, which were very exciting. Among the events was an egg and spoon race, for ladies; a cigarette race, not for ladies; a thread and needle race, a potato race, a pillow fight, a tug of war, between married and single men, and swinging the monkey. There was also a three-legged race for ladies.

The prizes awarded were silver cups, belt buckles, ash trays, souvenir spoons, etc., which were presented by Mrs. Hall, the following day. The games took place on the upper promenade deck, and some of the events had 30 entries, and took two hours to decide.

After spending a few days in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Hall arrived home safely, much pleased with their trip. Mr. Hall says he has purchased a larger assortment of fine goods than have ever before been imported to this city.

Referring to his observations of the predominating features of the styles for this season, Mr. Hall stated that he had spent some weeks in such fashion centres as London West End, with its various functions, at Paris rendezvous such as the Bois de Boulogne, and other resorts, with a view of arening entertainments, where the beauty and wealth of that elysium of fashion were on parade, besides having had a careful survey of the creations in the salons and ateliers of the modistes, and costumiers on the Rue de la Paix, besides a somewhat lengthy stay in Berlin, Germany's capital, where was on show the newest of the new, from the hands of their own designers; and those of Vienna, styles that were in vogue in the time of Louis XV. are at the present time in favour. In hats, the champignon or mushroom shape, is a favourite, many of these in finest French felt, either in whole or part, are shown. Some are shown with brims of soft furry close shorn felt, with velvet crowns on wire frames, with garnitures which neatly cover the top, mounted high en panache or hussar plume style, very large double wings, long and wide at the base, with the lower portion bent up so as to form part of the brim, are a novelty. Smaller toques of felt or velvet, with a jaunty broad quill and a cabushon or two of velvet, with a large gold pin inserted, make a fitting finish for a costume.

Very large headed hatpins are in vogue, some of them real works of art, at prices corresponding to their size. Hats at 200 and 300 francs ($40 and $60) are quite common in Paris, with a latitude in price lower or as much higher as you dare to go. Some of them, not too many, of course, will be on show at Richard Hall and Sons, Limited, this autumn, and will be an education, if nothing else.

The colours shown mostly are brown, very dark purply tinted rose, mousse or moss green, copper, Copenhagen blue, and evequo or blaine's purple, each colour generally combined with lighter tint, to set it off by way of contrast.

Dress fabrics for street and visiting toilettes are largely in plain colours in fine faced goods, the tones following the same order as mentioned for millinery. Besides these are the fine goods in shadow checks, stripes and plaids, not the firmest colours of Tartans, but soft almost invisible blendings of great beauty. The variety of light fabrics for dress functions covers every imaginable creation in wool and silk and wool, enough, at any rate, to suit the taste of every person.

In other garments, some entirely new styles are shown and could not be procured unless by a personal visit to the manufacturers. Short jaunty coats for young ladies, and longer styles for their elders are shown in that fine silk and wool, and wool, greased cloth like fur, called carmoujel, in appearance like the fur called broadtail and paw, or flat limb. These are very new and very stylish.

The general run of outside wraps is in full lengths from 48 to 52 inch-

"SPOONING" IN CITY'S PARKS MUST STOP AT 10 O'CLOCK NOW

A complaint has been entered to the authorities and, if the action asked for, is taken, there will be a good many disappointed young men and women in the city.

It is claimed that there is altogether too much "spooning" in the city parks in the evenings, and a suggestion has been made that these pleeasure spots should be cleared at ten o'clock each night.

During the summer months it is claimed by those who live in the vicinity of the public parks, in the centre of the city, these parks are made the rendezvous for young people, who should be in their beds, at home. It is in behalf of these persons that the complaint is being made, and it is probable that the police will be given instructions to have the parks cleared at ten o'clock, a regulation which is in force in other cities, and which seems to have the desired effect.

CORDOVA RESIDENTS' RUDE AWAKENING FROM ROSY PIPE DREAMS

Gold Mines Not to be Re-opened After All—Repairs Being Made Preparatory to Selling to Power Company.

ESTABLISH POWER PLANT

Havelock People Who Bought Property in Cordova Likely to Drop Money On It — The Situation.

Special Correspondence.

Havelock, Aug. 20. The report that the Cordova gold mines would open up in the near future has caused considerable excitement and interest in town. Those who own property there are wearing a wide smile and a glad heart at the thought that it would once more be worth something. Men thought of purchasing property in the village so as to make on it when the price of property goes up, and it is reported that several capitalists in town have already invested in property there.

But, if the last report is true, these visions of future richness are over, and like on several occasions before, the report of the opening of the gold mines at Cordova is a fake.

It is, indeed, true that Contractor James Scott of town has a large gang of men at work at the falls at Deer River repairing the flume there, but, according to the statement of several reliable men at Cordova, no electricism has the contract for repairing the machinery at the mines, but that the company is repairing the flume in preparation to selling the plant to an electric company that is going to install two flumes, so as to get all the electric power possible out of it.

What the name of the company is what they intend doing with the power is yet unknown, and several suggestions have been made. One of these is that the Marmora Electric Company is about to purchase it. They already have electric power in Marmora, but it is produced by steam, whereas water power would make it much cheaper.

Until the truth is known, the citizens of Havelock and Cordova will anxiously wait.

Poor Outlook For Fruit And Vegetables In The Eastern Part Of County

Dry Weather and Heat Seem Responsible for an Unsatisfactory Condition of These Crops Near Havelock.

THE PROSPECT IS POOR

Special Correspondence.

Havelock, Aug. 20. — The warm weather with no rain to counteract the scorching rays of the sun is sure to play havoc with the crops in this vicinity. There was a short rain here on Friday, but the wind on Saturday dried it up before it did any good.

At first it was reported that the long black berries would be an excellent crop and it is quite likely the report would have been true had not been for the warm weather which dried them all up and made the crop very short. The only kind of berries that were a good crop around Havelock this year were the red raspberries which were very plentiful, but they are done now.

From all indication there will be no corn or tomatoes in this vicinity this year for on account of the dry weather, the green tomatoes are dropping off the vines and the corn is becoming dried up.

Oats and wheat in this neighbourhood are a very good crop, although the straw is very short.

Vegetables are a very good crop, considering the weather we have had. Potatoes are not very plentiful, the farmers complaining that though though they are a fair size there is not near as many in a hill as in other years.

Unless it rains within the next few days, the fruit and vegetable crop in this vicinity a sure to be a failure this year.

LIVERY BUSINESS IS NOT YET SOLD

The Report Circulated Yesterday Was Premature

A report was yesterday circulated that the McCollum Bros. had sold their livery business to Ald. R. H. Leary, but so far the deal has not been concluded. Mr. Bert McCollum and Mr. Leary have been negotiating for some days regarding the change but until all valuating has been done, which will occupy a couple of days at least, nothing definite can be stated regarding the sale.

Is Consistency A Rare Quality?

After presiding at a temperance meeting, and introducing the speaker with a denunciation of intemperance, an English church member went home and the next night offered a man who had been at the meeting the night before, a drink from a decanter on his sideboard. It was refused and an explanation was asked as to how he could perform the duties of chairman at a temperance meeting and reconcile his offer of a drink the next day, and his reply was, "Oh, I just keep this for my friends."

A lady who had met with some considerable success in lecturing on temperance in England, was conducting a meeting in which she extended an invitation to those in the audience to sign the pledge. Among those who came to the platform for that purpose was a chimney-sweep, who before he signed his name, asked this question, of the lady lecturer: "Do you drink wine?" The lady had to admit that she did, and her admission to this effect was met with the response, "So long as you take your wine I'll have my beer," and the pledge was not signed.

These incidents were among those recorded last night by Mr. Harry Dunford in an address on temperance in the Charlotte street Methodist church. In view of recent charges made from a local pulpit in respect to the alleged actions of church managers they are apropos.

They raise the question of consistency. Is it as rare as some of the events local, and otherwise, would almost lead one to believe?

Broomhall's Weekly Crop Summary Indicates Improves Conditions to Crops of World

WEATHER IS SATISFACTORY

(J. R. Heintz & Co. Special.)

Liverpool, Aug 20. — Broomhall's weekly summary on foreign crops says:—

United Kingdom—Fair progress is being made in the cutting of wheat in southern districts. The weather, however, is very unsettled.

France—The harvesting of wheat is about finished. Indications point to a good yield, with the quality fine.

Germany—The weather conditions show improvement. Fair progress is being made in early crops, although wheat is still uncut.

Hungary—An official report for the 15th of August places the yield of corn at 118,400,000 bushels. This indication is for a full crop. Last year the corn crop amounted to 176,000,000 bushels, and in 1905 to 104,800,000 bushels.

Bulgaria—According to a semi-official report, the crops of wheat will be fully 24,000,000 bushels less than last year. The corn crop is very irregular, but an average crop is looked for.

Russia—Occasional complaints are heard as a result of disappointing harvest returns for wheat. The outlook for corn is satisfactory.

Advances $50,000 For A Colonization Scheme

Senator Cox to Help Work of the Salvation Army to That Extent—Land in New Ontario.

IS CONSIDERING MATTER

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Evidence of the interest taken by Senator Cox in the general material prosperity and progress of the country is furnished today by his agreeing to advance $50,000 to the Salvation Army to make possible the prosecution of a vast colonization scheme. The land to be colonized lies in the clay belt in the districts of Nipissing and Algoma.

The report of a commission which recently surveyed the land is now being perused by Senator Cox, and upon his estimate of its contents depends the success of the present proposition.

This great colonization scheme, drawn up by the heads of the Salvation Army, has just been approved in principle by Gen Booth and Government officials, and it awaits the sanction of a joint commission of the Army and the Government to be carried into effect. Its features are these:—

The Government is to sell to the Salvation Army ten townships, comprising 230,000 acres in Northwest Ontario. The price is to be 25 cents per acre, payment to be spread over a period of ten years without interest. The Army to locate 144 settlers on every township, each farm being the usual sized homestead of 160 acres. Men experienced in clearing land for agricultural purposes, officials of the Army trained in settlement work, are to supervise the colony.

"Nothing is yet settled," said Senator Cox. "If the land and other matters, such as climatic conditions are satisfactory, the scheme will in all probability succeed. If the report, which I have not yet seen, is of an unsatisfactory nature, the Army will have to seek about for more suitable land."

"The plans of this scheme were submitted to General Booth during his recent tour in Canada." "Of course, the ultimate idea is that the settlers may acquire the land they have cultivated. It is one of the many meritorious things about the Salvation Army, this principle of theirs, to give every man a chance of doing something for himself in the new land of his adoption. It is the essence of this colonization scheme and its main object."

"The undertaking may, moreover, be considered a sound business proposition. If the present scheme is successful, no one can say how far similar efforts may go."

Senator Cox declines to give further details of the matter, reserving further information until a definite decision has been reached as to the suitability of the land under consideration.

PULPWOOD PROBLEM

In the discussion by the press of the matter of dealing with the pulpwood interests of Canada, there is a disposition to counsel rash measures, such as placing an export duty on pulp logs. It is well to go cautiously. The placing of an extra dollar of export duty on pine logs by the Government of Canada in the early sixties—on the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty, led to the United States, by way of reprisal, changing the ad valorum duty of $1.00 per thousand to a specific duty of $1.00 per thousand on all lumber irrespective of quality. The result was to seriously hamper the Canadian trade in coarse lumber and practically put an end to it. A result more or less indirect followed in the course of fifteen to eighteen years. The forest wealth of Michigan approached the point of depletion and the Michigan lumber men began the import of Ontario logs to supply their mills which would otherwise, from the failure of the local supply, be rendered useless. Then the Canadian export duty on logs was raised to $3 per thousand but as a result of international negotiations this was reduced to $2 per thousand the following year. Next an agreement was arrived at by which the United States reduced the import duty and later wiped it out entirely, making Canadian lumber free. This was in 1894. Three years later the Dingley tariff imposed a duty of $2 per thousand on Canadian lumber, with a proviso that to this should be added the amount of any export duty that Canada might impose. This country was thus placed in such a position that the imposition of an export duty would add to the handicap represented by the Dingley tariff. At this point the Ontario Governemnt took action, and provided a practical, if not intended, reprisal in the form of legislation forbidding the export of Ontario logs in an unmanufactured condition. This provision was subsequently made to include pulp wood and tan bark. Mr. Whitney, at the time the proposal in respect to pulp-wood was under consideration, opposed it—it would "destroy the industry in this country." It, however, has not done so, but has prevented the indiscriminate slaughter of pulp wood for export, which obtains in Quebec. In lieu of imposing an export duty on pulp wood, which would be clearly unwise, the Ontario provision might be extended to the Dominion at large. As the Ontario Government's action in the matter of saw logs led to the establishment of mills in Canada by Michigan lumbermen, so would a Dominion provision of the same kind in regard to pulpwood lead to the establishment of pulp and paper mills in Canada. The manufacturing industry in pulp has doubtless suffered in Ontario by the freedom of access by the United States to Quebec pulp wood. The good effect might be extended by providing, if deemed expedient, that not only should no pulp wood but no pulp, ground or chemical, be exported in an unfinished condition. This would stimulate the establishment of paper manufacturing, especially if it is true that the United States supply of pulp wood is about exhausted. Canada should get the largest possible advantage from the exploitation of her pulp wood and other natural resources, involving the employment of the greatest amount of home labour and domestic auxiliary industries.

seem to be able to beat the visiting British artillerymen, both on sea and land. The Canadians won handsomely at Petawawa, and at Halifax the team of the first Canadian Artillery won over the British team by a score of 87 points—617 to 530. The British, as they always do, lost like true sportsmen, and at a banquet, at which the above result was announced, Col. Wishart, of the beaten British, led the cheering for the victorious Canadian artillerymen.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Speaking at Halifax, Lord Strudbrooke, who accompanied the British artillery team, said that the motto of Canada should be "defence, not defiance," and that "the Dominion should put every ounce of her energies into the development of her resources. In this seems to be sound doctrine. Canada can best serve the Empire by being its granary — its commissariat department—and supplying the sinews of war represented by the elementary sustenance of the people at peace and the people at war.

The peaceful victory of the Canadian artillery team at Petawawa, and the tribute paid the shooting skill of the Canadians by Lord Strudbrooke, is of first rate interest. Speaking at Halifax, he said that no admiral would dare to bring his ships into Halifax Harbour—where the shooting took place — under the fire of the Canadian artillerists. Such a contribution to the defence of the Empire would be more valuable than cash contributions to Imperial defence. Under these circumstances, it looks as if the Dominion Government were justified in seizing — as the Whitewaites put it—Petawawa, on the grounds of its being necessary for the defence of the country.

THE SLANDERBUND

When Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper left office The Summerside (P.E.I.) Journal tells us he had to return to the practice of the law in order to make a living. "He had not grown rich in office," says The Journal, "but was probably poorer than when he entered politics." As Sir Hibbert entered Parliament when he was 27, it is not at all likely that he was very affluent when he entered politics. The Journal's statement can scarcely, therefore, be considered as much to the purpose. It goes on to say that this is in striking contrast to the case of some other gentlemen who have served as Ministers of the Crown. Yes, in striking contrast to his father, for instance, who did not have office per se. In formu at that sentence there is no intention of reflecting on the character of an aged servant of Canada who has earned in honourable retirement the right to be left out of political controversy.

But it is a concrete case which shows how mean and dastardly is the style of warfare which hint that persons unnamed have got rich in office, and that they have done so by robbing the public. "What is to be done," The Journal asks, "about the politicians, of whom Canada has quite a number, who rob the public treasury or public domain and go on unwhipt of justice?" The article continues with a column of references to "transgressors," "malefactors," "brazen rascals," and all the other mouth-filling and contumelious words calculated to stir the Conservative heart.

The misfortune is that, as no names are mentioned, the indignant reader is somewhat in doubt upon whom to wreak his indignation. If The Journal knows of malefactors who have robbed the public it should have the courage and manliness to say who they are. The fact is it catches up the rumour that some politician or politicians have grown rich while in office, and on the strength of such rumours allows itself the privilege of selecting all the hard names in the dictionary to cast at the nameless villians.

The Liberal Press used to say the same things of the elder Sir Charles. They credited him with wealth which at that day in Canada was miraculous, and then asked, "Where did he it?" The answer that every partisan gave imputed all sorts of public crimes to the rich politician. The Journal and those of its like are practising similar tactics on the other side to-day. It is a discreditable business. Sir Charles was probably not as wealthy as the excited politicians gave him credit of being. He was in office in a time of expansion. He had access to information, had speculative opportunities, and speculative courage. With that combination he made some money, and did not need to rob the treasury to do so. All experience shows us that the public man who does not possess the primary virtue of common honesty does not last very long. However, clever he may be, he resembles the pitcher which goes often to the well, but is broken at last. Not one tittle of evidence exists in support of the wild statements and obscure suspicions of The Journal and the other reckless sheets which indulge in similarly intemperate and unfounded insinuations. The fact is that for lack of a platform and principles the Conservative party, under the leadership of irresponsible journals, is fast becoming a mere slanderbund.—The Globe.

On account of the Belleville excursion over the Lift Lock to-morrow the regular weekly excursion of the steamer Otonabee to Stony Lake will be cancelled.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED

Many people who have suffered with catarrh for years, naturally think that they cannot be cured, and become discouraged.

The reason they have failed of cure is because they have not treated the disease with the local remedy, Hy-o-mei, which is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, so that its healing, medicated air, reaches the most remote air cells, kills all the catarrh germs, and restores the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, to a healthy condition.

Catarrh is really a local disease and to cure it it must be treated by a remedy which reaches every spot in the nose and throat, where the disease germs lay. Hy-o-mei does this and gives relief from the first day's use.

The Doctor's First Question

Almost the first question a doctor puts to his patient is in reference to the action of the bowels. By keeping the bowels regular you avoid the serious derangements of the liver and kidneys and can defy colds and contagious diseases. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ensure prompt movements of the bowels, and by their action on the liver thoroughly cure constipation.

Inspector's Resignation Was Offically Considered

Accepted by School Board at a Special Meeting Last Night— No Other Business Taken Up.

IS GOING TO LONDON

The Board of Education met in special session last night to deal exclusively with the resignation of Mr. Duncan Walker, Public School Inspector, who has recently accepted a position in the London Normal School. The resignation was read and accepted with reluctance, as the Board was greatly pleased with Mr. Walker's services while in the city's employ. The question of filling the vacancy was left in the hands of the Committee on Appointments, which was authorized to advertise.

Mr. Robt. Fair occupied the chairman's seat again last night for the first time since his journey to the old lands.

Those present were Chairman Robt. Fair, and Messrs. W. H. Hill, Jno. Crame, W. S. Robinson, Wm. Pringle and Dr. Burnham.

Before beginning the business, Chairman R. Fair thanked the members of the Board for the leave of absence they had tendered him. He referred to his trip briefly, and expressed his pleasure at getting back to Peterborough again. He thanked Dr. Burnham for the manner in which he ably filled the position of chairman during his absence, and regretted that the Board was called upon to deal with the question of the resignation of the Inspector.

Acting Secretary Mr. Morphet then read Mr. Walker's resignation, as follows:—

Chatham, August 5, 1907.
The Chairman and Members,
Board of Education,
Peterborough,
Gentlemen,—

As you are aware, I have been offered an appointment in the Provincial Normal School at London, and, owing to the many opportunities which it affords, I have decided to accept it, and to tender my resignation as inspector of your Public Schools.

In taking this course, I have to thank you most heartily for the many favours you have conferred upon me during my ten years in your service, and I can assure you that it is with the greatest reluctance that I now sever my relations, which have ever been so cordial.

I shall be in Peterborough in a few days, and hope to be able to be with you to make arrangements for the opening of your school in September. Believe me,

Sincerely yours,
DUNCAN WALKER.

Mr. Hill, in referring to the resignation, expressed his regrets at losing one of the most able, industrious and capable officials the Board of Education ever had in their employ, and he hoped that the Board would be able to secure one just as competent.

Mr. Hill moved, and Dr. Burnham seconded, that Mr. Walker's resignation be accepted, and that a suitable testimonial be prepared and presented to him before his departure.—Carried

Dr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Hill, that the question of appointing a successor be left in the hands of the Committee on Appointments, with authority to advertise for applicants, and that the initial salary be $1,500.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

J. J. Turner & Sons Will Fly It From Their Exhibit at the Toronto Exhibition

To-day, Messrs. J. J. and Reg. Turner left for Toronto to superintend the installation of the exhibit of J. J. Turner and Sons at the Exhibition. This firm's exhibit this year will be something entirely different from that of any other year. A flag, 20x40 feet, and the largest on the grounds, will be flying from the exhibit, which will also include a silk tent and a consumptive tent. A number of other tents for different firms will be erected, as usual.

BIGGEST EXCURSION OF THE SEASON

Holloway Street Methodists, Belleville, Will Bring 1,000 Persons to the City To-morrow to Go Over Lift Lock

To-morrow, the largest excursion of the year will come to the city. It will be under the auspices of the Holloway Street Methodist Sunday School of Belleville, and will, it is expected, number about 1000 persons. A special G.T.R. train will bring the visitors to the city, and upon their arrival here they will go over the lift lock, the steamer Otonabee having been chartered to run two trips, one in the morning after the train arrives, and the second in the afternoon. On this account, the regular weekly trip of this steamer to Stony Lake will be cancelled.

Nerves Gave Out, Almost in Despair

TWO SEVERE CASES OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION WITH WHICH DOCTORS COULD DO NOTHING CURED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Mr. Wm. Graham, Atwood, Ont., writes: "My wife had been ill for some time with nervous prostration, and we had two of the best doctors we could get, but neither of them did her any good. She gradually became worse and worse, could not sleep, and lost energy and interest in life. She was almost giving up in despair, when a friend advised a trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

"From the first box of this preparation my wife used we noticed an improvement, and after using six boxes she is completely cured, and as well as ever she was—eats well and sleeps well, and feels fully restored. I cannot say too much in praise of this valuable medicine, and am satisfied that my wife owes her life to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food." This cure is certified to by Mr. C. H. McFarlane, druggist, Atwood, Ont.

Mrs. Ald. Stevens, Burgessville, Oxford County, writes: "Two years ago last November I was run down, and did not know what was wrong. I could not sleep nor eat, and at last my nervous system gave way entirely, and I had to go to bed. The doctor told me I had nervous prostration, and, though he doctored me for some weeks, I did not get any better.

"I then began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the time I had used six boxes I was entirely cured. People remarked how well I looked, and I said, 'Yes, and I feel well, that is the best of it, and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did it.'"

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures diseases of the nerves in the only natural and effective way—by enriching the blood and creating new nerve force; 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—4

NOT HEREDITARY

Baldness Due to a Living Minute Germ

Many people, even unto the present day of grace, consider baldness due to hereditary influence.

Nothing is further from the truth. Baldness is caused by the onslaught of a minute organism which secretes itself beneath the scalp and attacks the roots of the hair, causing it to lose its life and fall out.

This organism cannot be got rid of except by the free and persevering use of Newbro's Herpicide.

No matter how badly the scalp is affected, the dandruff surely disappears and hair health is restored when Herpicide is applied.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury, Special Agents.

HEREDITY OF FEEBLE MINDED

A Terrible Force That is Acting Against the Well Being of Society of the Present and of the Future

A SERIOUS PROBLEM

A study of 803 families, selected because of feeble-mindedness, in one or more generations, has been made from records in the office of the Indiana Board of State Charities. These families consist of 3,048 members, of whom 1,664, or 55 per cent., are feeble minded. It has not been possible to learn the parentage of every one of these persons, but counting only those of whose parents we have some information, it was found that of 1,748, of 57.3 per cent., one or the other and frequently both of the parents were feeble minded, or afflicted with some related physical defect. Included in these 803 families are 312 families in which feeble-mindedness was found in two or more generations. In this group there are 1,643 individuals, of whom 57 per cent., are feeble-minded, and 60.6 per cent. are either mentally or physically defective. In the first generation, either the father or the mother, and frequently both, are feeble-minded. Their descendants in the second generation, including 59 men and women, who married into the families, and became parents of later generations, number 754, of whom 53, or 70.4 per cent., are defective. The entire number of descendants, extending into the fifth generation and including 76 men and women who married into the families is 1,019, and among them are 624 defectives. This indicates inherited defect in 61.2 per cent. of the descendants of these 312 feeble-minded parents. This record is doubtless nothing more than typical of what can be gathered by care in other states. It shows one of the most potential destructive factors in our civilization; one of the most terrible forces acting against society; a fact we have to face, a condition to meet, a power that must be kept under.—Charities and Commons.

OBITUARY.

MRS. SAMUEL PEARSON

Death called away yesterday afternoon after a two weeks' illness, Mrs. Harriet Pearson, wife of Mr. Samuel Pearson, 675 Bethune street, at the early age of 34 years. The deceased became ill two weeks ago with typhoid fever and was taken to the Nicholls Hospital. The disease had, however, too much advantage and she passed away yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The late Mrs. Pearson's maiden name was Harriet Pearson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Pearson, of Pearl avenue. She was born at Selwyn in Smith where she has a number of relatives. Also surviving her are two brothers, Messrs. Fred and Robert Pearson and four sisters, Mrs. Furber, and Misses Bella, Carrie and Ada, all residing at home, with their parents. The deceased was a prominent member of the George street Methodist church, where she will be greatly missed. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Bay's Cemetery in Smith.

THE BUSINESS MEN'S OUTING

Seventy-five Enjoy a Trip to Idyl Wyld— Low Water Makes Progress Slow

The outing of the business men of the city yesterday to Idyl Wild, was a complete success. About 75 gentlemen boarded the steamer Otonabee at two o'clock, and enjoyed a delightful trip down the river and across Rice Lake.

On arrival at the Island a programme of games was run off, and in the athletic contests the business men gave evidence that they still retained the skill of their youth in this respect.

Dinner was served at the hotel and was thoroughly enjoyed. The steamer left on her return trip about 6 o'clock, and the journey home was somewhat slow on account of the condition of the water, which is about six inches below its normal height. At the Yankee Bonnet a log became mixed with the wheels, and some delay was caused by this circumstance.

The trip, however, from first to last was a pleasant one, and was fully appreciated by those who participated in it.

MOTHER WOUNDED BY BABY

Swinging a stick at his play, the little son of Mrs. L. Webster, 519 Seigneur street, Montreal, struck his mother a blow over the eye, inflicting a nasty gash. Inflammation followed, and the wound looked very ugly, when a box of Zam-Buk was obtained. "The pain was soothed almost instantly the balm was put on," says Mrs. Webster, "and healing commenced. In four or five days the wound was closed, the inflammation gone, and there was only a faint red line showing where the gash had been. Even this mark is now gone. Zam-Buk is such a wonderful healer it should be in every home where there are children."

Zam-Buk is made from concentrated herbal essences, and suits the tenderest skin. Cures eruptions, heat spots, ulcers, ringworm, eczema, piles, chafed places, sore feet. It takes the pain from a sting or burn, cools sunburn patches, and makes red, rough skin smooth and velvety. Excellent for children's tender skin.

All stores and druggists, fifty cts. a box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Three for dollar twenty-five.

STEEL WORK FOR NEW BRIDGE HERE

Traffic Blocked on Charlotte Street for Few Days

The steel for the new bridge on Charlotte street arrived in the city last night, and to-day was placed beside the structure, in preparation for its installation. Traffic, except by means of the temporary sidewalk, has now been completely closed. The street cars have not passed over for a couple of days and it is probable their progress will be impeded for a few more. The steel came from the Hill Company, at Chatham.

PETERBOROUGH MORE TEMPERATE THAN THE CITIES IN OLD COUNTRY BUT CONDITIONS UNSATISFACTORY

"Pictures from Life," with Mr. Harry Dunford as the artist, was the feature of the meeting of the Epworth League of the Charlotte street Methodist church last night, and in his address Mr. Dunford presented some startlingly realistic pictures of life in cities of England, illustrative of the effects of indulgence in liquor. The meeting was under the auspices of the Temperance Committee of the League, and was attended by an unusually large number, a feature being the presence of a good crowd of young men.

In his experience of 21 years in the British navy, Mr. Dunford has been in a position to see much of the world, and in his address last night many incidents which have come under his notice, were recorded.

Incidentally, reference was made to the fact that in his opinion, Canada, as a whole, had not reached the state of degradation through intemperance that the Old Land had, and in Peterborough there were not the number of drunken men, in proportion to the population, that one would see in Bristol, his native city.

Mr. Dunford expressed his intention to fight intemperance in Canada as vigorously as he had done in England, where he was associated closely with temperance organizations, and at an immense mass meeting, attended by 10,000 people, had given an address, and seconded a resolution condemning the Conservative Government for the License Bill of 1904.

Last night's meeting was presided over by the pastor of the church.

Welcome Home Concert A Successful Event

Salvation Army Barracks Well Filled Last Night With An Appreciative Audience.

A DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

The Welcome Home Concert to the Salvation Army Band last night at the barracks was an enthusiastic event. The hall was well filled by an appreciative audience who apparently enjoyed to the fullest extent the various selections on the programme which was the same as that given while on their tour.

The chair was occupied by Brigadier Hargrave who accompanied the band on its eastern trip. The Brigadier in his opening and closing remarks spoke highly of the organization and referred to the great success it met with while away. Brigadier Wood of St. Louis, U.S.A., who is visiting here was called upon for an address and spoke in the highest terms of appreciation of the band. The music, he said, was of a rare character and he was glad to know that the Salvation Army Band of Peterborough had such a reputation. He returned, too, in complimentary terms to the good work the Army was doing here and hoped to hear of greater things in the future.

March, Prize March No. 2.
Vocal solo—Bandsman Pearson.
Instrumental Quartette, "Nearer to the Lord," By solo and first cornets, baritone and euphonium.
Selection, "The Old, Old Story."
Instrumental duet, Selected—Mandolin and guitar.
Trombone Solo, "The Cross is Not Greater then His Grace," Bandsman Mdynes.
Vocal Solo, "Your Money"—Bandsman Gandy.
March, "The Tredegar"—The latest march published by the Army.
Vocal Solo, "Get There" — Dept. Bandmaster Darling, (banjo accompaniment.)
Instrumental quintette, "He is Risen" — Two cornets and three trombones.
Selection, "Happy Day."
Song, full chorus, "History of the Band"—Bandmaster Greene.
Bible reading—Band Sergeant McDonald.
Selection, "The Old Times."
Doxology.

SIXTY BUSHELS OF OATS PER ACRE IN NORTH MONAGHAN

Sixty bushels to the acre for oats, and in a season when poor crops are the talk, is good farming. Mr. S. D. Carver of North Monaghan, is not worrying over the prospects for crops. He informed the Examiner that a few days ago he cut a field of oats and he was surprised at the really excellent yield. The straw was just a nice length, and the grain was heavy, going fully 60 bushels to the acre. In that section the blight reported from some parts of the country seems to be an unknown quantity, and the farmers are realizing that instead of the crops being below the average, as it was feared they would be at one time, harvest is revealing the fact that they were better than they were last year.

There has been practically no threshing this year yet, but the farmers are not looking forward to the threshing with any degree of alarm.

The Twin Cities As Seen By Peterborough Mayor

His Worship Returns From Attending the Convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities at Port Arthur.

GIVES HIS IMPRESSIONS

Mr. Mayor McWilliams returned on Sunday night, after attending the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, at Port Arthur, where he represented this city.

To an Examiner reporter, who saw him yesterday, the Mayor said that he had a very enjoyable and interesting trip, during which time he had acquired some valuable information.

Going to Manitoba he had taken the steamer Manitoba, of the C. P. R. Line, returning on the steamer Alberta, of the same line. On both trips beautiful weather was encountered on Lake Huron, while on Lake Superior the conditions were decidedly the reverse. In fact on the return trip from Port Arthur, to the Soo, the majority of the passengers were ill.

Cities are Prosperous

Speaking of Port Arthur and Fort William, the Mayor said that he had found both cities prosperous, and modern in a marked degree. "There has been a great deal of speculation in land," he remarked, "and a surprisingly large amount of western money is invested. The prices seem to be at top-notch now, and just at present speculation is very rife, owing to the tightness of money. In fact, all through the west, among travellers, is heard the cry that the suddenness with which the banks have shut down on lending money, has seriously impeded not only speculation, of which there is too much, but also the legitimate and natural business development.

Comparing the Twin Cities, the Mayor said, "In point of situation, and from a residential point of view, Port Arthur has advantages over its sister city, and its business capacity is very great, but it seems to be almost certain that the larger population will go to Fort William, because it has the advantage of being bounded by the Kaministiquia river, and is also the headquarters of the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Pacific, while Port Arthur has only the Canadian Northern.

Beautiful Scenery

A bluff angling through Port Arthur affords an ideal situation for residences, and I was considerably surprised at the large number of fine houses in the city. The outlook from the hills is a magnificent one. The harbour stretches for fifteen miles, to the entrance at Thunder Cape, with twenty-eight miles of shore line, while Thunder Cape, with its Sleeping Giant, and Mount McKay, add a grandeur to the scenery that can be rivalled by scarcely any place on this continent.

"The people of both cities are progressive and enterprising in a high degree, and are never backward in proclaiming the advantages of the Twin Cities. Advertisements gotten out by the two cities, and by the real estate men, are found in great plenty. The future of the city is principally one of transportation, and in this direction there seems to be almost no limit to their prosperity. That one day they will be united is accepted by all parties, although at present it seems to be the opinion in both places that the greatest prosperity can be attained by independence and competition.

"Both cities are most anxious to convince one of their great future as manufacturing centres, as well as in transportation, but with the exception of certain things, for which they have a peculiar advantage, they did not impress me with their future in this regard."

The Industries

The Mayor stated that two big iron works were their principal industries, and the delegates to the convention were taken on a trip to inspect these plants, and the development was found nothing short of marvellous. On another occasion a special train conveyed them to the Kakabeka Falls, the main source of power supply. The power at this point is being developed by Montreal people, associated with the Ogilvie Milling Company and the C. P. R., but it is not sold either to the company or to the city less than $35 per horse power.

The two cities are remarkable for the number of public utilities conducted as municipal enterprises, but the delegates did not get a good opportunity to judge of their advantages, owing to the fact that the day before their arrival a severe electrical storm interfered with the railway and telephone service. There is no question that they are paying a handsome profit to the municipalities, while at the same time there is a great reduction in the amount of taxes paid.

The Convention

Speaking of the convention itself, the Mayor said that almost every province in the Dominion was represented. Nearly every city of importance from Halifax on the east, to Edmonton on the west, had a delegate present. The three prairie provinces were very largely represented, the municipal spirit being at a high level there.

The session continued for three days and some interesting papers were read. Some of the most important were those on Municipal Ownership, by ex-Mayor Dyke of Fort William, Municipal Electric Supply by Mayor Scott of Ottawa, and Municipal Finance by Commissioner Kinhaid, of Edmonton. The latter was particularly interesting, because Edmonton is governed by two permanent commissioners and the Mayor.

The Convention yielded to the urgent request of the men from the West and will meet in Medicine Hat next year.

THE GAELIC LEAGUE IN SESSION

Interesting Annual Gathering in Dublin —Competition in Recitation and Story-Telling

Dublin, Aug. 17.—The great annual assembly of the Gaelic League met in Dublin early in August. Competitions in recitation and story-telling went on all day, and there is a very attractive arts and crafts exhibition at the Royal Hibernian Academy, of which a good feature is St Gaudens' statue of Parnell. The proceedings were opened by Douglas Hyde with a speech in Irish, in which he dwelt on the progress of Irish teaching in the schools. He said they now had six special colleges at work training teachers in Irish, 11 organizers and 80 travelling teachers. The Lord Lieutenant and Countess Aberdeen visited the assembly, and were cordially received.

REAL ESTATE DEAL COMPLETED

Snowden House Passed Into Hands of Mr. Donald Fraser of London Yesterday Evening

HE HAS TAKEN POSSESION

The rumour that the Snowden House, was disposed of yesterday to Mr. Donald Fraser of London, Ont., was well founded. Yesterday evening the change was consummated, and Mr. Fraser took possession at 6 o'clock. The new proprietor is well qualified to take charge of such a prominent public house as the Snowden House, having been connected with the hotel business in the Forest City for the past 22 years. He is quite a young man, and comes to Peterborough well recommended.

Mr. Fraser, in speaking to the Examiner this morning, stated that he intended to make some improvements in the near future to the house, but that he had not yet drawn up any plans, but they will have to be good ones to keep up the reputation of the house.

The Snowden House was built 16 years ago by Mr. William Snowden, the late proprietor. Mr. Snowden had previously to that time kept hotel on Simcoe street for a number of years, and he has been the only proprietor of the Snowden House since it was erected until yesterday.

Brockville Recorder Tells of Departure of Rev. Father Oliver Kelly from That Town for Peterborough Fifty Years Ago

WAS THE PARISH PRIEST

The Brockville Recorder, of Aug. 19th, published in its column "Fifty years ago" a paragraph which will be read with interest here. It refers to the departure from that town of Rev. Father Oliver Kelly, for Peterborough. Father Kelly was parish priest of St. Peter's, from 1857, fifty years ago, until the fall of 1870, when he left and was succeeded by Rev. Father Lynch. The Recorder, referring to his farewell to his Brockville parishioners says:—

On the occasion of his departure for Peterborough, Rev. Father Oliver Kelly was waited upon by a delegation of members of his congregation and citizens of the town and presented with an address and purse of gold. In his reply to the address Father Kelly said: "Those who are familiar with the discipline of the Roman Catholic Church are well aware that I could have no choice in my removal from Brockville, it entirely depending on the will of my superior, to whom I owe, in that respect, implicit obedience, but his authority cannot reach to or control the lasting affection I shall ever maintain for a town dear to me for so many serious considerations and cherished reminiscences."

Music and Drama

FAUST IS COMING

It will be welcome news to many theatre-goers in the city, the announcement that the famous play of Goethe's immortal "Faust," will be presented here on Saturday, Aug. 24th, matinee and night, at the Grand Opera House, by the Porter J. White Company. No play written in many years has retained such a hold on the hearts of the public. It has proved to be far better than the book, for while the play has steadily held its popularity, the book is now almost forgotten. It was revived in New York City last spring, and actually drew larger audiences than it did at the presentation of the original production years and years ago. This great play will continue to entertain as long as we have laughter to reward wit, tears for the sorrowful, and sympathy for the fallen. It is still as fresh as the newly minted coin and has the fizz of the sparkling champagne.

DURHAM COUNTY IS FAVOURED

Peterborough Man Says Crops There are Best He Has Ever Seen—Are Looking Well.

THIS COUUTY BEATEN

The crops in portions of Durham county between Peterborough and Port Hope and Newcastle are said by Mr. Gardner, the auctioneer, who has just returned from a trip over that route, to be the best he has ever seen anywhere. He believes that while they may be good in some parts of Peterborough county, those in Durham are ahead of them for general excellence. All kinds of grain, he states, are showing up well, and the yield, unless all signs fail, will be, in many cases, unprecedented. Harvest is now general there, the grain having ripened somewhat earlier than in Peterborough and the other more northern counties, and they will soon be threshing. The weather conditions have been satisfactory, and, as a consequence of this happy combination of favourable circumstance, the Durham farmers are, according to Mr. Gardner's opinion, in a particularly happy state of mind, and they have no complaints to make whatever.

AFFECTED BY MENTAL ABERRATION

There was something got into his head, he told his mother and gave her a certain [illegible] to get it out. She, however, could do nothing for him and a doctor advised to have him taken care of by the police.

An Enjoyable Concert Given At Crowe's Landing

Some of Mrs. Morrow's Pupils Delighted a Large Audience at Stony Lake Last Night—A Successful Affair.

A DANCE AFTERWARDS

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, Aug. 20.—The second concert of the season was given in the new pavilion here last night and proved a most successful and enjoyable affair. There was a very large attendance, the cottagers from all directions coming in numbers.

The programme was a delightful one and much appreciated by the large audience. Nearly all those taking part were pupils of Mrs. W. J. Morrow of Peterborough, who assisted in the programme herself. The different numbers were very much enjoyed although the length of the programme prevented any encores being given, each number was followed by long sustained applause.

The presence of Mr. John King, concert basso was a decided treat. His solo the "Clang of the Hammer" was rendered in excellent voice and with an expression and spirit that captured the audience. By special request Mrs. Morrow sang the "Daisies," and her perfect rendition of the number brought forth great applause.

Mr. Melvin, of New York, who possesses a clear, ringing baritone, was heard to great advantage in his solo, and the other numbers were splendidly rendered and much enjoyed.

A feature that was thoroughly appreciated was the selection from the magnificent gramophone owned by Judge Hudspeth, of New York. The Grand Opera records giving numbers by Caruso, Madame Eames and others were a revelation to the audience.

During the evening Judge Hudspeth gave a short address referring to Canada's greatness. Mr. Hudspeth although now living in the United State is a Canadian by birth and has a warm spot in his heart for the land of the Maple Leaf. During the course of his speech he declared his intention of spending his declining years at Stony Lake.

Mr. John Davidson, president of the Upper Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, made a very efficient chairman. The programme was as follows:

Duet, "The Battle Eve" .....
Messrs. John King and Archie Frowde.
Solo, "Absent"..... ... .
Miss Irene Pentland.
Solo, "In May"..... ....
Mrs. Davidson, Norwood.
Solo, "Clang of the Hammer" .....
Mr. John King.
Gramaphone selections, ...
Judge Hudspath.
Solo, "Irish Love Song" ... ...
Miss Dot Hackett.
Solo, "Serenade" ... ...
Mr. Archie Frowde.
Solo, "In the Mighty Deep" ....
Mr. Melvin, New York.
Duet, "A Moonlit Stream"..... .....
Miss Hackett and Mr. King.
Vocal solo, "The Daisies" ....
Mrs. W. J. Morrow.

Mrs. Morrow played the accompaniments in her usual efficient and sympathetic manner.

At the conclusion of the concert a very enjoyable dance was held in the pavilion.

The next concert will be given on Monday night next at Belle Chasse, Mr. H. LeBrun's summer residence when nearly all the talent contributing to last night's success, will endeavour to be present.

MANY NEW STYLES IN WINTER WEAR

ers. Black will be the favourite and will lead, but in most cases relieved as to garniture of collar and cuffs, by a touch of colour, either self or of oriental weave, with the least dash of gold. Gold in thread and tissue is a strong feature for ornamentation for the coming season.

The very light colours, and hence unserviceable materials used so much last winter season, are practically tabooed. Their similarity, and hence their commonness, has put them out of the race In their place, fine Eskimo cloths in self colours, as hazel brown, bronze, warm castor or beaver cloth, with a good proportion of navy in various tints, are the accepted thing for the dressier and general wear garment. In this connection, the shadow stripes, checks, and invisible plaids appear Colours as noted for dress goods, but in such exquisite taste, and in style so subdued, that they do not strike the observer as such so much as forming a beautifully completed whole. These are mostly in a smooth fabric, with a touch and look like short shorn velvet, and are the novelty in evening fashion centres, approved by those well dressed, who know.

PRESENTED WITH A DESK

Grace Church Sunday School Show Their Esteem for Miss Mabel Curtis

THE PRIMARY CLASS TOO

At Grace Church Sunday School on Sunday two presentations were made to Miss Mabel Curtis, who is leaving in a short time for Halexton, B. C. The members of the Sunday School presented her with a writing desk, the presentation being made by Miss L. Higgins, while Mrs. Srigley read the following address:

To Miss Mabel Curtis:

On behalf of the Grace Church Sunday School, we cannot permit you to leave us without giving expression to the esteem in which you have been held by the teachers, officers and scholars of the school, the regret your departure occasions and the appreciation of the valuable services rendered by you in connection therewith.

Your noble record of faithful service in connection with church and Sunday school work has left its impress on the hearts and minds of many. Your humble, consistent Christian walk and your diligent, self-sacrificing efforts in the Master's cause have been an example to us all, and we feel we cannot sever the tie which binds us without showing our appreciation of your services.

We ask you to accept this writing desk and the earnest prayer of our hearts is that He who directs the paths of those who commit their way unto Him may go with you in your new sphere of usefulness. May the consciousness of His abiding presence be a never failing help and shield; may you find abundant opportunities for the exercise of those gifts and graces which have so endeared you to us and may you continue to enjoy for many years to come increasing happiness in your self-sacrificing efforts towards the highest of all aims, that of bringing souls to Christ.

Signed on behalf of the School,

J. J. Hartley,
Superintendent.

WM. HARTLEY,
Secretary.

Peterborough Aug. 18, 1907.

Dear Miss Curtis—

It is with sad hearts that we gather together to-day in our school, knowing that it is the last time we shall meet in the relation of Sunday school teacher and scholars. We cannot tell you how much we shall miss you, nor how much we all love you, and it just seems as though we cannot let you go so far away from us. But then, we remember that our loss will be gain to other little children who do not know about the dear loving Saviour, whom you have taught us to love. So we cannot say "Stay with us" when they are calling you to go and teach them, too, about Him; and we know that God has a greater work for you to do in His vineyard there. As a little parting gift from us, we ask you to accept this picture of the class, and as you oft-times will look into our faces, recalling the hours spent in this little room, we want you to ever remember that the precious truths you have sought to teach us will not be forgotten, and that each Sunday, as we gather here, we will pray for you and your work in your far-away home. May health and strength be given you. May God bless you and keep you and make you a blessing, is the prayer of your Primary Class of Grace Church Sunday School.

TWO GREAT BALL GAMES THIS WEEK

Lindsay and Cobourg Aggregations to Play Here

Peterborough fans will be given an opportunity to see two ball games this week, and both should be well patronized For the benefit of the merchants and their clerks, who cannot very well attend Saturday games, the management has succeeded in arranging a game with Lindsay, and the Scugog bunch will be here on Thursday afternoon A good contest should result. The Lindsay team will be stronger than when they met the locals last week, and as they gave Peterborough a hard argument then, a great game should result Quinlan and Burridge will be in the points for Peterborough

On Saturday the biggest game of the year will be played, when Peterborough and Cobourg clash to see who will meet Port Hope in the finals for the championship Both teams will have the strongest lineups possible on, and it will be a battle royal from start to finish It is doubtful whether Jack Connors, the hard-hitting outfielder of the locals will be able to play, his injured shoulder still troubling him If not, a strong fielder will be secured for the game Chris. Graham will be back on first, and, with Anderson on second, Cheatham at short, and Haliburton on third, the infield should be the strongest that ever represented Peterborough Anyone who likes baseball cannot afford to miss this game

WOULD DEPORT THE WOMAN

Plot of New York Millionaire Against Handsome Young Lady in That City

HE WAS TIRED OF HER

New York, Aug. 19.—Evidence of a plot to cause the deportation of a handsome young woman because she has thirty-eight love letters from an American millionaire was offered today before a board of inquiry at the immigration at Ellis Island.

In executive session witnesses were heard in regard to the case of Miss Paula Klippenburg, who was arrested under ordinary circumstances in the law offices of Edward R. Voltmer, 229 Broadway. Miss Klippenburg said she was induced to leave her rooms in the Imperial hotel and go to an office on Broadway to meet, as she supposed, her wealthy friend, who had offered her marriage.

After the hearing Commissioner Watchron said:—

"I am afraid that in this case unfair efforts are being made to use the immigration authorities as a tool to secure the deportation of the young woman."

Miss Klippenburg is a blonde and is twenty-six years old. On the way down Broadway to the ferry at the Battery she wept bitterly and attracted a great deal of attention. On her arrival at Ellis Island she was taken at once to the rooms of the commissioner.

The mystery surrounding the young woman's arrest on complaint of one "Miller," a millionaire, and the efforts to secure her deportation, began to unravel when her lawyer, William Solomon, told something of the circumstances under which his client is held. Mr. Solomon said that his client is the daughter of a theatrical manager of Berlin. She speaks both French and English fluently and is well educated.

She first met the millionaire who was interested in her in Berlin three years ago and he was ardent in his attentions, which extended over a period of nearly three years, until six months ago.

Solomon said Paula heard that Miller was married and had several children living in this country. Thereupon she decided to come here and find out the facts for herself. On arriving here, Solomon said, steps were at once began to secure the girl's deportation by somebody, "Miller" making an affidavit in the case.

One of the love letters in Paula's possession begins: "My evening star, shining out of an etherial sky."

"Miller" is said not to be the real name of the millionaire. He lives in a handsome villa on the shores of the Hudson and has an office in Broadway.

The order for the young woman's arrest was issued at the request of the millionaire, who declared her to be an adventuress and blackmailer. It called for her deportation to Cherbourg, whence she had sailed.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Aug 20.—The Street did not like Mr Taft's speech, and, after opening barely steady, the market soon took a downward shoot and lost from one to three points B.R.T. was probably the weakest of the lot, but all the active stocks suffered

When Mr Roosevelt's speech was published another drive was made, owing to the unfavourable character of it, but at the lower level there was good support offered, and it was soon seen that the list was heavily oversold, and a strong rally took place which carried the market from three to six points up Shorts were frightened buyers, and the advance was mostly at their expense

Sentiment, for a wonder, seemed cheerful to-day, and a large majority of the advices strongly advised purchases on any and all drives this week for good turns The rally held right to the close, which was at the best of the day

Reports of hard frost and ice formed in the Northwest gave the grain markets a strong tone to-day Wheat was up over a cent, corn 1 1-2c, and oats nearly 2c.

HAD TO BUY A MILKING MACHINE

The Beneficial Effects are Pointed Out in the Dairyman

The following from the Canadian Dairyman should be of interest:—

Ed. The Canadian Dairyman:—My opinion of the milking machine that I purchased from Messrs. Burrell-Lawrence-Kennedy, of Little Falls, NY., is as follows: I keep 25 cows. As I have only one boy 17 years of age, I came to the conclusion that I would either have to reduce my stock or buy a milking machine, (I don't expect, or ask my wife to milk.)

Since I have installed the machine, if I am not at home, my boy can walk into the stable and milk the 25 cows inside of one hour. I have three cans, which do the milking of six cows at one sitting. My machine is run by motor power, and is giving perfect satisfaction. In regard to keeping the machine clean, I cannot see where there is any difficulty to be encountered by using ordinary care. My machine and attachments are thoroughly washed inside of 10 minutes, except once a week, when the rubber tubes are cleaned out with an instrument constructed specially for the purpose. This operation does not take over 30 minutes.

The usual time occupied in milking one set of cows is from five to six minutes, and they stand perfectly still, and seem to enjoy the operation to a greater extent than the old way of hand-milking. They are milked practically clean. By stripping six cows after they have been milked by the machine, you could not get over two pints of milk, and that, I think, will compare favourably with hand-milking.

From a sanitary point of view, hand-milking is not to be compared with the machine. Of course, we know that the milking is done by a process of compressed air in the rubber tubes, and this constant changing of the air draws off all cowey and foreign flavours injurious to the milk, either for drinking or manufacturing purposes, thus leaving it in a pure, sweet condition.

I am perfectly satisfied with my machine so far, and I do not think I can give a stronger testimonial than to say that my machine cost me in the neighbourhood of $700, but before I would go back to the slavish system of hand-milking, I would refuse any man's check for $1,000 if it were impossible for me to replace my machine.—Jno. Geddes, Chateauguay Co., Que.

Watermelons Dear Fruit This Year; Peaches Scarce

Fruit Men Give Some Interesting Information With Regard to Fruit Supply This Year.

A VARY DISMAL OUTLOOK

Those who postponed putting up their fruit, hoping that they would be able to buy to better advantage later, are, it appears, doomed to disappointment. The wholesale fruit dealers, at least, give little hope that any line is going to be as cheap as in the past few years.

Watermelons are very high, though the reason, outside of the backward season, seems hard to find.

With the price for the luscious melon ranging from 40 to 60 cents, it is pretty evident that this form of fruit will only be found on the table at special occasions.

"There are some good peach orchards," say the fruitmen, "but these have largely been bought up by the canning factories, so peaches, too, will command high prices."

Apples are Right

Plums are selling at a higher figure than formerly. In fact, the only crop that does appear to be plentiful is apples. The dealers are expecting such a demand for these, however, that in all probability their price will be run up as high, if not higher, than it has been in former years.

It certainly is a bad lookout for Peterborough citizens, but, according to one wholesale man, "it will do them good."

"Peterborough people have had cheap fruit for years," he said, "and they haven't appreciated it. This year barrels were dear and there was an awful howl. No one seemed to think at all of the eleven years in which they could get all they wanted at a very reasonable figure."

Sunday Fishing And Shooting; Charges Made

Mr. R. A. Deyell Makes Complaint That Residents of Peterborough Disregard the Sunday Laws.

PRACTICE TO BE STOPPED

Mr. R. A. Deyell, who lives near Bosnfort bridge was in the city on Saturday and informed the Examiner that the residents of Peterborough were apparently unaware of the existence of a law against fishing and shooting on Sunday, since every Sunday many persons from Peterborough go down the river and spend the day in these pursuits. He stated that it was a practice that was growing rapidly, and it has now become a weekly habit with dozens of persons who are running considerable risk. Mr. Deyell has warned several himself during the past few weeks, and he informed the Examiner that unless the practice were stopped the agency of the law would be employed. Sunday, he stated, extended beyond the boundary of the city of Peterborough, and the people who live along the river do not care to be annoyed on that day by the pleasure seekers from this city.

Possibly those who are interested will take the hint.

Produce Radium From Some Northern Rocks

An Interesting Scientific Discovery Which Will be Explained at Seattle Exposition in 1909.

GREAT FUTURE PREDICTED

Special Correspondence

Seattle, Aug. 19.—While, naturally, the principal exhibit from Alaska at the Alaska-Pacific-Yukon Exposition, which will be held at Seattle in 1909, will be the different golds produced by the north, there is another far more valuable element that will also have a place in the mineral Building.

Radium, according to a leading Parisian scientist, can be produced in large quantities from certain of the rocks of the north, and this savant, Henri Berthelot, son of a member of the French Gallery of Forty Immortals, is now in Alaska arranging for a shipment of rock to Paris, where it may be treated under the most favourable circumstances and its value as a radium producer ascertained.

Gold is worth about three hundred dollars a pound. That is, it costs three hundred dollars to extract a pound of gold from the earth. Radium is worth about two million dollars a pound; at least, it is figured that it would cost that sum to extract a pound of radium from the pitchblende in which it is found. Of course, no one has yet succeeded in extracting a pound of radium, and an estimate of its value per pound is more or less approximate.

Radium, at the present time, is obtained only in one portion of the world. It is extracted from pitchblende of a certain kind found only in the Austrian Empire. It required that tons of pitchblende be treated to produce a few grains of radium, and this is one of the reasons for radium's enormous price. Recently, Austria has forbidden the export of pitchblende in quantity, and, as a result, scientists experimenting with this rarest, rarest and most valuable of the elements, have been at a loss to know where to get a sufficient supply. Now, all eyes are directed to Alaska and Yukon, and great hopes are held that not only will a permanent supply be obtained from the great white north, but also that this supply will be in such form that the cost of producing radium will be reduced from millions of dollars a pound to thousands, or even hundreds. When aluminum was first discovered its cost was prohibitive, the process by which it was produced costing hundreds of dollars a pound. But after years of experiments, a process was discovered which placed aluminum in the market, commercially. It is hoped and believed by leading scientists that radium will also be produced in a short time commercially, and that thereby many of the industrial processes of the world today will be greatly cheapened and simplified.

Like so many other scientific discoveries, the knowledge that radium was present in the rocks of the north came quite by accident. The Society for Scientific Research, of which Mr. Berthelot is a member, received several rocks from Alaska, for a certain purpose entirely disconnected with radium. One of these specimens happened to be laid near a photographic plate. When the plate was developed there was found on it the outline of several instruments that were nearby at the time the rock and plate were in conjunction. This led to an investigation which revealed the fact that in all the rock from Alaska were traces of radium. Hence Henri Berthelot's trip from Paris to Fairbanks. The exact location of the mine from whose specimens the radium was taken is not, for obvious reasons, announced. It is sufficient to say, according to Mr. Berthelot, that the deposits are of such extent that will meet the necessity in future of science calling on the unwilling pitchblend deposits of the Austrian Government.

"What will radium do?" repeated Mr. Berthelot. "Why, as great are its possibilities that the average newspaper and magazine articles, usually so exaggerative, do not tell half its wonders when dwelling upon it. Had I a pound of radium here and a row-boat, I could repel the whole united attack of—well, say the Japanese navy, were the Japanese navy attacking Seattle. The prospect of cheaper radium means more to the scientific world, and ultimately to the industrial world than can be realized at present. I have great hope of the prospects of the trip I am taking to Alaska. It may mean great things, too, for the north, for the cheap production of radium will furnish employment ultimately for—well, I do not care to prophesy how many men, but the number will be greater than most people not familiar with the new element's possibilities, can imagine."

PHENOMENAL BUSINESS

In the Face of Increased Cost of Leather Business Has Nearly Doubled

The tremendous monetary will of a good name and a trade-mark was never more apparent than it has become since the recent enormous advances in the cost of leather and shoe materials. Some of the shoe manufacturers almost ruined their business by using cheaper leather and risky materials in a struggle to keep their prices down.

People nowadays are well-read and well-informed. They know more about the inner construction of shoes and the quality of the leather, than some manufacturers give them credit for. They naturally turned to the shoe they knew—they knew the trade mark and the price stamped on every pair, they knew that the maker who got his "mark of certainty" on a shoe could not afford to skimp it in quality.

Never in the whole history of the Slater Shoe Company and its predecessors has the volume of sales of the Slater Stores increased as rapidly as during the past half-year. The gain in the Toronto Slater Shoe Stores increased exactly 90 per cent.

One of the Montreal stores reports an increase over last year of 75 per cent., while the St. James Street store in the same city shows an increase of 39 per cent.

In the city of Hamilton the increase was 26 per cent., while in Winnipeg the sales for June, 1907, were exactly double the sales for June, 1906. Every mail received shows a substantial increase, thus demonstrating the great value of the "Slater all the time," which has long called the "entire dollar slater."

A TRULY IDEAL WIFE

HER HUSBAND'S BEST HELPER

Vigorous Health is the Great Source of Power to Inspire and Encourage —All Women Should Seek It.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this century, in a recent article, has said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration, and the greatest helpmate of my life."

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley

To be such a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, to inspire him to make the most of himself, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, irregularities or the blues, she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Following we publish by request a letter from a young wife:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."—Mrs. Bessie Ainsley, 311 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every sick and ailing woman.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

HOME-MADE MEDICINE

Said to Relieve Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;

One ounce Compound Salatone;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime, is stated by a prominent physician to give most excellent results in kidney or urinary afflictions, and also in rheumatism and sciatica. The mixture opens the clogged pores of the kidneys, thus assisting them in their work of filtering all waste and poisonous matter from the blood, and expels these in the urine. To allow this poisonous matter to remain means that it will settle in the muscular tissues or joints, and cause the untold misery known as rheumatism.

The mixture is composed of harmless vegetable ingredients which can be purchased at any good drug store, and mixed at home.

Anyone suffering from any of these afflictions will no doubt be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended remedy.

HOW CANADA GROWS

SIX AND A HALF MILLIONS IS DOMINION'S POPULATION.

Census Figures Show Increase of Over 1,000,000 — Statistical Department Has Made Careful Estimate—Unprecedented Development In All Lines of Industry—Growth of Manufacturing Establishments.

A bulletin was recently issued by the Bureau of Census and Statistics showing the growth of Canada's manufacturing establishments during the past six years, and giving the comparative average production per establishment in 1901 and 1905. The various industries are divided into three groups: First, those with products of between $200,000 and $500,000 per establishment; second, those with products of between $200,000 and $1,000,000 per establisments, and, third, those running over one million dollars per establishment.

Compared with the census of 1901, which was for the calendar year 1900, there were in the first class 178 works producing each $500,000 and over in 1905, as against 72 in 1900; in the second class there were 62 works producing $750,000 and over in 1905, as against 24 in 1900, and in the third class there were 17 works producing $2,500,000 and over, as, against 6 in 1900. There were four works in 1905 producing each $5,000,000 and over, whereas not one factory had reached the amount in 1900.

Some Great Producers.

The greatest volume of production by a single factory in 1905 was over $8,000,000, and the greatest in 1900 was under $4,500,000. The production of all works in the year 1900 was $483,053,371, and in 1905 it was $717,118,092.

In the third class there were four Canadian sugar refineries producing on the average $4,288,065 per annum, nine smelting establishments producing on the average $2,899,707, twelve slaughtering and meat packing establishments averaging $1,687,481, six flouring and grist mills averaging $3,318,242, four cotton mills averaging $1,715,333, and three agricultural implement works averaging $1,725,737.

All told, there were in 1905 eighty-one establishments with an annual production of over one million dollars each, as compared with thirty-nine in 1901.

Growth of Population.

Canada now has a population of over six and a half millions. The Department of Census and Statistics has recently made a careful and elaborate estimate of the population. It found that on the first day of April, this year, the population of Canada was, as nearly as could be estimated, 6,504,900. This is a growth of population in six years, since the last decennial census, of 1,133,585. The total population in 1901 was 5,371,315. If the present rate of growth is maintained Canada will show a population of over seven and a half millions when the next census is taken.

Since April 1 last the immigration has totalled over 100,000, so that the total population at the present date is in the neighborhood of $6,600,000.

OBJECTED TO CHANGE.

Indian With Gun Prevents Payment of Treaty Money.

With a gun pointing at Indian Agent McKenzie's tent at Sabaskoshing an Indian named Nee Shoo Keejick threatened to shoot any Indian who accepted treaty money, and also the agent if he paid any of them.

This was the outcome of the decision of the Indian Department to pay the different tribes in the district at their own camping grounds instead of asking them to meet in one big camp at Sabaskoshing as in former years. In the interest of the Indians this was felt to be the better method, as in former years when they congregated together at Sabaskoshing they frittered away their money.

The new method, however, has not appealed to a few agitators among them, who liked the big gathering, with its pomp and show, and the visitation of large numbers of whites.

Agent McKenzie, accompanied by Dr. Hanson, Government medical representative, and interpreters have visited several camps making payments during the past couple of weeks, and though grumbling was heard the Indians did not make any demonstrations.

However, when Sabaskoshing Reserve was reached they were not long left in doubt that something would be done. As soon as the tent was erected Nee Shoo Keejick took his position before the entrance and informed McKenzie that if he paid any of the Indians he would shoot him and also the Indian who received the money.

As a result, no payments were made and the agent and his assistants returned to town, and on Tuesday Constables Sherman and Woods went out and arrested the Indian. He was looking at the muzzle of a couple of guns before he realized the situation, and was brought to town. In the absence of an interpreter the case was adjourned.

In former years the Sabaskoshing treaty grounds were the scene of the greatest gathering of Indians in New Ontario.

It is not generally known or recognised that the Heralds' college is an important link of empire. No official flag or seal or coat of arms in any part of His Majesty's worldwide dominions can be used without its sanction or approbation. HOW THEY DINED.

The old English had three meals a day, of which the chief meal was taken when the work of the day was finished. The first meal was at 9, dinner was about 3 o'clock, and supper was taken just before bedtime. The Normans dined at the old English breakfast time or a little later and supped at 7 p. m. In Tudor times the higher classes dined at 11 and supped at 5, but the merchants seldom took their meals before 12 and 6 o'clock.

The chief meals, dinner and supper, were taken in the hall both by the old English and the Normans, for the parlor did not come into use until the reign of Elizabeth. Breakfast did not become a regular meal until quite lately, and Dr. Murray in the Oxford Dictionary gave 1463 as the date of the earliest quotation in which the word occurred. The meal did not become recognized until late in the seventeenth century, for Pepys habitually took his draft of half a pint of Rhenish wine or a dram of strong waters in place of a morning meal. Dinner was always the great meal of the day, and from the accession of Henry IV. to the death of Queen Elizabeth the dinners were as sumptuous and extravagant as any of those now served.

Carving was then a fine art. Each guest brought his own knife and spoon, for the small fork was not introduced into England until Thomas Coryate of Odcombe published his "Crudities" in 1611. Pepys took his spoon and fork with him to the lord mayor's feast in 1663. The absence of forks led to much stress being laid upon the act of washing the hands both before and after meals and to the rule that the left hand alone should be dipped into the common dish, the right hand being occupied with the knife.

The perfect dinner at the best time of English cookery consisted of three courses, each complete in itself, and terminated by a subtlety or device, the whole being rounded off with ypocras, after which the guests retired into another room, where pastry, sweetmeats and fruit were served with the choicer wines. The English were essentially meat eaters, and it was not until the time of the commonwealth that pudding attained its extraordinary popularity. Indeed, the first mention of pudding in the menus of the Buckfeast at St. Bartholomew's hospital did not occur until 1710, and in 1712 is an item of 5 shillings for ice.—London Times.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Vanity in a woman is bad enough, but conceit in a man is worse.

You can't tell anything about a man by his looks. Like mince pies, some of them can look very innocent.

If you can't have your way, take consolation from the fact that every man encounters his stone wall.

When parents are old and poor and become a charge to their children the children often act like all persons act who have been paid in advance.

How profligate we are with the hours of rest when it is bedtime and how we haggle over the flying minutes when it is time to get up in the morning!

Mark this in favor of father: The woman who is charging things to father at a dry goods store buys more freely and with less worry than the timid woman who charges to her husband.

ATE THEIR MOCASSINS.

Pitiable Death of Twenty Indians In the Wilds.

Further particulars of the death from starvation of 20 Indians along the shores of Lake Mistassini have been received at Quebec. Only one person, Mrs. Bazil, survived.

The provisions they brought were scant, as well armed with ammunition they felt secure in procuring sufficient game to provide them with food along the journey. However, as they progressed into the recesses of the mountains their supply of provisions gradually diminished. No game was encountered and as they penetrated still further into the mountains they were confronted with the terrifying fact that they were without food, with not a living thing in sight to stay the pangs of hunger. The men would tramp wearily from daylight until dusk in the vain hope of bringing back to the famishing women and children who by this time were unable to proceed further from exhaustion, either bird or animal of any kind, and days and days passed, the unfortunates gradually growing weaker and weaker and it was always the same, the faithful Indians returning empty handed and with the same pitiable story.

Consumed Leather.

As a last resort the party ate their shoes and the fur skins which they had to protect them from the cold, which was still severe in that region, but this afforded but temporary relief, and then the grim hand of death claimed its first victim, which proved to be one of the women. The next day two others of the party met a similar fate, and gradually the little party which had clung so loyally together, and fought off the inevitable so valiantly, became depleted until there remained but Mrs. Bazil, who fortunately killed a squirrel, which she ate ravenously and which enabled her to proceed a few days longer, until she was found as above related by Boston.

A party started from Roberval and came across the bodies of Miller, Big John and Basil, the husband of the surviving woman, who were the last three to succumb.

The remains were buried near where they were located. Mrs. Bazil is now quite well and a further search will be made to locate the bodies of the remaining seventeen victims of the lamentable tragedy of the mountains.

FRANCE AND CANADA.

First Conference Regarding New Commercial Treaty.

Messrs W. S. Fielding and L. P. Brodeur, respectively Minister of Finance and Minister of Marine and Fisheries of Canada, recently, had their first formal conference with Foreign Minister Pichon concerning the new commercial arrangement between Canada and the French Republic.

After the conference Mr. Fielding declined to discuss the matter, except to declare that other meetings with French officials would follow. The Associated Press, however, learns that France would like to have the minimum duty applied to French silks, and that she seeks a more favorable tariff on wines than that set forth in the agreement of 1893.

One of the difficulties in the way of the acceptance of the latter concession was found in the sentiment for prohibition prevailing in Canada. Canada desires to increase her list of exportable articles entitled to the minimum rate of duty, particularly agricultural implements and the products of farm and mine.

Nothing definite was accomplished at the first meeting but there will be other conferences, at which the essential points of the negotiations will be made up. On the manner in which these are treated depends the possibility of a final understanding.

Indian Girls Sold.

Residents of British Columbia are marveling more than ever at the continuation of the Indian potlaches. It is now quite a common thing to read that some chief has held a potlach, and given away hundreds of blankets. But these rumors are hardly believed. Lately, however, the Indians have been more indifferent to the visits of the white men who are settled more closely to the Indian villages, and thus true stories of these remarkable potlaches are now at hand.

A great feast is held and a program arranged. Usually the auction of Indian girls is the first feature of the program. Girls from nine to fifteen are sold to the highest bidder. They bring from $500 to $2,000, and this money is used to buy blankets to give away or potlach.

The first item in the program over, some sub-chief collects his tribe around him and gives in blankets all he has earned during the fishing season. The bigger chiefs then start giving blankets, and the rivalry between chiefs sometimes ends in complete beggary with both chiefs. It is all a question of honor and dignity. With the Siwash Indians, a rich chief is of no account, if he hoards his riches beyond a year. He must raise money by hook or crook and the more he raises the greater he is, but only if he gives it all away at the first potlach of his people. Thus it would appear that the white man and the Indian are entirely at variance in such matters.

Men's Hats In Great Britain.

There is a difference of two sizes between the average hats worn in Birmingham and Glasgow, and it is generally conceded that the average size in Birmingham is smaller than in any other town in the kingdom. Taking the whole of England, the average size of hat required by men is a 7, or nearly twenty-two inches in circumference; in Wales 6⅞ is the average, the Irishman averages a 7 full, while the canny Scot's average is 7⅛.—Tailor and Cutter.

A GREAT BASEBALL SERIES.

How Boston and Providence Battled in the League in 1884.

Probably one of the grandest series of baseball games played by National league clubs was that between the Bostons and the Providence Grays in 1884. The Bostons had won the championship of 1883, and it was the ambition of Providence cranks, who lived only forty miles away from the Hub, to wrest the laurels away from the Bean Eaters. Every game that was played between the clubs was attended by immense crowds, and the excitement was at white heat.

The first game of the series in 1884 was one of sixteen innings and resulted in a tie, the score standing 1 to 1. The pitchers were Charley Radbourne and Jim Whitney, and 10,000 persons saw the battle. The next day Providence won by a score of 2 to 1 in nine innings, and Charley Sweeney struck out nineteen Boston batsmen. Of the first eight games Boston won five and Providence three. When it came time to meet for the four final struggles the Providence team had won every series from the other league clubs and wanted to win the series from the Bostons too. Radbourne accordingly was assigned to pitch in all four games on four successive days. He was in such magnificent form that in all of the games the Bostons were beaten and scored the sum total of one run. One of the games lasted eleven innings. It was played in Boston and was finally won by the Rhode Islanders by a score of 1 to 0. Arthur Irwin, who was the shortstop for Providence, drove a long fly toward the right field fence, and the ball went through a hole between the boards. It was a four bagger and decided the game.

Radbourne's wonderful pitching in those days will never be forgotten by those who saw him perform. He went into the box game after game and pitched for nineteen consecutive contests. It was his remarkable twirling that was instrumental in helping Providence to win the pennant that year. Sweeney jumped the club in the middle of the season, and Rad went along single handed. One feat that was the talk of the baseball world in 1883 was his pitching in an exhibition game at Trenton. The home club would not allow Providence to play with the regulation league ball and insisted upon substituting another of lighter weight. Radbourne, however, accepted the latter ball and proceeded to strike out every man who came to the bat until one man had been retired in the sixth inning. Then a player fouled the ball, which had not been done before. The pitching distance then was forty-five feet from the home plate.

Work and Worry.

"I am working too hard. My work is killing me." The man is mistaken. Work does not kill. Work is medicine to the body and mind and spirit. Work is the salvation of men. Work cures a thousand ills. Worry kills. Dissipation kills. Worry is largely a matter of nerves or indigestion or liver, or it may be a quality of temperament or it may spring from envy or some other hateful habit of thought. In most cases worry is concerning things purely imaginary—things that cannot be helped. One of the best cures for the worry habit is work, hard work of body and mind. Work requires concentration of effort and mind. That makes one forget his troubles. Work may be made a joy, and in the joy of working there is no room for worry. Right living, right thinking, work—these are specifics for most of the ills caused by worry.

Dissipation kills.

The Original New England.

Not one man in a thousand living on the Pacific coast knows that as a matter of fact the accents of our mother tongue were heard on the beach not far from San Francisco forty-one years before English was spoken on Plymouth Rock. More amusing still is the fact that the original New England was on the Pacific coast, for Francis Drake in 1579, at the close of a month's stay, took possession of the country for his sovereign, Elizabeth, and named the new acquisition Nouva Albion (New England) because he thought the white cliffs near what is now Point Reyes resembled the chalk cliffs near Dover. —Outing.

The First Rose.

According to a very ancient legend, the first rose appeared upon the earth at Gulistan. The lotus had long reigned alone, but the flowers became dissatisfied because their drowsy queen could only keep awake by day. They wished for one who would be as fair in revels under the moon as in the garish day. It was then the rose appeared and was chosen the queen of flowers. She sprang into being at the song of the nightingale and was purest white until colored with the blood from the nightingale's breast. As earth's sweetest singers are those who have felt the thorn, so, it is said, the nightingale sings his exquisite music to the rose with his breast upon a thorn.

A Bermuda Fisherman's Daughter

By Kate Upson Clark

Copyright, 1904, by Kate Upson Clark

IN common with many of his fellow islanders, Thomas Gilbert found himself before he was fifty years old stiffening with rheumatism. He had been brought up to gardening and still assisted in the care of the rector's simple grounds, but most of the time he fished. Among the boats which drew up at the Hamilton wharf each night filled with redfish, red and gray snappers, mullet, bream, sennet, hamlet, hogfish, chub, amber fish or divinely colored angelfish none had used to be finer than Thomas Gilbert's. Now his boat was not so well filled, and the long sail back to his home in Somerset tired him. His son Digby, a lad of sixteen, had preferred a place in a store to fishing with his father, though the store was as yet far less profitable to him. The finances of the Gilbert family felt the old man's infirmities, but Brenda looked upon Martin Mears with no more favor on this account.

Mrs. Gilbert had been taken from some charitable institution in London and brought to Bermuda in her childhood by the rector's wife. At that time Thomas Gilbert took care of the rector's horse and his gardens. The young people fell in love early, but they had been so happy in the rectory service that they had not married until they were past thirty.

There was an air of gentility about the small cottage of the Gilberts. It savored of the fineness of the rectory. Brenda Gilbert felt it. She had been named by the rector's wife and educated largely with her children. She was therefore better bred than most of those with whom she associated. More than that, there was not so beautiful a girl in all Bermuda as she. Brenda was a blond. That means as much in Bermuda as in Africa. Among the monotonously dark eyes and olive skins and jet black locks of her mates her flaxen tresses and brilliant blue eyes and dazzling complexion made her seem like a veritable seraph.

Martin Mears was a pilot, a good enough fellow, and, for a young Bermudian, he was rich. Brenda knew that he was perishing for love of her and was ready to marry her tomorrow, but he lacked the refinement to which she was accustomed. Then he was short and thickset and red faced, and, in her soul, in spite of the many considerations which her father and mother urged upon her in his favor, Brenda hated him.

It is computed that there are only about twenty square miles of territory in all Bermuda. It is not strange, therefore, that there are some men who know the faces of all the white inhabitants. The others, though nearly twice as many, count little to a Bermudian. Thomas Gilbert's beautiful daughter was naturally somewhat famous throughout the islands. Her mother would not allow her to go with the soldiers, and caste, which is powerful there and takes on a pettiness of detail commensurate with its geographical scope, forbade the young men of the local gentry to associate on terms of equality with a fisherman's daughter. Yet there was one of them who fell in love with her, and he cared nothing for wagging tongues nor for the comments of his proud mother and sisters.

To do John Masters justice he loved the girl's fine lack of coquetry and her goodness and gentleness as much as her beauty. Mrs. Gilbert knew that he had taken Brenda to some of the picnics and that he had walked home with her from church, but she knew, too, that he was poor. To be sure, he was the second son in a good family. His mother was an English officer's widow and an English gentleman's daughter and lived in a pleasant mansion in Warwick. But their income was small for the expenses which they were obliged to meet and the young man could not hope to marry for years to come, while here was Martin Mears, ready to wed the girl at once and put her and the rest of them beyond the reach of want. It was true that John Masters was handsome and polished and had all those high bred ways which count for so much with girls like Brenda, who had a nice little hauteur of her own, but Mrs. Gilbert revolted against the distaste which she knew the Masters family would feel for the match.

Mrs. Wm. Flewelling, Arthur, Ont., says: "I find it much pleasure to recommend DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY as a grand cure for Summer Complaint. My little boy, one year old, was very bad with it, and a few doses cured him. I also used it on my other six children for cramps, and still have half the bottle left. I cannot praise it too much."

and why wouldn't Brenda take Martin Mears!

One day the mother came upon her daughter crying among the lemon trees in the garden. "What is it?" she asked, sitting down beside the girl and taking her head in her motherly lap.

"He—he—he's going away!" sobbed the heartbroken beauty.

"Who—Martin?"

"No. John Masters."

"Oh, that's nothing. He is of no account to you. I suppose he is going off to seek his fortune. He had better. They say he hasn't got a cent. Her money all goes to take care of them—four boys and four girls make a big family. He's good looking and all that, but you mustn't care about him, Brenda, and I've said so before. They wouldn't like it, and I could see that the rector's lady thought it wasn't suitable. Remember that you are in the station in which Providence has been pleased to place you. Why can't you oblige your father and mother and take Martin?"

"Mother," said Brenda resolutely, "you might as well know that I never shall marry anybody but John Masters. We are engaged, and just as soon as he gets settled in New York we shall be married. I know you don't want me to go out to service, but Digby is doing pretty well, and father's rheumatism is better, and maybe I can help a little up at the hall, and so we can manage even if I am not married for two or three years. Oh, I love him so, mother! You can't imagine how I love him! And he is going away!"

The mother could stand it no longer. She tossed Brenda's fair head away from her as if it had been a worthless sweet potato and marched into the house, mimicking her lovesick daughter's tone as she did so.

The day came when John Masters was to sail. The engagement was to be kept perfectly quiet for the present. In order to that end Martin Mears was to be allowed to come to the Gilbert cottage occasionally, but Brenda had declared that she should never say one word to any young man to amuse or entertain him. Her lover should never have the slightest cause for jealousy. As he walked off down the cedar avenue, tall, straight, dignified, she thought he was the handsomest and truest man in the world, and she was sure that none had ever loved anybody as he loved her. He had promised to write at once upon reaching America and to tell her then how to address him. Brenda waited eagerly for the letter.

The next steamer did not get in until a fortnight later. It arrived on a Sunday, and the mails were opened on Monday. Brenda could not get away in the morning. She thought it was not likely that she could receive the mail if she did, for such matters move slowly in the islands. In the afternoon she went; there was nothing for her. But that was not very strange, she reflected. She really ought not to expect anything before another steamer.

But that brought nothing and neither did the next. Brenda began to look pale and wretched. Six months passed. Still she had received no letter.

All of this time Martin Mears was faithful, but not obtrusively so. When the West India boats came in, pomegranates and persimmons found their way humbly to Brenda from him. He brought his new horse up to show her. Horses are rare and expensive in Bermuda—but Martin was flourishing and gave her to understand that he did not mind a little thing like that.

When the year had rolled around again and still there had been no word for her from John Masters, Brenda was sitting under a great Pride of India tree near her home one evening when Martin came strolling up. She was in a soft and tender mood, and his deference and devotion seemed grateful to her humiliated spirit. He handed her a little book which he said he had found at the Tower of Hamilton as he was passing by. It was about the islands. Maybe she would like to have it.

She took it and began to glance over the pages in the dim light. He talked on quietly. Then he grew more earnest.

"Oh, Brenda!" he pleaded, his face working with the passion which he had kept in leash so many months. "I've waited so long and loved you so all the time! I know about that young Masters—but, Brenda, he never meant anything. He's all right, over there in America—you can go up and ask his folks on the hill there if he isn't—but he isn't troubling himself about you. And I am waiting for you. You will never hear from him again. Probably he is courting another girl this very minute."

"You lie, Martin Mears! You know that you lie!" she cried huskily. "You make me creep and crawl! Go away!

She thought he was the handsomest man in the world.

Go away!" And, thrusting her hands toward him with a gesture of utter loathing, she rushed into the house.

She had been in a sort of stupor for the last few weeks. Now she was wide awake and her soul was on fire. How could she find out whether what Martin said was true? She had wandered past John Masters' mother's home in Warwick. She had seen his sisters driving in their pony carriage. She had come near throwing herself in front of them and crying, "For heaven's sake tell me is John living—and where is he?" But nobody was supposed to know that she was anything to John Masters—and her pride had kept her silent. Now she would know. She would go to his home and inquire. There was no one to go with her, but that made no difference. She would go as soon as she could get ready in the morning.

Dressing herself the next day with uncommon care, she set forth. Yes, Mrs. Masters was at home. Brenda had written her name on a plain card which she handed to the maid. She heard Mrs. Masters coming down the stairs. She rose, but her tongue clove to the roof of her mouth. Then it occurred to her that of course John was living. If he had died everybody would have known it. What a fool she had been to come here! Yes, Martin was right. He had a certain hard sense which she had always admired in him. Or perhaps she could get out without seeing anybody, after all! Her agony almost escaped from her in shrieks.

"Did you wish to see me?"

A cold, stately personage stood before her. Brenda remained standing. She saw that the woman recognized her. How much had John told her? Oh, what should she say?

The haughty woman waited, staring at her. A pitiful smile fleeted over the girl's face underneath her dotted veil. She put her hands out as though to catch hold of something. Then she tottered and fell. The satin sofa caught her, and the cold woman was warmed up to the extent of lifting the fainting girl's veil and pulling off her gloves, while she rang the bell for assistance.

Before anybody could answer it Brenda had come to herself and had sat up on the sofa, looking the proud mother before her full in the eyes.

"Tell me," she said breathlessly—"tell me before anybody comes—is John well? Tell me! Tell me!"

"Yes," said John's mother, a scorn creeping over her handsome face, which was the counterpart of her son's. "I cannot imagine why you want to know. But John is finely established in New York. We have many friends and relatives there, and he is very happy."

"Oh, no, no!" breathed the girl, tears streaming slowly down her face.

"So he writes," pursued the mother mercilessly.

"Tell him," Brenda said presently, with all her courage—"tell him that I am—glad—that he is happy." Then her crushed pride gave a great recoil, and without intending the words or fairly knowing that she was uttering them she added, "Tell him that I—I am going to be married."
